

PARTY ANTAGONISM.

Just now there are thousands of people whose hostility to the Democratic party is simply chronic, while their dislike of the Republican party grows out of personal knowledge and experience of its leaders. They see in it all the faults of the Democratic party, and something more. Put the Platforms of the two together, or the men together, or the antecedents of either side together, and there is ample cause for any reasonable amount of antagonism. It is more than ever the old Democracy against the old Federalism, for even Jefferson and Hamilton differed less as to the powers and duties of the Government than the Democrats and Republicans of the present day. Parties have become debauched and rotten by victory, war and prosperity, but the dividing line is as marked as ever it was, except that the old Federalists claimed much less power than modern miscegenated Republicans, and except that the old Federal leaders were pure and patriotic men, led by Washington, Adams, Hamilton and Jay, while men as pure and patriotic upon the other side were led by Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Gallatin, and later by Jackson. Opposition to the war of 1812 and the Hartford Convention killed the former, but from their graves have sprung a body of men claiming all the concentrated power of the old Federal party, but lacking their essentials of great purity and great unselfishness. One has but to read of the treatment of States like Louisiana, of the direct interference even with the sword with the people of other States in order to carry elections for the dominant party, to be convinced both of the necessity and duty of antagonism against the dominant party.

THE SPIRIT OF WAR.

Rumors of a contemplated war between Spain and the United States daily flash across the wires, in consequence of the slaughter of the officers and crew of the steamer "Virginius," at Santiago de Cuba by the Spanish authorities. During the first few days after the reception of the news the utmost excitement prevailed in the Eastern cities, and the most inflammatory and clamorous demands for vengeance upon Spain were indulged in. It is especially noticeable that Administration organs are vehement in their demands for war and most urgent in their appeals for revenge. That Grant would delight in so propitious an opportunity to perpetuate his fast waning power there can be no doubt, but that the American people are prepared for so grave an emergency is extremely doubtful. True, the massacre of the "Virginius" crew was most atrocious and inexcusable, as is always the slaughter of men without due process of law; but they had taken their lives into their own hands in this expedition and had thus outlawed themselves from the protection of our Government. If the American Government proposes to make itself the champion of every filibustering expedition which happens to fit itself out in American waters and sail under the American flag, our foreign complications will shortly have no limit and our national debt will be beyond computation. In the meantime will be done with the Spanish-Cuban affair until Congress meets next Monday.

The reckless expenditure and unblushing corruption of the Washington Ring have involved the capital of the nation in absolute bankruptcy. The teachers in the public school have not received any pay for four months, the firemen and police have not been paid for six months, the laborers who clean the streets have not received any money for seven months $15,000 in gold coin is needed on the 1st of January to pay the interest on bonds issued by the Ring and sold in Europe, and there is not a cent in the treasury to pay it. The contractors on the avenue and sewers have been obliged to suspend work because the securities of the city are no longer saleable. One of those contractors recently offered to hypothecate $20,000 worth of these securities for a loan of $6,000, and to pay ten percent per month on the amount, but could not raise a cent. Such enormous sums have been stolen by the Ring, which embraces the most prominent members of the Republican party and advisers of the President, that it is attempted to pay off by taxation, the District will be almost depopulated. Congress will probably be asked to take upon the shoulders of the nation the enormous debts which have been contracted by these jobbers.

B. F. DOWELL and Jesse Applegate are still between a steam and a sweat because of the Sam. May defalcation in which they are interested as sureties to the tune of several thousands. O. Samuel, why did you go far to rob your "loil" friends as well as the State?

Let Democrats see to it that honest, capable and temperate men are nominated to-night—men who are opposed to running the city in debt to favor a corporation—and we will come off victorious next Monday.

GRANGE NEWS.

The total number of Granges now in the United States is 8,262, with a membership of 619,650.

The Seio Grange last Saturday initiated seven new members. It is in a most prosperous condition. Washington Territory has an order called Industrial Co-operatives. It is a brother-in-law to the Grange.

All kinds of Granger's blanks for sale at this office. We have just printed a lot of blank reports for Secretaries of Granges.

The Lane county Patrons of Husbandry will have a grand union celebration at Junction City on Dec. 4—next Thursday. Hon. Jno. Henry Smith, of Harriaburg, will deliver the oration. We predict a happy time.

Thomas H. Merry, lecturer of the California State Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry, advises the farmers of Humboldt county to erect a beet sugar factory, and turn their attention to the cultivation of the sugar beet.

Several explanations of what "grange" means are going the rounds of the press. From one quarter it is illustrated in the following lines:

"And from the distant grange there comes The elation of the thrasher's fall."

