FRIDAY.....MARCH 3. 1876.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A Republican State Convention is hereby called to convene in the city of Portland, Wednesday, May 3d, 1876, at 11 o'clock A. M., to select six delegates to the National Republican Convention, candidates for judges of the supreme court in the second third and fifth judicial districts, for prosecuting attorneys for the several judicial districts, three presidential electors, and a candidate for representative in congress, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the convention.

It is recommended that primary and county conventions in the several counties be held as follows: Primary conventions on Wednesday, April 19th, and county conventions on Wednesday, April 26th, or at such other times as the county committees may appoint.

The following is the apportionment of delegates in the said convention upon the basis of the Republican vote for representative in congress in 1875:

Baker	3	Linn	10
Benton	6	Marion	13
Clackamas	6	Multnomah	13
Clatsop	3	Polk	4
Columbia	1	Tillamook	2
Coos	5	Union	3
Curry	2	Umatilla	4
Douglas	7	Wasco	3
Grant	3	Washington	4
Jackson	4	Yamhill	8
Josephine	2		—
Lake	2	Total	115
Lane	7

In making this call for a Republican State Convention, the State Central Committee realize the fact that too much importance cannot be attached to preliminary operations. This being a "government of the people, by the people, for the people," the agents or officers of the government should be in accord with the people. According to the general accepted plan of selecting candidates, the first steps are taken in our primary, county and State conventions. These form the ground work of political organization upon which the whole superstructure must stand or fall. If honest men desire honest officials, is it asking too much that they lay aside for a day all other business affairs and devote the time necessary to select proper persons to attend county and State conventions?

In view of these considerations and of the important interests at stake we earnestly appeal to all legal voters who are in sympathy with the principles of the Republican party, regardless of personal likes and dislikes to rally at the primaries, and see to it that none but true men are entrusted with the business of preparing for the coming political campaign: Select men who are not only true themselves in the broadest sense of that term but men of discernment, men who can and will choose wisely for the good of the people in defiance of "rings" and "cliques."

It is unnecessary at this time to reiterate in this call the principles of the Republican party: its glorious record is still fresh in the memory of an enlightened public; it is sound upon all the great principles affecting our national existence; it is the party of progress and development; it exposes corruption wherever found and inflicts punishment upon conspirators, fearful and sudden, without respect of person or position; it favors the universal enlightenment of the people without trammel of creed or ism; and its banner is found in the van leading on the hosts of reformers in all that tends to higher civilization and enlarged freedom.

The Boxa—Medicine at a White Heat.

A Young American under treatment by Dr. Brown-Sequard, of Paris, writes home an account of that physician's favorite method of treatment, by the burning of the flesh over the spine, which is interesting in itself, and also as tending to correct or modify greatly the prevalent conception of extreme physical torture as a necessity of the operation. In the first week of his undergoing the actual cautery, there were four applications the first in seven places along the back, the second and third on the head and the back, the forth on the head only. In connection with this he took (separately) iodid of potassium and arsenic; and subcutaneous injections of atrophine and morphine. The burning, he proceeds to say, is not burning at all. "The instrument is of plantinum (i. e., as to the tip), and is heated to a white heat in a coal fire; then it is applied two or three times and immediately put back in the fire for the next application. While red hot iron or platinum would make a terrible burn, there is almost no pain whatever when it is at a white heat. I cau't say there is no pain, for at the moment of application there is a censation almost like that of a burn; but the instant the instrument is removed the feeling is gone, and there is no sensation whatever afterward. There is, of course, a sear at each point, with a dry scab which wears off, leaving the skin in its original state. So that it is really only a drying of the outer layer of the skin; there is no rawness of the flesh. One has only to guard against the rubbing of the collar on one of these spots; otherwise there isn't the least inconvenience. The skin of the head heals still more quickly, though it is rather more sensitive; and, in fact, the sensitiveness increases somewhat after the first application, both on the head and on the back. It is rather worse than a mosquito bite, to which Brown-Sequard compared it, but I stood it without yelling or groaning, and even without clutching my hands. The severity of the treatment has been very much exaggerated in popular estimation and the above account is as near the truth as words will allow.

Experiences in Battle.

