OFFICIAL CITY PAPER.

ALBANY, OREGON, OCT. 11, 1876.

Some of the Oregon Tilden papers are blowing about the "peaceful and quiet election in Georgia." As there was positively no opposition to the Democratic ticket in Georgia, what on earth was there to prevent a quiet election? What we complain of is this, whenever the Republicans of the South place a ticket in the field and support it, they are shot down—murdered in cold blood.

Republicans should be protected in all their rights in the Southern States as all parties are in the Northern States—in every part of this broad Union the religious, political and civil rights of every citizen should be respected; and the Republican party, standing by the Constitution and the Old Flag, say they must and shall be respected, until the present fell spirit of murder and hate is put down in the South—as bitter now as during the war—there seems to be no hope of peaceful elections whenever the Republicans attempt to assert the rights guaranteed them by the Constitution.

The Republican party comes to you with its record open, and asks every man, woman, and child in the broad country to read its every word. And I say to you that there is not a line, a paragraph, or a page of that record that is not only an honor to the Republican party but to the human race. On every page of that record is written some great and glorious action, done either for the liberty of man or the preservation of our common country. We ask everybody to read its every word. The Democratic party comes before you with its record closed, recording every blot and blur and stain and treason and slander and malignity, and asks you not to read a single word, but be kind enough to take its infamous promises for the future. Allow me to say here that character—good character—rests upon a record and not upon prospectus.—Col. Ingersoll at Cooper Institute.

CORRECTION.—We were in error last week in stating that the Indiana election would occur on Tuesday the 3d, as our readers no doubt learned by other articles in the same paper; but there was no mistake in what we said about Wheeler's store at Shedd. There is no discount but rather a premium on what we said about that.

As an offset to Clay and Julian we present D. C. Littlejohn, of Oswego, N. Y., a delegate to the St. Louis convention, now out for Hayes and Wheeler. He made a telling speech the other day to his neighbors of both parties, giving his reasons for the change. He "was sent to St. Louis to oppose Tilden's nomination." The same reasons which should prevent the nomination now forbade him to support him. He had not kept his reform promises, made false returns, declared the war a failure, spoke no word, gave not a dime to aid the Goverment, fails to prosecute the Brook'yn ring, he would call the Union soldiers trespassers and would pay Southern war claims, and he was nominated by John Morrissey. Besides, the Democrats of New York have been forced to nominate a renegade Republican for Governor. Mr. L. promises to take the field as soon as his health will permit.

INDEPENDENT POLITICAL MOVEMENT

In response to a call previously made the voters of Santiam Precinct, Linn county, Oregon, met on the 30th day of September, and after organizing a strong Greenback Club, united in a call to all the citizens of Oregan, irrespective of past party affiliations, who are opposed to the further encroachments of capital, on the rights of labor, to the control of the Government by a bondholding aristocracy, and are willing to stand and work with the National Greenback Independent party in rescuing the Government from the hands of speculators and political montebanks, to meet at the City of Salem in mass convention, at 10 o'clock A. M., on Monday, October the 16th, 1876, for the purpose of choosing an Independent Electoral ticket, a State Central Committee and perfecting the State organization of the Independent Greenback party of Oregon.

The call is signed by the following persons: D. F. Crabtree, John Watkins, F. M. Crabtree, F. M. Daniel, Frank Crabtree, S. G. Corwin, J. R. South, Thomas Hines, H. A. Holman, Lewis Stringer, T. B.