From Milton's "Comus":

"When for their tempting rocks and granges Turn to browse and their couchings."

From Shakespeare:

"I will presently to St. Leger, where, in The mounted grange, amidst this Dejected Marston."

But all these have undoubtedly reference to the genuine article. The great Manikin poet, however, has struck the hayseed politician's relations to Granges in these lines:

"A man in white agricultural drags The pasture has grown short, Backs them to browse and their couchings."

It is a fact perhaps not generally known that farmers of the Roman Catholic faith cannot join the Patrons of Husbandry without violating a principle of their creed. The Catholic agriculturalists of Minnesota being thus debarred from taking an active part in the anti-monopoly war now raging in the West, and fearful that their position might be misapprehended, have lately held a meeting in Olmsted county, in that State, and adopted a series of resolutions on the subject, in which they set forth the reason why they have not become members of the Order, and express the warmest sympathy with its features except secrecy. Action was also taken for the organization of an open society having like purposes in view.

Judge Garretson, National Deputy who visited Oregon a short time ago, spoke as follows to the California State Grange recently: "On going to Oregon he found 20 Sub-Granges ready to organize. They take hold with a will—they are baptised with the spirit of reform. He found, 400 miles in the interior, a fertile belt of country well populated, with every natural facility for home making and fortune making, yet in a most deplorable condition. The Columbia river is their only outlet to the ocean. Its falls had been seized upon by a monopoly, the Oregon Steam Navigation Company, and these farmers there were bottled up and corked in. While the government has been building railroads and princely monopolies, it has neglected the husbandman of the north. They look to this jurisdiction to help them secure an appropriation to open the Columbia river, and to relieve the Willamette river of the obstructions to navigation. He thanked the Grange again for their greeting, and begged that while others were laboring in the field he might be permitted to retire to a fence corner."

BE CAREFUL!

If our citizens desire to see the city of Albany bankrupt by the close of the next year, let them go ahead and elect that Ditch ticket, with its renegade Democrat at the head, which was nominated last Wednesday. We are in favor of the Santiam Canal, and are a stockholder in the enterprise, but we don't want its Directors and managers to control our city affairs and so legislate that the taxpayers will be compelled to bridge it throughout the city. Mark our prediction: the ticket nominated last Wednesday night was "put up" for that purpose.

RIVER TRANSPORTATION.—The Grange says: Col. T. informs us that the new boat his Company are building, is intended to run direct to Astoria, from points on the Upper Willamette. This boat will be ready for service in about twenty days. Her capacity is 400 tons. She will take on, say 250 tons at Albany and Corvallis, and after reaching Portland, transfer from their Yanbik boats 150 tons, and proceed to Astoria with the full load of 400 tons. This arrangement begins to look as if Oregon farmers were on the right track. God speed the day that brings slack-water navigation from the Columbia river to Eugene City. Then will Oregon be herself. That day is nearer by than many suppose.

THERE is already much actual suffering among the new comers in the north western part of Iowa. The grass hoppers utterly destroyed the crops of many farmers, and the papers of that section say that untold suffering await the poor people of Lyon, Osceola and other counties.

PACIFIC COASTERS.

Court in Polk now.

California Legislature meets next Monday.

Jas D. Fay will shortly go to San Francisco to reside.

An Oregon circus man committed suicide in California last week.

Salt Lake has received a large invoice of Mormons from Europe.

California is getting a passion for those great bors, artesian wells.

The Royal Arch Masons of La Grande are organizing a Chapter.

A drunken man last Sunday fell through the railroad bridge at Portland and killed himself.

The citizens of Pitt River Valley have petitioned the California Legislature for a new county.

Mrs. Wilkins has been acquitted of murder, at Stoughton, on the crazy dodge. How convenient!

James Quinn, of Clackamas county, accidentally fatally shot himself while out hunting last Saturday.

Several brick houses sustained serious damage by the earthquake at Crescent City last Saturday.

William Dean, convicted of forgery in Wasco county, has been sentenced to three years imprisonment.

If Hiram Moses Begeley is in Oregon, he is requested to write to John Mitten, at Nevada City, California.

"Old Kib" has been sent to the crazy asylum from Salem because two juries failed to convict him of rape.

Pat. Lynch last Saturday walked off the Portland ferry boat when drunk. His funeral was quiet but decent.

The old lady Waller last week contributed $2,500 towards paying off the debt of the Salem M. E. Church.

An East Portland lady has had a little disagreeableness with a skunk—in fact she has buried a part of her wardrobe.

