

BRIEFS.

The Republican party is living right in the center of the cyclone belt.

A call has been made for a Pioneer's meeting to be held in Eugene City on June 4th.

If Dorsey is acquitted he and Ingersoll will spend their honeymoon at some Eastern watering place.

The Grand Lodge of Oregon, Knights of Pythias, will hold its next session at The Dalles, on June 5th.

An exchange says the first thing an Ohio man does when he becomes of age is to file an application for an office.

If Hannibal, surnamed Hamlin, has made application for Raum's vacant chair, the fact has not been made public.

Senator Fair behaved like a man in taking on himself all the blame of his quarrel with his wife.

Some timid soul has discovered that there is danger that Grant and Cinkling are going to turn Democrats.

We can see just one good reason why there may be less strife in the Republican party in the future than there has been in the past.

It is suggested that it would be a graceful compliment for Harvard to give Governor Butler his degree on a parchment made of a pauper's skin.

The city of Portland has issued bonds to the amount of twenty thousand dollars payable in twenty years.

Another Suez Canal is to be built. There were 600,000 sheep in Montana last year.

Freddy Gebhart is to marry Langtry. This is sad news.

Sidney Dillon says the Oregon short line will not be pushed.

Over 100,000 people crossed the new Brooklyn bridge in one day.

Becher's prayer for the Czar. This insures his long life.

Guiteau's bones have been mounted, and now everybody wants to see them.

The Czar of Russia has at last been crowned, and all the world reads with interest the story of the coronation.

The American Rifle Association soon leaves for England, where it will be warmly received.

In the billiard tournament in New York just ended, the prize was won by the following order: Daly, Wallace, Schaeffer, Vinsaux and Diot.

Notwithstanding the prevailing low rates of interest on money the banks of San Francisco have now on deposit $8,000,000 more than at the same time last year.

A dispatch says President Arthur ate his breakfast at a late hour the other morning. We publish this as a curiosity, and to show how late up the wires must get for business.

The Banking House of John C. Devenport, of Cheney, W. T., failed last Saturday. Liabilities, $75,000. The cashier says the assets, if properly handled, will pay dollar for dollar.

The American peace society, which recently met at Boston, elected Grant and Gladstone honorary members on account of their connection with the treaty of Washington. Annual reports speak of growing sentiment.

They have some spinny women in Illinois. They defeated a posse of armed men, tore up railroad tracks, and joining a body of strikers, proved themselves the most inviolable of the mob.

Richard Fowler, a blacksmith, was shot by Gallifant, proprietor of a meat market in Salt Lake City last Monday, while engaged in a dispute over the payment of a meat bill. Fowler died soon after from the effects of the wound.

Francis D. Moulton has struck a salt well near Warsaw, New York. The well is located on the Rochester and Pittsburgh railroad, midway between Warren and Leroy. It is the best well in the field. The salt was found at only 150 feet, taking just thirty-one days of constant drilling to reach it.

Two roads out of Chicago are having a fight. We wish they were in Oregon. Following are some of their rates: Peoria to Chicago, fifteen cents; Rock Island, fifteen cents; Des Moines, fifteen cents; Kansas City, fifteen cents; Atchison, Kan., fifteen cents; St. Joe, Mo., fifteen cents; Leavenworth, Kan., fifteen cents.

The czar's manifesto, says the N. Y. Herald, gives promise that his immense prerogative is capable of acts from which a parliament would shrink. His father set millions free with a word, and with a stroke of the pen may make that freedom something more than a name.

He has been saved from great peril, and will be blind indeed if he cannot read the lesson of his escape.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

No clearer and more definite statement of the tariff question could be made than is made in an article in the American Register, in which it warns its readers to let the distinction between a protective tariff and a revenue tariff never be forgotten or overlooked.

The main object of the former is protection, not revenue, while the main object of the latter is revenue, not protection.

With the former revenue is simply an incident, and where the protection becomes prohibitory no revenue at all is produced, while with the latter (a revenue tariff), protection can be afforded as an incident where necessary and proper and dictated by sound policy.

Under a revenue tariff productive industry and labor can be fostered, encouraged and protected, where necessary, and practicable without creating monopolies.

