

To-day the candidates speak at Miller's. To-morrow (Saturday) they speak at the Court House in this city. Everybody will want to hear them speak, and the Court House will be filled. Every man, woman and child is interested in the results of the coming election. Speaking at I. P. M.

Chicago Convention. The National Republican Convention was called to order on Tuesday at 1 P. M. by the Chairman of the National Republican Committee, Geo. F. Hoar, of Massachusetts, was elected temporary chairman. The Vice President appears the name of Hon. O. P. Johnson, of Massachusetts, and among the Secretaries the name of Hon. D. C. Johnson, of Massachusetts. The work of the Convention, perfecting the national platform, was begun at 10 o'clock. The day and night sessions were not reached until yesterday. It was thought that Blaine's chances, with W. B. Brewster as second on the ticket, were on top. We will probably know today.

The only thing that our Democratic friends can urge against the Republican candidates for the Supreme bench is that they are too young. This is no objection at all. If a man at thirty-five has not a judicial mind he never will have it. In fact, a man having reached his prime, his mind has matured, all his powers are vigorous, and he is more likely to make a competent judge than at fifty or sixty, when decline commences. They have youth, strength and ability on their side, and in each are the superior of their opponents.

All good men unite in condemning the spirit manifested by certain papers and correspondents, in the present campaign. It means the low and grovelling spirit of abuse and mendacity used the candidates on both the Republican and Democratic tickets. This kind of "campaigning" is simply a new style of black-mailing, and all parties who have engaged in this cowardly mode of "getting even" deserve a coat of tar and feathers and then to be kicked into the Pacific ocean. These so-called business letters have no more claim on humanity than a hyena, and when ever they force themselves, through any chance of fortune, into society, the very moment they show their forked tongues that moment it should be torn out by the roots.

We are not surprised at the issuance of bogus tickets by the Democratic leaders. They see that the popular vote is against them, and are ready to grasp any straw that offers aid in their distress. But we are surprised to see that on the "Green-back" ticket issued by them, only the names of the Democratic State and district candidates appear. Have the Democratic managers given up all hope of their county ticket? Or are they willing to sacrifice the county candidates in the hopes of electing a part of the State ticket?

A man named Jack Houston, of Seio, has issued some handbills which contain certain charges against Mr. Mason, Democratic candidate for County Clerk, but did not append his name to the bills. The bills were printed, we believe, in Portland, and were sent to the residence of the above named gentleman, no one else having any thing to do with them. Mr. Houston is a private matter, and we will not say more than that the Republican candidates, individually or collectively, had no part or lot in the matter in any way, share or name. The handbills were sent to the residence of any such person, and we emphatically denounce it as a case of fraud, and when any man charges that Mr. Mason or either of the Republican candidates or their friends had any part in the matter, we will be glad to prosecute him.

Every man on the Republican ticket is at least the equal of his opponent in the Democratic party; every one has lived for years in Linn county, and is identified with the interests of its citizens. The ticket from beginning to end is entitled to the faithful support of every honest, straightforward citizen, who desires reform and reformation in State and county affairs, and certainly no Republican can have a valid reason for not giving every man on the ticket his earnest and hearty support. We appeal to every right thinking man in the county to carefully weigh the questions at issue; the great need of reform; the past conduct of those in power; the urgent needs of the present; and after a careful survey of the whole subject, to be ever so kind and zealous a partisan, we are fully convinced he will be induced to vote the Republican ticket, as in the success of that ticket is the only hope of equal and just taxation and an economical management of the State and county affairs.

Mr. Lark Bilyeu secured his nomination by making certain pledges. He pledged himself, elected, to build a bridge across the Santiam near Sweet Home. At Brownsville he was asked if he was in favor of building a bridge across Williams river. He said he was not. He was asked if he was in favor of building a bridge across the Santiam at the mouth of the Santiam. He said he was not. He was asked if he was in favor of building a bridge across the Santiam at the mouth of the Santiam. He said he was not. He was asked if he was in favor of building a bridge across the Santiam at the mouth of the Santiam. He said he was not.

Those who study the stars will have plenty of occupation in the coming year. The index hand on the celestial dial points to events of momentous import. The four great planets reach their nearest point to the sun more nearly together than they have done for almost 600 years. It is not unreasonable to suppose that with these strong and well together they will create some unusual disturbance in the chaotic elements that make up the sun's fiery mass. The forces of the new cycle have been closely watched the influence of the solar disturbance on climatic conditions predict the hot summer to be the worst yet. The commencement of the tremendous solar outbursts. The hidden chambers of the Great Pyramid have given forth in peculiar fashion momentous prophecies which the few disciples who have faith in their teachings, and astrologers cast strange hypotheses from the mystical planetary combinations.