I believe no two good soldiers will widely disagree as to their sensations during a battle. I take it to be a piece of bravado in a man to assert that he has no fear during the progress of a long and severe engagement. A battle is a veritable hell upon earth; not to be in serious apprehension while it lasts is to be either drunk, crazy or insensible. The highest type of bravery is that of the man who realizes the full extent of the peril but sticks resolutely to his duty. It was my experience, and that of all those about me, repeated a dozen times, that shell-firing is not ordinarily nearly so demoralizing as that of musketry. It is not often that shells are thrown so that their fragments scatter death and wounds, and their loud humming overhead does not cause that nervous tingling which always follows the sharp zip of the rifle-bullet. The peculiar cutting of the air made by half a dozen of these at once is apt to give the soldier the idea that the whole air is filled with them, and that he is certain to be struck with one of them. All, I believe, will agree as to the sensation first caused by the impact of a bullet. It is a stunning, numbing, feeling, which for a time overpowers the local pain of the wound. In my own experience a single buckshot near the hip knocked flat, and for two days after gave such acute pains and such muscular disturbance from knee to shoulder that I could not stand erect. Soldiers have frequently been prostrated by spent balls. A curious effect of shell wounds is that they do not bleed; the hot fragment sears the torn blood-vessels and stops the effusion. A Minnie ball extracted from the human body presents a remarkable sight. I have seen them where the resistance of the flesh had turned back the pointed and on all sides with such regularity that the ball resembled a saucer or a flower.—N. Y. Times.

One of the strangest claims pending before Congress is that presented in the petition filed in the Senate by the children of the late Senator Wm. K. Sebastian, who was re-e'ected to his seat from the State of Arkansas for the term beginning March 4, 1859, but was prevented from holding it by a resolution of expulsion passed at the special session of Congress which was called in July, immediately after the breaking out of the war. A resolution was passed July 11, which recited that wheras certain Senators, among whom Sebastian was named, had failed to appear in their seats, and it being apparent that they were engaged in the conspiracy to destroy the Union, they were declared expelled. The petitioners aver that Sebastian was then a Union man, and remained such until his death in May, 1865, and they asked the revocation of expulsion and the declaration that his legal rights, that is the salary for the term to which he was elected, inure to his heirs. With the petition are a number of affidavits from various parties, testifying to the loyalty of Mr. Sebastian.

The Tallest Man in Tennessee.

There is now living in Perry County, Tennessee, a wonderful curiosity in the person of James Horner, the Tennessee giant. He is one of a family of eight children, none of the rest of whom have exhibited any unusual traits. At eighteen years he was a well grown man, six feet high, and weighed one hundred and eighty pounds. At twenty-one he was six inches taller, and weighed two hundred and ten pounds. Any growth after that was not noticed, until he was twenty-four years old, and then only by the smallness of his clothes, and he then measured in his stockings six feet nine inches. Since then—he is now thirty-one years of age—he has attained the heighth of seven feet nine inches, and is still growing, this being an increase of about two inches annually. Some years he grows more and some less, but this is his average. While he ought to weigh at least 300 pounds, he only weighs 223, he is excessively lank and gawky, and only possesses one quality in a large degree, and that is his ability to walk. He thinks nothing of walking from home to Linden, the county seat, twelve miles distant, and back to dinner.

A Novel Device.

Among other devices to obtain the "ways and means" of life is a novel appeal to patriotism and vanity introduced by a lady of dashing appearance. She has installed herself in a committee room at the Capitol, with a large and elegantly bound blank-book, each page of which is ruled into small portions, each one large enough to contain an autograph signature. The book when filled is to be nailed up in a box and deposited in the Capitol, with an inscription stating that it is not to be opened until 1976. For the privilege of thus transmitting his name to posterity each siguer is to pay the sum of $10. How many will thus embalm their autograph remains to be seen.

A New York exchange says the colors found in millinery invoices this year are, "creme, ble, italie, biscuit, cid, cordial, morrow and noir."

"He Passed on to Shunem."

The words of my text, my hearers, you will find in the II Kings, iv chapter, verse 8: "And he passed on to Shunem." Take to heart the lesson our text teaches, and when temptations try you and evils lie in wait to ensnare you "pass on to Shun'em."

When you see men of wrath fighting and breaking heads and necks, and hear them cursing and swearing—mind the words of the text, and "pass on to Shun'em."

And oh! my hearers—if you should come into one of our little towns and behold a row of nice little offices with tin signs on the door of each, and hear men talking of attachments without affections, and sequestrations without quiet—ah: and seize yours and never theirs—ah; and about eternally going to law—ah: it will be to your profit to mind the words of the prophet and "pass on to Shun'em."

And if you go around where the merchants are—ah—and they rush out to shake hands with you; and are especially anxious to learn the condition of your wife's health and the children's and the worms and the crops, and offer to sell you a little bill of goods a good deal lower than cost on account of their love for you and for cash—ah—"pass on to Shun'em."