But a protective tariff being that which makes protection its chief object, gives unjust advantages to the few over the many, and creates monopolies. The protective tariff is the tariff of the Republican party and its leaders, while the revenue tariff is the tariff of the Democratic party.

Never forget to overlook this distinction well founded and grounded upon principle. The history of tariff legislation in Congress, from 1789 to the present time, shows this distinction. The opposition to the Democracy have always insisted on a protective tariff, while the tariff for revenue with merely incidental protection has always been the policy of the Democratic party.

And such was the doctrine of the leading Democrats in Congress up to the close of the last session. The Democracy has never at any time repudiated incidental protection or encouragement to domestic industry.

And the attempt, which has been made to exclude entirely from the Democratic platform the idea of incidental protection or encouragement to home productive industry has been, whether intentional or not, an attempt to keep the Republican party in power.

Mrs. A. E. Warner, graduate of the Royal medical college of Saxony, and daughter of a wealthy German land owner, von Stein, committed suicide at a Bowersy hotel last Monday. She had been disowned by marrying against the Wishes of her parents and it is supposed a lack of funds led to the act.

The $150,000 railroad subscription at Seattle includes two donations of $10,000 each, one of $8000, ten of $8000 each, ten of $2500, three of $2,000, one of $1500, ten of $1000, and thirty-nine of $500 each.

The people had to let of July to raise the money, but have come within the time two weeks.

The treasury reserve is down to $26,664,932, which is $12,500,000 below the 4 per cent. of the outstanding legal tenders.

Receipts for May, so far, have been $28,000,000; ordinary expenditures, $22,000,000, leaving an excess on the 29th of $6,000,000. The pension account for May having been deducted the balance from this time will probably improve.

Senator Condee of Chicago, the other day in the Senate, while certain nominations for Chicago justices of the peace were pending, made the assertion that Justice Prindivie, seeking renomination, was under the control of Chicago gamblers, and was the tool of Mike McDonald.

Yesterday Condee was accused by McDonald while walking the streets of Chicago, and after some words, the latter spat in the senator's face.

Brooklyn has had its bridge opening, Cincinnati its dramatic festival, Nashville its military tournament, Saratoga its religious anniversary, in Chicago the railroad exposition is under way, and now San Francisco is preparing to take her share in the municipal shows of the year by welcoming to her hospitality the triennial convolve Knights Templar.

About 10,000 knights will be in attendance, and it will cost the local lodges nearly $100,000.

A. Walcott, who arrived at San Francisco from Texas a few days ago, states that within the past six weeks a large number of people have started out from there for Oregon and Washington territory, where they will permanently locate.

Most of these have their own outfits, and will make their trip overland. A German colony which arrived in Texas late last year was about ready to start for Eastern Oregon, and another colony intends to settle near Seattle.

Dinah John, popularly known as "Aunt Dinah" throughout the State of New York, died at the Onondaga Indian reservation, aged 109 years.

Aunt Dinah was married to Thomas John early in the present century. Thomas was a warrior in Captain Cole's company of New York militia, in the war of 1812.

He went with a company as cook. The couple served throughout the war. Aunt Dinah drew a pension for about fifty years. She was nurse to ex-Gov. Horatio Seymour at his birth.

A fendish plot to destroy a whole family is reported from the town of Nelson, Illinois. Friday night ropes were tied to all the door knobs of the house of Mr. Boyd, and then lashed to trees in the yard.

Coal oil was then poured on and around the foundation of the dwelling and fired near the main house. Boyd was awakened by the noise of the flames, and luckily was able to burst open the doors, and with his wife and several children rushed through the flames without harm, but the escape from a terrible death was a very narrow one.

It is not known by whom or for what reason the devilish deed was committed.

The people of Georgia, according to local papers, are so united in reproaching Chinese as residents that no bill of indictment can be found against men who assault them, and destroy their property.

A party of men drove out a small colony of Chinese that had settled near Waynesboro, and destroyed their poor buildings. The Chinese minister invoked the general government and the Chinese had the matter brought into local courts, both on civil and criminal processes.

