

ALBANY, OREGON, JAN. 16, 1880.

The cold and snow is causing great suffering among cattle in Utah.

Orders for 25,000 orange trees have been sent to Los Angeles from Sacramento.

Thirty-nine inches of snow on the level in Idaho and fifteen feet in the high hills.

Spurgeon is such a friend of John B. Gortz's that he presented him with 24 of his best sermons, bound in calf.

The wife of ex-Governor Safford, of Arizona, died of consumption in New York, on the 7th.

A through railroad is now arranged from St. Louis to New York via Savannah.

Page, of California, introduced on the 8th in the House a bill to restrict the immigration of the Chinese.

The workmen of London on the 8th petitioned the authorities for temporary employment to keep them from starvation.

A deficiency in the accounts of town treasurer, Daniel Emmons, of Everett, Mass., of $10,000, was discovered about the same time of his flight—on the 8th.

The Athenians are by no means pacified or intimidated. The British still report occasional engagements with them. They appear to be irreconcilable.

Seven feet of snow in some parts of New York! Even the republicans in Maine ought to be able to keep calf in this kind of a winter.

It would be no gratification to the civilized world to learn that an army largely composed of Englishmen had been massacred by Asiatic barbarians. The merits of the Afghan war constitute another matter.

The Baltimore States places the vote in California in favor of Chinese immigration at 2,000. Least these figures should grow as they travel, it may be well enough to correct them. Official returns place the vote alluded to at 883.

The Richmond State (democrat) says: "We by no means commend the action of the authorities of Maine in ruthlessly counting out the republicans and counting themselves in on the most trivial technicalities."

Gen. Grant and party arrived at Jacksonville, Ga., on the 8th, when he was received by the artillery company and an address by Gen. Ledwith. An immense crowd lined the wharf, and formed a procession half a mile long. The reception was a success.

Recently Mr. Foster, of Independence, had a fat cow killed for beef, and in dressing it the butcher found in the stomach of the cow a pound or more of nails, pieces of wire, scraps of iron, horse nails, etc. These foreign substances did not appear to disagree with the animal.

The Standard says there are "some professed Democrats in Oregon who stand ready to receive Radical gold to sell out their party whenever opportunity is offered." Our worthy contemporary probably speaks understandingly of the members of the family to which it claims allegiance.

On the 8th the snow was four feet deep on a level at Seattle, W. T., and still falling, with a prospect of five feet—the deepest ever known. Several roofs had been crushed in by the weight of the snow, which was 52 pounds to the square foot. On the 7th at Victoria, the snow was 29 inches, with four feet in the farming districts.

Wendell Phillips was late a few months ago in keeping a lecture appointment, and the doorkeeper who had not been introduced to him, insisted on his paying fifty cents admission. Phillips gracefully accepted the situation, saying he knew the lecturer and thought it worth the money to hear him.

The Santee Indians have received a testimony of the paternal affection of their Great Father at Washington in the shape of 1,300 brand new pitchforks. As the Santee number 600, men, women and children, they will have two pitchforks apiece. If this doesn't make them happy, they must be an ungrateful set.

According to the latest advices that terrible "silent man" is again engaged in the cruel business of "subduing the South." He is marching through Georgia and being everywhere received with ovations. Really it is time for the Democratic national Committee to take vigorous steps in the premises or we shall have a Caesar before we fairly know what's up.

Women are entitled to vote in Massachusetts at school elections, provided they register and pay the customary tax. Of 45,000 women voters in Boston, only 1600 registered. At Lynn, a town of 35,000 inhabitants, only 155 registered. The inference is that the ladies do not want political privileges, and that the right of "bossing" one man around is the principal one they care to enjoy at present.

Reform is necessary in England as elsewhere, and fifty war office clerks have been discharged. In America upon such an occasion the ex-clerks would be compelled, if nothing better offered, to drive back, black boots or other more mental service to obtain a livelihood; but not so in Britain. Though among the discharged there are many not over twenty-five years of age all are to be pensioned, and that too with no trivial pittance but a liberal donation. Pensioning a War Department Clerk! What extravagance—what an outrage on the people! Can't Dennis Kearney be sent over to have this thing corrected? Go, Dennis, go.