Then and Now. It will be remembered that Hon. D. P. Porter, Republican candidate for Assessor, was elected to the office of Assessor of Linn county in 1862, and is therefore perfectly familiar with the duties of the office. In 1861, one hundred and forty-seven days was consumed in assessing the county, at a cost of $441. Mr. Porter came into office and made his first assessment in 1863. He accomplished his work in one hundred and five days, forty-two days less time than his predecessor in 1861, thus saving to the taxpayers of the county one hundred and twenty-six dollars. And the assessment was more thorough and systematic than ever before, and gave the fullest satisfaction to the property owners of the county. And this is the kind of a man the Republicans have nominated for the office of Assessor. And we say it with pride, no more honest or competent man than Mr. Porter for the position can be found in the county. Careful in his work, possessed of sound judgment, no man in the county has a clearer or more correct idea of values, and therefore his assessment will be impartial and satisfactory to all. The present Assessor charged for 400 days for the last assessment, at a cost to taxpayers of $1,200. Should Mr. Porter be elected to the office of Assessor, the cost of our next assessment will be reduced one-half. Taxpayers should look to their interests in this matter, and elect a man who will do the work more satisfactorily, and in at least half the time. "Economy is wealth."

Out of Their Own Mouths We Judge Them. Mr. Stewart, our Greenback friend, relies upon his beauty to elect him to the County Judgeship; Judge Flinn relies upon his null-potent qualifications and fitness, to secure the votes of the PEOPLE for the office; Lark Bilyeu says he is a Democrat, and deems that an all-sufficient requisite, and relies entirely upon the color of his politics for his election. In all candor we ask the people of Linn county if they do not require something more of the candidate for County Judge than the mere fact that a young and untired man has voted the Democratic ticket? Do not the voters of Linn county realize that the office of county Judge is the most important office in the county? If this question be answered in the affirmative, as it must be, will the mere announcement that the candidate for the office is a Democrat be deemed a sufficient claim upon the people for their suffrages? Can the people of Linn afford to take the chances on such a man? If Lark Bilyeu, during the few months he has been engaged in the practice of law, or his friends, can show wherein he has evinced any fitness whatever for a non-political office, such as the County Judgeship, let him or them bring it to light. Let every tub stand on its own bottom. Judge Flinn has, through years of successful practice at the bar of Linn county, acquired a name and reputation that places him at the very head of the legal profession; and that he possesses every requisite of ability and thorough understanding of all matters that will be brought before him, no man will deny. Is it not best to be on the safe side? A vote for Flinn is a vote for economy and the careful and understanding management of county affairs.

Tickets were printed the other morning, long before people generally get up, that are calculated to deceive voters. Ostensibly they are Greenback tickets, but they contain the names of Whittaker, for Congress, the Democratic candidates for Presidential electors, Supreme Judges, as well as Circuit Judge and Prosecuting Attorney for this district. Of course this is a mean business, and now that we have exposed it, may not be used as extensively as it otherwise might have been, but they were to have been sent out over the county "where they could do the most good," and are doubtless now in the hands of parties who will use them. This makes at least one fact plain—the Democratic leaders know their case is desperate, and they intend to use any means to elect at least the political portion of their ticket. Let every voter scan his ticket well before placing it in the ballot box.

Prof. J. L. Gilbert, one of the oldest and most successful educators in the State, is the Republican candidate for School Superintendent. It is not necessary for us to say one word in commendation of Prof. Gilbert, because he is well known in most every portion of the county, and his qualifications are undisputed. His pure moral and temperate life are not among his smallest recommendations for the office. We hope he will be elected, for we need just such men in office—men who are interested in the great cause of education, and who will use all their ability and energy in perfecting and making broader the grand scheme of universal education. He is not a politician whose entire time will be engaged in working up schemes for party advantage, but a Christian gentleman who will take pride in doing well the work of his office, and advancing the grand educational interests of Linn county. Vote for Prof. Gilbert and you will not regret your vote.

Let every Republican constitute himself a committee of one, to labor for the success of the ticket from now until the close of the polls on election day. See that every Republican is at the polls and votes on that day. Republicans have been remiss in this duty in the past—don't let them forget it on Monday.

