WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, May 25, 1883 Notwithstanding the fact that Washington has been deserted this week by the Administration, the ship of state sails smoothly on. Several of the Cabinet officers are seeking recreation, fishing, or attending to duties elsewhere, and others acconpanied President Arthur to New York to attend the ceremonies of the openng of the East River Bridge. President has been sick since he left this city, and indeed his general health is poor in spite of his well-fed appearance. He chafes under irksome cares of office, and longs for release from his wearing responsibili ties. His intimate friends say he is not a candidate for re-election, and would under no circumstances ngain b. President.
