SILETZ INDIAN RESERVATION.

BENTON Co. Or., Nov. 6, 1882.

Editors Democrat:

DEAR SIR:—Wednesday evening,

6:30 o'clock, we were visited by a fearful fire, consuming the large three story boarding house, chapel and commmissary. The loss of property is considerable, the government stores and much of the furniture, bedding, etc., is saved. As soon as it was ascertained the fire could not be arrested, everybody worked with vim and purpose.

To the Indians is due much praise.

Miss Doty who had charge of the cullinary department looses heavily of clothing, etc., and Mrs. Taft, matron, looses considerable. It is a calamity upon us. We were at supper when we were aroused by the wild screams of the children—44 in number in the boarding house, we went out on our front porch and discovered the flames and smoke issuing from the roof near the chimney. A few moments were spent in the most strenuous efforts to building was wrapped in the devouring flames, and caught to the chapel, then the commissary. By the greatest exertion the house we live in was saved. Our bedding and plunder was moved out and such a mixture and mess of things as we had on the ground.

Our damage was considerable. It was raining quite hard most of the time.

Mrs. W. proved herself an heroine—indeed praise is due to all. The children's clothes were mostly lost. But they were all saved and nobody seriously hurt. We expect to continue the school but our preaching and evangelizing arrangements are seriously interfered with for the present. We are at a point in life when we can bring to our rescue, our faith in God and the consolations of religion. My health is improving somewhat.

Respectfully,

T. B. WHITE.

SWEET HOME ITEMS.

The Sweet Home debating society met last Saturday evening at the Grange hall and re-organized. Mr. L.

Lubker was elected chairman. The question for debate at the next meeting of the society is, Resolved, that women should not vote. The subject is one in which the ladies are not a little concerned at present, and no doubt the negative of the question will be ably defended.

Mrs. Kirkendall of this place has been very sick, but at present is better.

Mrs. J. Putman, has been quite sick also.

The surprise party mania has reached Sweet Home, and social dances are very frequent occurrences, too frequent,

'tis feared to be enjoyed by the older ones especially.

Some of the jolly boys of this valley thought they would tone up a little last Sunday. They called at J. Don-ax's store and procured four bottles of Dr. Henley's IXL bitters and commenced sampling. The actions of the young bloods soon gave overwhelming evidence of the stimulating qualities of Dr. H's compound.

Joseph Nixon, of Lebanon, left this place this morning with Mrs. J. Roselle and Mr. John Pickens. The lady and Mr. P. go under arrest to appear before the bar of justice at Lebanon.

Mr. Ben Morris is the boss nimirad of the valley. He killed a fine elk last week.

Mr. Al. Schwartz came down from Fish Lake yesterday; he reports considerable snow in the mountains.

OBSERVER.

THE GREAT FRENCH PORTRAIT PAINTER.

Bonnat, the famous French painter, is a solid and muscular man, with broad shoulders, a massive head, and strongly marked features. His dark hair is brushed back from a broad, high forehead, his black hair is only slightly marked with silver, and his black eyes sparkle with that vivacity peculiar to the Basques. He is neither a wit nor a brilliant talker, but is esteemed as a true friend and an excellent and amiable man. He is forced to put on full dress and appear in society every evening, the victim of his models. But he looks as if being socially victimized agreed with him. He has an elegant studio, the walls adorned with tapestry finances, a mantel in his own bust, by Chapp, between massive silver and gold candelabra. To the right is a dais covered with green cloth, on which stands a chair upholstered with blue velvet.

In that chair have been seated Thiers,

Hugo, Grevy, and French statesmen and American millionaires innumerable to have their counterfeit presentments placed on canvas by Bonnat's wonderful skill.—N. Y. Tribune.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says:

Mr. Charles Reis, No. 1611 Second

Canaleet avenue, this city, was cured by St. Jacobs Oil after sixteen years' suffering with rheumatism.

HUMOROUS MATTERS.

Never allow the fact to escape your notice that when the Lord made man he made two ears but only one tongue.

Sleep walking used to be considered a strange thing, but, since policemen do it and draw pay for it at the same time, the novelty has worn off.

Upon a writer claiming that his works contained much "food for thought," a friend remarked: "That may be so; but it is wretchedly cooked."

A north-country fishwife went to buy a dress. "None of your gaudy colors for me," she said at once to the man at the counter; "give me plain red and yellow."

You never knew how much water an umbrella is capable of containing until you accidentally stand it up against and on the pearl carpet that cost $5 per yard.

"Harry, you ought not to throw away nice bread like that; you may want it some day." "Well, mother, should I stand any better chance of getting it then, if I ate now?"

An officer in battle happening to bow, a cannon ball passed over his head, and took off the head of a soldier, who stood behind him. "You see," said he, "that a man never loses by politeness."

An agricultural fair is a horse race, with the exception of an address on farming that is made by the lawyer who gets his work in as a political candidate, though he knows nothing about the farm.

A medical man once told Voltaire that he had made one of his characters live too long after receiving a certain wound. "True," replied the wit, "but you should recollect he was not attended by a physician."

A lady put her watch under her pillow the other night, but couldn't keep it there, because it disturbed her sleep. And there all the time was her bed ticking right under her, and she never thought of it at all.

A quaint old minister was once asked what he thought of his two sons, who were both preachers.

"Well," he replied, "George has a better show in his shop window than John, but John has a larger stock in his warehouse."

A little boy went to a shop for some eggs. Before reaching home he dropped them. In answer to his mother, who asked, "Did you break any?" "No, I didn't break any," but the shells came off from some of them."

A small boy in Maine listened de-murely to the story of Samson's tying the fire-brands to the tails of foxes and then sending them through the Philistines' corn, at the conclusion of the narrative asked innocently,