The Portland Standard gives the name of John Claypool as the author of the scurrilous articles which appeared in that paper a few days ago, signed "Cumtux." When it first appeared, some thought it might possibly be from a responsible source.

The Blue Ribbon Club will hold its meeting on to-morrow night (Saturday) instead of this evening. Mrs. D. F. Smith will assist in making the entertainment attractive.

The East Oregonian says "M. C. George never did anything in his life of any importance that is known to the world, although he has been a member of the State Senate, unless it was the record he made as G. W. C. T. of Oregon, from which position he has now fallen, and it is said, can tip the tumbler now as glibly as any other professional drinker." Now, such a contemptible lie as is contained in the last clause of the above quotation entitles its author to the appellation of chief of mean liars. We vent the assertion in at the editor of the East Oregonian pours down his hot breath more liquid fire in one dram than Mr. George has imbibed in an entire life. The editor flushes the above quotation as follows: "We think, however, this is a mistake, for we don't think George is a man of sufficient culture to become an expert at drinking. He is of that class of men that came over in the May Flower and landed on Plymouth Rock." Yes, he is a class of men that have brains, character, standing and worth—a class of men as far above the comprehension of the grovelling who imbibed the sin as the difference between the past and eternity.

Mr. J. J. Charlton will make a most excellent Sheriff. He is a man of sound judgment, good, hard common sense, and liberal education. He is a temperance man, and while quiet and unassuming, he has the will and the "sand" to perform every duty devolving upon him as said officer faithfully, honestly and correctly. He will get the solid vote of his neighborhood, where his nomination is looked upon as a most excellent one. On the other hand Mr. Miller, his Democratic opponent, will not receive the endorsement of his own precinct where he is best known. Is it necessary for us to say anything more in regard to Mr. Miller? When a candidate cannot get the vote of his own neighborhood, is there any inducement for other precincts to cast their votes for him? And won't he be easily left?

Democratic papers ask the votes of the people for Whittaker, asserting that he has accomplished so much for Oregon. But what has he done—what has he accomplished? If he has brought forward one single measure in the interest of Oregon, tell us what it is. The boast that through Whittaker's influence the $40,000 appropriation for Yaquina Bay was secured is not true. Every man, woman and child in Benton and Linn counties, at least, knows that the appropriation was secured through the influence of Col. Hogg, an officer in the confederate service—a man of talent and shrewdness, and consequently of more influence than our entire delegation in Congress. Gov. Whiteaker has never accomplished anything since he occupied his seat in Congress, except draw his pay. If he has his friends don't know it, neither do his enemies.

Even now all kinds of false rumors and downright lies are in circulation as to what this or that Republican candidate should have said or done, and the efforts to mislead the unwary voter on Monday will be more than quadrupled. Every conceivable mode of deception will be resorted to in the effort to defeat the Republican ticket. Men who bear good characters, and who would seem to do a man action in any department of business, will on Monday next stoop to the lowest kind of trickery and deception to gain a vote for the Democratic ticket. Let every voter "prove all things and hold fast to that which is good."

In the present canvass Capt. N. B. Humphrey has proved himself to be one of the ablest debaters in this country. His ever ready wit and sarcasm has captured his auditors, and his truthful and honest discussions of the political issues between the Republican and Democratic parties has convinced scores of Democrats of the errors of the party, and of the imperative demand for change in the county government.

Affairs in New Mexico, according to late telegrams, are in a desperate state. Victoria and his band of not less than 350 warriors, Apaches, Comanches, Navajos and Mesquiteros, are spreading death and destruction in every direction. Citizens pronounce Gen. Hatch's campaign a failure, as during the time, three or four months, 250 citizens have been killed; and they declare that in every engagement Hatch has been defeated by the Indians.

Joachim Miller is to deliver a poem at the coming meeting of the Army of the Potomac at Burlington, Vt. That army had a rough time of it during the war, but it is probably sufficiently recuperated by this time to firmly face the ordeal, provided the poem is not in the dialectic style.

The Democrat of last Friday was full of alliterations, that fell indiscriminately on friend and foe, doing more damage in the Democratic ranks than it can mend in the ranks of the opposition. We don't grumble at this style of campaigning—it is a part of our contemporary, so be it.