The grand jury has refused to render any bill against the persons implicated in the riot, and a Waynesboro dispatch says this action is heartily approved by the people, whose sympathies have been entirely with the young men in their troubles.

Alexander Sullivan, president of the Irish national league of America, says letters received from all parts of the country give evidence of the hearty cooperation of Irishmen to an extent beyond the most sanguine expectations. Societies already have affiliated which never before were connected with a national movement, and none of those before connected have withdrawn their cooperation.

In his opinion the Irish people throughout the country never before were so strongly united. Within thirty days he predicts the national league in Chicago will include a greater membership than ever before got together here under one organization, and that the same will apply elsewhere to the league.

Since any one man could be the first to cross as a paying parlor of the bridge from the New York side, there was another first to be contended for by the crowd. As an eager competitor, for an example, Victor Lutz was the first Brooklyn man to cross, and as he was the first man to go from one end of the structure to the other, as a paying passenger, he disputes with the New York pioneer the right of primacy in crossing.

There was the first couple, the first double carriage, the first baby, the first colored person, the first leaver, the first beggar, the first drunken man, the first haggler, the first pair of lovers, the first policeman and the first dude. All these have achieved their best deeds here, and have earned the right to receive a diploma or certificate which may hereafter be issued.

CORRESPONDENCE.

BROWNVILLE ITEMS.

Brownville, Or., May 30, 1883. Eds. Democrat: Hon. J. K. Weatherford and Judge Finn of your city paid our town a flying visit last week.

We do not know whether for pleasure or on business, but judging from the way they eyed things around the factory, they probably had "Woolen Mills" on the brain.

Quite a number of the Masonic fraternity went up from this place on Monday to attend the funeral of Hon. I. H. Smith, who was buried by that fraternity at the Harrisburg Masonic Cemetery.

Crops generally between this point and Harrisburg look very well, and with a fair season from now on, will yield a bountiful harvest.

Mr. J. B. Nichols, of Princeton, reached here Monday evening from that place, and having become tired of suffering "the aches and pains" of outrageous fortune, etc., concluded "to end them," and accordingly soon after reaching the Wilson House, where his wife was stopping, took a dose from a vial supplied to be laudanum.

Dr. Starr and Shafer were called in, and either through their skill or the weakness of the drug, he failed in his endeavor, and next morning was again in his right mind.

C. P. Bishop and family of Crawfordville are visiting friends and relatives here. Charlie is a jolly good fellow, and is always welcome.

Mr. W. R. Bishop, book-keeper of the Brownville Woolen Mills, at Portland, paid us a visit, and also spent Saturday and Sunday night with his relatives and numerous friends here. He left on Sunday morning for Lebanon, so as to take the express for Portland Monday morning.

Fred Smith, non-in-law of Dr. Crawford, left with his family yesterday for Portland where he goes to make his future home. We lose a good citizen.

Mr. Geo. Young, of Albany, who has been here for several days with his outfit, moving houses around, left for home on yesterday.

Mr. Miller, also of Albany, came up here on Saturday and brought a very fine cart for Mr. Thos. Kay, which he had made for him to order.

PHILADELPHIA ITEMS.

Oakville, Or., May 29, 1883. Eds. Democrat: As I am a reader of your paper I am well pleased to see so many writings for it, which makes it interesting to us farmers. Nothing pleases me better than to get the news from all over the country. I thought if I only was calculated to fill the bill of a correspondent, I certainly would be pleased to do so.

I will say that there never has been a more healthy Spring than this, to my knowledge, in this part of the country. Farmers are nearly done seeding, and the prospects for an abundant harvest are promising.

We think that we will have enough wild oats to seed.

Our school is progressing finely under the skillful management of our efficient teacher, Miss E. Alphin.

The contract for building the M. E. Church was let on the ground, the 24th. There were five bids, the lowest being $1,250. by J. Black, of Soap creek. The building is to be finished by the first of October.

The United Brethren will hold a camp-meeting on Muddy creek, commencing June 1, 1883.

There is some talk of a picnic in the coming month.

We believe we can say with safety that we have one among the best neighborhoods in Oregon; no fanning or backbiting.

