"THE STOLEN CHILD." My story is new about a boy, Who went into the woods to play, When he saw two men a coming, And he cried and they stole him away. When they took him away he eried That he hurt himself and died.

Now these men were very wicked When they stole that boy away, For he was harming nobody, Only out at play. And many a parent would weep for joy, If they could ever have found their boy.

If these men had been good They would not thought of that, It would have been more likely They would stole a cat. There has many a child been stole away, As Gracie Clark and Frankie Clay.