David T. Patton, formerly a resident of Owyhee, was caved on and killed in the Zella Mine, near Ophir City, Utah, October 10th.

The boy who grays is the name of the Montana Indian who was recently on his way to Washington. He must be Butler's "long lost brother."

The oil springs at San Fernando, Los Angeles county, have been looked over by a Pennsylvania petroleum sharp, who wins knowingly.

Over one hundred emigrant families have settled in Walla Walla Valley during the past two months, whereas the "Lop-ears" are jubilant.

A Salt Lake City man boasts of having worn one suit of clothes 22 years. Well, Salt Lake has no laws to prevent a man from making a beast of himself.

Two juries hung on the Kiblinger rape case at Salem. Capt. Humphrey thinks this is because no two Marion county men ever agreed on a given proposition.

A Lafayette preacher asserts that he owns a pony that can out run any horse in the State for 400 yards. He can't get any body to run for such a stake as that.

A fellow in Sonoma county, Cal., has won the championship of the meanest thief by stealing a pair of spectacles from an old lady who had kindly invited him to stay all night.

A California girl last week walked seven miles to horse-whip a fellow who had slandered her. She didn't find the fellow at home, but kicked his sister and returned home satisfied.

Eleven hundred persons own fifteen million acres of land in California—only thirteen thousand acres apiece! Poor fellows—how will they live, now that winter is coming on?

Messrs. Walker, Kummer and Trotter, were all at Eugene last week, and the Journal thinks that city was well "gatted." Relatives of those were down here, too, about earthquake time.

Salem last young men amuse themselves by driving across the track just as the cars are flying up to the crossing. Such foolishness as those will some day flourish a second class funeral.

The Governor of Washington Territory vetoed all the divorces granted by the Legislature last month. He sensibly holds that the courts are the proper tribunals to grant divorces. Bravo, Gov'or!

I. N. Miller and son, of Marion county, were out hunting the other day, when the son mistook his father for other game and shot him fatally. Mr. Miller died in a few hours after the accident.

At Port Canby they are fitting up a good shape, a free reading room, where young men can spend their time profitably and keep away from the saloons. The mills are running now on two-thirds time.

The woman Suffrage bill failed in the W. T. Legislature, and Mrs. Danway came back with her feathers drooping in deepest humiliation. She says she will "fetch it next time, or a revolution." Let 'er revolute!

The Walla Walla Union, speaking of the Yukina mines, says: A few hundred dollars in nuggets has been found, or at least is exhibited by parties in the mines, but all of this was found in one place, where there has been a slide into the creek. And there are many now who begin to doubt the genuineness of the "find," and think the ground was "salted," and that these nuggets were planted there.

There are rumors that the Mormons are preparing for an exodus from the Salt Lake region, and it is conjectured that they will seek their next earthly paradise in the Sandwich Islands or the isles of the South Pacific.

A man in San Francisco lately applied for a divorce on rather novel grounds. It seems that his wife's brother, whom he had not promised to love and cherish, insisted on living with him and "was eating him out of house and home."

The San Francisco Bulletin thinks that, "at the lowest estimate, and leaving furs, gold mines and agricultural resources out of the account, Alaska is worth more to the American people than any other of their Territories." What for?

In Hot Springs those who are not prosperous express it this wise: "I'm J. Cooked; I'm Graphoiced; I'm jinnammed, busted, suspended, played out, financially the worst treated and most unfortunate cuss of the can't pay class in the country."

At last advice, she was only a girl, but now she is a woman and hires at Pendleton, and attempted to melt the top off of a kerosene can the other day, by sitting it on the stove, without first ascertaining whether it was entirely empty. The doctors say she will recover.

A Salem young couple while out walking in the suburbs the other day got lost from each other in some way, and both ran fantastically and wildly through the bushes calling for "Lovey," "deary," "dair," etc. Several persons who overheard them suspect they are engaged.

W. H. Watkins, Superintendent of the Penitentiary, has gone to San Jose, Cal., where he will receive in custody the notorious Shultz, who escaped from the Oregon Penitentiary a couple of years ago. He was caught while working in a livery stable at San Jose.

Mrs. Chamberlain, a spiritual lecturer, last week gave a private lecture to the ladies at Olympia, in which the spirit of Mrs. Smithson controlled the lecturer. We really don't know who Mrs. Smithson is, but it is a relief to know that she is dead so that her spirit can control that other woman.

