EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE
The Legislature, thus far this week, has shown more desire to work in earnest than at any time since the commencement of the session.

One of the attractions of the State Fair was the Catholic Fair, which, I understand, was very successful. Among other devices for attracting visitors and hauling in the dimes was that of a nice can, which was to be presented to Grant & Seymour.

Yesterday (the 6th inst.) the Senate passed S. J. R. No. 4, withdrawing the consent of Oregon to the passage of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Mr. Finlayson, of Linn, won the first premium on a seed-sower; Mr. Fry the second.
A cougar and bear fight came off, outside the grounds, which attracted a large crowd. Price $1 each.

A New Name.—The Olympia Republican says Garfield is the "quintessence of loyalty." They may call it "loyalty" over on the Sound, but plain Wobcet call Garfield's sort of "essence" the "pole-cat" species.

House yesterday, (6th inst.) on a bill introduced by Mr. Chapman, of Multnomah, to tax and regulate Chinamen, and prevent their employment upon Public Works.

THE STATE FAIR.
Judged from the total amount of receipts, the State Fair which has just ended is a success. Over $8,000 were received at the gate.

Among the articles which particularly attracted our attention was some samples of grain from Ochoeco, consisting of wheat, barley and oats.

The racing—the trial of speed on the race-track of horses—was a very prominent characteristic of the Fair; and, whether right or not, engrossed the attention of large crowds of people.

On the next evening (Friday, 2d inst.) the Democrats of Salem held a large meeting in the streets opposite Watkins' brick block.

Wm. Mason's patent, of Polk county, took the first premium for gang plows. Lewis & Walganton, of Oregon City, took the second on Pfeif's Patent gun, and the first on single sulky plow.

PUBLIC MEETINGS IN SALEM.
Last week Salem was not only blessed with the State Fair and the Supreme Court, but with political demonstrations of both parties.

Under this latter clause, viz: That he shall perform such other duties as shall be assigned him by law, the present Secretary of State is called upon to do many things which, in other States, are assigned to other officers and functionaries of Government.

RECEPTION OF GEN. CROOK.
On Friday (2d inst.) Mr. Bagley offered the following Joint Resolution:
WHEREAS, General George Crook, to whom the hospitality of the State of Oregon was extended, is now in Salem, the Capital of the State; therefore,

THE HOUSE UNBESITTINGLY CONCURRED in the above Resolutions, and appointed Messrs. Wayne, Gazley and Chapman a committee, on their part, to inform Gen. Crook of the action of the Legislature.

Gen. Crook then thanked the Joint Convention for this unexpected compliment. He said he had been on the coast fourteen years; all his interests were here; and it afforded him pleasure to know that the people thought well of his efforts.

SEYMOUR AND BLAIR.—The Revolution, the women's paper, closes a review of the situation as follows: "We appeal to every patriot (including all the conservative element, we especially mention them, as their patriotism is doubtful, and including the Radicals, as theirs is certain) to forget all past differences and unite with us in the great approaching struggle to elect HORATIO SEYMOUR and FRANK BLAIR."

A VERY USEFUL MAN.
The Constitution of the State of Oregon provides that the Secretary of State shall keep a fair record of the official acts of the Legislative Assembly, and executive department of State; and shall, when required, lay the same, and all matters relative thereto, before either branch of the Legislative Assembly; and that he shall by virtue of his office, be auditor of public accounts, and shall perform such other duties as shall be assigned him by law.

HON. R. A. BENSAL.
The Oregonian, and other radical papers in this State, have claimed that the radical party is in the "interests of God and morality," and that it is generally composed of men who are pure and upright in all the departments of private life.

THEIR BRITISH ALLIES.
The radical journals silt up wonderfully over the fact that several leading British journals have come out for Grant. No doubt if the aristocracy of England could vote, most of them would vote for Grant.

companied by seven Generals, entered Madrid to-day in triumph. Great preparations were made for their reception. The streets and buildings, public and private, were decorated. A large civic and military procession escorted the Generals through the city.

BY TELEGRAPH.
[COPILED FROM THE OREGON HERALD]
CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—A Republican Washington special says it is understood that the status of the Spanish legation here has been conveyed by the President and Secretary Seward. It has been decided that after the date when our government received official information that the Spanish Monarchy has ceased to exist, its representatives here cannot be officially recognized as representing a sovereign power.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT.
ANDREW GREGG, ADMINISTRATOR, of the will annexed, of the estate of James Lewis, deceased, has this day filed his account in the County Court of Linn county, Oregon, praying for a final settlement of the same, and for discharge as such Administrator. Therefore notice is hereby given that all creditors and claimants of the said estate are to present their claims and demands to the said Administrator, at the Court House, in the city of Albany, in said county, on Saturday, the 7th day of November, 1868, at 10 o'clock a. m.; and all persons interested in said estate are hereby required to file their objections to said account and the settlement thereof on or before said day.

DISSOLUTION NOTICE.
The partnership heretofore existing between J. Harris, J. S. Tower, W. H. Mendonhall and Jas. Redpath, under the firm name of Harris & Co., in the lumbering business, was dissolved, by mutual consent, on the 10th day of September, 1868. J. S. Tower retiring from the firm. The business will hereafter be conducted by Harris & Co. All liabilities incurred by the late firm will be settled by the new firm.
