the interest on the proposed issue of .000,000 ot mortgaged bonds, and a widend of 10 per cent. on the $6,000,000 f stock. As the President says, there is not probably another transportation company in the United States that can show so favorable a statement. And the President assures the stockholders that the prospects of the company for 1880 are even more promising than the results for the last six months of 1879. The statement is made that the products of the country tributary to the Columbia river were so great that the boats were unable to transport all of it, and freights left over at the time of sending out the circular, estimated at from 30,000 to 35,000 tons, would yield to the company at least $250,000 to be earned during the early months of the year when down freights are usually scarce. This is a princely showing for the O. R. & N. Co., and indicates that the producers of Pastern Oregon are only charged the moderate sum of between $7 and $8 per ton to get their wheat down to Portland !

The next teature of the circular, is the statement that the Northern Pacific, that seconstructing 220 miles of standard gauge a northeasterly direction to the foot of Bitter Root mountains, " will be a direct feeder to our river line," and " will have to depend altogether upon us for transportation facilities up and down the Columbia river." That is to say, the O. R. & N. Company, owning the portages on the Columbia river, the gate-way of Eastern Oregon, and having nearly completed at this time a line of rallway from Celllo to Wallula (the most difficult navigation on the Columbia being between these two points) commands the transportation of Eastern Oregon, and can charge whatever price it may please the company to demand, in freights and fares, from the people, or from any company that may have the andacity to attempt to build lines of road to compete with it in the carrying trade of that vast and productive country. Is the point plain enough to the reader

But we have not the space in this issue to notice all the brilliant points of this circular, and therefore basten to give the grand culminating point at its close. And here it is, in the exact language of the circular, only italicized by us :

" Moreover, as the growing importance of Oregon and Washington render certain the construction of new through lines from the East within the next few years, it will be our policy to meet any and all of these at such points as will PREVENT the establishing of opposing interests in our territory.'

In effect, this powerful monoply declares its complete ownership of the whole grand country east of the Cascades, and that its policy will be, as heretofore pursued by the Oregon Steam Navigation Company, which proved so disastrons to the settle ment and opening up of the vast and rich agricultural districts tributary to the Columbia and Snake rivers, to keep out all competition in the carrying trade, thus enabling it to charge such exorbitant rates for fires and freights as to practically kill off all productive industry.

We call the attention of our people to the statements in this circular, because we conceive them to be direct threats against the greatest interest of the State and adjoining Territories-the agricultural interest. It is a threat against cheap fares and freights, which are only to be secured by the construction of opposing lines of transportation. And we hold it to be the duty of our Legislature, now in session at Salem, to enact such laws as shall effectnally prevent the greed of monopolies from so taxing the agricultural interests of the State as to impoverish and paralyze the hand of industry.

Among the numerous bills offered in the Legislature, is one or more to reduce the fees of the County Clerks and Sheriffs. As both parties promised to effect such reduction in these offices, we suppose a law properly regulating the fees of each will pass the Legislature now in session unanimously.

Wade Hampton mys " the Republica party is a party of hata." If this had been Wade Hampton would not be alive in the Senate to tell it.

A GRAND SCHEME.

A Rajirond from Yaquina Bay, through Albany to Boise City.Secured.

One Hundred and Thirty Miles Contracted for, to be completed in 1881.

And provision made for the construction of the entire line of 600 miles. The road to be met at Boise City by Jay Gould's road, thus connecting the Paeifle with the Atlantic.

Various rumors have been floating for some days past, and paragraphs have appeared in the Portland papers, regarding a new railroad enterprise, said to have been engineered to a successful issue by Col. Hogg, having for its western terminus Yaquina Bay, and its eastern terminus. Boise City. We feared this news was too good to be true, but all doubts were set aside on Wednesday by a short interview with Col. Hogg and Mr. Nash, who arrived in our city on that day, on their way to Salem. We are anthorized to state positively the following facts:

A corporation, styled the Oregon Pacific Railway Company, has been duly organized in conformity with the laws of Oregon, for the purpose, among other things, of building and properly equipping a line of railroad from Yaquina Bay on the Pacific, to Boise city in Idaho Territory, a distance of six hundred miles. This railway on its way east will pass through Albany. One now under contract, to be completed during the year 1881, ready for traffic, and the funds for the construction of the balance of the road-470 miles--provided for. The general line of the road across the Cascade mountains will be over the Albany, Lebanon and Cascade Mountain Wagon Road. The building of this railway will not only give the Willamette Valley early and cheap transportation facilities to Yaquina Bay (a shipping point which the recent survey has proven beyond a doubt to be equal to any on the Pacific coast, and when the grandest scheme ever effected in the interest of our State, and Col. Hogg is entitled to all praise for his successful efforts in our behalf.

