

STATE RIGHTS DEMOCRAT.

A PRINTER WANTED. GOOD COMPOSITOR WILL BE GIVEN A SITUATION AT THIS OFFICE.

Agents for Linn County. The following named gentlemen are authorized to receive and receipt for subscriptions to the State Rights Democrat in this county:

TOWN AND COUNTY MATTERS. THE WEATHER.—Just awful! is the expression which exactly describes it.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR!—So we say most heartily to all our patrons and readers. May they enjoy a merry day, a prosperous year, and still happier, surrier and more prosperous future years, down to an honored old age.

SOIREE.—Mr. C. S. Barney, a most accomplished teacher of dancing and the finest violinist in Oregon, will give a dancing soiree at the Empire Hotel hall, on New Year's evening. Read his advertisement.

TOTS! TOTS!—Freeland & Settlement have a choice and splendid lot of toys and holiday gifts still for sale. Call on them to please your little folks on New Year's Day.

An "Exhibition."

What purported to be a "School Exhibition" was given at the Court House on Thursday evening. It was certainly an exhibition, and, we are constrained to say, a very improper and reprehensible one. It was one of that class of Exhibitions which have been a good deal too frequent during the last four or five years, and in which innocent little children are made to "speak pieces" filled with partisan prejudice and rancor, with sectionalism and hatred, and further, to stigmatize their own fathers, in common with all Democrats, as "traitors." It is about time that a stop be put to this sort of Exhibitions, when the exhibitors appeal to the very class they thus wantonly and shamefully insult for patronage and support. If they desire to give such Exhibitions to please certain "loyal" folks, let them do so to their hearts' or hate's content; but they ought to ask none but the lovers and admirers of their exhibitions to patronize them in a substantial way.

OF THE NUMEROUS RECITATIONS, declamations, dialogues, songs, &c., which made up the programme of exercises on Thursday evening, more than two-thirds were of a very malignant, Abolition character. Democrats who have children to educate will do well to have their little ones sent to schools where learning and not politics is deemed of first importance.

BY ADOPTING such timely caution, they will not, at the school Exhibitions, endure the mortification of hearing words of hate and insult, directed against themselves, from the mouths of their own children. Parents can generally attend to the political instruction of their children, if any be needed;—schoolteachers would generally give better satisfaction by teaching those studies which are usually adapted to schools, and letting political teaching alone.

DEP. S.—Since the above was put in type we learn that at the close of the exercises, and after a brief address by the Rev. Mr. Fairchild, who spoke by special invitation, the Rev. Mr. Starr arose and proceeded with the delivery of a very reprehensible speech. Among other things he commended the "teaching of loyalty in schools," and said "if there were taught in all the schools, it would be fewer secessionists and fewer secessionists." Why will not Democrats who have children make provision to have them educated in schools where this kind of Abolition propaganda is not practiced? All political schools are pernicious; but this Puritan political system is pestiferous.

FROZEN TO DEATH.—Mr. Solomon Kohlberg, a merchant of Portland and Dalles City, was frozen to death on Thursday last week, on the trail from the Cascades to Sandy. He and two or three others had started from Dalles City to make the land trail to Portland. His comrades got through safely after a good deal of suffering, but Mr. Kohlberg finally succumbed to the piercing cold and perished in the trail. The Hebrew Benevolent Society of Portland has paid high tribute to his memory. He was about 29 years of age.

PERSONAL.—Has Isaac Cox, the staunch Democratic Representative from Josephine county, paid us a visit on Wednesday on his way homeward from Salem. His constituency may well feel proud of him. He is a Democrat of the old school, and firm in the faith.

A LEGISLATIVE EPISODE.

On the fourth page of this paper, under the head of "A Rasally Reporter," will be found two reports by Abolition journals, of some remarks made by J. B. Underwood, an Abolition Representative of Lane county, in which the Reporter of one of the two journals—the Statesman—tortured Underwood's language so as to make it appear that he had terribly scolded Hon. Jas. D. Fay of Jackson, and that that gentleman had quickly submitted to the scolding. The following, from the report of the Legislative proceedings in the last Review, telling of a scene which occurred in the House the evening preceding the final adjournment of the Legislative Assembly, will show our readers that Mr. Fay did not permit the rasally Reporter of the Statesman to scold him, and that that gentleman had quickly submitted to the scolding. The following, from the report of the Legislative proceedings in the last Review, telling of a scene which occurred in the House the evening preceding the final adjournment of the Legislative Assembly, will show our readers that Mr. Fay did not permit the rasally Reporter of the Statesman to scold him, and that that gentleman had quickly submitted to the scolding.

Mr. Fay rose to a privilege question; he asked the member from Lane (Mr. Underwood) if he reported speech, in the last Statesman, of that gentleman, in a correct rendition of the language used by him. Mr. Underwood refused to answer the question directly. Mr. Fay said that he should accept the gentleman's silence as an acknowledgment that he did use the language reported, and he thereupon called Mr. Underwood a liar, and was proceeding to state his content for such a cowardly creature who thus attempts to falsify the records of the House, and make readers at a distance believe that he would even dare to use the language reported in his speech. Mr. Underwood called Mr. Fay a scoundrel, and Mr. Fay, in reply, called Mr. Underwood a scoundrel, and Mr. Underwood called Mr. Fay a scoundrel, and Mr. Fay, in reply, called Mr. Underwood a scoundrel.

