Late Liverpool quotations, gave California Club wheat at 14s 8d @ 15s, while Oregon wheat was quoted at 15s @ 15s 3d. This would show that average Oregon wheat was worth 3d more than California's best, which speaks loudly for Oregon.

The latest advices from Liverpool are to the 24th, and they show a decline in the price of wheat—ruling prices 13s 6d @ 13 3/4d. San Francisco quotations are unsteady at $2 20. Portland quotations give $1 82 1/2 @ $1 85.

Wheat has fallen ten cents per bushel in this market since our last quotations, the price now offered being 90 cents.

As a matter of some interest to the general reader, and to the producers in particular, we give below Friedlander's Circular, of a recent date:

The first half of the harvest year having now closed, it may be interesting briefly to review the course of the produce business during that time, certainly, in this respect, one of the most interesting periods in the history of the State. The Spring and early Summer did not carry out the Winter's promise regarding crops, for, after February last, it may be said we had no rain at all. During the weeks and months of suspense that ensued, the high anticipations of the farmers gradually faded out, and by July, instead of a surplus for export of 700,000 tons of wheat, which was at one time confidently anticipated, serious doubts began to be entertained if we would have to spare over 250,000 tons. The farmer, in each case finding his own crop seriously curtailed, magnified the loss to his neighbors, and instead of being a free seller at $1 60 @ $1 65, as had been anticipated, held out for $1 80 @ 1 85. The business done in June and July was, consequently, limited in amount, rates in some cases going as low as $1 60, but averaging $1 70 @ 1 75 per cental, and hardening whenever any serious attempt was made to force purchases. In the meantime, tonnage was accumulating, and the Liverpool market showed great firmness and was slowly but surely advancing. By the middle of August, parties who had tonnage engaged to arrive abandoned the hope of low prices for wheat, and entering the market suddenly and boldly, secured large quantities in the neighborhood of $2, from which point the market rose steadily to $3 35 per cental, which was the price in September. By this time a very large portion of the crop of wheat had passed out of first hands, and the residue has ever since been very firmly held, although prices have never risen above those ruling in September.

DECLINE OF FREIGHTS.

Of course, as wheat advanced freights declined, and from September to December, when ship owners had anticipated receiving 45 for Liverpool, the ruling rates were 43 15 @ 43—as low as 42 14s having been accepted in one case, that of the ship Battle. This was a most serious disappointment to owners of tonnage, and wherever vessels making for San Francisco could be reached, either by mail or telegraph, they were sent to other ports. In the course of two months our tonnage on the way fell off over 60,000 tons. In December freights began to improve, and, as we write, ships are worth 44 for Liverpool. Wheat, as a consequence, has weakened, and unless a very material rise should take place in Liverpool in January, it is hardly probable that it will recover the ground lost, as shipments made in February and March, which must arrive off the English coast in the face of the new harvest, cannot be expected to realize as much money as those shipped earlier in the Winter.

OUR RECEIPTS OF GRAIN AND FLOUR. During the past six months, are given in the annexed table, in which, for the sake of comparison, we have incorporated the receipts of the first six months of every year for the past nine years:

Table with columns: From June 30, to Dec. 31, 1885. Rows: Wheat, Barley, Oats, Flour. Values in 1000 bbls.

By this it appears that whereas our receipts of wheat, as compared with those of 1872, show a decline of over a million of bushels, those of flour show a gain of nearly 140,000 bbls, which, when reduced to wheat, shows a total falling off of only 700,000 bushels, certainly, considering the character of the two seasons, a most remarkable exhibit. Our exports during the same comparative periods show a falling off (treating in both cases flour to wheat) of only 49,000 bushels, as we have certainly 2,500,000 bushels left in the State available for export, it is evident that the crop of 1872-3 was much larger than was estimated, and that with the balance carried over from last season, and the amount received from Oregon, we had a surplus of certainly 400,000 bushels for export. In this light, too, it is plain that

