OFFICIAL PAPER FOR OREGON.

GRANT'S CONSISTENCY.

As an illustration of how the President's practices tally with his anti-Catholic utterances we will here cite a few instances which will be readily appreciated by Oregonians especially. At the Des Moines soldiers' reunion last fall he openly assailed the Catholics, charging them with being enemies to our free Government and our free schools, an in his late Message he took special pains to hurl a vicious stump speech at them, wherein he reiterated his Des Moines utterances in even broader language. But in what singular contrast with all these anti-Catholic bawlings is his course in making appointments in Oregon! Mem.—1st. He has recently appointed Major Connoyer, (Catholic,) Indian Agent at the Umatilla reservation, and turned over the Indian school there to the Catholic priests and teachers. 2d. A few months ago he appointed Dan. Malarkey, (Catholic,) U. S. Marshal for Oregon, vice Young, (anti-Catholic,) removed. 3rd. He also removed Henry Warren, (Baptist,) and appointed in his stead S. J. McCormick (Catholic) to be U. S. Pension Agent for Oregon. 4th. He has, even since the issuance of his last phillipic against the Catholics appointed P. B. Sinnott (Catholic) as Indian Agent at Grand Ronde Reservation, and a priest is Chaplain and spiritual director of the Indians there, while the Sisters have full control of the Indian schools.

We mention these facts with no intention to fight the Catholics, because we entertain no ill will towards them, but for the purpose of showing the utter emptiness and hollow mockery of Grant's anti-Catholic sentiments. The foregoing statements shew that one-half of the Federal patronage which he controls in Oregon is bestowed upon Catholics; while the remaining one-half is doled out among such eminent Christians (!) as Ben. Simpson, Ben. Underwod, Medorum Crawford, Harve Scott and One-Arm Brown!

What a sweet pink of consistency the Great Ulysses is to be sure! No wonder Bishop Haven and other Methodists want him in office again; he is doing so much for the propogation of the Protestant religion in the United States and is so persistently and effectively uprooting the Catholics! Out upon such accursed hypocrisy!

THE YOUNGEST MEMBER OF CONGRESS.

We find the following in the Washington correspondence of the Baltimore Gazette of the 29th ult.

"Lafayette Lane, of Oregon, the youngest Member of the present House of Representatives, is a son of General Joe Lane, who, in 1860, was a candidate on the Breckenridge ticket for Vice President. The General at present resides on his farm near Roseburg, Oregon, and, although nearly eighty years of age, is as vigorous, mentally and physically, as when he occupied a seat in the United States Senate. Lafayette Lane is a lawyer by profession, and previous to his election to Congress served a term in the Oregon Legislature. Two years ago he was selected to revise the code of that State—a task for which he was eminently qualified. Mr. Lane is said to be an eloquent speaker, and, possessing industrious habits, will no doubt prove a very useful and efficient Member."

An Effectual Tenderness.—Grant has now again sent to the Senate the appointment to be paymaster of one Maynadier, who was dropped out of the army in 1870, and whom the Senate at its last session would not confirm, pigeon-holing his nomination. Grant stubbornly persisted in his purpose of getting Maynadier back into the service, and appointing him again as soon as the session was over. Last Winter he reduced to suspension a sentence of dishonorable dismissal pronounced upon Commander Quackenbush of the navy, a fellow who had been once before dismissed for disgraceful conduct. These are two out of many instances of like sort since Grant came into power. The New York Sun says that he seems to have an especial tenderness for dismissed officers and a fondness for again clothing them with uniforms.

An Irish drummer, who now and then indulged in a noggin of right good potoen, was accosted by the reviewing general: "What makes your nose so red?" "Plase yer honor," replied Pat, "I always blush when I spake to a gineral officer."

A Dakota man went coon hunting, recently, and on coming home, mistook his wife's handbox for a stool and sat down on it. There were no harsh words, no tears, no upbraiding, she simply rapped him with a club.

Bishop Haven's offense, according to the Globe-Democrat, has no deeper heinousness than that, in the gush of superfluous enthusiasm, he made an ass of himself.

Charlie Ross is found again—this time at St. Albins, Vermont.

FIGURES TELL THE STORY.

