THE Chinese restriction bill passed the Senate on a vote of 32 to 15. Ou of the 32 votes in favor of the bill twenty-five were Democrats and seven were Republicans. Nine Demo crats in favor of the bill were paired with nine Republicans opposed to it The fifteen votes against the bill were all cast by Republicans, making thir ty-feur Democrats and seven Republicans in favor of the bill, with 24 Republicans sgainet the bill; not a single Democrat voted against it. From the complexion of the vote the final passage of the restriction bill how can Republicans claim any credit for the triumph of Chinese restriction and is it not true, as Frank Pixley says, that the Republican party has forfeited its pledges made to the people on this question in so much as a majority of the Republican Senaters theve twice cast their votes against Chinese restriction, and the acting President has veteed the bill first passed by Democratic votes ? Does not the record conclusively show that the Democratic party has nobly stood by its pledges on this question and by its untiring energy have at last forced this issue to a successfu termination in Congress ?
