Piles! Piles!
WHY SAY THIS DAMAGING AND irresistible complaint cannot be cured, when so many instances of success might be placed before you every day—cure of anyone's hemorrhoids? Your physician informs you that the longer you allow the complaint to exist, you lessen your chances for relief. Experience has taught this in all cases.

EVERYBODY BUYS THEM.

HAVING JUST RECEIVED A LARGE SHIPment of the celebrated new style Combined Drill and Broadcast

STATESMAN GRAIN DRILL, direct from the factory, am now offering extra inducements to the farmers of Oregon. Most of the best farmers in the State are now using them.

Saving seed and an increased yield of grain is the result of drilling.
Can be used equally well as a Drill or Broadcast Seeder.

The STATESMAN GRAIN DRILL has been greatly improved for this year.
The evening of July 23 found us in camp at Fish Lake, and the mountain-side on the east, overlooking the lake on the west, was dotted over promiscuously with tents and wagons of divers kinds, according to the owners' tastes or circumstances of the occupants. Some of the parties were traveling one direction and some another, and many seeking pleasure and recreation of both sexes and all ages, from the old men to the small children. The evening was calm and clear; the moon shone brightly over the quivering lake; the cheerful song, the stories and anecdotes, games and frequent boisterous laughter, whitened away the hours of night till late, and many were retiring to rest—the last centennial night, when suddenly a rushing, thundering, tornado-like sound, that almost seemed to shake the mountains, made every one begin to look for a place of safety.

A large drove of cattle in a corral near at hand had taken a scare from the approach likely of some wild animal, and were on a regular stampede around the enclosure, over logs, brush and rock, and seemingly, every conceivable thing in the mountains that would add to the terrifying confusion.
However, it lasted but a few minutes, and by the timely presence of some of the drovers in charge, all was soon quiet as before, and a general preparation for sleep was in order. With a few entertaining stories of cattle stampedes, from a drover of much experience and superior ability and understanding in the profession, whose whole sensibilities, whether sleeping or waking, were ever alive to notice the movements of horned cattle, our friend arranged his blankets near one of those mammoth trees common in the mountains where, for safety, had been deposited our camp equipage, saying the stock would stampede every half hour during the night, and a big tree was a big thing in such extremes. Very soon all was quiet and many asleep, but true to the prediction of our drover, the cattle scare was repeated, the same terrific noise and frightened populace, but as before, was soon over, and all was still but one, who continued quieting, "Who-ah, who-ah, who-ah," coming directly from the large tree. Every one looked and sure enough the hero of the night, who I highlight (ed) to be run over by scared cattle had, with one bound reached the large tree, with outstretched arms, hands holding on to the heavy bark of the tree, legs astride, one foot planted on a sack of flour and the other in a frying-pan which contained the remnants of our evening meal of fish, the inevitable hickory, his only garment, the pattern of which had been cruelly abridged.
One from under the edges of wagon There were too many eyes peering covers and tents, and from behind trees and other hiding places, for the stillness.
An outbreak of laughter then made the mountain echo and the lake quiver to its very shores, broke the spell, an the some-nambulists awoke to find himself the observant of all observers, who retired with out even his bow to the audience. Brief speeches and comments with simultaneous roars of laughter were indulged in again and again, till we think the most courageous best head would have dreaded to again disturb the camp. Thus was closed out at Fish Lake the last hour of the great American Centennial year. Twilight in the east soon announced the approach of day. A few reports from Henry rifles, a hasty breakfast, and the roar of cattle whips, and the people dispersed, every man his way, and with thankful remembrance of the events of the past hundred years, we pass on to

LETTER FROM CAMP POLK.
CAMP POLK, July 8, 1876.

As a line from the wayfarer man sometimes keeps the printer's devil at a temporary distance for a short time, we enclose a line for the REGISTER.

We left Albany on the 28th of June destined for Ochoco, with Mr. J. Norcross, and after two days spent in branding cattle, etc., at Peterson's Butte, we wound our way up the Santiam, over dusty roads and hot weather, in the rear of three hundred head of horned cattle. We were truly surprised to see the country looking so prosperous—such fine looking fields of grain, and meadows, especially gardens, which were so far in advance of what they were at the same date last season, that one would almost stop to consider whether or not nature is arranged on the principle of a reversion life policy, or turned a new leaf in her history to conceal the something of the past.

On reaching the toll-gate we find the travel this year greatly exceeds that of last, as there has already passed of stock about two thousand horned cattle and as many sheep, and numbers of small bands of horses. From this point on to the Mountain House the traveler finds no inconvenience in obtaining horse feed and lodging, as the income of the settler depends largely on this resource, and with common consent they all seem to be prepared for the occasion.