On Tuesday night of last week a man named Jas. Carlige, or "Scotch Jimmy," as he was sometimes called, was brutally murdered in his cabin on Blue creek, about twelve miles East of Walla Walla. When found he was lying in bed with an axe sticking in his head and a deep cut from some sharp instrument on the chin.

A LAUGHABLE INCIDENT.—During the fire at Chemeketa Hotel at Salem, Nov. 9, a very laughable incident occurred, in which one of the chief men of the Department played a prominent part. One line of hose was taken through the parlor window, so as to get at the fire in the second story. At last a cry came to "light upon the hose," when the aforesaid chief man laid to, and began to heave for dear life. The room was pretty full of smoke and not very light, and abutting the window frame from the floor to the ceiling, stood an immense mirror. As he tugged faithfully at the hose, he raised his eyes and beheld his reflection pulling in the opposite direction. He yelled at the fellow to let go, but he paid no attention. At last forbearance ceased to be a virtue, when he rushed at him with uplifted trumpet and came in contact with the mirror. His feelings can better be imagined than described. The joke is on him, and he is able to stand it.

GENERAL RYAN.—From eastern dispatches, we learn that Gen. Ryan, who was captured on the "Virginius" and executed by the Cuban authorities at Santiago de Cuba, was born in Toronto, Canada, in 1843; that he entered the volunteer army of the United States at Buffalo, New York, in 1862, as Lieutenant in the One Hundred and Thirty-seventh New York Infantry, and that after the war he went to Helena, Montana, where he was engaged in business for some time.

We trust Congress will not fail, at its coming session, to repeal the act abolishing the free delivery of papers in the county where they are published, and the free delivery of exchanges. If this thing isn't done we shall take special pains to frown down any Congressman who hereafter crosses our path.

THE BOSS TWEED, Tweed, has been sentenced to imprisonment in the New York City jail for twelve years and to pay a fine of $12,500. Really, New York is having a spasmodic attack of justice which we hope will not end with the punishment of Tweed.

AN exchange says an editor's position in a political campaign is like the sinner's under the old West-minster iron-clad dispensation:

"You can't and you can't; You will and you won't; You'll be damned if you do, You'll be damned if you don't."

THE majority for Taylor, Democratic candidate for Governor of Wisconsin is 15,411. The Democrats and Grangers have 17 majority in the Legislature.

The Spanish report shows that over one hundred of the Virginians people were executed.

Two additional iron-clads are to be sent from Berlin to the German fleet in Spanish waters.

In the Charleston Navy Yard 2,100 men are at work, and 1,300 in the Navy Yard at Washington.

There is increased activity in the Brooklyn Navy Yard; 2,000 men are at work, and six vessels are preparing for service.

Governor Osborne, of Kansas, has appointed Robert Crozier, of Leavenworth, as United States Senator, to fill Caldwell's vacancy.

A Washington special says that for the great majority of Congressmen arrived are opposed to running the country into war.

A concession to construct a railway from the Rio Grande frontier to the City of Mexico, thence to the Pacific, has been granted to a company of Mexicans.

Colonel Wm. H. Farrar, formerly United States Attorney at Portland, (Oregon), and of late years representing much Pacific Coast legal business at Washington, died on Friday.

The Spaniards claim that the Virginians was not an American vessel; that Ryan was not an American citizen, and that the vessel was in unlawful expedition at the time of capture.

Alexander H. Stephens, upon being interviewed, said: "I am for Cuba immediately, if not sooner." He thinks that a movement to take possession of Cuba will bring about a good feeling between the North and South.

A special to the London Times reports that a plot for the surrender of Cartagena proved a complete failure. Contreras has since been arrested by the Intriguents on suspicion of connivances with the conspirators.

The London Times says the demand for the surrender of the Virginians could not with justice be maintained, but that other demands reported to have been made on Spain by the United States are such as England might well join in.

Advices from San Domingo say General Manzanette and three other Generals have been shot by order of President Diaz. They were implicated in the recent revolutionary movements. Six other officers of high rank are now in prison on a similar charge.

Walter S. Grayson, a wealthy Creek farmer, living near Parsons, (Kansas), in the Indian Territory, was robbed on Friday last of over $30,000 in coin, by a band, who nearly killed Grayson by hanging, to force him to disclose the place where the money was hid.

Tom Allen and Tom Kelly have returned to Edwardsville. They have entered bonds of $5,000 each to appear for trial for participation in the prize-fight in Illinois last September.

Arthur Chambers, who was also taken to Edwardsville, is in jail there, unable to obtain bail.

Wm. Belge, a young lawyer, of Columbus (Ohio), hitherto regarded as an honest and upright fellow, was arrested on the 24th for forgery, having, it appears, committed a number of offenses.