And if you should happen to go round the corner—ah—and see men drinking beer, that will bring them to their bier, and gin slings that will sling down the strongest, and smashes that will smash a man's fortune faster than commission merchants who advance supplies on the last crop—ah—oh "pass on to Shun-'em."

But oh, my hearers!—if you should go down to New Orleans—that modern Sodom and Gomorrah, where I have lately been—ah—and when the gas is dashing and glimmering, and the cabs are dashing along the streets, and obliging drivers are offering to carry you where only steamboat captains and fast gentlemen go—ah—and brass bands are crushing music from the balconies, and men in little holes are ready to sell you tickets to go in and see the Black Crooks dance with nothing to wear, and make spectacles of themselves—ah—oh, my friends, "pass on to Shun'em."

And oh, if later in the evening, with a very particular friend, you go up stairs into splendly furnished rooms—ah—and see the supper tab'e spread with delicacies from every clime and country, and teal duck and snipes and yallar legged pullets and pheasants, and all fish, and fowl can afford—ah—and champagne and brandy and Burgundy and Chateau Lafitta, older than Waterloo, and nothing to pay and all free of charge—ah—and a nice gentleman with rings on his fingers, and a diamond breast-pin, playing with little spotted pasteboards, and another turning a machine and dropping a little ball that rolls round and round and stops sometimes on the eagle, and oftener don't—ah—and men sometimes win, but mostly don't—ah—oh, "pass on to Shun'em."

And in conclusion, my friends, when the world, the flesh, and the devil—ah—lie in wait for you—"pass on to Shun-'em!"

A Story of Rothchild.—Many stories are told of the Rothchilds, generally illustrating their shrewdness and greed in money-getting; but here is a story which shows that even a Rothchild may be entrapped by a pretty young lady:

During one of the fairs in Paris, some years ago, Baron James de Rothchild was a patron. Chancing to pass a stand where some pretty young ladies were installed, he asked, in a bantering tone,—

"Well, my dears, what can I do for you?"

"Ah, Baron," said one, "you can give us your autograph."

"With pleasure," responded the gallant o'd Baron, "if you will preface it with an agreeable sentiment."

So the young lady, without much ado, wrote on a dainty slip of paper,—

"I hereby denote to ——— charity ten thousand francs," and the Baron immediately signed his name in full, and smilingly paid the amount to the enterprising Parisian.

A lad of about 16 years, son of Benjamin Swartz, of Midway, Fulton county, Illinois, was killed recently in a singu'ar manner. He was drying his neck on a long towel running on a roller, and put his neck through the towel. He was found hanging there afterward, life being extinct, and it is supposed he fell into a fit, to which he was subject, and choked to death.

An Omaha school boy asked his seat-mate to rise, and as he did so, he placed a sharpened slate pencil under him. The boy sat down upon it but got up again rather suddenly, as the pencil had pierced his leg to the depth of two inches. The wounded boy had to be taken home in a buggy, and has been sick ever since.

In Jackson county, Tennessee, an ex-rebel has just been convicted of killing a Utah soldier in 1865 and sentenced to ten years' imprisionment therefor. The Judge, Prosecuting Attorney and jurors were all ex-rebels. This is about the first time the killing of a Union man has ever been recognized in the South as a crime.

In striking at a cockroach on his office table a Detroiter struck his hand such a blow as to cripple it for life. There are men who plead: "Wait a little longer—give the down-trodden cockroach one more change."

There used to be some noble adult liars in this country, but since that Vermont boy stuck to it that he was Charley Ross there seems no show for those who have struggled along for years.

Veal Cutlets.—Remove every bit of skin, sinew, or vein, from the veal, and chop it very finely, with salt, pepper, and a very little parsley. The mince should now be made into the shape of cutlets; and if you have the proper bones, the effect will be so much the better. The cutlets must now be egged and bread-crumbed twice, fried in boiling butter, and served with sorrel, spinach, green peas, asparagus or tomatoes. For the egg and bread-crumbs. It is certainly preferable for this dish, as it "binds" the curlets better.

Christmas Pudding.—In a deep basin or nappy, place first a layer of rice which has been boiled until nearly done. Add next a layer of equal parts of sliced tart apples, rasins and dates. The dates and rasins shou'd be chopped. Add another layer of rice, then one of fruit, etc., alternating until the dish is full. Cover, and bake half or three-quarters of an hour. Berries or any other kind of fruit may used in the same way.

