

ALBANY, FRIDAY, SEPT. 24, 1875.

FOR CONGRESS,
HENRY WARREN,
OF YAMHILL.

The death of the distinguished sculptor, Horatio Stone, in Italy, on the 11th inst., is announced.

Eighteen thousand Spanish troops are to go to Cuba by the 18th of November next.

Vice President Wilson declines to be a candidate for Governor of Massachusetts.

The Catholics of Boise county propose to raise $600 to buy an organ for the Catholic church.

A granddaughter of Dr. Paley has excelled all the boys at Cambridge, England, in moral science.

The New York Liberal Republicans in caucus on the night of the 20th, decided that it was not advisable to nominate a State ticket.

The Liberal Republican Convention of New York, assembled at Albany on the 22d, adopted resolutions fully endorsing the Democratic platform and ticket.

Maryland Republican State Convention which assembled at Baltimore on the 22d, placed in nomination J. M. Harris, for Governor; S. T. Wallis, Attorney General; Edward Wilkie, Comptroller.

Does the Court understand you to say that you saw the editor intoxicated? "Not at all, sir, only I've seen him in such a—flurry as to attempt to cut out copy with the snuffers; that's all."

Rhode Island has gained 149,409 in population within the past five years while her sister States, Vermont and New Hampshire, show an increase of but 38,908 and 33,276 respectively.

The London Court Journal announces that two American ladies are just now making a pedestrian trip to the Highlands, and enjoying the best of all ways of traveling amid mountain scenery. They are alone, each having her knapsack on her back, and each also armed with a revolver.

Joe Morris, leader of the late insurrection in middle Georgia, was captured at Atlanta on the 21st. He had been hiding three days and visiting U. S. District Attorney Farion at night, demanding a Ku-Klux prosecution against certain citizens of Burke county. The arrest was made by the sheriff. Morris will be taken to Burke county for trial.

The commission appointed to investigate the charge of fraud preferred by the Indians against Agent Gibson, of the Oga Agency, reported to the effect they found serious irregularities such as an imperfect system of keeping accounts, but no evidence was adduced showing corruption and fraud. Neither the government nor the Indians have sustained any loss.

FRANCE AND POSTAL COMMUNICATION.—The French Government has notified Switzerland that the provisions of the Bernese postal union, relative to communication with Great Britain through France, may go into effect immediately. The French government will make, before the first of January next, the same concession respecting postal communication with America.

Republicans of Linx county stand a split in Mr. Warren, while a number of Democrats have declared they will vote for him in preference to the "Popo's candidate." There are but two candidates in Linx county, and we believe, from present indications, that Hon. Henry Warren will carry even our Linx county next month. Put that

A discreet young lady will not jump at the lightning flash when the parlor is all ignited, but when the flash's all gone, and the thunder peals through the murky night, she may quit down in her clasp's arms as quiet as a kitten.

Stand by the Public School System.

The question of maintaining the public school system is before the country, and it will not do for our Democratic friends to deny or try to ignore it. Efforts have been and are still being made, to build up a sentiment in favor of dividing the school funds for sectarian purposes. The people of the Atlantic States have already become alarmed on this subject, and are taking steps to protect themselves and their institutions. The people of New Jersey recently voted upon a series of amendments to the State Constitution. Among the amendments voted upon were four touching the school question, the object of the amendments being to make it impossible by any Legislative chicanery or trickery to divert one dollar of the public school funds to sectarian purposes. "And these four amendments, and one other, were the only amendments to which there was any serious opposition offered; and although they were adopted by an overwhelming majority, there was a large vote against them," showing that there is a large element, at least in some of the States, that are in favor of diverting the public school funds to sectarian purposes. The mere fact that it was deemed necessary to propose these amendments in that old commonwealth, shows conclusively that the people believed they had reason to fear such legislation; and it is not reasonable to believe that an old and intelligent community would let their tear get so firm a hold of them as to cause them to demand an amendment to their organic law, unless there was strong grounds upon which to found their alarm. The strenuous effort to defeat those amendments is conclusive evidence that their fears were well founded. It is true that the Oregon Democratic platform is not hostile to the public schools. The Democratic platform simply ignores the subject; it is as silent as the grave at a time when silence becomes suspicious. A party that boasts its fearlessness in dealing with the living issues of the day, entirely ignores a question which is more prominent at present probably than any other—a question upon which the people are anxious, and upon which they demand an explicit and outspoken declaration. The people of our country make up the issues, and when a party convention refuses to accept them, it lays itself open to the charge that it is opposed to the people, and it cannot expect to succeed. This is the condition of the Democratic party of Oregon to-day. By refusing to accept this momentous question as an issue in this canvass, it lends force to the charge that it dare not. The Republican party has a clear record upon this question; it is now and always has been opposed to diverting a single cent of the public school funds to sectarian purposes. And this is the position of our candidate, Hon. Henry Warren, and the position of the people of Oregon for our next Congressman.