The Boss Occasion.

Hon, John H. Mitchell addressed the Garfield and Arthur Club of this city at the Court House on Wednesday evening. A heavy, cold rainstorm set in early in the evening, yet the audience chamber and gallery were filled with people, among whom were many ladies.

Mr Mitchell was exported from the Revere House to the Court House by the "Tow-Path Invingences," composed of enough of their prize after he had mounted of near one hundred, carrying torches and preceded by fife and drum.

Upon making his appearance in the room, Mr. Mitchell was loudly cheered. The meeting was opened by the rendering of "America," by the Glee Club, Mr. Charles Haffenden leader, Miss Maggie Foster at the organ, in a masterly manner. We are specially proud of our glee club, and will back in against any other in the State, for making magnificent music. The band followed with an excellent selection well rendered-and there isn't a better band in

Mr. Mitchell was then introduced, and for more than two hours entertained the large audience with a masterly, logical and truthful statement of facts that are unanswerable. He made no personal assaults, but dealt entirely in argument and the statement of facts, offering undeniable and overwhelming proof in every instance of the statements made. We are sorry that we are not able to present this able and candid speech in its entirety in this issue. We are satisfied it did good work that will tell in November next for the Republican ticket. The speaker was frequently interupted by hearty cheers, and the best attention was accorded him throughout. For the first time almost in the history of the Court House, there was a total absence of any exhibition of hoodlumism whatever. Score one for the boys. This was the first public meeting of the Garfield and Arthur Club, and it was among the most brilliant and successful political meetings ever held in the city. The Tow-Path Invincibles was a principal feature of the occasion, and it did the heart good to see the patriotic young men of our city, the brain and muscle and future hope of our grand Republic, so largely enrolled on the side of law and order, of justice and right. Long may they live, an honor to the State, ever ready, with strong arms and willing hearts, to uphold and maintain the Old Flag, that will ever float, wherever the principles of the great Republican party prevail, over the "Land ### of the free and the home of the brave." Hon. Geo. H. Williams.

Ex-Attorney General Geo. H. Williams arrived in Portland on the ocean steamer Monday night from San Francisco. Judge Williams is one of the prominent men of this nation, and we are glad to learn that he intends to make Oregon his future home, that, in fact, he has always considered it such, business only keeping him away for several years past. As heretofore announced in these columns, the Judge will deliver several speeches in this State before returning to Washington to close up some business matters preparatory to moving to this State. He will speak in this city at an early date.

All attempts to blacken the character or belittle the services of Gen. Garfield have signally failed, still the small fry Democratic politicians and journalists continue to parade the same bosh, and relterate the same exploded lies, because of their utter inability to invent new ones.

Is Col. Larrabee the man who, as a officer in the army during the rebellion. was sent down South, and while there was enight in some disreputable cotton stealing affair, and to keep from being dismissed the service "resigned," went back to Wisconsin and from there made his way to this coast, and from that time on has been a flerce and uncompromising secessionist !

Since Gen. Butler has joined the Democ racy, will it be in order for his brother Democrats to call him by the old and affectionate title, by which they were wont to designate him, of "Spoon Thief Butler ?"

Would it be well for Democratic orators to tell their audiences, when descanting upon the virtues of the g-r-e-a-t and h-o-n-e-s-t Democratic party, just to state that the Grover-Chadwick administration of Oregon robbed the State treasury as long as there was a dollar to steal. besides incurring an enormous unconstitutional debt that will take long years of heavy taxation to repay?

Would it be well to explain to the Demcracy that the long-time lukewarm Gen. Nesmith, now red-hot in the cause of Hancock, is canvassing for the Democratic nominee merely because he desires to control the appointments in this State in the nterest of himself and his wing or faction of the Democratic party, Bush, Thaver & Co., if by any accident Hancock should succeed to the Presidency?

He's Come and Gone.

Col. Larrabee, the great Democratic orator, visited this neck o' woods last Saturhundred and thirty miles of this road is day, and addressed a good crowd of Democrats and Republicans, at the Court House, speaking all the afternoon. About the only recommendation that the Col. or his friends can lay any special claim to, is that he has a very fair sized bay window. As an orator he can not at all compare to Judges Strahan, Weatherford, Bilyen, or our young friend Skipworth. He offered nothing new, and the old charges that he rehashed against the Republican party were poorly and rather ungrammatically. as well as disjointedly stated. At the even ing condolence meeting, at the same place, properly improved will have no superior he got in some more chin music, which, it perhaps in the United States), but in the such a thing could be possible, was weaker near future will afford us a direct line to and more feeble than his afternoon warblethe great markets of the Atlantic. This is He did say one thing, however, that produced a smile here and there over the audience, and that was when he, in his thin squeaky voice, declared, all the while looking as solemn as a "setting ben," that Republicans alone were responsible for the war, and that Democrats were now, and Portland has also appointed a large comalways had been, the only Union men! The absolute idiocy of such a statement and entertain the distinguished party upon would condemn the party making it, before any competent jury, as a first c'ass fool or an absolute lunatic.

