Miss Sue Deckard, is in a flourishing condition and both pupils and patrons seem to be well satisfied with the selection made by the new board of Directors. A spirit of enterprise and an unusual display of good taste seems to pervade the minds of the citizens of Lebanon at the present time, apparently, from the way improvements are being pushed ahead. A beautiful awning has been placed in front of the Odd Fellows building, occupied by McCalley & Andrews, and numerous other parties are spreading white lead and chemical paint profusely.

Dame rumor says that our town will soon be infested with a dram shop, but we opine that the old "gal" is trying to run a blufffor experience, that proficient instructor, has taught many poor victims that Lebanon is an unhealthy climate in which to practice that peculiar profession. We learn that Mr. Wm. Grant has been awarded the contract for building a new store-house for our energetic young grocer. Mr. J. M. Ralston, and the house is to be ready for occupancy by the first day of June. Mr. R. has an eye to "biz," and is determined to keep up with the times.

There is no "doggery" in our town at present, but from the unearthly yowls that rent the midnight air one morning last week, one would suppose that there was an extensive "cattlery" not far distant. A new barber-shop will astonish the natives in a few days. We learn that a young

Albany knight of the razor will preside. Send him along-he will find it a "big job" to raise the hair of this community. We are informed that Mr. Mart. Bringham will soon remove his planer and door and sash factory from Grass Ridge to Settlemeir & Dawson's new steam saw mills

Turnips, beets, carrots, cabbage, peas and onlors cannot be excelled for size and quality on this coast. The wheat is also of superior quality.

I will now give you a description of the country. The entire country is one vast rolling plain or prairie, with small valleys in every direction, both hills and valleys being nearly the same kind of land, a rich, black, loose loam from eighteen inches to three teet deep, with a clay subsoil, with large and small bunch grass as thick as it is possible for it to grow—and it grows from eight inches to two and a half feet in high the will for the use of the country and fourteen and 92-100 dellars) in gold or silver coin, less the sum of $100 (one thousand dollars) paid by the city for the use of the same, and less the sum of $100 dollars) overpaid on hose cart, and report to the Council as soon as possession of said engine shall be delivered.

The wild clover looks like the large tame red clover, and is Approved relished by all kinds of stock. Flax yields from twelve to twenty-five bushels per acre. Last season, owing to the late, wet Spring, and early Fall rains, it was badly damaged. The hills are as productive as the valleys, and with the common plows about one-half of the entire hills can be tively inexhaustible, and consists of red and white fir, pine, both white and yellow, white fir, pine, both white and yellow, cedar of fine quality and in some localities in vast quantities, tamurack in abundance, and a limited amount of maple and yew.

Now, a word to emigrants: I know by experience, and from various emigrants that have come through the Walla Walla valley, that in order to retain the emigration this country has been misrepresented in various ways. I know both sections of country, and I will give my word and hongory that there is no such land to be taken south of Snake river as there is north of said river; and I say to emigrants it will cost you but little to come and see for yourselves. This section is as dry, rolling and healthy a country as can be found on the Pacific coast, beautiful in Spring and Summer, and clear and cold, and generally Dispensiry, Buffalo, N. Y.