Terrible Cyclones. Storms of wind and rain are of frequent occurrence in almost all parts of the world, doing more or less damage to property and destroying human life. On the 29th ult., a severe storm passed over Suffolk and Enfield, Conn., destroying barns, tobacco sheds, etc., and uprooting orchards and trees. One brick building was blown down and McClinton's green house, the largest in the State, near or in Thompsonville, was nearly destroyed. On the same day a cyclone passed a few miles northwest of Evansville, Ind., blowing down buildings, and killing Yank Wasson and Joe Deig, and severely injuring Mrs. Walter. On same date, near Calvert, Texas, the storm blew down houses and fences and ruined crops. Corn and cotton were stripped of blades and leaves, and oats leveled with the ground. On the night of the 20th, a terrible cyclone visited Savy, on the Texas & Pacific, destroying the town, killing nine persons and wounding sixty, and it is feared that some of the wounded will probably die. At 1:30 on the morning of the 29th ult., in Brackett, Texas, a most disastrous storm commenced, and soon all the town except portions on two hills was inundated, the water on Main street being from five to eight feet deep, rushing down the street with almost incredible rapidity. The floor of every business house was from one to five feet under water. More than twenty people were drowned. During the prevalence of a furious storm at San Saba, Texas, on same date, the family of P. M. Rountree took refuge in a cave, resulting in the drowning of two of his little boys, aged three and six years respectively. Mrs. R. and little daughter and a young lady with them, were taken out in a drowning condition. And this is but a partial history of a day's doings. What next?

As the campaign progresses it becomes very plain to our Democratic friends that the odds are against them. Time was when to get the nomination for office at the hands of a Linn County Democratic Convention was equivalent to an election, no matter how that nomination was obtained. Times have changed, and now to be elected on the Democratic ticket, the candidate must be above suspicion even; he must have every necessary qualification to fill the office for which he is a candidate with honor and credit, and be not without be a man who has the respect and confidence of his neighbors. If a candidate fail in any of these he will fail of an election. The Democratic County Convention, for some cause, is immaterial what, nominated several candidates who are looked upon as not filling the bill, and on Monday next will be left and it will verify the Blue Monday to them. Scab!

We want a man in Congress who will represent Oregon—who will not flatter away the time in trying to get up a party boom, in the vain interests of the State, go all unheeded. In all conscience have we not had enough and to spare of this do-nothing pol? Is it not time that the people of Oregon begin to realize the uselessness of sending a man without brains or ability or will to act for their interests to Congress? Let us lay aside party prejudice and vote for M. C. George, a man in every sense of the word, who has the ability, the energy, the will and the tact to vote for the interests of the people who send him to Congress—who has a correct appreciation of the duties devolving upon him, and who will faithfully discharge his trust.

A Paris, France, telegram of the 29th says: The Mot D'Ordre publishes a letter from Rochefort to Andreux, prefect of police, describing how Rochefort's son who was studying in Paris came home to Geneva with two sabre wounds inflicted by a policeman during the communist disturbance on Sunday last. Rochefort declares that this policeman had been instructed to watch his son. The letter says that "the attempt to assassinate him was premeditated to avenge yourself on his father who escaped from your clutches. When I return to Paris I will repay you these wounds with slaps in the face."

The incoming Legislature will appropriate the State, therefore it is very important that we elect one Legislative ticket. If a fair and square apportionment is made Republicans will be satisfied; but an apportionment can be made that will keep the State in the hands of the Democracy for the next ten years. Therefore it is important that we have a hand in it.

Anything to Bent Haman and Chariton. It is asserted that the Democrats in certain precincts are instructed to swap off all the balance of the ticket, if necessary, so that the election of Haman and Miller is secured. This statement comes from Lebanon. The influence of the ticket may not like this—who knows!

Vote for J. B. Waldo, W. P. Lord and E. B. Watson for the Supreme Bench, because they are competent, honest and true, and are not entangled with jobs, political trickery or deceit of any kind. They are able, pure men, and will honor the position.

A report of terror is reported in New Mexico, the country being alive with Indians who are engaged in their usual deplorable occupation of killing and scalping, and driving off horses, etc. Send for some more Indians to come on to Washington and make new treaties.

Overlooked the Mark. Every species of detraction and abuse has been heaped upon our candidates for the State Senate and County Clerk. Every old gossip's blurt or tale that the malicious double-tongued slanderer could invent, has been dragged to the view of the public through the Democratic press, generally by some cowardly, white-livered sneak who dared not sign his name to his lying contributions. As they had reason to believe that the Democrat would not print their dirty lies, they forwarded their contributions to Portland, for publication. But the authors of the foul libels have overlooked the mark, and what they intended as effective campaign arguments, have proven veritable boomerangs which in their return have increased the votes for our candidates. These vile publications appeared, and that was of universal condemnation of such low mendacity, and contempt for the coward that penned them. By the use of such sneaking lies Capt. Humphrey and Mr. N. Baum will receive at least one hundred Democratic votes in Linn county more than they would have received, had an honorable course been pursued.