The New York Evening Post sums it all up in comprehensive shape. Here are its reasons for economy, based on the comparative Government expenditures of 1860 and 1874:

	1874	1860
War Department	$42,319,927	$16,072,901
Navy Department	20,982,597	11,514,649
Civil Expenses	17,627,139	6,077,998
Miscellaneous	30,596,414	24,709,228
Indians	6,992,482	3,951,731
Pensions	29,038,414	1,100,802
Foreign Intercourse	1,826,084	1,146,143
Total	$170,613,063	$60,039,156
Interest on Debt	$107,119,815	$24,177,344
Population	41,000,000	31,443,321
Increase of Ordinary Expenditures	200 per cent.
Increase of Population	32 per cent.

The question will be immediately asked, by an anxious public, will the Democrats, if they are restored to power, do anything towards reducing these enormous expenditures. For answer we point them with pride to the new Democratic House of Representatives which has already commenced the good work, and gives promise of cutting down the expenses of the government to the tune of about forty millions a year. Mr. Randall, Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, sees his way clear enough already to save the forty millions, and it is probable that still more may be made. That will be good enough at any rate. Forty millions saved by one session of a Democratic Congress! when it has increased almost at the same rate by every session of a Radical Congress! At this rate of reduction a few years of Democratic rule in each Department would clear the country of debt, bring new life into the Republic, peace would reign and prosperity be general. And with this great end in view the people will restore that grand old party to power once more.

STANDING ARMIES.

The number of men at present maintained in the standing armies of civilized nations is not less than 3,000,000. All these are snatched away from useful industries and condemned to idleness and vicious life, while the laboring people are taxed for their support and the costly armament they require. The annual amount of the military and naval budgets of Europe is $396,963,000; the loss of labor involved by the withdrawal of so many men from productive industry costs $660,874,460; and the interest of capital interest in military and naval establishments amounts to $152,200,000. This makes a total of more than $1,400,000,000 taken every year from the people of Christendom for the maintenance of military establishments. But this is not all; for nearly as many more men are required to wait upon them in some form or other, and they, too, become consumers of the world's supply of food. The first effect of this is that the finances of nearly all European States are embarrassed. On the other hand, remarks the New York Sun, let us for a moment suppose that, by an understanding with the Great Powers, a disarming in the proportion of one-half was affected. Immediately more than 2,500,000 of men, from twenty to thirty-five years of age, constituting the flower of the population of that age, are restored to the labors of peace, and at once an annual saving of $640,000,000 is effected on the totality of European budgets—a sum which would pay off in twenty years all the European national debts.

WONDERFUL.

The Republican papers are calling attention to the fact that Mr. McPherson, late Clerk of the House, who had held the position for several years and disbursed a total of six millions of dollars, never misappropriated a dollar. So it seems that party have found a public official among their ranks who never stole anything, and their journals are making as much fuss over the matter as Jinx did over his wife's baby. Jinx declared he "didn't know how it got into the family, but that very circumstance made it a matter of greater wonder!"

Divorces.—San Francisco is becoming quite famous as a place for straightening out "crooked marriages." We learn from the Chronicle of last Sunday that during the past year 356 couples have been "disjuncted" by the courts of that city, and that about 200 couples more have asked to have the marital knot severed. As to how many more there are who wish they had never seen each other the Chronicle saith not, and the Lord only knows. The ratio of divorce suits to the number of marriages in that city is 1 to 3½. "Whither are we drifting" is a good conundrum for the people at the metropolis to answer. And yet if rumor is correct a Salem youngster, now in San Francisco, is anxious to be drifted out of matrimony.

The attitude of Europe toward Turkey reminds one of the old caricature in which the housewife is represented as coming into the poultry yard with the remark, "My dear chickens, I was just thinking whether I would have you served up roast or stewed." Whereupon the chickens respond: "But we don't want to be killed." "Ah! my dear chickens," says she, "you wander from the point."

Any thing Midas touched was turned to gold. These days touch a man with gold and he will turn to anything.

THE PEOPLE'S MONEY.

