Home News.

Campmeeting at Lebanon, under the auspices of the Cumberland Presbyterians, next month.

Mrs. Jos. Liggett, who has been very low with fever for three or four weeks past, is slowly recovering.

A billiard table, sold at auction on Saturday, was purchased by a gentleman from Silverton, at $189—cheaper'n dirt.

P. C. Harper & Co. have had the floor of their storeroom renewed, and other improvements, preparatory to receiving their fall goods.

A. Carothers & Co. now receive their goods direct from New York, enabling them to sell much cheaper than heretofore.

Mr. A. N. Arnold left us on Tuesday for a brief sojourn at Clatsop Beach, one of the famed watering places of the Pacific.

Mr. Coates, foreman in the machine shop of the Oregon Iron Works, Portland, has been spending some days in the city.

Morris & Parker have about 30,000 bushels of new wheat in their new warehouse. On Tuesday they took in something over twenty-four hundred bushels.

During S. E. Young's absence in San Francisco, his business affairs are in the hands of Jay Blain, one of the most promising young men in the State of Oregon.

The latest delicacy in the bird line, offered in market, is the "thunder-pumper," which when properly put upon the table, is said to be an epicurean dish. Thunder-pumper!

The rush for the mountains and pearly streams is gradually slackening, and the old familiar faces once more grace the places of evening resort.

Geo. Wash. Young is boss contractor in putting up the Plummer business house, the dimensions of which are 20x40 feet, one story—frame.

M. M. Hart, before finishing his neat dwelling on Railroad street, concluded it wasn't large enough, and has had the carpenter's at work adding an addition.

About this time of year the merry and jocose sprinkler wagon man throws himself in sight, green goggles and all, serenely squirting his water up and down First street, most effectually keeping down the dust.

The latest thing invented for the convenience of the housewife, is the socket broom. The broom has a socket (patented, of course), from which the handle may be taken and returned at pleasure. The broom can be found at S. E. Young's, and is certainly the best broom ever brought to this city. The broom is certain to please the ladies.

"J. Zoller Crouse" is the name given by Wm. Gird to a four-months old bay colt, sired by Eph Maynard, out of a Messenger-Comet. It is a beautiful colt, well muscled and good action, and goes like the wind now, scarcely ever breaking a trot, giving evidence of high speed to be attained in the coming years. J. Z. Crouse, after whom the colt is named, places great store by that colt, and well he may, for it certainly is a beauty.

Items have been delightfully scarce during the week.

Ed. Carter is reported among the invalids this week.

Joe Nixon and wife were in the city on Tuesday.

Organa Encampment meets this evening.

Miss Nellie Plummer is recovering from her recent severe illness.

Crill Burkhart, we are pleased to report, is gradually gaining health and strength.

Mr. Graves and wife, of the Chemeketa, Salem, was in the city on Tuesday.

The two dailies at Salem are exercising their talents somewhat at shooting paper wads at each other.

Miss Emma Ketchum is reported in a fair way to recover from her recent severe illness.

School vacation is rapidly gliding away to the great joy of mothers and deep regret of the youngsters.

Rev. J. W. Van Cleve was at Omaha, Nebraska, Sunday week, en route for Illinois. Family only tolerable well, the overland trip from Roseburg to Chico proving anything but pleasant.

From forty acres of wheat on Judge Baber's farm, five miles south of this city, nineteen hundred and forty-six bushels of wheat were harvested this week, which is within a fraction of fifty bushels per acre.

With a two-horse Wheeler & Melick thresher, Mr. C. T. Ingram threshed five hundred and five bushels of wheat, one day this week.

Mr. Enoch Sloan, carpenter, fell from the new building now in course of erection on First street for Dr. Plummer, on Wednesday, skinning one ear and bruising one of his legs somewhat.

A new fan, invented by a Brownsville man, we believe, was placed in the Farmers' warehouse on Wednesday to give it a trial. We have not learned how it worked.

A. S. Mercer, of the Granger, who went below about the middle of last week to attend to some business, did not return until Wednesday. Of course the issue of his paper has been delayed in consequence.

The W. U. T. Co.'s line will be repaired, renewed and in working order to Yreka in a few days. John Purdom and others from this city will then return home. Alex. Purdom will continue on to California.

The County Fair will soon be here, and if you wish it to be a success, you should be preparing to exhibit something for which a premium is offered. Let all bring something, and the Fair can not fail to be both interesting and profitable.

Layton Blain and wife, and Judge Powell and family, returned from Upper Soda on Wednesday, after an absence of a fortnight. The Judge met with an accident that injured his arm slightly, otherwise the party enjoyed the trip. Layton Blain killed five deer, which enrolls his name among the long list of mighty hunters of the Far West. The party found him huckleberries in the mountains.

Lou Miller is all right once more, thanks to a fine constitution and good nursing and proposes to try his muscle hammering iron next week.

Seven thousand dollars in coin will be awarded at the coming Linn County Fair. Go for some of it.

So far 60c is the highest offer we have heard for wheat, and of course we have no sales to report.

For splendid sets silver table ware, call at Titus, Bourgardes & Co.'s

M. M. Harkness, agent for the Pacific Coast Directory, called yesterday.

The run on Carother's soda works continues with unabated vigor. Everybody buys it.

W. J. Warren is agent for the improved Florence sewing machine.

Change of Commander in the Columbia Department.

Brigadier General O. O. Howard, who was prominently identified with the Freedmen's Bureau established during the war of the rebellion, arrived here last evening, en route to Portland, Oregon, the headquarters of the Department of the Columbia. Gen. Howard relieves Brevet Brigadier General Jefferson C. Davis, Colonel of the Twenty-third Infantry, who has been ordered to his regiment in the Department of the Platte. Gen. Davis superseded Gen. Gillem, Colonel of the First Cavalry, as commander of the expedition against the Modoc Indians, a few days after the massacre of April 26, 1873, and brought the war to a speedy and eminently satisfactory termination in about one month. The Department at Washington paid General Davis the compliment of allowing him to use his brevet title officially, and at the close of the Indian difficulties assigned him to the command of the Department of the Columbia. Thus were his services recognized by the Government. The command of the Columbia Department, at the time of its assumption by General Davis, was one of the most important in the gift of the Government on account of the unsettled condition of the Indians. But at the present time that department is hardly heard of. The Departments of the Platte and Arizona are those upon which public interest centers just now. To the uninitiated it seems somewhat singular that the Department should relieve General Davis from the command of the Columbia Department, but the facts of the case are not generally understood. General Davis is the junior Colonel commanding the Department, and, according to the regulations, when a Brigadier General came into active service it was necessary for the junior Department commander to retire. Hence the change of General Davis. On the whole, however, General Davis has cause for congratulation. The headquarters of the Twenty-third Infantry are at Fort D. A. Russell. From this point scouting expeditions start in operating against the Sioux. General Davis will find himself in the center of active scenes. He will have numerous opportunities for the display of his executive abilities and dauntless bravery, and no doubt he will make fresh points for his already creditable record as an Indian fighter. General Davis will leave Portland for his new post of duty upon the arrival of General Howard.—S. F. Bulletin.