The mountain part of the road does not seem to have been obstructed by fallen timber and earth slides as much as in years gone by, notwithstanding the unusually long stormy winter just passed. Some patches of snow, and mud-holes, still exist; —however, much credit is due to Mr.
Hogg's agents, for energy and promptness in removing obstructions and keeping the way in as good condition as possible.

The evening of July 23 found us in camp
at Fish Lake, and the mountain-side on the
east, overlooking the lake on the west,
and wagons of divers kinds, according to

CAMP POLK.
where little remains to be seen of the military glory and labors of Captain Lofollet and his men. A number of large fallen pines and a part of about two rick cabins built higher and used for barn purposes by the present occupant, Mr. Hindman, is about all that is left to distinguish it. Everything in the surroundings shows thrift in husbandry. Here can be seen one of the finest gardens in our travels, the gardens of the Willamette not excepted.

Verily the sword is turned to the plowshear at Camp Polk. R. M. R.

INCENDIARISM.—About eight o'clock Monday morning the small wooden building on First street, west of Fox Bros', belonging to Jas. H. Foster, was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was given and the fire department promptly turned out, but the Chief and other citizens succeeded in extinguishing the fire with a few buckets of water. The fire, from all appearances, was the work of an incendiary. Paper apparently soaked with coal oil, had been placed in the back room under a couple of bundles of shingles, and probably a slow match applied, with the intention to ignite in the dead of night.
Providentially the affair was not well managed, otherwise the three wooden tenements between the two bricks—A.
Carothers & Co. on the west, and Fox Bros. on the east—would have "gone up." This fire is not the first fruits of incendiarism in this city, and although parties have been "suspected," no arrests have ever been made. Isn't it high time that our city authorities took some action in the matter, looking to the apprehension and punishment of the guilty parties? The Council might at least offer a reward sufficient to induce a good detective to look into the matter.

DIRECTORS ELECTED.—COLLEGE TO OPEN SEPTEMBER NEXT.—The Board of Directors of Albany Collegiate Institute held their annual meeting July 24th, in this city. The Directors, who hold their seats until 1877, are: Rev. Dr. E. R. Geary, Dr. J. E. Tate, W. S. Ladd, Thos. Montfeith and D. B. Rice; those holding seats until 1878 are: Rev. S. G. Irvine, J. H.
Foster, Dr. G. P. S. Plummer, W. Wadham and Jas. Conner; those holding 1879 are: Rev. Howard W. Stratton, J. C.
Powell, D. M. Tompson, Saml. E. Young and J. B. Wyatt, fifteen in all. Mr. Jno.
Conner was elected Secretary and Treasurer. Rev. Howard W. Stratton was elected President of the Faculty, and a committee appointed to secure a teacher.
The Board expect to have the College open in good running order by the first of September next. This is good news, and will relieve many anxious minds, who were fearful that College had been discontinued for good.

DR. G. A. WHITNEY—Whose card appears in this issue, has taken up his residence in this city for the purpose of pretending his profession. He has been thoroughly preparing himself for his profession, by the closest study, and attending lectures in the most celebrated colleges of medicine in the United States. He has made the diseases of women a special study, and comes highly recommended in this specialty. Dr. Whitney is a clever gentleman, very attentive, and we believe will give thorough satisfaction to all who employ him. See his card elsewhere.

MOUNTAINWARD.—Tuesday morning Messrs. N. Baum, Jeff. Cline, Archie, Duncan and Charlie Montfeith, and one or two others, started for a two week's visit to the mountains. We are told that the whole country, from Soda to Fish Lake, is "lined with people," all of whom seem to be enjoying themselves splendidly.
Bushes of blackberries are being gathered by these people, and put up in various styles for winter use. Parties have been starting for the mountains or coast nearly every day this week, while others are getting ready to start.

WHORRY.—A note from Dr. Geo. W.
Gray, President of No 2's, dated Philadelphia, July 11th, has this: "Well, Coll —May it please your honor's honor, I was made exceedingly happy to-day, while visiting the Oregon Department (of the Centennial), to read a dispatch (in reference to Linn Engine Company's visit to Portland on the 4th of July) stating Albany First Hurrah for Albany Fire Department and her gallant firemen!"

CONSIDERATE.—Vice President Kohler, of the O. & C. Railroad, passed over the road to Comstock's on Monday, in the President's car, proposing to convey Conductor G. M. Stroud to his home in Portland. Mr. Stroud has been lying at Com-stock's ever since his injury in the railroad accident at Elk creek.

MEDICAL.—See card of Dr. J. Linsey Hill, elsewhere in this issue. Dr. Hill has already obtained an immense practice, and it is still on the increase, giving him time for even needed sleep and rest.

Campmeeting.—Under control of the South Methodists, is under full headway in the Calapooia, about four miles from the city. We suppose everybody'll go out there on Sunday.

James Elkins and family started for his ranch in Ochoco on Monday. W. W. Parrish and family started for the Ochoco country on Saturday. Pleasant trip to both families, is our wish.</