One of the very best signs of the times is the growing disposition of the people to look to their public interests, and especially to the manner of the disbursement of the public moneys. It is a good omen of improvement in all branches of government, and the banishment of waste and corruption. It is right that they should look carefully to these matters, and hold their public servants to a strict accountability. Under a system like ours, where every man has a personal interest in the conduct of governmental affairs, it is fatal to the general weal, for citizens to become careless and indifferent to matters which so nearly concern them.

The general demand for retrenchment, economy and reform should be strictly enforced, and the people should see to it that their treasure is guarded. Wastefulness and extravagance produce corruption, debt, and general demoralization, and each of these has its natural following of sorrow, depression and calamity.

The press of the country has, for some time past, been doing giant work in behalf of the people in this connection. Its fearless exposure of fraud and peculation and discussions of all proposed measures, have had a most salutory effect. Let the press keep the facts before the public, and let the people think and act upon them, and the country is safe.

THE MISSION OF THE HEBREW RACE.

The Hebrew race are supposed to number from 6,000,000 to 7,000,000, and the Hebrew Leader tells us that: "The Jews were ever a great race from the time they first became a nation, and it is as impossible to compute or approximate their numbers, looking back into Israel's antiquity when Teran and Abraham journeyed southward from Mesopotamia, as it is now. If, however, we bear in mind the old prophecy that the descendants of Abraham shall become as numerous as the stars of the heaven and the sands of the sea, we opine that the dimensions of Palestine would be found rather too limited, and hardly answering all requirements, but we doubt whether that land will ever become the home of Israel, despite tradition, for the very reason that they have strengthened in dispersion, and grown under the favorable auspices of civilization to become one of the most important and formidable people on the face of the globe, preserving a distinctive individuality, held together under the most trying and adverse circumstances by a faith firmer than Sinia's Mount from which it was promulgated."

A young lady of engaging personal appearance (says the Burlington Hawkeye,) who came here last week from Creston, recently announced that she was going to open a barber shop at North Hill. The very next day, which was yesterday, each married woman on North Hill surprised her husband, whose many virtues she had long known and admired, with a neat little present consisting of a razor, lather-brush and strap. And now, as oft as a North Hill man comes home the wife of his bosom puts her arm around his neck and rubs her downy cheek against his face, in all apparent innocence and affection, but if his cheek is smoother than when he went away from home in the morning she fans him with the rolling-pin until he has to wear his hat on whichever lump it will fit best.

A NEW MEDICAL INSTITUTE.

The "Oregon Medical Institute" was organized at Portland the other day, with Dr. Carpenter of Salem as Dean of the Faculty. We understand this new association expects to be adopted by the State University, having already secured promises to that effect from several of the Regents. The Faculty as published comprises some of the most eminent and successful doctors on the coast, and if the new institution succeeds in getting under the patronage of the State University it will far eclipse any other medical institute in Oregon. We wish it all success.

The End of the World.—A Russian paper announces that a belief in the approaching end of the world has siezed on the Cossacks of the Don. Many, especially aged people, are giving up their worldly affairs, wearing shrouds and ordering their coffins. On every road there are seen men repairing to Moscow to be consecrated priests, in order that the smallest village may have its own priests and church. The authorities are passive, hoping that the movement will die out of its own accord. It originated with the dissenters.

A Washington correspondent says that Pinchback, disgusted with the delay in the Senate, packed his carpet-bag the other night and started for Louisiana. His last words to a Southern friend were, "I'm going home to raise h—l." There is great demand for something of that sort in Louisiana, remarks the Cincinnati Enquirer. Peace has spread her white wings over that delightful section too long.

Charles O'Conner, with that unpleasant cynicism for which he is famous, ascribes his recovery to a careful and comprehensive disregard of his physician's instructions.

THE OLD LOG SCHOOL-HOUSE.

The Cleveland Leader invokes the people to rally around the old log school-house as they once did around the log cabin.—Des Moines Register.