WHEAT AND FREIGHTS

Have not sustained their proper relations, and that while the former has ruled too high, the latter have been unjustifiably depressed. Included in the receipts of wheat given above, are some 5,000 tons received from Utah by the Central Pacific Railroad, the character of which, on the whole, was satisfactory. From the neighboring State of Oregon we have received, during the six months, 275,485 bushels of wheat, and 46,457 bbls of flour, against 43 bushels and 37,270 bbls received during the corresponding period of last year. The wheat crop of Oregon was an unusually bountiful one this year, and the exports from the Columbia river will show a larger volume than was ever attained before. During the period under review

THE FLOUR MARKET

Has been very active, and marked by a strong demand for export. The most remarkable feature in this has been the demand for Great Britain, to which country we have shipped 233,000 bbls, and will probably send 40,000 bbls more before the season is out. This result has been brought about by the greater relative cheapness of flour to wheat. It is too early yet to say how these shipments will turn out, but as the flour exported has all been of high grade, and as great care has been taken in shipping it, we have hopes that it will meet with favor, and realize fully the anticipations of the shippers.

THE PLANTING SEASON

is now at hand, and it has opened magnificently, the rains of December having been copious and well distributed, putting the ground all over the State in splendid order for cultivation. A large part of the seed is already in the ground, and on some of the Summer-fallowed land is above the surface while all over the State farmers are driving their plowing with the greatest vigor. The breadth of land planted this season will be wider than ever before, and with any kind of favorable weather in the Spring, we may anticipate confidently a larger crop than has ever heretofore been harvested in California.

THE PRINCIPAL CALL FOR TONNAGE

Has of course, been for the transportation of breadstuffs to Europe, and the prices obtained, although not so high as generally anticipated, have, on the whole, been satisfactory. The result, however, was in a great measure due to the engagements, made before the crop was harvested, which ranged from $4 to $5 to Liverpool, prices far above the average of those obtained on the spot. Our farmers are slow to comprehend that these rates, although apparently high, are no more than fairly remunerative to ships, considering the small freights obtainable by vessels coming this way. They are, however, without remedy, and will have to accept the situation with the best grace possible. We cannot, of course, thus early say how freights will rule during the coming season, but we cannot, in view of the stock of wheat on hand and amount of tonnage on the way, look for any decline from ruling rates during the coming Spring.

No better evidence of the efficiency of Dr. J. S. Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus can be desired, than the following summary of cases, treated with this remedy alone, by that eminent physician, Dr. D. W. Weston, in the U. S. Marine Hospital, San Francisco, reported in the "Lancet," No. 1879, Pacific Med. Journal.

Table with columns: Disease, Cases, Cured, Invalids. Rows: Eucalyptus, Typhoid Fever, Inflammation of Kidneys, Diuretics, Incontinence of Urine, Stricture, Inflammation of Bladder, Hemorrhoids, Disease of the Heart, Dysentery, Chronic Diarrhoea, Gonorrhoea, Dropsy.

Completely corroborative of the above, are the reports of the experiments with Eucalyptus by Dr. Lorrain, of Berlin, Prussia, and Dr. Keele, Chief Physician of the Austrian Railway Co., published in the "Am. Med. Jour." July, 1874. It will be found very efficacious in obstinate cases of Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, Hacking Cough, Chronic Sore Throat, Leucorrhoea, etc., and in menses during pregnancy.

Dr. Coleman's Double Extract of Eucalyptus is a special preparation for the treatment of EUCALYPTUS and GAITHER, and is warranted to cure every case treated according to directions, without the injurious results of the usual Quinine and arsenical remedies for this disease. Also pure fluid extract of Eucalyptus, in one round bottle, for physicians' use. Beware of imitations, and take none but Coleman's. For sale every where, and by Colgate, Chief & Co., Druggists, Portland, Agents for Oregon. 7c5v3