Since the decision of the Supreme Court of Maine has been rendered, reversing the rulings of Garcelon in every particular, Democratic journals are engaged in berating the "vandal, dishonest, covetous judges," and lustily crying for "reform." The great fraud, S. J. Tilden, started this Democratic "reform" business in his campaign for the Presidency in 1875, and no doubt was at the bottom of the "reform" in Maine.

The Hon. Spruell, a Fusion candidate for the Maine Legislature, who thought he wasn't elected, but whom Governor Garcelon and his Council counted in, is a champion example of base ingratitude. Instead of thanking his benefactors, he sends a diabolical card to the papers, declaring that "the course of the Governor and his abettors was a fraud which no honest man can uphold."

Though fond of the Turks, our English cousins won't stand any nonsense where their religious susceptibilities are concerned. A "sour-footed" Mussulman who was guilty of the crime of translating the Bible into Turkish was recently sentenced to death at Constantinople. The British Consul has peremptorily demanded his release. The Turks will kill Christians, but they can't be permitted to deprive the subjects of the Sultanate of the privilege of reading the Bible in the vernacular.

The present Parliament in England was commenced on the 4th of March, 1874, and assembled on that day. It should only survive until the 14th of April next it will not only have run into a seventh session, but it will have exceeded in duration any previous Parliament summoned since the Union, and will have been the longest-lived Parliament for a century.

In Kansas the people are somewhat averse to horse thieves and having determined to get rid of them, held several meetings at which resolutions were passed, under strict parliamentary rules, that all horse thieves in that section must leave. And we understand they did; but as the resolutionists forgot to insert "and go about," they are now angry at themselves for voting at all, for with the horse thieves went their best horses.

The N. Y. Herald's Philadelphia special says: "Gen. Grant will be the candidate of the Republican party; he will be nominated on the first ballot." We never, or at least scarcely ever, know the predictions of the Herald people to prove true. It has proved a poor prophet in the past, and will doubtless continue fighting it out on this line. The probabilities are much more in favor of Blaine than Grant. But then, as we have before remarked, we can stand Grant, if he is nominated, but the signs of the times, as we read them, don't point that way.

Massachusetts has been having considerable of an excitement lately over the attempt of a Catholic priest to prevent the members of his congregation from sending their children to the public schools. One singular result of it is that Father O'Brien, a Catholic priest, has been elected a member of the School Committee of Cambridge, and that he believes in the present public school system. The majority of the Catholics of Massachusetts appear not to perceive the necessity of parochial schools.

It is reported that Russian nihilists have distributed a circular among the peasants stating that the Czar had issued a decree ordering the landed proprietors to divide their estates among the peasantry. The peasantry on the estate of Count Schouvaloff seeing that he was in no hurry to make the division, seized the castle, drove out the servants and sacked it. The military were called in, but as the peasantry of other estates made common cause with the rioters and all were heavily armed, the soldiers were not successful.

It has generally been considered that the only pauper millionaires in New York were Tilden and Vanderbilt, but it is asserted that John Jacob Astor pays tax on only $30,000 worth of personal property; August Belmont doesn't pay any; James Gordon Bennett on $25,000; A. J. Drexel on $100,000; Joseph A. Harper, "sworn off"; Mrs. A. T. Stewart on $500,000; Clarkson N. Potter, "sworn off"; Samuel J. Tilden on $90,000; William M. Everts on $25,000; Peter Cooper on $110,000; Cyrus W. Field, "sworn off"; and Hugh J. Jewett on $20,000.