The Bosnian Rebellion.

The London Times of the 21st, publishes a letter dated at Vienna, which contains some very interesting details of the insurrection in northern Bosnia, and of the fugitives who have taken refuge in Austria. It says the cause of the sudden failure of the movement is attributed to the fact that the insurgents were not prepared, were without arms and ammunition, and that many villages remained passive. Two Austrian commissioners have been sent to ascertain from the refugees the causes of the insurrection. The latter states that the Turks fearing that the Herzegovinian insurrection would spread to Bosnia, arrested the elders of the villages, some of the most influential men, under the pretext that they were accomplices of brigands. Thirty were thus arrested in one village, and were only released upon payment of large sums. Upon threatened repetition of these outrages, the villagers fled to the mountains with their families and flocks, and prepared to resist. The rising assumed the character of retaliation up to a date as recent as the 18th of August, but the next day the insurgents fled, in consequence of the mass of immigration which had set in. The fugitives disclaimed any connection with the Herzegovinian insurgents, and declared they never should have thought of rising if they had not been provoked.

Kettlewood & Co. took out of their claim on the Klamath river last week in three days and a half, one hundred and forty ounces, or about $2,500. This claim can be said to be paying "big."

Great Loss of Life on the Texas Coast.

A private dispatch received at Chicago on the 21st from Galveston, Texas, states that a Morgan steamship has just arrived there, and reports the town of Indianola, a seaport, almost entirely destroyed. Lighthouse, wharves, and nearly every house have been swept away, and a hundred to a hundred and fifty lives lost. The steamer could find no place to land her cargo.

Later accounts say that trouble commenced on the 15th, when the water on public thoroughfares was six feet deep. Houses were washed away or fell in; railroads and telegraph lines were destroyed for miles, and a large number of people drowned—estimated loss, over one hundred and fifty. Dead bodies were strewn along the shore for twenty miles. The loss of property is immense, as it is estimated that nine-tenths of the buildings were destroyed, with all their contents.

The town of Matagorda was also swept away, only two houses being left standing. The town of Cedar Lake has suffered the same fate, and every inhabitant lost. At East Bay, of twenty-eight human beings only five are known to be alive. The town of Saluria was entirely washed away. This is a most horrible tale of suffering and devastation, unequalled by anything in the past history of our country.

From reports received from nearly every county in the State, it is evident that Messrs. Whitney and Dimmick are not in the field—both together will not get a good precinct vote in the total aggregate. This fact being so plain the query naturally arises, why do those men suffer themselves to remain as candidates? Knowing there isn't the least possibility of an election for either, why do they remain in the field? and both being poor men, where is the inducement to spend the time and money to make the canvass? It has been boldly asserted that both are paid to make the canvass, and circumstances indicate that the charge is true, and that they are in the employ of the Democracy.

The Oregonian is informed that a large portion of the Democracy of Douglas county declare they will not be hoodwinked into helping to overthrow the school system of our State. They declare the question is before the people, in spite of the manipulators of the Democratic State Convention, who did not represent the sentiments of the party at large. Lane, therefore, will not receive the party vote in Douglas.

The San Francisco Alto is about to be sued for libel by the Bulletin and Call, for charging that the course pursued by these journals during and since the panic, was with the object of affecting the stock market and creating a financial panic. It is expected that, owing to the intimate connection between the newspaper fight and the financial complications, some very interesting developments will be made.

THE KIOKAND INSURRECTION SETTLED.—Advices from St. Petersburg announce that the Russian General Kauffman occupied Khokand on the 16th of the present month without resistance. The greater portion of the Russian troops remained in the fortified camp outside. All the Russian prisoners have been delivered over to General Kauffman, and the Khan has accepted all the conditions of peace.

