Railroad construction is the spring which has moved the machinery of preg ress in Oregon and Washington at such tremendous pace during the past year. It has brought great areas of new land within reach of market, and has supplied the money which has put them under cultivation; it has given to isolated towns the advantage of transportation, and carried new people and money es it has given new life and development, and a thousand new ones have come with it. Energy has gone along the iron rails, and slumbering resourses have been awakened everywhere by march of progress has been the

In advance of the western front a section of 71 miles is graded and will soon be ready for the ties This gop of 280 miles it is expected to close within six months, and it is in tended that through trains shall be running between Portland and Chicago by the first of July. Between this date and the first of July, the Northern Pa cific management intends to extend its line from Kalama to Portland. The Columbia river will be crossed a few miles above Kalama, and from the point of transfer on the Oregon side the line will closely follow the Columbia and Willamette rivers to Portland, This line will be 42 miles long. It is not proposed to bridge the Columbia river, at least not at present. The transfer will be made by boats built to transport trains. Two iren boats for this purpose are now being built in the East. They will be sent out in sections, and will be ready for service as soon as they are needed. In all its construction operations on its western divisions du ring the past year the Northern Pacific Company has expended upwards of $4. 000,000. The OREGON RAILWAY AND NAVIGATION COM-

Total.... 357 Of this mileage, four and a half miles of the Balles Junction and Riparia branch, 87 miles of the line between Portland and the Balles, and the whole of the line between Umatilla and Pendleton, 43 miles, have been built du ring the past twelve months-in all 1341 miles. In these operations upwards of $5,900,000 have been expended, and neither of these statements of mileage and disbursement include the rebuilding of about fifteen miles of road washed away by floods during the year. The line between The Dalles and The Cascades was opened in April, and the line from Portland to The Cascades November. The line from Umatilla to Pendleton is possibly what may be called the Pendleton, Baker City and Boise have been graded. The road will be put into Baker City or beyond during the coming year, and as soon as possible to Boise City to meet the Oregon Short Line. A branch connecting Walla Walla and Pendleton is now under construction, and will be completed early this year.

During the coming year it is proposed to extend the branch which now ends at Dayton, through the Tucannon and Pataha canyons to Pataha City, a distance of 37 miles; and eventually it apiece. will be further extended to Lawiston, I. CHESS LANGUAGE. Many of our chess readers do not ap near to know how to read chesy language. For their benefit we will briefly explain it. The place for the K is called K 1. The first place in front K 1 is K 2. The next is K 3, the next K 4, and so on until you go across the board to the last row. This applies to both K's alike. Queens, Bishops, Knights and Rooks are read in the same way. The Rook, Knight Bishop to the left of the Queen are called Q. R, Q. Kt, and Q B. Rook, Knight and Bishop to the right of the King are called K.R. K.Kt, and K B. This must be kept in mind so There has been no construction work that when you move a Rook, Knight

MAKING BOTH ENDS MEET.

This does not refer to Vander lilt or Jay Gould, or even the Ladd's or Cor bitt, or Lewis, or Failing, for they make both ends laps around each other an ionumerable number of times; but to the average man, who buffets life's billows for a living, and gets one With a majority of men the ends only just come together, and then by considerable pulling in the wrong place, and with many the ends do not begin to meet. There are probably half the people who have no property to pay taxes on, or if they have property their indebtedness exceeds the value of their jands, chattels, etc. They live from hand to mouth, what they get eithe? White to play and mate in three goes for necessaries or else at does not, and the latter is as apt to be the case

ple. Any person who does as well as he knows how is entitled to at least the sympathy of those around him. But the man, who has the ability, and notwithstanding will waste his money and energies in dissipation, or even extravagance does not deserve the good will of these around him. He fails to make both ends Imeet because the money which should go towards paying his honest debts is spent foolishly for something not needed. I can not imagine any meaner spirit in a man than that which prempts him to throw his money away when there are these about him who are honestly entitled te it. Sodom and Gemerrah are none too good places for such to reside in. I had rather be a dead cabbage than a dead beat, and that is what the man is who will neglect to pay what he owes when he can as well as not, money is not the only object in life; it is only a means for obtaining things ; but everyone should have an ambition to get enough shead to keep them straight with the world if not ahead. Let the ends lap, even if you have to live middling close in order to do it. I would rather be a rat with a cat at my heals than a debtor followed continually by a just creditor. In many cases there is no use of it. Contracting debt may be all right, depending on circumstances. Much of the business that is done is set in motion by it, but it should be for the purpose of placing a person on a firm foundation when he does balance accounts. Perhaps it is to be regretted that more are not in independent circumstances, but it is a fact that most are not, although many may want to be. Ends will continue to fail to meet as the big tail of the world wags on.