The Democrats of Coos Bay will doubtless forget to vote for Mr. Whittaker, as he has through neglect or incompetency failed to get a recommendation from the committee for an appropriation to continue the harbor improvements at that place. Senator Mitchell secured $40,000 from the last Congress to begin the work, and it was commenced with the expectation that Congress would appropriate sufficient from time to time to insure the completion of this much needed improvement within a few years at most. But Whittaker has not asked for anything, and as Congress will probably adjourn in a few days, the people of Coos Bay will have to wait until next Congress, when Mr. George will be there to look after their interests.

Now let the galled jade wince. The New York Star, the Tammany mouth-piece, says, referring to Tilden: "We believe that the Democracy of the Union is still manifold and honest enough to affirm as a cardinal principle of its political faith that no fraud, no coward, no trimmer, no tax-evader, no corrupt politician, no occult cipherer, no self-hungry, no railroad wrecker, no 'national calamity,' no tom-tom of discord, no traitor to Democracy can make himself dictator of a National Democratic Convention."

The court of inquiry in the case of Cadet Whittaker have made their final report. They say that the wounds on the person of Whittaker were self-made, the cutting, flecing, etc., was all a scheme to enable him to get away with the examination, create sympathy and save being killed by his rival. Lt. White, Whittaker's comrade, denied in toto the findings of the court, declared that his client was not morbid, ridiculed the idea that he ever wanted sympathy, and made an able, logical and legal speech thereon.

Mr. N. Baum has made the canvass of the county, making friends everywhere. He is recognized as one of the best business men in the county, perfectly capable of attending to the duties of the office of County Clerk, and he will get a large vote outside of his party, electing him by a good vote over his competitor.

At St. Johns, New Brunswick, on the 29th ult., John Drey, an elderly man, shot his brother Edward, dead, wounded another brother named Chipman, fired the premises, and when the people gathered killed himself.

At Buena Vista, Colorado, on the 29th ult., James Bevel and James Edwards, who had had some trouble, met, drew revolvers, fired two shots each, when both fell dead.

Carefully scan each ticket to see that Republican candidates for certain offices have not been taken from it and Democratic candidates inserted instead.

Supreme Judge Kelly publishes the affidavit of Patrick that he (Kelly) was ignorant of the contents of the infamous dispatch demanding $10,000 for bribery purposes. Patrick's affidavit was made in 1877, but as it has since been proven that at the dispatch is in Kelly's own handwriting, this effort to prove Kelly an absolute fool was "endorsed," creates the suspicion that Kelly has added "subordination of perjury" to his other crime!! The spectacle of the Supreme Judge of the State going into the affidavit business with such a low record as Patrick is a sorry one, and should bring the blush of shame to the cheek of every voter in Oregon. The honest citizens of Oregon will never be by their votes consent to let such a man as Kelly sit upon the Supreme Bench, and the election returns next week will vindicate us in this assertion.

The Republican majority in Halsey will be largely increased. Put that down. The Democratic majority in the Foris will be largely decreased—and don't you forget it. The Democratic majority in Harrisburg will be cut down from one-half to two-thirds. How? The Brownsville Democracy don't endorse over their ticket worth a continental, and there is a good show that the Republican ticket will be largely aided by their votes. East and West Albany will give towering Republican majorities, as sure as shooting. The voters down on the "Neck" will go back on some of the Democratic candidates—set down on their hard. And the peculiarities of some of the Democratic candidates have so endeared them to the dear people, that they have determined to keep them at home, and not send them abroad until they have acquired some knowledge of the duties appertaining to the offices for which they are candidates. Honesty, sobriety and competency will be the tests applied by the people to the candidates who are to be voted for next Monday, and as the Republicans will best stand these tests, they will "get in" next Monday. Let every true man do his duty next Monday, and Linn county will be redeemed.

