WHAT HE HAD TO SAY .- "Prisone at the bar," said the Judge, "is there anything you wish to say before sentence is passed upon you?" The pris-oner looked wistfully toward the door, and remarked that he would like to say "good evening," if that would be agree-able to the company. But they wouldn't let him.—Hawkeye. then, calling the waiter, he deliber-ately said: "I'm from Memphis-have just recovered from the fever, and am very hungry. Bring me everything you've got." In about two seconds he ras alone at the table, and if he didn't get one good "square meal" it wasn't because the other boarders interfered with the onward march of his intrepid appetite.-Richmond State. Early in the week she was given a "go" in the face of a strong piercing wind, that drove all but the most robust men not more than 100,000 seals shall be killed in any year, and as the lease ex-tends over twenty years, and the com-pany expect to renew it at the end of that term, it is as much to their inter-est as that of the government to observe this condition. This present year the full number has been killed, but in 1876 and 1877 only 75,000 seals were caught each year, the reason being that the price of seal skins had become somewhat reduced. This year both the demand and price improved. There is no danger of killing off the seals He took his seat at the table and peered around at the rest of the board-ers with a haggard, half-starved look; then, calling the waiter he defined to be and the track, and trotted a mile in 2:22% a repetition of her performance several Sundays ago at Chester Park. Capt. Stone was for bringing her home after that performance; but Me. W Bair, her zealons and enthusiastic trainer, pleads i hard for a few days more in the Bine Grass region, expressing the numost confidence in his ability to frighten the people of Kentucky with the mare, if he could only strike a "good day and a good track." The Captain reluctantly consented to his remaining the rest of the week, and yesis no danger of killing off the scals under the system at present adopted, as care is taken to catch only the young males from 2 to 4 years of age. They terday being the last day of grace, annever kill a female seal, nor yet an old male, and as there are several million seals around these two islands - more ther "go" was given the mare. The onditions were not the best possible for a trial of speed, there being con-siderable wind, and the track being somewhat "cuppy." Still it was de-cided to let Mand show what she could than all other parts of the world combined-the reproduction is more than enough to perpetuate the stock. The company pays to the government yearly about $320,000, and this amount may be said to represent about all that Ahaska contributes to the United States. do. There were probably a hundred men on the track, many of whom held watches on the mare. The gentlemen who specially "held on her" in the who specially "held on her" in the judges stand were Gen. that our old friend Zach Chaudler is thinking seriously of religion. The grand old Michigander scorns any such insinuation. He considers thinking— as the Rejected Addresses make Byron —"An idle waste of thought." As for religion, Zach regards that as pertain-ing exclusively to the pulpit, and so long as he pays his pew rent he consid-ers it all right. We expect to meet old Zach in Heaven, on account of his many generous acts on earth. And then we are satisfied that if, on the great day of judgment, he will let off that speech about these British lion, the davil won't have him at any price.— Washington Capital.