We have a fine Sabbath School; numbering 70 scholars. We have church every Sunday, conducted by the U. P. denomination.

OAKVILLE.

HALSBY ITEMS.

Halsby, Or., May 27, 1883. Eds. Democrat: Seeing that you have no correspondence from this vicinity, I thought I would take the privilege of penning you a few items which may be of some interest to your many readers.

The weather is fine and warm here now, and the prospect for a bountiful harvest is encouraging.

Most every one is through putting in their gardens, and most of them are up and looking fine.

All the farmers that have very much summer plowing to do, are praying nearly every night and day for it to rain, for the land is too dry already to plow good.

All your merchants that have any canned fruit on hand, get rid of it as soon as possible, for the green will soon be in demand.

The Halsby and Oak Plain schools are progressing finely.

The people of Halsby amuse themselves by sitting around playing with their fingers, but preaching is their amusement for Sunday.

My piece is short, but though 'tis good; But to be a reporter I never could; I take and send the items to you, but I always try to do the best I can. I'm like the wind when it has the leaves; I come and go whenever I choose; My name is right plainly on plain as can be; And never will you know the right name for the one.

Good for babies. With a baby at breast nothing is so useful for quieting my own and baby's nerves as Parker's Ginger Tonic. It prevents bowel complaints, and is better than any stimulant to give strength and appetite. A Newark Mother.

Remember This. If you are sick Hop Bitters will surely aid Nature in making you well when all else fails.

If you are costive or dyspeptic, or are suffering from any other of the numerous diseases of the stomach or bowels, it is your own fault if you resist the aid of Hop Bitters, a sovereign remedy in all such complaints.

If you are wasting away with any form of kidney disease, stop tampering with death this moment, and turn for a cure to Hop Bitters.

If you are sick with that terrible sickness nervousness, you will find a "Balm in Gilead" in the use of Hop Bitters.

If you are a frequenter, or a resident of a miasmatic district, barricade your system against the scourge of all countries—malaria, epidemic, bilious and intermittent fevers—by the use of Hop Bitters.

If you have rough, pimply, or scabby skin, had breath, pains and aches, and feel miserable generally, Hop Bitters will give you fair skin, rich blood, and sweet breath, health, and contentment.

In short they cure all diseases of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver, nerves, kidneys, bright's disease. $500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help.

That poor, bedridden, invalid wife, sister, mother, or daughter, can be restored to health, by a few bottles of Hop Bitters, costing but a trifle. Will you let them suffer?

Horse back riding is being indulged in to a limited extent, in this city, but not so much as it deserves to be.

1000 Acres of Land for Sale.

One farm of 300 acres very desirable. One farm of 125 acres. One tract of 160 acres of wild land. One tract of 80 acres. One tract of 70 acres. One tract of 135 acres, and other small tracts. Will sell in lots to suit purchasers. Will trade for other property. Call at this office.

A MOVE IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

Sodaville Springs Mineral Water. The undersigned takes pleasure in calling the attention of the public to this most valuable mineral water and the most attractive and accessible.

SUMMER RESORT.

Following are the constituents of this water as ascertained by the analysis by a class in Chemistry of the State Agricultural College at Corvallis: Carbonic acid, silicic acid, phosphoric acid, magnesian chloride, iron, sodium and potassium. A full analysis by an eminent chemist of Boston also reveals the presence of iodine, bromine and lithia.

On and after the 10th of May.

A DAILY STAGE LINE.

Will be run from the City of Albany, via Lebanon to Sodaville where these valuable Mineral Springs are located.

HEALTH AND PLEASURE SEEKERS.

Will find this resort the most desirable place on the Pacific Coast to spend the warm Summer months.

KIDNEY WORT.

ALMOST AS BAD. What the Periphrastic Physician do in Cases of Emergency. "Will you give the honest truth," answered the doctor, "I have known hundreds of cases of this kind as badly as you are. Having passed a certain stage, both point straight to eternity. It may be unprofessional to let out the secret, but whenever a person comes to me with Bright's Disease, or any kidney trouble, I will tell him in plain English, and he can decide for himself whether to take my medicine or not."
