SUGGESTED BY THE DEATH OF REV. W. J. MONTEITH, WHO DIED AT LAPWAI, IDAHO TERRITORY, ON THE 20TH OF AUGUST, 1876.

"Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joys of thy Lord."

He was not great in nation's fame;
He fought not to secure a name—
By deeds of power and great display
Of sword and battle's fierce array—

He sought to elevate mankind,
To purify the human mind,
And thus lead them to the Cross,
Away from earth and earthly dross.

His work on earth was nobly done,
And now he sleeps, an honored one;
No human tears can now avail,
But human hearts can tell the tale,

How on this earth he sought to do,
By words and actions ever true,
The Master's will, who sent him here
To soothe the heart and dry the tear.

Weep not now that he is gone—
The Master called—let him sleep on;
Those weary limbs have needed rest;
His spirit lives supremely blest.

His glorious work on earth is o'er;
That honored face we see no more;
All radiant with the smile of God,
It calmly rests beneath the sod.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

POLITICAL—TWO WAYS TO MAKE MONEY—THE BIG BRIDGE—OUT OF TOWN—THE ESCAPED FENIANS—BUSINESS.

NEW YORK, August 26, 1876.

POLITICAL.

In a previous letter I said that the Tammany and Anti-Tammany factions would make up their differences as soon as they could come to an agreement as to an equitable division of the spoils. That time has arrived, and per consequence, Tammany and Anti-Tammany have shaken hands, and John Morrissey and John Kelly are fighting together in the pursuit of government spoils; the bargain was virtually consummated weeks ago—the formal ratification was made last Tuesday. The "reformers" divided up the offices among their henchmen, down to the last tide-waiter they fixed upon the price of everything, and having all this done, they march on hand in hand to victory and the spoils; alas, there is now no Anti-Tammany—Morrissey has struck hands with Kelly, and the forty thieves are acting as one man. They have postponed their quarrels as all brigands do, till the great prize of federal plunder is secured.

Tilden is running his own campaign, as he always did. He has an office in Nassau street, at the head of which is his nephew, Col. Pelton, from which a ton, more or less, per day, of documentary lies are scattered broadcast. At his house on Gramercy Park he has another bureau to which only the prominent leaders are admitted, and at Washington he has another. At these various places every paper in the country is taken, they are searched by competent persons, and every line favorable to, or commendatory of Tilden is carefully cut out, altered and amended so as to be effective, and printed and sent to country editors to be copied. To all this matter the Slippery Samuel carefully attends, and what pleases his henchmen better, pays for it. He is pouring out money like water, and if cash in hand will elect a President he will be elected. But to this he is vigorously opposed east and west. The eastern hard-money Democrats don't like his affiliation with the Democratic repudiationists of the west, and the western Democracy know that in electing him they are certain to be fooled, and both sides, and all, in fact, who know him at all, know that all his talk about reform is a sham, for all his life he has been a tricky, corrupt politician of the Van Buren school, who believes in bribery as the one power for elevation. The man whose dependence in New York is in the most corrupt ring the world ever saw is a rather thin "Reform" candidate.

The nomination by the Republicans of Ex-Gov. Morgan for Governor of this State, and Mr. Rogers for Lieut. Governor, takes away the last hope the Democracy have of carrying New York. They hoped that the feud existing between Senator Conkling and the other prominent Republicans would divide the party and give them an easy victory. But to their disgust and to the delight of all the good Republicans of the State, Cornell, supposed to be Conkling's candidate, gracefully withdrew from the contest, and threw all his strength, with the opposite faction, and nominated Morgan. This action thoroughly unites the party, and does away with all doubt as to the vote of the State. Morgan is one of the best men in the State; he was one of the great war Governors, and commands the confidence of men of all shades of political opinion. He combines more strength than any candidate mentioned, and will sweep the State by a majority of 20,000 or more.

This nomination, following the Congressional nominations in Ohio, shows that the Republican party mean Reform and are in earnest when they say so. In Ohio the Republicans have nominated Matthews, Cox, Force, Foster, Garfield, and Monroe, six of the ablest and purest men in the State, and everywhere the rule has been, "the best." Morgan in this State is a continuation of the same policy, and in the other States the same rule has obtained. The election of Hayes is now a certainty, if the proper work is put in, and there is no doubt of that. The country is not yet ready to go into the hands of the rebels.

VARIOUS WAYS TO MAKE MONEY.