This little item is of more importance than a first glance would warrant. It is of that detestible class of hurrah nonsense which hoisted old Tippecanoe and Abe Lincoln into the Presidential chair. As a class, the American people are fools, liable to be led off by some demagogue confidence man into any and all kinds of extravagance. Grant is now aiming to make himself the defender of the methodist faith and the protector of public schools while if his private history were known it would disclose that the brazen-faced ignoramus scarcely knows as much about the sciences or arts as a majority of the boys over sixteen years of age now attending our public schools. And as to his religious instincts or predilections, it is well known now, that his moral character would not stand for three days before an investigating committee of Plymouth Church, and this is saying a great deal.

But depend upon it, Grant and his henchmen are preparing for a campaign in which the "Old Log School-House" will play a prominent part. Grant is to be the central figure, the defender of the ancient aforesaid with a mob of catholic nuns and monks on the aggressive. And all this too in the face of the fact that the Democratic party has been the author of more public school systems in the several states than any other party which have existed in this country. The Democratic party is a party of education from necessity. Its life depends on civilization and its death will be preceded by barbarism.

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

August Schell of New York, Chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, gives notice that that body will meet at Washington, February 22d, the coming Anniversary of Washington's Birthday, to fix the time and place for holding the next Democratic National Convention, at which to nominate candidates for President and Vice President. A noble day for a patriotic purpose. But they had better not again select the big city of New York as the place at which to hold it. Even as Democrats and patriots, we may wisely remember and heed the prayer and admonition. "Lead us not into temptation." New York politicians are so very sedulous and seductive, too.—Portland Journal.

We heartily endorse that anti-New York proposition. It is our humble opinion that the National Democratic Convention for 1876 ought to be held somewhere in the "Great West"—among the free thinking, broad-gauge pioneers and honest laboring classes of the nation; and to this end we raise our ebene zer in favor of the beautiful city of St. Louis, the geographical center of the United States and the center of the Great Western Democracy.

It is Mary Murdoch Mason who divided her sex into three classes—the giddy butterflies, the busy bees and the women's righters. The first are pretty and silly, the second plain and useful, the third manish and odious. The first wearing a smile at you while waltzing; the second wear aprons and give you apple dumplings, and the third want your manly prerogatives, your dresscoat, your money and your vote.

That's The Lady.—Mrs. Hannah Storer, of Bowdoinham, Maine, was born July 4, 1776, about the time the "Liberty Bell" was ringing out the news of the great Declaration at Philadelphia. She is in good health and full of patriotism; and that's what's the matter with the venerable Hannah. Won't she feel gay her next birthday? Heaven spare her for it.

In Rawlins, Wyoming Territory, a new-comer went up to one of all the young ladies who were sitting on the gentleman's lap and, inviting her to dance the next set with him, was taking her away, when the "pard" from whose lap she rose pointed his revolver at the new-comer and said: "Stranger, sot her back, sot her back."

The venerable Mrs. Sarah J. Hale, says an exchange, co-editor of Godey's Lady Book for over forty years, and now in her eighty-fifth year, claims the authorship of "Mary Had a Little Lamb." She says she wrote it forty-six years ago, and published in a little book of "Poems for Our Children."

The editor of the Salem Statesman recently got "stuck on" an article headed "Whisky Trials." The head set him to thinking and he thunk and thunk. Then he exclaimed in a hoarse whisper as he rose from his seat, "that's me," and went out. What he went out for or where he went too is a matter of conjecture.

The Cincinnati Enquirer thinks that Eve must have been an unhappy woman. There was no other woman to pass her on the street that she might look round and see how that dress fitted in the back.

THE CENTENNIAL IN CONGRESS.

In the House, yesterday, in Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union, Hopkins of Pennsylvania, Chairman of the Select Committee on Centennial Celebration Appropriation, spoke in behalf of the bill. He said:

The National honor was involved in the success of the exhibition, and that there could be no extremity of financial distress that ought to cause an American Congress to falter in voting an appropriation to preserve the good name of the Government, as National unity was valueless without National honor. Referring to the National advantages of the celebration, he said that one of these would be to show that Southern people were neither Dukes of Alva nor Spanish inquisitors, but were men and brethren. The spirit of '76 would breathe its influence on the people, and under that influence all animosities and all angry memories would fade away. The passage of the pening bill, by the aid of those the sincerity of whose patriotism had been unjustly questioned, would conduce to that consummation devoutly to be wished.

