THE NEWSBOY'S DEBT. Only last year, at Christmas time, while pacing down a city street, saw a tiny, ill-cad boy— One of the thousands that we mee:

As ragged as a boy could be, With half a cap, with one good shoe; Just patches to keep out the winds— I know the wind blew keenly too:

A newaboy, with a newaboy's lungs, A square Scotch face, and honest brow, And eyes toas liked to smile so well They had not yet forgotten how:

A newsboy, hawking his last sheets With land per-intence. Now and then Stopping to beat his stiffened hands, And trudging bravely on again.

Dodging about among the crowd, Shouting his "Extras" o'er and o'er; Pausing by whiles to cheat the wind Within some alley, by some door.

At last he stopped—six papers left,
Tucked hopelessly beneath his arm—
To eye a fruiterer's outspread store;
Here products from some country farm,

And there confections, all adorned
With wreathed and clustered leaves and flowers,
While little founts, like frosted spires,
Tossed up and down their mimic showers.

He stood and gazed with wistful face, All a child's longing in his eyes; Then started, as I toucked his arm, And turned in quick, mechanic wise,

Raised his torn cap with purple hands, Said, "Paper, sir? World! Herald! Times!" And brushed away a freezing tear That marked his cheek with frosty rimes,

"How many have you? Never mind— Bon't stop to count—I'll take them all; And when you pass my office here, With stock on hand, give me a call."

He thanked me with a broad Scotch smile, A look half wondering and half glad, I fumbled for the proner "change," And said, "You seem a little lad

"To rough it in the streets like this,"
"I'm ten years old this Christmas time!"
"Your name?" "Jim Hanley," "Here's a bill—
I've nothing else, but this one dime—

"Five donars. When you get it changed Come to my office—that w the place. Now wait a bit, there's time enough! You need not run a headlong race.

"Where do you live?" "Most anywhere.
We hired a stal-le-loft to-day,
Me and two others." "And you thought
The fruiterer's window pretty, hey?

"Or were you hungry?" "Just a bit," He answered, bravely as he might." "I couldn't buy a breakfast, sir, And had no money left last night."

"And you are cold?" "Aye, just a bit, I don't mind cold." "Why, that is strange!" He smiled and pulled his ragged cap, And darted off to get the "change."

So, with half unconscious sigh, I sought my office deek again. An hour or more my busy wits Found work enough with book and pen.

But when the mantel clock struck five I started with a sudden thought, For there beside my hat and clock Lay those six papers I had bought.

"Why, where's the boy, and where's the 'change' He should have brought an hour ago? Ab, well ! ah, well ! they're all alike! I was a fool to tempt him so?

"Dishonest! Well, I might have known; And yet his face seemed candid, too. He would have earned the difference a If his had brought me what was due.

"But caution often comes too late." And so I took my homeward way, Deeming distrust of human kind The onlyl esson of the day.

Just two days later, as I sat, Half dozing, in s y office chair, I heard a timid knock, and called, In my brusque fashion, "Who is there?"

An urchin entered, barely seven— The same Scotch face, the same blue eyes— And stood, half doubtful, at the door, Abashed at my forbidding guise,

"Sir, if you please, my brother Jim— The ene you give the bill, you know— He couldn't bring the money, sir, Because his back was hurted so.

"He didn't mean (o keep the 'change;'
He got runned over up the street;
The wheel went right across his back,
And t'other fore-wheel smashed his fee

"They stopped the horses just in time, and then they took him up for dead, and all that day and yesterday He wasn't rightly in his head.

"They took him to the hospital— One of the newsboys knew twas Jim— And I went too, because, you see, We two are brothers, I and him. "He had that money in his hand, and never saw is any more. Indeed, he didn't mean to steal! He never lost a cent before!

"He was afraid that you might think He meant to keep it, any way; This morning, when they brought him to, He cried because he couldn't pay. "He made me fetch his jacket here; It's torn and dirtied pretty bad; It's only fit to sell for rage, But then, you know, it's all he had;

"When he gets well—it won't be long— If you will call the money lent, He says he'll work his fingers off But what he'll pay you every cent,"

And then he cast a rueful glance At the solled jacket where it lay. "No, no, my boy! Take back the cost, Your brother's badly hurt, you say?

"Where did they take him? Just run out And bail a cab, then wait for me. Why, I would give a thousand coats. And pounds, for such a boy as he !"

A half-bour after this we stood Together in the crowded wards, And the nurse checked the heaty steps That fell too loudly on the boards.

I thought him smiling in his sleep, and scarce believed her when she said, Smoothing away the tangled har From brow and check, "The boy is dead!"

ead so soon? How fair he looked? eak of sunshine on his hair. Well, it is warm in heaven: i of "change" and jackets there!

And something rising in my throat Made it is so hard for me to speak, I turned away, and left a tear Lying upon his sunburned cheek.

Many years ago, when David Crockett was a member of Congress, and had returned to his constituents after his first session, a "nation" of them surrounded him one day, and began to interrogate him about Washington.

"What time do they dine at Washington, Colonel?" asked on.

"Why," said he, "common people, such as you here, get their dinners at 1 o'clock, but the gentry and big uns dine at 3. As for the Representatives, we dine at 4; and the aristocracy and the Senate, they don't get their victuals till 5."

It is seldom that the grain trade is in such a quiet condition as is at present witnessed. The speculative mania seems to have subsided, and there is but little inclination shown to speculate, either by local or outside operators. Indeed, aside from the wheat trade, none of the markets appear to attract any attention from operators worthy of mention,

THE PIANO-HARP Cabinet Organ.

Patented December, 1874.

A new and beautiful musical instrument—or im. provement upon the Cabinet Organ—being a com-bination of the pianoforte and organ. To a com-plete Five-Octave Double-Reed Organ is added a Piano-Harp, the tones of which are between those of the pianoforte and harp. It has a pianoforte action, is played by the same keys with the organ, and may be used separately or with one or all the stops of the organ. It is not liable to get out of order, and does not require tuning. Having thor-oughly tested this beautiful improvement, we offer it with great confidence to the public. Frice of PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN, being a PIVE-OC-TAVE DOUBLE-REED ORGAN, SIX STOPS; with Vox HUMANA, AUTOMATIC SWELL, KREE SWELL and Plane-Hane, three and a half octaves; in Elegani Upright Resonant Case, $200. Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of Wanegar BIT-TERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient re-covers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of Vinegar Bitters in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion of Inflammation of the Liver and Viscerat organs, in Bilions Disease.

The properties of Dr. Walker's Vinegar Briters are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritions, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterptive, and Anti-Bilions.
