

THE NEW APPOINTMENT.

The following telegram was sent over the wires from Washington City under date of the 5th inst:

"Judge Moore has not yet brought the subject of a new apportionment before the House Judiciary Committee, but it is the general opinion that the Committee will be in favor of increasing the number of members to 280, which would probably prevent the necessity of reducing representation in any State. New Hampshire is the only State which would not be certain of securing a reduction, if the number was fixed at 280, and the only difficulty seems to be to find a number not unreasonably large, which will save that State the loss of one or three Representatives."

The recent census enumeration shows that while other portions of the Union have increased from fifty to one hundred per cent in population, the six States of New England have barely held their own; and probably if strict justice had been done by the census-takers, some of them would have been found to have retrograded in population within the last decade. And yet, notwithstanding those six States have always been the pets of Radical legislation, and have always had an unfair representation in the National Legislature in proportion to their population, it is now decided by the powers that have control of the apportionment to still further heap burdens upon the whole country by increasing the representation in the Lower House of the National Congress from 244 to 280 members!

Heaven knows, the Congressional body is big and unwieldy enough now, without adding to its numbers, and the pocket of every tax-payer in the land can attest to the fact of its enormous expensiveness.

THE SAN DOMINGO JOB.

The following dispatch shows that Grant's great San Domingo scheme for the feathering of his own nest is not gliding along so smoothly as that great national mercantile could wish:

"First, the acquisition of St. Domingo was proposed as a substitute for justice to the Cubans. Secondly, it was demonstrated and known to be a flagrant job. Everything of value in St. Domingo had been monopolized beforehand by a ring of speculators. Steamboat lines, international navigation, roads, railroads, mining lands, mill sites, and even lots in the harbor of Samana had been marked, as Mr. Sumner says, with the names of Cazenave, Babcock and Grant. The third reason is that Bazet, the party with whom this firm treated, was a fraud who made a fortune by stripping St. Domingo and sending the proceeds to Europe. Finally the annexation of St. Domingo would be the annexation of a civil war. Spain attempted it, and after losing twenty thousand soldiers and fifteen millions of dollars, abandoned the undertaking."

INDORSEMENT FROM AFR.

The following is from the Eastern Argus, Portland, Maine, the oldest Democratic newspaper in the United States:

Governor Grover, of Oregon, has shown that he is of true metal. A "job" was lobbied through the Legislature authorizing the city of Portland to issue its bonds in aid of a railroad scheme to the amount of $300,000. It was in fact a donation to that amount, as the city was to have neither stock or mortgage for security, and it was alleged, no doubt truly, that it was for the benefit of Ben Holladay, a Government contractor for many years and millionaire monopolist. Governor Grover, however, killed this nice plunder job by a veto that will set at rest that and all similar jobs. The Governor's argument against the constitutionality of such schemes is impregnable. It does not leave a peg for such plunderers to hang a doubt upon. The course of Gov. Grover is universally applauded except by a few of Holladay's satellites; and it forms an important step in the return to constitutional principles of government, which we hope to see many years throughout the country. Legislation in the interests of public robbers have been tolerated long enough; let us now have reform and legislation in the interests of the people for the public good.

The young lady who "refused" Grant, married a Galena brick-layer. She says her husband don't have so many things given to him, but his breath smells sweeter than Grant's.

THE PRESIDENTIAL QUESTION

Cincinnati, if the ancient chronicle ought to be believed, did not seek office or even dream of having it; but office sought him, found him at his plow, and took him, reluctant, but obedient, away. He loved his plow much, but his country more; and so he went.

This anecdote is yet in the books, and is occasionally quoted by orators and writers, but the real Cincinnati of the present day in America cannot wait to be summoned from his plow; he is in such mad haste for office that he lets the plow hold itself while he pushes, and gets letters signed by this and that Hon. Tingumbob, Esq., and intrigues to pack nominating conventions with his friends, and makes himself generally a buzzing fly on the axle-tree of all creation, that he may get an office—big ones preferred, little ones not refused. Politicians and authors alike write in praise of agriculture, and pathetic longings for a peaceful rural retreat from the cares of life; and yet the former at least regard a farm as most people do heaven—as a place to be desired at last, but not to be taken possession of any earlier than absolutely necessary. Since Washington and his immediate successors, how many Presidents and Presidential aspirants have really preferred the plow to the helm of State? Clay would rather be right than President; but was he not nevertheless a secretly disappointed man? Webster loved his Marshall dearly; yet many people believed his death was hastened by his failure to receive the nomination. Horatio Seymour finds his sincerest pleasure in his farm near Utica, but he yearned for the favor of a republic and found that republic pitilessly ungrateful.

We now find Gov. Hoffman, of New York, modestly declining the nomination for the next Presidency, "all for the sake of harmony," as his friends assert. But does any one suppose that, if the position were thrust upon him, by an adoring party, he would turn his back and flee from its alluring presence as did the ancient Joshua from the offered embraces of Potiphar's wife? It is absolutely absurd to presume that such would be the case. The New York politicians who are interested in the nomination of Hoffman, are shrewd and wily in all the multifarious tricks of the political arena, and the nation may depend upon it that the remarkable modesty of Mr. Hoffman is one of the means by which his friends expect to secure his nomination by the National Democratic Convention. This "declining" business is an old subterfuge and has been played too often to the sorrow of the Democratic party; and we trust that the Democracy of the great West will not be thrown off their guard by its assumption on the part of the New York Governor. The West is entitled to the first place upon the Democratic National Ticket, by all the rules of right and equity, and we should leave no efforts untied to secure that end. It may possibly be true that Gov. Hoffman does not seek the nomination, and if that is the true state of his feelings it will be discovered at the proper time and he will receive that measure of praise to which such a remarkable character is entitled; and in view of the past experience of the Democratic party in their National Conventions, he cannot certainly censure us of the West if we make that experience the basis of our conduct instead of the newspaper assertion of some penny-a-liner that "he positively will not be a candidate!"

