Official City Paper. ALBANY, FRIDAY, SEPT. 3, 1880.

FOR PRESIDENT,

GARFIELD.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT, Chester A. Arthur,

RALLY ROUND THE FLAG.

A meeting is called for the formation of a Garfield Club for to-morrow evening, at the Court House. We hope to see a full house on the occasion, and that every honest man in the city will join the Club. At no time since the close of the war of the rebellion was a Republican success more important for the preservation of the life of our Republic. Every day that passes adds stronger proof to the assertion of Hampton, made in his speech before a Virginia audience on the 25th day of July last, that the principles advocated now by the Democratic party, are the same principles which Lee and Jackson tought for during the four years' rebellion. The right of secession was the principle tought for. and the South has sworn that this principle shall yet prevail, or that slavery shall once more dominate in the South, and the white man be again permitted to hold black men and women in bondage, and treat them in every respect as cattle and other chattels. This is the issue to be tried in November, and every man worthy of the name must array himself on one side or the other of this great question.

The current events of the past fifteen years in our country's history is an open page from which all can read, and from it. as patriots and honest men, judge for themselves which of the two great parties striving for control of this Government can and ought to be trusted with the control of its affairs. Under the control of the great Republican party the rebellion was crushed, and the country advanced in population, prosperity and wealth, until today in grandeur and power it stands unrivaled among the nations of the earth. A brighter or more honorable record has never been presented to any people than that presented by the Republican party. human bondage," calling itself by the once honored name, "Democratic party," demands to be placed in charge of the Government, it is time that every loyal man, every honest man, every freeman, should rally round the old flag, determined once and torever to blot out the principle of se-

More of the Law-abiding South.

A Deputy United States Marshal went to Covington county, Alabama, a tew days ago, to arrest men charged with beating and intimidating United States witnesses and destroying processes from the U.S. Courts. He was met by a force of between twenty-five and fifty men, armed with shot-guns and revolvers, assembled at the farm of a man named Fenton, for whom the Marsha! had a warrant. The mob defied the Marshal, and Fenton refused to submit to arrest, saying: "When we elect Hancock this - foolishness will stop. The United States has no business to interfere with this county and its matters." The Marshal single-handed was unable to make the arrest, and the authority of the United States was successfully resisted by a niob of Alabama Democrats. This affair is significant in this: it shows the spirit of rebellion is still alive in the South; that Haucock's supporters in Alabains do not recognize the authority of the National Government, but buildoze witnesses, tear up writs issued by the U. S. Courts, and openly defy a U.S. Marshal who comes armed with writs of arrest, and drive him off with shot-guns and revolvers. They cannot wait for the election of Hancock, when they believe the "foolishness" at enforcing the laws of the United States is to stop, but defy the law and the law officers, shot-guns in hand, thus anticibulldozing which is to be ushered in with Hancock's inauguration.

The Merigage-Forcelosure Statesman

Mr. English, in his letter of acceptance, takes the bigh ground that any party, after twenty years of power, ought to stand aside and let the other side run the Government awhile. This may be good Democratic "theory" now, but the "practice" of the party has been quite different. Mr. English can not have forgotten that the Democratic party had full administrative, legislative and judicial charge of this country for more than twenty years, when still has for its cardinal plank the right of the people voted a change in 1860. He will remember that the Democratic party et 1960, which he represents now, refused to be governed by any such theory as that Be advocates to-day, and instead of quietly turning over the Government as the Constitution requires, the Democratic party undertook to wipe it out of existence. But the Democracy has had but one idea of late years, either of theory or practice, and that is how to get office—as to principles, it has none.

Expansive Cheek.

It is announced that the friends of ex-Gov. S. F. Chadwick have actually approached members of the Legislature and ing whether they could be depended on to ing as Secretary of State! Such an elaborate amount of cheek it was not believed trial, the State gets judgment against the ex-Secretary for about six thousand dollars, a mere bagatelle when compared to while acting as Secretary and Governor, paying the judgment. It might be conbed your till of six thousand dollars should and ask that a bill be passed relieving him from the effects of the crime, but it would not at all compare in sublime impudence with this effort of Chadwick to evade a just accountability. Competent persons state that $100,000 would not reimburse extravagance and dishonesty. Had the Legislature that ordered the investigation which secured the judgment against Chadwick, made a sufficient appropriation to enable the counsel for the State to go down to bedrock in the investigation of all the rescalities committed under the Grover-Chadwick rule, the gross amount found to have been stolen would have astonished day's Oregonian: the people of this State. In remarks on this subject the Oregonian says :

