RELIGIOUS .- The lecture of Elder J. M. Stephenson, at the Court House on Sunday evening last, was largely attended. The Elder is a gentleman of fine culture, a profound thinker, and being blessed with a very retentive memory, a pleasant and easy delivery, he is able to give an attractiveness to these Sunday evening lectures that will doubtless give him full audiences during their continuance. The second lecture occurs to-morrow evening, at the Court House, at 7 o'clock. Subject-No conflict between the Bible and Science. It will doubtless be a very interesting lecture.

We learn from the Chronicle that the Grangers of California were to open, at Nos. 414 and 416 Sansome street, San Francisco, on the 1st inst., a large store bearing the somewhat formidable title of "The Dairy Produce Department of the California State Grange." It will be, as its name ing dicates, controlled directly by the State Grange, and primarity benefit of members of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry, John H. Hegler, Master of Bodega Grange, in Sonoma county, an experienced dairy-man, has been employed by the State Grange as its manager. As a matter of course, the details of its system of doing business are kept as a secret to all but Grangers; but this much may be said, that they are such as will it is believed, not only effect an enormous reduction in the amounts hitherto paid by farmers and dairymen as commissions to the middle-men, but will absory against the numerous forms of peculation and loss to which they have hitherto been subjected. Agricultur-lists who are not yet members of the Granges may sell their produce through this Grange store by recommendation. Results.—The heavy winds of vesting Grange store by recommendation. lutely protect the Patrons of Husbandthis Grange store, by payment of the usual commissions, but this arrange-ment is offered merely as an accommodation to them, not as a solicitation for their business. In time the range of trade which will be covered by this co-operative store under the control of the State Granges will, without doubt. be greatly extended, so as to cover the entire ground of agricultural products, and for this reason the new "Dairy Produce Department" may be looked upon as the first of a series of deadly blows at the entire "middle-men" system, and, consequenty as of the deep-est interest to the entire community.

Business quiet; money not overly plentitul; roads muddy; health fair; weather warm enough, but rather stormy; people happy and contented, with prospect of good crops to come.

From present indications, our mechanics will be crowded next season, in fact will not be able to do but a molety of the work in the way of erecting buildings here next season. A number of dwellings and business honses will go up as soon as the weather will permit and lumber can be ob-terday cansed considerable destruction to property. A strong gust of wind came swooping down on Montgomery's livery stable, and took out the gable end thereof slick and clean. A string of a hundred feet or more of picket fence, on Jos. Gray's property on Front and Lyon streets, was blown down. A portion of a plank fence opposite the City Mills was made to lean towards the ground. Cloth shades were whipped into rags; windows were blown in and the panes smashed, and signs were blown hither and you. Quite a number of people were seen chasing their hats, while one little tellow was tripped up and fell prene in the mud by the violence of the gale.

IMPORTANT .- Remember the sale of furniture, by Dave Thompson, assignee in bankruptcy, at the old stand of Charles Mealey, to-day. It is possible that bargains may be hall by those who attend.

FLOURISHING.

The financial condition of the national organization of the Grangers seems to be enjoying first-class financial prosperity. After expending $50,000 during the past year in prepreparing and distributing documents and pamphlets for the subordinate Granges, explanatory of the objects and purposes of the organization, and in furnishing books and implements for their work, the treasury is still so plethoric that the Consoittee having its management have determined to make a permanent investment of forty thousand dollars in United States registered bonds. After this is done there will still be upwards of ten thousand dollars on hand in the treasury as a working fund. From this showing it will be apparent that more than $100,-000 were contributed by the Patrons of Husbandry during the twelvementh just passed. As large as this sum may seem, it is confidently asserted it will be very largely increased during the coming year. The growth of the Order all over the United States has been unprecedentedly rapid in the past, and since the actual practical good it has achieved has been made apparent, its growth will increase with still greater rapidity in the future. The membership of one Grange recently organized in New Hampshire, represents $1,000-, 000 capital; in other parts of the country are scores of Granges which represent from one quarter to threefourths of a million of the staunchest kind of capital-virgin soil. In point of fact no class of business men, except it may be the banks, which can roll up a stupendous aggregate of securities and nominal values, have so large an amount of real wealth as the farmers. Their vast resources are now pledged, through the Grange organization, to the breaking up of rings, destroying monopolies, crushing corruptions and retorming the many abuses under which all the productive classes have hitherto suffered.

RESTAURANT. - The Cosmopolitan Restaurant, kept by Hurley & Chapman, is the neatest and best kept house in the city. Quail on toast, and oysters in every style can be had there, day or night. For a square meal, try 'em.