A boy over in Brooklyn, whose parents could not furnish him the kind of living he wanted, conceived the idea of making his own. How did he do it? Easily enough. He noticed that thousands of people, tired of paying two or three prices for gas, had thrown out their meters and were using coal oil. The youth knew from experience that the care of coal oil lamps was the greatest nuisance in life, and he went to a dozen or more families and proposed to clean, trim and fill their lamps and keep them in order, for ten cents per day. He started with twenty, and in a week had so many on his hands that he was compelled to take an assistant, and it went on until he has now a score or two of boys, under wages, and is making a great deal of money.

In unpleasant contrast to this is that ingenious youth who traded on the vanity of the Brooklynites to the tune of some thousands of dollars. He prepared a gorgeous prospectus, announcing the publication of an elite directory—that is, a directory in which only the residences of the first families would appear. He went, of course, to only the lower, vulgar, rich families, and so great was their desire to appear among the nobs that he took in two dollars each from them about as fast as he could get in and out of their houses. The police got on his track, and discovered that he had no office, no means of getting out a directory, or anything else; that the whole thing was, in short, a very neat swindle. He had collected over three thousand dollars.

THE BRIDGE ACROSS THE EAST RIVER

Shows some signs of approaching completion. One wire has been stretched across, and Mr. Farrington, the head mechanic, crossed it in a basket. The wire cables will be immediately stretched, and by next spring the two cities will be united. The bridge will be one of the wonders of the world when completed. The structure is so far above the water that the tallest masts can go under at the highest tide, and as there are no piers there will be no obstruction to navigation. The towers are 276 feet above high tide, and the view from the top is superb. New York, Brooklyn, and the numberless cities and villages in the vicinity, the Bay, both rivers, the islands, everything for miles around can be taken in at a glance. The value of Brooklyn real estate will be greatly enhanced by its completion, as it virtually makes one city of two. Of course, there has been millions stolen from the job; but after all it is a big thing, and the cities are to be congratulated upon its near completion.

OUT OF TOWN.

The weather is hot so horribly warm as it was, but yet it is torrid enough to keep the people out of town. The women who change their dresses every hour have not yet enough of gayety, and as there is no business in town the men may as well stay away as not. Everything is dull and dead, and will be for some weeks yet. The churches are mostly closed, the theatres might as well be, and for all that is doing the stores might as well imitate the churches. It is growing cooler, however, by degrees, and in a few weeks the deserted streets will show some sign of life again.

THE CENTENNIAL.

Don't put off coming to the great show much longer. The price of admission has been put down a half; boarding houses and hotels are cheaper than before the opening, and you can come now almost as cheaply as you can stay at home. The weather is getting cooler, and Philadelphia will, in another week, be a delightful place to stay. The show is now in perfect order, everything is working smoothly, and it is worth a year's income to see it. Come, and come quickly.

THE ESCAPED FENIANS.

It is only necessary to have the British flag in any way humbled to have the Irish of this city go off in a spasm of delight that is as funny as it is absurd. Four or five Fenians escaped from the penal colonies in New Sidney, and landed here the other day. As a matter of course, the Irish gave them an ovation; and equally, as a matter of course, zealous Irishmen who don't like work overmuch, commenced organizing for another raid on Canada. The first step toward liberating Ireland is always to collect a few thousand dollars from Irish laborers and servant girls, which these patriots always succeed in doing, and living luxuriously for a while, after which nothing more is heard of them till another opportunity occurs. This little game is being played now, and the result is a number of Irish spouters are seen on the streets in gorgeous apparel. A movement is on foot for another advance on Canada, which will result, if it goes far enough, in another inglorious retreat upon New York. But the servant girls—innocent things—pay every time to save "the blissid owld sod from the bloody Englisher." And the O's and the Macs take advantage of their simplicity every time; and a profitable thing they make of it.

BUSINESS.

There is none, the weather is hot, and the city is unhealthy. Oh, for the coming of autumn!

PIETRO.

Mr. Brown, of Brownsville, has fitted up the depot on the O. & C. Railroad at this point, where passengers over the road will hereafter take their dinner, as by change of the time-table the trains are to pass each other here instead of Tangent, the trains waiting half an hour for that purpose.

SCARLET FEVER.—Thursday night of last week Mr. H. W. Wallace lost a little nine-year old girl of scarlet fever. The four remaining children are sick with the same disease.

Morgan & McFarland's real estate circular for September is out. It is full of rare bargains.

Do you want to buy a neat, new dwelling cheap? Call at this office, if you mean business.

[From the San Francisco Morning Call.]