Reports that violence had been offered by the Madrid populace to Gen. Siles are pronounced false. Gen. Castelar had a long conference to-day with Layard, British Minister, resulting in a favorable continuance of good relations. The idea of submitting the case of the Virginians to arbitration is most talked of. Should this course be agreed to, the German Emperor is indicated as the probable arbitrator.

Dispatches from Madrid agree in representing that the late interviews between Minister Siles and the Spanish authorities were of a stormy character. Siles barely escaped mobbing by the crowd which congregated in front of his residence. In consequence of these demonstrations he determined to leave Madrid, but the Government having dispersed the mob and since maintaining peace, he has resolved to remain.

Cole Gunting, a well known burglar, was taken out of the New York Penitentiary, where he has just completed six months' term, and is now up at the city police headquarters on a charge of complicity in the Nathan murder, preferred by John T. Irving. Irving implicated both Kelly and Gunting in the murder, by stating that the former killed Nathan, while Kelly and he were waiting in the house. It is also stated that Kelly is under arrest.

Tweed was sentenced on the 22d. Judge Davis addressed the prisoner at considerable length, reminding him of the enormity of his offenses and of the consciousness of his guilt. The several counts on which Tweed was found guilty were grouped together, and fifty-one distinct sentences imposed, making twenty years' imprisonment in the County Jail and a fine of $12,700. Tweed was afterward consigned to the Tombs by the Sheriff.

CONGRESS convenes next Monday, but stealing will not commence until about the middle of the week. It will take a few days for the members to get settled down and find a safe hiding place for their peif.

In one township in Anglia county, Ohio, not a Republican is to be found. They had one until last spring but he was promoted to the penitentiary for rape.

JOHN HIPPLE-MITCHELL.

In a correspondence to the Pittsburg (Pa.) Leader of November 4th, we find the following in relation to Oregon's notorious Senator:

Butler still loves to talk of its John M. Hipple, who has made such a sensation as a bigamous United States Senator from Oregon. It is the favorite subject of conversation by the fire side.

"John was a smart fellow, but a bad 'un," says nearly everybody. It has been the boast of Senator Mitchell-Hipple that in spite of all the scandalous facts that have come out about him, the people of his old home believe and trust in him. This is not so. I have taken pains to talk with the people here, and find that only a few lawyers, former friends of Hipple, have any sympathy for him what ever.

I discovered to-day another chapter in the dismal history of John Mitchell-Hipple. In an interview between Miss Sadie Hoon, at Franklin, with your correspondent, she said that her husband cruelly abused her during their married life.

I also discovered that the date of Hipple's divorce from his wife was not until 1863, instead of 1867. In 1862, after deserting the school-teacher with whom he ran away from Butler, he married a Miss Mattie E. Price. This would make him living in bigamy for several years.

In proof of all this, I have found the records of a case in the Criminal Court, where Mrs. Hipple had brought action against her husband for assault and battery. The information charged him with striking her and brutally abusing her. The case was not defended, but arranged by some sort of a compromise.

He can never be prosecuted against in Oregon for bigamy, as under the State laws there the statute of limitations has expired.

Mr. Hoon, father of the once Mrs. Hipple, lives near here, and is a most respectable farmer. He confirms his daughter's story in every particular. If the Senate want evidence it can be furnished them abundantly, and if the word of some of the leaders of the Senate is to be taken the Senatorial days of Mitchell-Hipple are already numbered.

FROM THE EVENING NEWS.

ANOTHER OF ITS LIES COME HOME.

Another of the Bulletin's falsehoods has returned, empty and profitless, to plague its inventor. That paper having published an anonymous letter stating that Mr. Brown, editor of the Star-Banner Democrat, belonged to the same company with the writer, in the army, and that he rejoiced over the hanging of Mrs. Surratt; that "we all did it," Mr. Brown replies that he was discharged from the military service, December 11, 1861; that he was never in it again; that Mrs. Surratt was executed on the 7th day of July, 1864; that Mr. Brown started across the plains on the 24th of the previous May, and was in the Rocky Mountains at the time of the execution—not hearing of the event until he reached Fort Halleck.

That the act was executed by the party with whom he traveled, and by himself—to prove the truth of which many references are given to persons living in Linn and other counties.

We don't remember events have seen one of the Bulletin's lies most fatally dealt with. It is a pity that the Bulletin is so full of lies.

Reports that violence had been offered by the Madrid populace to Gen. Siles are pronounced false. Gen.