The Eastern and Middle States may possibly defer to the wishes of the West in the National Democratic Convention, but it will only be after our claims are urged with a pertinacity which will admit of no denial; and it behooves all of us to bear that fact in mind and not relax our vigilance until the goal is reached. Let us not for a moment forget that upon our success hinges the fate of the contest, and "Look well to the West."

There is not in Missouri, or anywhere else, one Democrat in a hundred who would not disfranchise every colored man in the United States, if it could be done. And ninety-five per cent of the Democratic party still hope that the time will come when they can accomplish that very thing.

Yes, Mr. Oregonian, you can wager your stamps on that statement. The 15th Amendment, by which "colored persons" are permitted to vote, was illegally and unfairly adopted, and should be expunged from the statute books as soon as the people, through the kindness of an All-Wise Providence, have given the controlling power into the hands of the Democratic party. Stephen A. Douglas said that our Government was "made by White Men, for White Men, and their posterity forever"—and the Democratic party will so strive to establish and perpetuate it.

Radical is a compound unconstitutional noun, black in person, declining in number, African gender, desperate case, governed by negro—according to the Puritan rule, one ignominious governs another.—Montgomery Mail.

THE EUROPEAN WAR.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 6.—The batteries at Clamart and Ville Du Averg, throwing shot weighing 124 pounds, and shells weighing 65 pounds, have bombarded the forts of Le Des, Von Vores and Montrage yesterday and to-day, the forts replying with considerable effect with six and seven inch guns, throwing shell weighing 150 pounds. German engineers expect to silence the forts by the night of the 7th.

Gen. Chansey is advancing in two columns. The main body is at La Loupe and another at Vendome. The Duke of Mecklenburg occupies a line between Blois, Vendome and La Loupe and Verneuil. French reserves from Orleans, Chateau Dan and Dreux, 77,000 men, are joining Chaucey, who has 100,000 in splendid condition. The forces of Generals Faidherbe and Boregries are in excellent order. Gen. Manteuffel's losses in the battles of the 3d and 4th, were 3,500.

Dates from Paris to the 3d and 4th inst. have been received to-day. Damage from the bombardment had been slight. French losses, thus far, have been 20 killed and 300 wounded. The city and army were clamorous for offensive action. The approximate losses in the battle at Bapaume are 9,000 Germans, and 4,000 French. The Germans evacuated Bapaume yesterday. It is said 10,000 French have arrived at Cherbourg to equip for active service.

BORDEAUX, Jan. 7.—The Germans on Friday attacked French positions at Ville, Chuneur and St. Cyrault, and afterwards forced our lines at Neuille. The French at night took the offensive, recaptured all their positions and entered St. Arnaud. The enemy retired towards Vendome, leaving many wounded and prisoners. They apparently suffered heavily during the day and night.

HAVRE, Jan. 8.—Ten thousand Germans, mostly from Rouen, were defeated yesterday by Gen. Roy, near Junerger. The French have since occupied Bourghard, and threaten to drive the Prussians from Point Aida. BORDEAUX, Jan. 9.—Details of Friday's fighting near Vendome are received. At 11 o'clock in the morning the Germans attacked Gen. Custin Gyrville, at Parcberville Thaye. The French were driven back to Neuville. The French commander then brought up his supporters, recapturing all his positions, and repulsing the Prussians before the Sanite Ramateau, which the French re-entered at night. The German loss was considerable; that of the French trifling.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A dispatch from Lille says the Germans are moving south of Bapaume. French sharpshooters near Lille successfully engaged the Germans today, taking 43 prisoners. It is said a military correspondent at Versailles on the 7th, telegraphs that the bombardment of the forts on the south of Paris steadily continues, and that the fire of the French had slackened. It is supposed that several guns in the forts were dismantled.—The weather was favorable for siege operations. A correspondent says Morigency says the forts Downy and Nogent suffered severely, and it is believed there are no French infantry outside the fortifications on the east and north east. Paris is active, and offensive preparations are expected immediately. The Government of Paris has issued a decree announcing the consolidation of all military organizations, and the entire able-bodied male population with the regular army, for the defense of the city.—Commissioners are appointed to carry out this decree, consisting of the Governor of Paris, the President and Commanders of the Ports, and of the artillery and engineer corps.

Among the bills introduced into the House was one by Jencks, to regulate the manner of making appointments in civil service;—one by Churchill, to amend the act of May 31, to enforce the rights of citizens to vote in several States.

Kellogg entered a resolution requesting the Committee on Ways and Means to report a bill for the repeal of the income tax. At the time of the adjournment of the House to-day, the San Domingo resolutions had been taken from the table and were open for amendment and debate. In the Senate, numerous memorials were presented from residents of the South, for relief from political disabilities; and one by Conkling, from the New York Chamber of Commerce, upon the importance of laying a submarine cable from our western coast to Asia, and of providing against a monopoly.

Several bills were also introduced and referred to appropriate committees. One by Ramsey, to provide for ocean steamship service from the head of Puget Sound to the Sandwich Islands; one by Warner, for the appointment of an additional Judge for the District Court of Alabama.

Thursday next was fixed for the consideration of the bill to reimburse the States for moneys advanced during the rebellion. One end of the Ohio double baby has the crop.