At East Brunswick, N. J., on the 20th, James Garland, music dealer and teacher, shot his wife three times. Believing her dead, he locked himself in his room, and shot himself three times, opened his main artery, and, falling to die quickly enough, crushed his own skull with a heavy hammer. He was breathing when found, but died shortly after. His wife is seriously hurt, but not fatally.

Says the Statesman: A prominent Democrat of Douglas county says that he lives in a precinct where nearly all the voters are Democrats—the banner Democratic precinct—and that he knows but one Democrat in his neighborhood who will support Lane. He concludes that not only his precinct, but the county will give a majority against Lane and offers to "put up coin."

The real, live temperance men of Oregon are everywhere endorsing Hon. Henry Warren, who, without ostentation or "blow" has lived a temperance life, and has always been ready to do his utmost to advance the cause of true temperance on all occasions.

Eight teams of eight mules each left Boise valley last week, with wagons loaded with hides for Kelton.

Those Democratic Journals that are charging Hon. Henry Warren with being an active know-nothing a quarter of a century ago or such a matter, might probably find out all about it by addressing their inquiries to that Democratic war-horse of Yamhill, Mr. W. T. Newby, who, it is currently reported, was the big Chief or grand Mogul of the Know-nothing party in Yamhill county at the time they charge Hon. Henry Warren as having united with it. It is positively asserted that Mr. Newby—and none of these fellows will gainsay Mr. Newby's Democracy, we opine—instigated every Know-nothing lodge in Yamhill county, and would, therefore, be the very man of whom to seek information. Call Mr. Newby, the Democratic war-horse of Yamhill, and let him explain.

Quite a serious affray occurred in Union on the 11th. Two half-breeds named Raymond and Izadore went to the house of Mr. Duncan, a carpenter, who lives in the outskirts of the town, and began to quarrel. Duncan ordered them to leave his house. They refused to do so, and words led to blows. During the fracas Duncan was struck on the head with a rock. At this he seized a knife and struck a blow at Izadore. The knife penetrated the back part of the neck to the bone and was drawn down over the shoulder to the chest, making a fearful wound and nearly half severing the fleshy part of the neck from the trunk. At last accounts the wounded man was expected to recover.

The Democratic journals of Oregon seem to have made a great mistake with regard to the proprietor of the Salem Statesman, as they have been charging him with being a Nebraska carpet-bagger, whereas he has been a resident of Oregon since 1852—twenty-three years. Friend Warren is proving too much for the whole "kit and billy," and is skinning the whole lot, one by one, and hanging their hides on the fence to dry.

A Huge British Monitor. The inflexible is not the largest ship in the British navy by several, but she carries the thickest armor and the heaviest guns. She is 320 feet long and 75 feet broad, her displacement being 11,000 tons. But her designer describes her as a rectangular armored castle 110 feet long and 75 feet wide protected with twenty-four inches of iron and seventeen inches of teak. The other parts of the ship are not armored, and are simply intended to float and move this invulnerable iron citadel. This peculiarity of construction is worthy of note. The unarmored portion is cellular, and contains as many as 127 water-tight compartments and 150 water-tight doors, and there is a submerged prow extending fifteen feet in front of the vessel, for ramming purposes. The armored portion contains the engines and boilers, hydraulic winding gear, the magazines, steering apparatus, etc., all of which are below the water-line. There are other novel features on deck. The superstructures, where all the sleeping berths will be, are built on the central line, consequently the turrets, unlike the plan adopted on other turret ships, are placed one on the port and the other on the starboard side of the keel line. Each turret will carry two eighty-one gun guns, and by this arrangement the four guns can be fired together in line at an enemy either right ahead or either beam. There is stowage-room below the water-line for 1,200 ton of coal, and besides the propelling-engines, which are to be capable of working up to 8,000-horse power, there are separate engines for ventilation, moving turrets, hoisting shot, turning the captain, lowering the boats, steering, loading the guns, etc. The longitudinal frames of the ship are of steel, the deck is made of three inches of iron, and finally, the cost of the whole structure will amount to certainly not less, and probably more than $2,600,000.

The Oregon Granger published and owned in the office of the State Printer is expected to do good service in the cause of Lane Democracy. The farmers of Oregon cannot be caught by such chaff. The public funds used for that purpose will give the State Printer but slight returns.—Statesman.