To this we may add the following statement: On Monday evening, Dec. 18th, we were sitting with Mr. Fay at his desk in the House, just before the opening of the evening session. Mr. Fay called Mr. Underwood to his desk, and showed him the report of his (Underwood's) remarks, in question, and asked him to state if he had used such language, or anything equivalent to it. Underwood first replied that he was not very certain just what he did say, but he was quite sure he had not used the reported language. Upon Mr. Fay pressing him to answer more definitely he (Underwood) did deny having used or intended any such language as was in the Statesman's report, and pointed out several lines of that report as so much that must have been added by the Reporter, without his knowledge or consent. This private confession was wrong from him—as might say he was almost high enough out of it—by Mr. Fay, and yet, it ends that the miserable fellow had not the honor or manliness to state the truth before the House, when Mr. Fay earnestly requested him to do so. His object was apparent: he hoped that the reported bold speech in the Statesman would give him the reputation of having "backed down" Mr. Fay (of whom he is mortally afraid) in debate, and create the impression that, instead of being a very vain, cowardly hector, he really possessed pluck. But his base ruse did not succeed. There, before the House, in the hearing of hundreds of spectators, Mr. Fay, on his refusal to repeat before the House what he had but a few moments before confessed in private, denounced Mr. Underwood as "a liar and scoundrel," and the shrinking, sneaking, cringing creature, overwhelmed with shame, but shaking with fear of his manly, bold, defiant denunciation, crunched in his seat, and only croaked, when Mr. Fay was literally skinning him—"let him go on; he isn't hurting me." The fellow's bodily fear deadened his every other sense of feeling, and even the indelible brand which Fay with burning words was blazing in his writhing flesh, seemed not to affect him, so abject was his fright.

OREGON IN CONGRESS.—Our reverend Congressman figures on Committees as follows: 5th among ten members on Indian Affairs; 9th among nine members on Pacific Railroad. Thus he is on two out of thirty-three Standing Committees. Either the State or the Representative will very simply appreciate in that body. Should any resident of Oregon desire to address a letter to our Congressman, we will mention the fact that his name is J. H. D. Henderson.

FROM THE UPPER COUNTRY.—The Columbia is still clogged by ice, and communication is had with Portland (says by trail from Dalles City) a few days ago Mr. S. W. Buchanan, Agent of Wells, Fargo & Co. at the Dalles, and messenger Holland, arrived at Portland with about $50,000 in treasure and a large lot of express matter. They report the trail worse than at any previous period. The road from Dalles City to Walla Walla is open.

WORTH KNOWING.—Readers will find in another column the advertisement of Parrish & Holman, Portland, who are established in that city as Real Estate, Commercial, and Stock Brokers, and General Intelligence and Collection Agents. Persons in the interior who wish business transacted in these several departments in Portland, can repose confidence in the competency and integrity of this firm. They are prompt and faithful in fulfilling their engagements.

ELECTION OF SENATOR.—Hon. C. Cole, formerly member of Congress from California, has been elected U. S. Senator to succeed Hon. Jas. A. McDougall. It is useless to add anything further than that he is an Abolitionist.

LOST SOLD.—This notice was sold in San Francisco a few days ago for $5,100 in gold. Oymbie of Napa, was the purchaser.

LATEST EASTERN NEWS.

No dispatches have been received during the week. The latest news is Dec. 21st. Congress was moving slowly in the transaction of business, and a serious division is anticipated between the Radicals and the President. The Senators and Representatives from the Southern States are still denied seats in Congress. The general news is unimportant. Some white New York soldiers and Federal negro troops had a fight together in Norfolk, Va., Dec. 10th. Only one—a negro—was injured.

Information Wanted.

At the late Special Session, Dr. Tate, one of the Abolition Representatives from this county, introduced a bill to provide a Charter for the city of Albany. Of the features of his bill we could not obtain information during a visit to Salem on the last day but one of the session. We only know that on motion of Dr. Tate himself the bill was tabled on its third reading the evening before final adjournment. So much for that part of the matter. The point we seek information on, is upon what authority, by whose request or petition, did Dr. Tate ask for a new Charter for our city. We have yet to hear of the first resident of the place, other than the Representative himself, who sought for or desired a new Charter. It seems to us that before a Representative introduces a bill to wipe out an existing city charter, and to substitute another for it, he ought to be careful to know that public action has been taken upon it by the persons especially interested, and that a majority of them favored the change. In this instance there was certainly no public presentation or discussion of the project, and, we believe, no desire for it on any hand. Yet, had Dr. Tate at the last moment moved the passage of his new Charter, beyond doubt the two Houses would have passed and the Governor approved the Act, and the citizens of Albany would have had their present charter taken away and Dr. Tate's new charter put over them, without any previous knowledge on their part, without their consent, and despite their opposition to it. This is a mischievous kind of legislation, and is liable to the grossest wrongs and most dangerous abuses. It is a species of legislation which the people ought in the first place to guard against, and in the next, to severely censure when practiced. It places the people subject to the caprice, will, or pleasure of the Representative, and they have no remedy, only to await a subsequent session to have the objectionable or all too objectionable legislation repealed.

THE MAILS.—From all parts of the State we hear complaints about the irregularity or failure of the mails. The storms that have prevailed have made travelling almost impossible.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE. WHEREAS, It has pleased Providence to remove from among us, Mr. J. H. D. Henderson, one of the best citizens of Oregon, and a worthy member of the Legislature of 1865, and in testimony of our respect for his memory, and in honor of his many noble and useful services, we, the undersigned, do hereby resolve, that we will, on the 21st day of December, next, observe a day of mourning, and that we will, on that day, wear the usual badge of mourning, for thirty days.

Resolved, That by the death of this worthy citizen we have lost a true and noble friend, and a true and noble citizen, and that we will, on the 21st day of December, next, observe a day of mourning, and that we will, on that day, wear the usual badge of mourning, for thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in the State Rights Democrat and Albany Journal.
