Last Monday afternoon a very curious horse drowning case occurred at the ferry in this city. The team of Mr Phillip Williamson, which had been left standing in front of Best & Althouse's near the river, started on a walk towards the ferry. Going down the steep descent they started on a trot, and arriving at the river, being unable to stop, and no one being present to' check them, they plunged in. The pulled them down the river, or they would twenty hours, and were discharged. probably have been able to swim across, Mr Brown sprinkled the streets for the stream, the near horse struck bottom, storm, though not quite as general. the other side assistance could not be got- the DEMOCRAY.