Waddell of North Carolina followed in a speech, reported as follows:

If it was supposed that the irritating discussion of last week would have driven Southern men away from the support of this measure, he sincerely trusted that the result of the vote would only add another illustration to the many already given of how utterly impossible it is for some people to understand and appreciate the spirit that animates other people. He and his associates acquitted their Northern brethren of all responsibility for that discussion. They had understood fully, for it was transparent, the motive which underlaid the introduction of that subject, and, attaching to that motive its exact value, they simply looked down upon and passed by the whole subject. They wished the disturbers of the public peace to understand that, notwithstanding the spirit exhibited, they were too good patriots and too sincere men to allow that spirit either to control them or to serve as an example for them. They wished to maintain the honor and character of the American Union, and they would do so if they were allowed. One element in the House had not been heard from in that discussion, the element of Southern soldiers in the late war, of whom he was one. They had sat in silence and taken the fire which the gentleman from Maine [Blaine] had opened on them, with no other feeling than that of gratitude of having escaped from so terrible an enemy as he [Blaine] must have been during the battles of the late war. If, now, when that gentleman's hair was silvering, and his natural force perceptibly abating, he could develop such intensity of spirit, how must his plume have waved in the forefront of that conflict which had occurred at a time when he [Blaine] was young and strong and healthy. That element had not yet spoken. It could not be goaded into discussion; on the contrary, it had exhibited a spirit which he believed the American people would not soon forget. It met a storm of hate and persecution as the swan meets the billows with a breast of down. He knew some gentlemen who had been engaged in the same cause with him, who had not intended to vote for this measure before that discussion, but now intended to support it so as to set an example of patriotism. If there were any of them who still opposed this, he appealed to them to unite with him in doing an act which could only promote the honor and advance the interests of the country, and the peace and happiness of the people.

Sheakley of Pennsylvania, offered an amendment, that entrance to the Centennial grounds and buildings shall be free on the Fourth of July, and on Thursday of each week.

Wills of New York, opposed the bill as unconstitutional, and denied that the faith of the Government was pledged in the matter.

PORTLAND STANDARD.

Tony Noltner is out with his new paper with the above heading. It is a 32-column sheet, well printed and chock full of live, bristling Democratic literature of the Noltnerian style. Although new papers have recently popped up like corks in the Portland bailiwick, there must surely be a place among them for so excellent a journal as Bro. Noltner's, and we have no doubt that "long will float that Standard sheet."

Salem has recently received a valuable addition to her society in the persons of Dr. and Mrs. Henton, and their daughter Lilly, late of Oskaloosa, Iowa. We knew the Doctor long years ago, and are only sorry he didn't come 25 miles further south when he was hunting a location in Oregon.

Salem, Jan. 16.—The new and magnificent Court House in this city was brilliantly illuminated and densely packed last evening, celebrating the verdict of an honest jury in the case of W. T. Wythe, one of the Wilson heirs, against Marion county, for the recovery of the Court House and the ground belonging thereto. It was regarded by all the citizens as a dastardly blackmailing scheme, and since the commencement of the suit, public indignation has expressed itself in various ways. Last night speeches were made, songs composed for the occasion sung, and cannons brought out and fired. During the day every available flag in the city was displayed and the streets presented a holiday appearance. This puts a quietus on Salem land titles.

YOUNG MEN

Who may be suffering from the effect of youthful follies or indiscretion,—will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character whatever he undertakes and fails to cure. He would therefore say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the Doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill, or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave. Full course of treatment $25.00. Send money by Post Office order or Express with full description of case.

SAW MILL

FOR SALE OR RENT.

The undersigned offer for sale or rent their saw mill, situate on the Santiam river, about 7 miles above Lebanon. There are 400 acres of land which goes with the mill site, containing a full supply of the finest timber in the world, and surrounded by an inexhaustable amount of saw timber on adjacent lands. The mill runs a double circular saw and has the surest and safest mill power in the world. Logs can be floated either down the Santiam river or through the race for mules, so that there is never a want of saw timber at the mill. Terms low and liberal.

Lumber for Sale.—We also have now on hand and for sale at the mill about 250,000 feet of the very best of lumber. Our prices are the lowest sold in the State.
