The First Kentucky Resolution of 1798.

Revolved, That the several States composing the United States, are not united on the principle of unlimited submission to their General Government, but that by a compact, under the style and title of a Constitution for the United States, and of amendments thereto, they constituted a General Government, for special purposes-delegated to that Gov-ernment certaiu definite powers, reserving, each State to itself, the residuary mass of right to their solf-government; and that whenever the General a ballot. There is, then, a vast difference between Radicalism and Democracy. It is a difference as marked as that between light and darkness, or as that between Liberty and Tyranny. We admit that none talk so loud of Liberty as do the Radical leaders. It is by this word, in part, they have gained position and power : and it is by this word they continue to deceive and hoodwink their followers. All their acts of atrocity, rapine and lawlessness, are done in the sacred name of Liberty. TREADING CHILS ON DEPART

The sentiment, then, that is sometimes uttered by unthinking men, to wit : That it matters little to which party a man belongs, is erroneous. Instead of being a matter of small moment. it is one of the ntmost importance. Power diffused, or Democracy on the one hand, and Centralization or Tyranny on the other, are involved in the decision ; and this being the case, it cannot well be otherwise than momentous.