The water in the Klamath river is from 10 to 12 inches lower at present than it has been before. This is so large a stream of water that it is a great change.

The Plaindealer says: The Roseburg and Fort Ord E. E. Company, of which Aaron Rose is president and L. F. Mosher secretary, whose office is in Roseburg, yesterday received from the secretary of the interior, the information that their application for the benefit of the act of March 3d, 1875, was received and approved. Under this act the company is granted the right to lay through the public lands in the United States to the extent of 100 feet on each side of the central line of their road; also the right to take from the public lands adjacent to the same, material, cart stone and timber necessary for its construction; also ground for station buildings, etc., to the extent of 20 acres for each station of every 10 miles. The board of state lands commissioners have lately had under consideration the application of Capt. L. N. English to purchase 20 acres of public land, a small island in the Wallamette river, below the mouth of Mill creek. After due consideration the decision arrived at is that said island does not come within the purview of the act of congress of March 12th, 1860, which granted swamp and overflowed lands to the states, but does it belong to the state of Oregon by right of eminent domain, and that no law of the state legislature has been passed to authorize the board to sell it to any person.

The Walla Walla Statesman learns from Mr. A. E. Isham, who has just returned from North Idaho, that the non-treaty Nez Perce Indians on Salmon river are disposed to make trouble with the white settlers. It appears that a short time ago an Indian by the name of Red Elk, in company with two or three other Indians, after partaking freely of fire water, supposed to have been obtained at a China store on Salmon river, went to the house of one of the names of Benedict, who has a wife and three or four small children. Mr. Benedict, at the time was absent from home. The Indians took possession of the house, drove the woman and children out, forcing her to wade White Bird at the risk of her life. About this time Mr. Benedict appeared on the scene, armed with a double-barreled shotgun, and began to fire on the Indians, who being thoroughly armed promptly returned the fire. One of the Indians was killed through mistake, as he was killed by a pistol shot, and Benedict had nothing but bird shot. The white settlers in that locality were very much excited, and took the party of raising a company, and driving the Indians from that section.

The commissioners' court has ordered that the following rates of taxation shall be levied upon the taxable property of the various counties for the present year: State tax, 5 mills; military, 1¼ mills; school, 3 mills; county, 10½ mills. REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

First—That the Republicans of Oregon declare unalterable adherence to the indissoluble Union of our sovereignty of the Federal Government in the fearless support of the constitution, rights of the States and equality of all men before the law.

Second—That we approve of the present Republican National Administration, and especially the effort to prevent and punish fraud and expense, past violations, and to guard against their recurrence in the future.

Third—That we endorse the policy of adjusting difficulties between this and foreign nations by arbitration instead of war.

Fourth—That the Republican party of Oregon oppose a third Presidential term, and believe that President Grant's letter to General White fairly removes that issue from politics.

Fifth—That gold and silver are the only reliable legal tender, and a currency convertible with gold should be gradually attained, and we are in favor of resumption of specie payments as soon as it is practicable to do so without disturbing the business interests of the country.

Sixth—We demand that the patent laws be modified and revised to relieve industry from the oppression of monopolies.

Seventh—We demand that all railroads and other corporations shall be held in fair and just subjection to the law-making powers, and that the interests of the people be protected.

Eighth—We condemn the corruption and extravagance of the present Democratic State Administration.

Ninth—We demand of our representatives in Congress their best efforts to secure a vote from the General Government for the free navigation of the Columbia River by building locks at the Cascade and the Dalles; the improvement of the Willamette, Cowlitz and Rogue Rivers; the construction of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad; the early completion of the Oregon and California Railroad from Roseburg to Redding; the West Side Railroad from St. Joseph to Junction City; and also the completion of the railroad to meet the wants of the increasing population of the State, and the construction of a wagon road from Ashland, by way of Link River, to Douglas Lake, and Gage Lake, to the eastern State line.

Tenth—That we are in favor of opening up the Unsettled lands of the Interior Reservations for public settlement.

Eleventh—That we are in favor of maintaining our present free school system and of increasing its efficiency by placing it under any division of the public school money for sectarian purposes.

Twelfth—We cordially invite all persons opposed to the domination of the Democracy party to power in the nation to forget all past political differences and unite with the Republican party in maintaining the cause of true reform.
