

SCISSORING.

The convicts at the Michigan State Prison are building a new wall around themselves.

Locusts are in Tennessee in immense numbers, and the woods are alive with them.

Dr. Bartol says the real thief of the world is he who consumes more than he produces.

A California clergyman is the only living white man, who is master of the Choctaw language.

An insane asylum at Troy has a small theater attached where amateurs give performances.

An Illinois farmer has fifteen acres of hops, and expects a profit of five hundred dollars per acre.

When a man "sees double" it is generally an indication that he is "beside himself with liquor."

A Texas judge lately imprisoned the entire bar in the place, except the district attorney, for contempt.

In Paisley, Scotland, one of the greatest impediments to justice is the length of the policemen's mustaches.

"Jersey lightning" one of the benighted castings up results of last night's "sitting up with a sick friend."

The beauty of getting tight on ship-board is, that the ladies pity the "poor handsome dear, who is so seasick."

They have a tribe of Indians in California who live without sleep. What famous editors they would make.

Gov. Geary, of Pennsylvania, has signed the bill prohibiting the sale or giving away of liquor during election days.

The duty on tobacco was placed at 24 cents per pound. A Western judicial district was established in North Carolina.

A Green Bay man was mean enough to elope with the only school-teacher in the town, thus shutting up the school.

An Iowa groom was so delighted with the marriage ceremony that he insisted upon having it repeated eleven times.

Punch says the difference between the sofa and its fair occupant is about as great as between an ottoman and a knot-o'-woman.

Because people in Auburn, N. Y., find snakes in their drinking water, they are so fastidious as to shut their teeth while drinking.

A woman who is considered by her admirer as "worth her weight in gold," is not such a catch after all; her value being about $30,000.

An old lady in Winooski, Vermont, has just reached her ninety-ninth year, and has had twenty three children by the same husband.

A little busy "bumble bee" drove a man out of church at Indianapolis, the other day, by trying to gather honey from his head.

The Indianapolis Journal says that the potato bugs will poll a heavy vote in Indiana this fall, and sweep the state by irresistible majorities.

A Memphis dentist and the gentle partner of his joys and sorrows have been held to trial in $6,000 for dogging a little girl nearly to death.

A California countryman gaped so wonderfully at a stylish Dolly Varden, that the services of a physician were required to set his dislocated jaw.

An ironical story comes from St. Louis to the effect that a bar of iron fell on a man's head from a height of twenty feet and didn't hurt the iron a bit.

On Mount Etna there is an old chestnut tree which is so large that one hundred horsemen can find shelter under its branches from a rain storm.

Political "half mourning" is the fashionable color for ladies of a certain clique; 'tis formed of Woodhull white and Douglas black neatly crossed.

A servant at a party, to whom his master was calling impatiently to "fetch this, fetch that," answered: "Sir, everything you have in the wardrobe is on the table."

A young man in Augusta, Wis., recently killed a companion while intoxicated, and the father of the murdered youth has sued the saloon keeper for $10,000.

There is a minister in Minnesota who is loud in the announcement that the world will not outlast the present summer. And yet he has planted 100 acres of wheat.

An Irish servant girl thinks that when she gets to heaven she will not be required to darn stockings after midnight, for all the angels she saw were barefooted.

There is one "right" on which, thank Heaven! a woman cannot entrench; 'tis the glorious boyish privilege of standing on your head and turning summer-saults.

"Grand,"—A country paper lately made this "grand" statement. The casual diagnosis of cleomegmany steeds is ever an ungracious office, which is very fine for the country, rudeness of "Twon't do to look a gift horse in the mouth."

Mr. Phillips says the cold water cure was practiced in the time of Augustus. If we may believe the Hebrew analyst it dates back 2,000 years beyond the Christian Era, when it was tried on a very extensive scale, and with exterminating effect.

The following composition has been turned out by an American scholar, aged thirteen: "A boy without a father is an orphan, without a mother, a double orphan, but without a grandfather, and then he is an orphanist."

An anti-swearing association has been formed among the railroad men at Harrisburg (Pa.) By the rule of the association a fine of ten cents is exacted for every oath uttered. They claim a large and rapidly increasing fund.

The farmer who desired "one of those chemist fellows who think they know everything," to visit his farm and tell him how to manage it to the best purpose, was quite displeased when the visitor said: "Begin by selling half your land."
