It is just as easy to praise an old woman as a young one, and it does old weman twice as much good.

We are told "the evening wore on," but we are never told what the evening wore on that occasion. Was it the close of a Summer's day?

There are some diseases that can be cured by laying on hands. For instance, a boy can be cured of the harmful prepensity to eat jam by a preper treatment in that line.

"I'm not in mourning," said a young lady frankly to a querist, "but as the widows are getting all the offers nowadays, we poor girls must do semething to pretect ourselves."

If birds of a feather flock together, why is it that the first dector who reaches a man who has fallen on the street has no sweet smile of welcome for the second who comes rushing up

A Zulu cannot marry a girl until he has whipped all her brothers and given her father an upset, if demanded, in addition. There is a great scratching around in Zululand to find only children and orphans.

"Why, Farmer Brown, you've been thinning out your grove, haven't you ! Your ash trees appear to be abundant, but your oaks and maples are all gene." "Yes, it's about so, Mr. Jones; I am literally reduced to ashes."

"I guess you must be better to-day, said Farmer Hedges to a sickly neighbor whem he tound rusticating in his strawberry patch. "Oh, I'm picking up a little," was the reply as the in valid bent over to gather in a red nug-

A little bit of a girl living near one of the cities ran into her mother from the roadside with some early Spring blooms in her hands, and, full of the cutaide glow, exclaimed : "Oh, mamma, how nice it is to live where somebody doesn't own everything."

"Dector," says the patient, meeting him on the street, "I want you to tell me what is the matter with me. When I wake up in the morning I feel dull-stupid as an idiot." "Humph And how did you feel when you went to bed the night before, eh?"

A fashion item says "old leather work is coming in vogue again." A front door the other night by her cruel of the fact. He prefers plush work. The impression is not so lasting.

A fameus choose maker ordered pictures of his product from a Paris photographer. On seeing the proof, which really was very bad, he said : "This won't do. Confound you, my cheese never looked like that." "Ab, sir," said the photographer, "but, you see, it moved."

"Young men," said a tiresome and instructive old muff to a group of apprentices, "young men should begin at the bettom of their business and work up." "I can't," responded one of them. "Why not ?" asked the eld muff, "Because I am a well-digger," answered the apprentice.

"Dila't you tell me, sir, you could hold the plaw ?" said a farmer to an Irishman whom he had taken on trial. "Arrah, be aisy now," said Pa: ; "how the deuce can I bould it and two horses diracing it away from me ! But give it to me into the barn, and he jabers I'll hould it with anybody."

Gilding with geld leaf is said to have been unknown prior to the twelfth century. Gilding with plates

DOG'S TOILETS IN PARIS.

There are 1,869 work people, male and female, who subsist in Paris by making personal decorations and habiliments for pet dogs or otherwise pay ing attention to the canine race. The trade done by them is estimated total of 4,000,000 to 6,000,000 francs, or nearly £250,000, that it may be easily guessed how great a commotion is caused among this section of society as often as the dog days comes around and the inflexible rules of the French police as to muzzling these animals are again put in force against their owners. The rage for dressing up canine pets has long prevailed in France to a much greater extent than on this side of the channel, and has assumed extravagant propertions. The Figure gives some examples of the most notable fash ions now to be observed among the fair owners. Almost every variety of deg has its own proper toilet, besides its own special toilet case containing the brushes, combs, sponges, and other appliances for enabling it to be washed and dressed. The ornaments suitable for a "boule-dogue" would be by no means fitting for a "lulu," nor does it follow that what would be admired en a "caniche" would be deemed in good taste for a "griffon." The latter, which is a long-haired and curly-haired dog much prized by all French women, is pitied and despised at this time of the year if he is not close shaven over the bedy, leaving the lion-like mane which looks so particularly ridiculous to the English eye. Smooth terriers, whe cannot be thus embelished or dis figured are often adorned with a little plain geld bracelet soldered above the forefoot and surmounted with a monogram; but it is essential that the leg eneircled with this metal should be the left and not the right. Rough terriers have, on the other hand, a cellar of bright metal, having a medallion or ful dentists built a large and handsome clasp upon it, sometimes with the photograph of the owner or of some parthe collar known as the "officier, with a colored ribbon-red or blue

THE GREAT NEED THOSE HAVE who are suffering from SEXUAL AND NERVOUS COMPLAINTS is a physician who can comprehend their allments and successfully treat them.

I am aware that by dwelling upon so uninviting a subject as the decay of sexual vigor the ignorant may asperse my motive but the desire to inform those who are suffering through ignorance, and who by carelessness or want of knowledge that a cure can be had, are not only hurrying themselves to an untimely grave, but giving sexual weakness as an inheritance to future generations, is too great an incentive to permit me to be silent.