The New York World seems to come to the conclusion that the only hope of "saving the country" is to be found in bringing forward the retired and superannuated veteran, Horatio Seymour, as a presidential candidate "to beat Grant." In a recent issue of the World undertakes to inaugurate a Seymour boom by printing in a dozen different places in its columns the startling query: "Suppose Horatio Seymour is nominated for the Presidency in 1880, does anybody suppose that Grant could carry this State against him?" The World, of course, regards this conundrum as a clincher, but Seymour has repeatedly and explicitly declared that he will not be a candidate. It is well known that his health and physical condition are such as to preclude him from assuming that position. And even if these difficulties were removed, there is no reason for believing that his nomination would heat the benches in the party which at the last election gave the State to the Republicans.

With all the "violence and fury of the republican mobs," it does not appear yet that anybody has been knocked down even. If Mississippians felt as deeply outraged as the Maine people do, they would have before this massacred a negro village or two, and shot a dozen of the opposition leaders through the back.—J. A. D. The Democratic State Central Committee met at Salem on Thursday of last week. John F. Miller, Chairman, A. Nottner, Secretary. Of the twenty-three counties in the State, each having a member of the Committee, only six were represented by their delegates, seven by proxies, and ten were not represented at all. The reason of this lack of interest in a matter that has hitherto been considered of the highest importance, is accounted for by the stormy weather prevailing, and the further fact that Democrats generally have but little hope of electing a single man in the coming fight. The Democracy of Oregon is seriously divided, and there is little hope of meeting matters so as to secure any united action.

Slaght coal is declared to be equal to Cumberland coal for blacksmith purposes. Rothschild & Co., of Port Townsend, have failed. Their wreck of fortune is complete.

The Port Madras mill, shut down for the want of logs, will start up again next Monday.

Four hundred sacks of Whidby Island potatoes await shipment at Seattle for San Francisco.

The Slaght mining fever prevails to such an extent in the Sound ports that numbers of vessels find it difficult to fill up their crew lists.

A new M. E. parsonage will soon be completed at Port Townsend, which will compare favorably with the best within the limits of the Conference.

The engine laid pieces for the Bellevue barrel factory, 24x30 inches and 25 feet long, have been sawed out this week. Work on the factory will be pushed ahead with all dispatch.

The testimony of "Angeline," an aged aborigine, who has lived at Seattle for 40 years, is adduced to prove that such a fall of snow as the present one, was never known in that locality before.

The Coos Bay Mail, Republican, puts in a strong plea for the nomination of Judge Watson for Congress.

Mr. J. J. Flet, of the Beaton Block, was married to Miss Mary A. Egan at Coquille. We wish them a pleasant journey through life.

The high water carried off the boom at the head of the Luckmore, belonging to E. L. Smith, with about 30 logs and a chain weighing 1,100 pounds.

Charles W. Watts, who has been dangerously ill at his father's residence in Oregon City, at last accounts was some better, and hopes of his recovery are entertained.

The river steamer City of Salem, while making a landing at Canemah, ran into a boom of logs owned by Geo. Brown, of the Oregon City saw mills. Out of 350,000 feet, only 25,000 were saved.

Physicians and invalids use with confidence The Kaiser Celebrated German Balm for Rheumatism and throat and all diseases. It is rich in the medicinal properties of tar, wild cherry, etc. It is rendered perfectly harmless to the youngest child. This would have proved an Angel of mercy in the household of those unhappy parents at Valparaiso, Mexico, Utah, and numerous other places, whose children were stricken by a quick-acting disease, possessing no properties calculated to cure it, but instead a deadly drug which has slain its thousands. Be sure you get only German Balm. The genuine is marked with the signature of Dr. Kaiser, and the fac-simile signature of Dr. Kaiser, Josephine Thos Floyd, Large size, 75 cents. FOSTER & MASON, Wholesale Druggists, Sole Agents.

The Word "Sozonant."

Which has already become a household word, is derived from the Greek, and composed of two words, Sozo and Odontes. "Sozo" translated, means to preserve, and "Odontes" the teeth—SOZODONTANT, a preserver of the teeth. And it is true to its name. It beautifies and preserves the teeth, hardens and invigorates the gums, and corrects all impurities of the breath. The odor of this pure preparation is so delightful that it is a luxury to apply it. It is as harmless as water. Sold by druggists and perfumers.

New To-Day.
