Support of Party Nominees.

A late number of the Salem Record, edited by S. A. Clarke, professes to think that we are "inconsistent" when we say that we "will always vote for the nominees of a Democratic Convention, though one or more should be the devil himself."

When we made the above declaration we, of course, intended it simply as a strong way of saying that we always vote for the nominees of a Democratic Convention.

The entire ticket. It sometimes happens that the ticket contains one or more names that we don't like—perhaps personal enemies—perhaps they drink more liquor than we think they should, or chew and smoke more tobacco than we think is good for their health and finances.

We do this—that is, vote the entire ticket—for numerous reasons, a few of which we will specify. In the first place, we vote for men to represent, uphold and defend our political principles, and nothing else.

Such a course as this is often productive of the most happy results in more ways than one. We have known men who had been enemies for years, become warm personal friends because the one voted for the other.

These are some of the reasons that cause us invariably to vote for the nominees of a Democratic Convention. We do not claim to be at all odd in this matter. Other Democrats are governed by similar motives.

denounce us, and charge us with inconsistency in this thing—yet they are practically guilty of a like act. No party in the tide of time ever applied the thumb-screws as remorselessly as does the Radical party.

The State Rights Democrat treats us weekly to many things we enjoy and some that could be dispensed with. "Mountainier," "Mr. Mountaineer" we do not expect to be able to please Radical leaders.

The National Finances.

The last Journal says that there are only two ways to cancel our national indebtedness. One is to tax the North; and the other is to confiscate the property of Southern rebels.

This threat to confiscate the property of Southern rebels is evidently thrown out to prevent the discussion of the question of taxation. Now, so far as we are concerned, we don't care how soon the Radicals finish this work of confiscation.

As near as we can ascertain, the following is a list of unsold school lands in Linn county, which are probably advertised to be disposed of in Albany on the 31st of August.

Do you want to know? Well you shall have what you probably have never seen before—a debit and credit of the war, a profit and loss account. First, you should know that we have had a grand exhibition of fireworks, and mortgaged our farms to pay it. ["Oh!"] Second, the so-called wealth of the farmer consists in his having his soldier boy in the graveyard, and a seven-thirty in his pocket in exchange.

1. 83,000,000,000 of national debt—a national curse to everybody but Jay Cooke. 2. 81,000,000,000 State, city and county debt, born of the war.

3. Five hundred thousand able-bodied farmers, mechanics and other white men dead, worth $10,000 a piece, $5,000,000,000. 4. Five hundred thousand black laborers, worth $1,000 each, $500,000,000.

5. 4,000,000 black laborers, men, women and children, that it took three generations of white civilization to utilize into profitable labor, totally demoralized and disorganized for the time being.

6. $5,000,000 of shipping, that it took us fifty years of American industry, since Waterloo, to whiten every ocean with our commerce, completely wiped out by English neutrality. [Applause and "Too true!"]

7. $4,000,000 worth of plantations, houses, farms, factories, real estate, personal property, wasted, burned, wiped out, completely destroyed—the accumulated industry of a hundred years.

8. And lastly, An amount of swearing, gaming, drunkenness, prostitution, demoralization, that cannot be enumerated by figures.

9. This will do for the debt; and when fanaticism sleeps for a moment the nation's eyes will open, and a reaction will set in that will emancipate my constituency, the white people of our land. [Applause and dissent.] So much for debit; what for credit? Gentlemen, I have no figures. You must be content with ideas.

WHAT THEN?—Some editor says that the destiny of the world after hangs on the smallest trifles. A little nip between Chas. Bonaparte and his love Lettie might have broken off a marriage which gave birth to Napoleon and the battle of Waterloo.

TO WHICH A CHICAGO PAPER says—Yes, that is a fact. Suppose a "little nip" had taken place between Adam and Eve. What then?