Following the Multitude. The Crowds visiting Montgomery Queen's Great Circus and Caravan of Wild Beasts.

Manager Queen has rather determined that the Centennial shall not be enjoyed exclusively by the people of our Eastern States, and as California's representative showman, he intends bringing to the people's very doors a little world on wheels. Mr. Queen may be set down as a modest gentleman, and one who would not, for the entire production of the Comstock lode, over-exaggerate the attractions of his great shows, but as his resplendent mass of illuminated magnificence rolls through the principal thoroughfares, the sight-seer acknowledges, for the first in a life time, that he is not disappointed, and the pen and ink sketches of this marvelous traveling World's Fair is but too briefly described. In the pages of "Queen's Advance Herald." It is a matter of considerable astonishment and comment how such an establishment as Mr. Queen's can be made to pay, and for the secret we have made personal application to the head of this great institution, and will give it in the enterprising proprietor's own language: "When I embarked in the show business, I was satisfied that there was only one way to become successful. First, give the people better than was ever offered for their money; second, give them the rarest and most expensive attractions; third, buy the best outfit to be had; fourth, advertise extensively what you have actually got; fifth, never disappoint the public and always pay the printer; this rule carefully observed will insure not only the success in my business, but all others." He then further states that he has expended more money refitting his show for the summer of 1876, than the original cost of the entire establishment, and with a merry twinkle in his eye, he smilingly remarked, as he viewed the vast surging crowds of people who were struggling to witness the great parade as it passed along Kearney street, "it always pays to get the best," and so we thought as night after night, we we looked upon the immense audiences that thronged the mighty pavilions to see the best show in the world, that it always paid to get the best. The procession, with its glittering equipages, the ornate chariots of gold, the sparkling emerald Tableau cars, the embroidered and silver spangled silk and satin banners, the artistically decorated wild beast cages, gaily mounted armored cavaliers, brightly trapped India Elephants, the showy showered and plumed Dromedaries and Camels, the entrancing music, all contributed to establish confidence, and gave evidence of the pure, chaste, classical, elegant and high-toned equestrian and calisthenic exhibitions of the great Queen show, in which renowned emisaries of England, France, Italy, Spain, Prussia, Austria, Russia, South America and our own United States assembled, each with a friendly determination to carry off the honors in the tented arena. We would here observe that as the many new and difficult feats were in turn successfully accomplished, we felt at a loss, for where all is good, it is not only difficult but impossible to say which is the best. The success of Queen's show in San Francisco is immense, and has been visited by over a hundred thousand delighted persons.

This grand show will exhibit in this city on Tuesday, September 19th, 1876.

BURGLARIES AT SCIO AND MARION.—On the night of the 6th Scio was visited by burglars. The supposition is that Irvine & Morris were visited first. Their Tilton & McFarland safe was entered by cutting out a portion of the lock, and $550 extracted. Nothing else molested. D. P. Mason next received attention, and his Hall's fire-proof safe was opened by the combination knob being knocked off and the lock driven through to the inside with a punch. Here they collected about $800 in coin, the greater portion of which was there on deposit, distributed as follows: Alexander, $500; city of Scio, $96 19; P. Smith, $12 75; John Gaines, $15 60; W.C. Miller, $25 75; Charles Miller, $28 50; Smith & Brown, $24 50. They next paid their compliments to Brown, Johnson & Co.'s safe, by cutting two holes in the front and prying it open with a pick. They only obtained about $85 for their trouble. Morrow's tin shop was entered, but they didn't molest the safe. Postmaster Jones' premises were entered and $20 secured. Montgomery had one horse taken and Donahue two, but Montgomery's and one of Mr. D's were left a short distance from Scio, and two of Mr. Darley's taken instead. At Marion Mr. Hubler lost about $1,500. The sufferers offer a reward of $900 for the recovery of the money.

SAD AFFAIR.—The following from Newport, under date of August 31st, is from the Corvallis Gazette: A fatal and very distressing accident occurred at South beach last Monday morning. The team of James Keeney, of Brownsville, took fright and ran away with the wagon in which were three small children. Two of them jumped out; one, a little girl, was unhurt; but the other, a little boy—Freddy—was so severely injured, that he died the next morning. The team ran 3½ miles with the wagon, in which the infant lay asleep all the time.

As the Scriptures tell us Abraham pitched his tent in the wilderness, he is now claimed as the original base baller.

The Annual Conference of the M. E. Church South, Bishop Marvin presiding, convenes at Corvallis to-day.
