

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The following is Gen. Grant's reply to the nomination of the Chicago Convention: WASHINGTON, May 29, 1868. Gen. Jas. R. Hawley, President of the National Union Republican Convention.

I formally accepting the nomination of the National Union Republican Convention, of the 21st, it seems proper that some statement of my views beyond a mere acceptance of the nomination should be expressed. The proceedings of the Convention were marked with wisdom, moderation and patriotism, and I believe that they express the feelings and great-ness of those who sustained the country through its trials. I endorse the resolutions, and if elected to office as President of the United States, it will be my endeavor to administer all laws in good faith and with a view of giving peace, quiet and protection everywhere. In times like the present, it is impossible or improper to lay down a policy to be adhered to, right or wrong, through an administration of four years. Political issues are constantly arising. Purely administrative officers should always be left to execute the will of the people, which I have always respected and always shall. Peace and universal prosperity, its sequence, with economy of administration will lighten the burden of taxation, while it constantly reduces the national debt; let us have Peace. With great respect, your obedient servant. U. S. GRANT.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—In the Senate, Edmund's resolution of thanks to Stanton was discussed.

Henderson offered an amendment, voting thanks to the Chief Justice, for his conduct during the impeachment trial. Rejected by 11 to 30.

Ross, Henderson and Fowler voted for an amendment. Several Senators condemned the amendment as in bad taste, and not relevant to the matter. The resolution was finally adopted by 37 to 11.

The Arkansas admission bill was then taken up. LANCASTER, June 1.—James Buchanan died at Wheatland today, in his 77th year.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Schofield took possession of the War Office. The President accompanied him and remained for a few minutes. Gen. Grant subsequently had a short interview with the new Secretary.

SIGNS FOR HANDKERCHIEF FLIRTATIONS.—Our lady friends will here learn how useful the handkerchief may be made in flirtations or the more serious business of love-making.

Drawing the handkerchief across the lips, signifies the desire of getting acquainted.

Drawing across the eyes; let us be friends.

Twirling in the center; are you willing? Drooping; I will be friends.

Twirling in both hands; indifference. Drawing across the cheeks; I love you. Drawing through the hands; I hate you. Letting it rest on right cheek; yes. Letting it rest on left cheek; no. Twirling in left hand; I wish to be rid of you.

Twisting in right hand; I love another. Folding it; I wish to speak with you. Over the shoulder; follow me. Opposite corners in both hands; wait for me.

Drawing across the forehead; we are watched. Placing on right ear; I have a message for you. Letting it remain on the eyes; you are cruel.

Winding round fore-finger; I am engaged. Winding round third finger; I am married.

A CURIOUS SINGULAR.—A wonderful doctor, with a wonderful singularity is at work. By the simple use of a sunglass and the rays of the sun, he has effectually removed life-long deformities from the faces of a number of persons; but little pain is caused. A gentleman in Windsor, one-half of whose face was badly discolored from his birth, was made to rejoice in a whole clean face; and a young lady who suffered from an unsightly excrescence on her chin, was similarly relieved. A mole buried with an actual little blue, and then disappeared with a slight "pop!" or explosion. The patient felt little or no pain after the first momentary "sing." Another man writes that the doctor's glass cured him of an obstinate cancer. It had been twice removed by surgeons. Burned out, or at least, it has stayed out for upwards of a year.

A MISTAKE.—Charles to the alter led the lovely Jane, and to her father's house returned again, where, to convey them on their wedding tour, already stood a brilliant coach and four. When, lo! the gathering showers at once descended, clouds and warring winds contended; this moves him not, but in he hands his bride, and seats himself enraptured by her side; when thus, to cheer the fair one, he begins: "I hope we soon shall have a little sun." But she, to whom the weather gave no pain, who heeded not the blast nor pattering rain, but most about her future state behought her, replied: "My dear, I'd rather have a daughter."

Brigham Young, while recently holding forth to his people, said: "Now, girls, court up the boys; it is leap year. Give them to understand in some way that it is all right. You are ready, and you want to help them to make a good home, to form a nucleus around which to gather the blessings and comforts of life—a place of rally to, while you are at the move and until you can get nothing that is permanent. Let the boys what to do, and you, sisters of experience, ye mothers in Israel, go to and get up your societies, and teach these girls what to do, and how to get the boys to come and marry them."

If the "boys" can successfully resist this combination, they must indeed be hard cases.

LEAP YEAR DIALOGUE.—"Miss, will you take my arm?"

"Yes, and you too."

"Can't spare but the arm," replied the bachelor.

"Then," replied she, "I shant take it, as my motto is, go the whole hog or none."

ADDRESS
—TO THE—

NEUROUS AND DEBILITATED!

TO THOSE WHOSE SUFFERINGS HAVE been protracted from hidden causes, and whose cases require prompt treatment render exercises desirable. If you are suffering or have suffered from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Does your liver, or urinary organs, or your kidneys, frequently get out of order? Is your vision sometimes thick, milky, or foggy, or is itropy on setting? Or does a thick coat rise to the top? Or is a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting or rushes of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling upon the subject? Do you feel dull, listless, moping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Do any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the lustre of your eye as brilliant? The bloom on your cheek as bright? Do you enjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits of melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia.

Have you restless nights? Your back weak, your knees weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver-complaint? Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal diseases badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering, successful business-men are always those whose generative organs are in perfect health? You never hear such men complain of being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business; they don't become sad and discouraged; they are always polite and pleasant in the company of ladies, and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks or any other mean-looking things. I do not mean those who keep the organs inflamed by running to excess. These will not only ruin their constitutions, but also those they do business with or for.

How many men, from badly cured diseases, from the effects of self-abuse and excesses, have brought about that state of weakness in those organs that has reduced the general system so much as to produce almost every other disease—idleness, lunacy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every other form of disease which humanity is heir to, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have died for all but the right one.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a diuretic.
