SYMPATHY.

Oh, mothers, whose children are sleeping.
Thank God by their pillows to-night,
And pray for the mothers now weeping
O'er the pillows so smooth and so white;
Where bright little heads oft have lain,
And soft little checks have been pressed;
Oh, mothers, who know not this pain,
Take courses to been all the rest

Take courage to bear all the rest. For the somber-winged angel is going
With pittless flight o'er the land,
And we wake in the morn, never knowing
What he ere the night may demand.
Yes, to-night, while our darlings are sleep-

There's many a soft little bed
Whose pillows are moistened with weeping
For the loss of one dear little head. There are hearts on whose innermost altar

There is nothing but ashes to-night.
There is nothing but ashes to-night.
There are voices whose tones sadly falter.
And dim eyes that shrink from the light.
Oh, mothers, whose children are sleeping.
As ye bend to caress the fair heads.
Pray, pray for the mothers now weeping
O'er pitiful, smooth little beds.