Pearl Barley.—To four parts of water add one part of pearl barley. Cook in a double boiler, if possible, for two hours. Pour into teacups, and let it cool. Warm slightly before placing upon the table, turn out on a suitable dish, and serve with grape, raspberry, or whortleberry sauce.

Fig Pudding.—Soak a half pound of figs until soft. Scald a quart of graham flour and make in into a stiff dough. Fill full of the soft figs, and bake or steam an hour and a half. Serve with lemon, plum, or pie-plant sauce.

Valuable Property for Sale!

THE UNDERSIGNED would respectfully call the attention of emigrants and others who wish to procure lands in Oregon, to the following propositions:

I will sell upon easy terms several dwelling houses, principally new, some of them fine residences with excellent lots, situated in the central part of the city of Albany, convenient to business, and which are paying fine interest. Also, some splendid unimproved lots. Also, three farms in Linn county, two of them containing 320 acres each, lying together, and have been worked as one farm. They are two donation claims, taken up in 1850. They are principally prairie and bottom land, and are under fence, being divided into suitable fields. Good buildings, orchards and meadows on them, with the county road running through about the center. These lands can be divided into three or four farms, and all have timber, water and good soil, and all front on the road. Horses, wagons, farming implements and cows can be purchased with them. Price $18 per acre—one-third in hand and remainder in payments to suit purchasers.

Also, a small farm of 235 acres, situated half a mile east of Lebanon; good frame dwelling, barn, orchard, etc., quite all enclosed and divided into fields. There is about 150 acres of good grain land on this tract, and a fine lot of excellent saw-timber convenient to the Albany Canal, and can be run to Albany in a few hours at little cost, where it is worth $7 per M. Price $16 per acre, one-third in hand, balance in payments.

Also from 100 to 200 acres of unimproved lands, 4 miles east of Lebanon, on south bank of the Santiam river: bottom, prairie and timber land, fine soil; good lot of sawtimber, which can be run to Albany through the Canal at little cost; will make a good farm; convenient to roads and mills. Price, $6 per acre.

To persons desiring to engage in the stock business, I will sell from 800 to 1,000 head of fine stock cattle, containing from 200 to 300 head fine beef steers, ranging from 3 to 6 years old; 200 to 300 cows, the remainder young cattle—all good common American stock with some fine English blood. With the cattle will be sold several head horses, mules and farming implements, and from 800 to 900 acres of as fine meadow and hayland as can be found on the Pacific coast. The cattle are running on a fine range, and can be purchased for $16 per head all round, while the land can be obtained for $12 per acre. The cattle and land are situated 200 miles east of Albany, and east of the Cascade mountains, in an excellent country.

Also, about 800 acres of fine meadow land, 20 miles west of the above, or 180 miles east of Albany. This is splendid farm land and surrounded with excellent range, water and timber. Price, $10 per acre.

All of the above property will be sold for one-third cash in hand, the remainder in payments to suit purchasers, with interest at 10 per cent. For further particulars apply to

ATTENTION.

PARKER & MORRIS'

New Elevator!

IS NOW READY FOR THE RECEPTION of wheat and oats. We call the attention of farmers to the fact that we have erected the finest warehouse in the State, at a large expense, and are in position to handle satisfactorily an immense quantity of grain. Our house has a capacity for

200,000 bushels of Wheat

at one time, and is located on the margin of the Willamette River, and provided with a side track from the O. & C. R. R., so that shipments may be made daily by rail, and as often by water as boating facilities offer. We have two large suction fans, in addition to other fans, attached to the house, run by water power, and are thus prepared to all the wheat received. Can take in and clean 10,000 bushels per day. Cleaned wheat is worth much more in all foreign markets than foul wheat, and none should be shipped without cleaning. Our charges will be five cents a bushel on wheat, and four cents on oats. We have to furnish those storing wheat with us, free to those whose wheat we purchase, and at the lowest cash price to those who sell their wheat from our house to other buyers. Persons storing with us are at liberty to sell to whom they please. Those who reside on the west side of the river will have ferriage free. Will be in the market as buyers, and expect to be able to pay the highest possible price. Having prepared ourselves to do a large business, we hope for our share of the public patronage.

MANHOOD,

Revised and corrected by the author, E. de F. Curtis, M. D., &c., &c.

A Medical Essay on the cause and cure of premature decline in man, showing how health is lost, and regained. It gives a clear synopsis of the impediments to marriage, the treatment of nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, and all other diseases appertaining thereto; the results of twenty years successful practice.