Among the delegates to the National Greenback Convention appointed from Indiana is a lady, Mrs. Mary L. Thomas. The "Blind" are in favor of the platform of '76, which platform, among other things, demanded the repeal of the Restriction act. The Memphis Appeal endorses the candidacy of Justice Field, which, it says, would silence all bickering and discord in the Democratic party. The Philadelphia Times says that the advantage of a small State like Connecticut is that a barrel can be rolled over it, while in a large State it is only effective in spots. According to a Washington dispatch to the Philadelphia Times, Senator Cameron has made a distinct pledge to Senator Blaine that if there is no hope of Grant's nomination, the Pennsylvania delegation will support Blaine.

The Wilmington (N. C.) Post complains that the attitude of the South since the war has been such as to keep the Northern Democrats in a constantly apologetic position, and that the Southern leaders still go on blindly hugging the dead carcass of secession. Says the Philadelphia Times: "The name of George B. McClellan of New Jersey is not mentioned as often now as it was a few months ago in connection with the Democratic nominations for the Presidency, but that fact affords no assurance that it will not receive consideration at Cincinnati."

The story of the rising of the Indians in North Park is denied. Indians and storms have damaged crops in Northern Texas. The Carson & Colorado Railroad Co. have commenced constructing 150 miles of road. Henry Hamilton was hanged at Hartford, Conn., for shooting a night watchman in the jail. The Bonanza and Jugs along as usual except that they seem to be more mixed than ever. Two men named Carr and Downan are supposed to be murdered by Indians in Wyoming. At Montreal the police have to prevent strikers from interfering with non-striking stevedores. News of Col. Hatch's fight with Indians is confirmed, and more fighting afterwards, but no particulars. Thirty-two cases of stroke were reported in one day at New York and six deaths. The latest was excessive. The Mississippi Democrats gave no indication in their convention of any preference for a presidential candidate. Count Orloff, the Russian ambassador, has got back to Paris, and neglects to exchange courtesies again with the French Republic. It has been said that Abdurrahman Kahn has been offered the suzerainty of Afghanistan by the British mission and is consulting if he will accept.

Indians loaded with hides and pelts are a daily sight in Jacksonville. Judge Perham's son, who was accidentally shot last month, died lately at his home at Hood river. Capt. Flavel intends extensive additions and improvements, says the Astorian, to his dock and warehouse. A daughter of Henry Fitzhugh, Lakeview, took a fall and fell into the fire, and had her leg badly damaged. Citizens of Mowhawk valley are enjoying ripe strawberries, but are grieving because their blackberry vines are killed. The house of Isaac Crum, near Glenwood, burned some time since, during his absence, and his family are left destitute. Pearson and Benoit, charged with stealing horses, etc., are now in jail at Lafayette, waiting for the October term of court.

As there has been no navigation over the Cascade mountains of late, people of Snake river have suffered a tobacco famine that causes suffering among chewers and smokers. Tramps visit Vancouver and horses and mules disappear, and Vancouver people consider it a significant coincidence. A small boy at Albion named Zepher Stone played too long with a glass powder cartridge, and only lost a part of two fingers but gained considerable experience. The Vancouver Independent says: Mrs. Turnbull has let the contract to Smith of Portland, for the construction of a new wharf at the foot of Main street, on which work will be commenced when the high waters run down.

The mills are handsomely furnished, the interior in Capital house costing $175 dollars alone. Salem has done well by her fire companies. Farmers, Take Notice. Portland, Or., May 23, 1880. Messrs. Hoop & Simpson, Albany, Or.: GENTS.—Having noticed an advertisement gotten up by the firm of D. M. Osborne & Co., wherein they agree to furnish their old and new customers with a twine binder attachment, at a cost not exceeding twenty dollars, next year, we would say that the whole thing is gotten up as a mere advertising dodge to sell their harvesters and binders, which they have not been able to do with great success. We, as agents of the well known Walter A. Woods machine, do not care to humbug the farmers by agreeing to furnish a twine binder at a cost not to exceed the small sum of twenty dollars, or at any price, but will agree to furnish one as cheap as any first-class binder can be furnished. The Walter A. Woods Mowing and Reaping Machine company are now in the field with a successful twine binder, and have been for the past two years, but the demand has been so great in the eastern states that none could be obtained for the Pacific coast trade. The D. M. Osborne & Co. twine binder attachment, as they call it, is an experiment of only a few days. Farmers, do not be humbugged into buying an Osborne harvester and wire binder, on a promise that you shall receive a twine binder attachment another year, so that you can use either wire or twine. Buy old and reliable machines that have always been in the front ranks in the way of improvements, and whose manufacturers will furnish all late improvements at the lowest market price. DENTIST.