The half has not yet been told of Chadwick's matteasance, and in all probability it never will be sifted to the bottom. But competent persons who have looked into the subject are of opinion that one hundred thousand dollars would not make good to the State what it lost through his extravagance and dishonesty. The committee of investigation and counsel for the State were greatly hampered in their work for want of an appropriation to secure the attendance of witnesses. No money was placed at their command for such purpose. and many of the witnesses were in remote and out-of-the-way places. The investiga-tion, therefore, was confined mainly to the record—and the record had been manipulated by Chadwick himself. It is notorious also that the investigation was hindered by the unwiffingness of officers to perfor service relating to the conduct of the proceedgs. Particularly the action of the District Attorney at Salem in refusing to take part with the counsel employed by the State was embarrassing, and cast a shade of doubt on the counsel's authority. And we have been told that officials of Marion county for a time refused to file or serve papers in the case. A great effort was made by interested parties to show that the action of the committee, of the Governor, and of the counsel for the State, were acts of flagrant usurpation. We believe that John M. Thompson, Esq., counsel for the State, has done his work as well as it could have been done, with the means at his dis-posal. It was not to be expected that he should advance money to pay costs and expenses; and it was unfortunate that the legislature which had ordered the investigation and directed that counsel be employed to prosecute the delinquents had neglect-And now, when a party having for its bat- that much of the State money would be retle cry "secession" or the "restoration of covered; the suits were prosecuted chiefly And this is mother reason why no relief bill should be thought of. We have said that the amounts found against Chadwick represent a small part only of the losses suffered by the State through his system of Illegal and fraudulent transactions. Only on 24 illegal accounts for conveying prisoners to the penitentiary was action brought, whereas the same charges found cession and the party that emblazons it on to be illegal and fraudulent in these 24 cases occur in 98 accounts allowed by Chadwick for such service. Again, only the amounts allowed in 57 accounts for conveying insane persons to the asylum were sued for, but the illegal charges were allowed in 167 cases of this kind. It is not doubted that Chadwick's fraudulent allowances to himself and others during his term of office will exceed $40,000, drawn directly by warrant from the treasury, to say nothing of the enormous sums got improperly from the State through indirect methods. But as counsel were cramped for funds, and as no more than $10,000 could be recovered on Chadwick's bond, it was not thought advisable at this time to sue for a greater Moreover large amounts of these illegal charges were not sued for in these cases, in order that the State might retain the right to sue and collect them from the parties to whom they were paid. The candid avowal of Wade Hampton that the "solid South" is contending for the same principles for which Lee and Jackson fought, at once awakes the query, "What are the principles Lee and Jackson fought for ?" The answer is : 'The right of secession is the principle for which Lee pating the era of non-interference and free and Jackson professedly contended. They claimed that any State could dissolve the Union at its pleasure. Against this doctrine of secession the loyal people of the country raised vast armies, expended biltions of money, and sacrificed the lives of more than two bundred thousand pa-

And now this same old rebellions Democratic party, avowing the same principle of secession, with Gen. Hancock, a "late Union General," at its head, comes to the front and demands that the interests of this whole country should be placed in its hands! It comes boldly declaring that it secession-"the same principles for which Lee and Jackson fought for four years." Can the people of this country afford to give the Government into the hands of a party which has for its sole principle but one idea, and that the right of secession?

We could easily have put that majority at 100.000, but there seemed to be no occasion for calling out the Ku-Klux reserves. -Alabama Democratic Press.

day's Oregonian:

OREGON CITY, Aug. 28, 1880.

To The Editor of the Oregonian: The Santard of this date publishes a statement that I am a convert to Democracy. This is entirely fulse. No one ever heard me express dissatisfaction in the least. I am, and always expect to be, a Republican. If statements as to other "converts," published in the Standard as having joined the ranks of Democracy, have no more foundation in fact than mine, their ranks are not filling very rapidly.

J. M. Bacon, Oregon City.

The lesson taught by the above is: Whenever you read in a Democratic paper that the deaths resulting might have been since January last. a prominent Republican has come out for Hancock, you can put the statement down as a lie made from whole cloth.

There seems to be no doubt of the fact that there will be no real contest in Maine, the Republicans having a strong majority over the Democratic-Greenback coalition. After Maine the grand fight shifts to Indiana and Ohio, which hold state elections next month. And as we have the best of assurances that the Republicans will carry both those states, there will be no rea! fight in November-the Republicans will have won the battle in advance. Majorities Arranged to Suit the Oc

Ninety thousand majority in Alabama indicates the assertion in the platform that Democracy is in favor of a "full vote, a tree ballot, and a fair count."