The "exclusive" Democratic wing of this city, which had charge of the redoutable Col. Larrabee last Saturday, were sorry may see a live President on Oregon soil. Plummer and Chamberlain. e young men of the city to the number | the rostrum. It was extremely diverting | to hear the old bedrockers expressing their opinions to brother Democrats regarding the Col. "Why don't he talk about the issues in the canvass ?" " Can't he tell us something new ?" "What's the matter with the man, don't he know nothing?" When Mitchell comes along next Wednesday he'll knock the wind out of such stuff as he's getting off, and when old Flaxbrake gets in his work we'll be flayed alive." And scores of similar remarks intermixed with more or less strong adjectives, showing that the rank and file had Col. Larrabee's calibre down to a dot.

Fairs.

The Washington County Fair opened on Monday last, also the Fair at Walla Walla. W. T. Our County fair commences or Wednesday week and helds until the Saturday following. Mechanics' fair will open on Thursday week, and will probably be the grandest fair ever held in Portland. The Union County fair will commence on the 11th of October, and, with the exception of the fall races at Salem, we shall have no more lay outs of this character in Oregon during 1880.

In the National Democratic Convention of 1868, Gen. Hancock obtained 1461/4 votes. If he had received the nomination then, he would have been run on the platform adopted by the Convention which declared that U. S. bonds should be taxed and made payable in greenbacks; that the negro should not vote; that the reconstruction acts were usurpations, unconstitutional, revolutionary and void. If he was 'ready to stand upon such a platform then, has he changed his views since? Or is he the pliant tool Bob Toombs asserts he isready to do anything the South demands hould be be elected President?

The Democrats of Arkansas built ten schoolhouses in twenty-five years. The Republicans in the same State built 1,882 schoolhouses in five years.

Gen. Hancock has again, in a most un- Eleventh Biennial Session of the Oregon mistakable manner, shown his subserviency to the will of the "solid South," A prominent Democrat wrote to Gen. Hancock recently, asking his views regarding the payment of Southern claims. In his reply he evades the question entirely, so that, should he be elected President, he can carry out the behests of the "solid South" in this matter without let or hindrance. So important a matter was this considered in 1876 by Mr. filden, that he wrote a letter, in which he positively declared against making any such payments. It has been asserted by Southern men that if Hancock declares against the payment of Southern claims, he can not receive the vote of the solld South; and if he declares in favor of such payment there is no hope for him in the North. The syndicate of Southern claim agents that secured the defeat of Tilden at Cincinnati and the nomination of Hancock, would never have labored for his nomination had they not known their Haines. man. Tilden's published declaration of hostility to the payment of Southern war claims of every description, was the chief argument used in bringing about his defeat at Cincinnati. There are now pending in Congress, not covered by the fourteenth amendment, which only await the election of Hancock to be pressed for payment. claims aggregating a sum total vastly exceeding the present sum of the national debt. And time and again have Sonthern men declared that these vast claims shall be paid-that the North shall pay in coin for the loss of negroes and all the calamities of the South caused by the war of the rebellion. And Hancock is in the hands of these men, and he will, if, unfortunately for this country, he should be elected President, place no obstacle in the way of the collection of these claims from the National Treasury. Six months would not roll round after the inauguration of Harcock before the treasury would be depleted, the credit of the country destroyed and utter bankruptcy reign. Is it any wonder that honest, loyal men, are fleeing from the Democratic party all over the country, and coming to the support of Garfield, when such a state of facts exist? So many statements have been made regarding the route to be taken by President Hayes and party, that we are left in doubt as to which is the correct statement. It is altogether probable that he will come overland or by ocean steamer -you pays your money and takes your choice - but most probably the former, as we see the Legislature has appointed a joint committee to meet him at Roseburg. mittee of her leading citizens to receive their arrival in that city. The party will doubtless take dinner at Albany, and the bart, city authorities and Republican Club will doubtless do the honors. As soon as the time set for the arrival of the party is known, due notice will be given that all

The Legislature of Maine will elect a United States Senator to succeed Happibal Hamlin at its next session, as this gentleman, after a long and honorable service in that body, announces his intention to retire. Gen, Chamberlain is spoken of as the successor of Mr. Hamlin, and he will doubtless fill the place ably and acceptably.
