WASHINGTON LETTER

(From our regular correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, June 14th, 1884.
The question of the final time for the adjournment of Congress is still unanswered. The House voted to pack its trunks on the 30th, day of this month, but the Senate is likely to say, No! Impossible.

The appropriation bill is under dispute between the two Houses, as far from being settled as ever, and to their number has been added the Consular and Diplomatic bill, with nearly a million dollars difference of opinion. The House, it is thought, will not agree to any increase of bills, and the only chance for an early settlement of the matter is in the Senate yielding promptly.

The Senate is now trying to Pension and not to Pension the Mexican veterans; and the great River and Harbor bill is struggling through the House with many mutilations. Of course every Member thinks his District worthy of Government aid, but the hopes of many, who thought to ride back to Congress on the tide of having secured an appropriation here were voted down. Representative Hewitt of New York, and Ochiltree of Texas astonished the world by departing from the course heretofore followed in a river and harbor bill debate. Mr. Hewitt moved to reduce the appropriation for the improvement of Hell Gate from $300,000, to $50,000, and Mr. Ochiltree asked that the entire appropriation of $250,000, for deepening the Galveston harbor be stricken out of the bill. This last instance of disinterestedness was afterwards hinted to be the outgrowth of a deep laid plan, namely; that Galveston wants Congress to transfer the work of her harbors channel to Capt. Eads, who mediates another jolly party.

Senator Bee' asked to have passed a general bill removing political disabilities; but, twenty years after the war, the Republican Senate is still unwilling to do so. The Senator from Kentucky mentioned that the Vice President of the Southern Confederacy has sat in the other end of the Capital, and that many other persons distinguished in the Confederacy had had their disabilities removed. Still Congress was peddling out the removal of disabilities to persons who were boys when they entered the Confederate Army.

Brigadier General Swain is to be court-martialed for a series of transactions discreditable to an Army officer.
The record of the Court of Inquiry in his case has developed still another Republican scandal, and compelled the order for another court-martial.
This last is in the case of Col. Morrow, who has duplicated, triplicated, and even quadruplicated his pay accounts.
It would have been better for the Republican party if it could have managed to keep these skeletons in the closet until after the November elections.

The Democrats are beginning the campaign in the House of Representatives on a civil service basis that will cripple the Republicans by cutting off their campaign fund. When the Deficiency bill comes up they intend to offer an amendment to the effect that no officer, clerk, or employe of the United States shall give money for any political object whatever, under penalty of fine or imprisonment. When Chairman Randall read this amendment in his committee, it provoked a lively discussion, and considerable opposition from the Republican Members.

Senator Lapham yesterday offered in the Senate a resolution which was agreed to, ordering the reprinting of the testimony and the committee reports of the Danville investigation.
This can be done for no other possible purpose than that of wasting public money. It can have no other outcome.

Mr. Tilden's letter of withdrawal from the campaign was the general topic of conversation at the Capitol today. A few Democrats still cling to the idea that he can yet be prevailed upon to accept the nomination, but the question that almost every Democrat addressed to a political associate was, "Now whom shall we nominate?"

Mr. Tilden's declination was a surprise, and a shock to many Democratic Congressmen, who had believed there was no impediment in the way of the old triumphant ticket.

The National Democratic Convention will make no mistake if it selects either Cleveland, Bayard, McDonald, Thurman, Carlisle, or a dozen others of the famous Democrats named.

It is amusing to see the pilgrims of journalism plying into George W.
Curtis, the New York Times, the Springfield Republican and the scores of other journals and journalists who bolt Blaine.

A locomotive engineer, who had just been discharged for some cause given to his spite by saying that it was about time he left the company anyhow, for the sake of his life, for "there was nothing left of the track but two streaks of rust and the right of way."

THE OREGON STATE FAIR.

The twenty-fourth annual fair of the Oregon State Agricultural Society will be held at the Fair grounds, near Salem, commencing on Monday, September 15th, and continuing until Saturday following. At the annual meeting of the Board of Managers, held in December, 1883, several important changes were made in the premium list, the premiums being in several instances increased over last year. In addition to the liberal premiums offered for the fair this year by the society, Messrs.
Kennedy and Smith, of Gervais, offer special premiums for two best "colts of all work," "get of Robin Hood" for 1884, 1st premium $30, second premium $20. W. R. Cunningham, Esq., of Sacramento, Cal., offers special premiums as follows: For get of "Tornado and Bonaparte," foals of spring of 1884, exhibited at the Oregon State Fair of 1884. First premium $35; second premium $25; third premium $17.50; fourth premium $12.50; 5th premium $10. Mr. Delos Jefferson, of Salem, was designated sup't of special committees to pass on the merits of the colts competing for these premiums.
The fine exhibits made by several counties at the last State Fair was one of the best features of the Fair and the Board of Managers offer this year to the counties making the best display of "farm products," "fruits" and "garden products," in divisions E. M. and N. respectively of the premium list—first premium, diploma; second premium, silver medal.

This feature of the fair, if taken hold of as it should and no doubt will be, will be of special interest to visitors from abroad who will be attracted to the fair for the purpose of gaining information, and seeing for themselves what our State is capable of doing in its agricultural development; Wasco, Jackson, Douglas, and the valley counties can easily make exhibits in these departments that cannot be excelled by any State in the Union.

Many new premiums have been added to the ladies' departments and there will doubtless be a finer exhibition in these departments this year than at any previous fair.

Special premiums, $20 first and $10 second, are offered in each class in division B, cattle, for the best herd of five animals, to consist of one bull and four cows or heifers of any age. These, in addition to liberal premiums offered as usual in this division, will bring together the finest exhibit of cattle ever seen at the State fair.

In the speed department, this year the society offers the sum of three thousand two hundred and fifty dollars in premiums. Already the races advertised in the speed program are filled by the finest field of trotters and running horses ever entered in the trials of speed at the annual fairs of the society.
The society has secured membership in the National Trotting Association for the year 1884 and 1885, and the public is certain to have the pleasure of witnessing trials for blood, and exact justice to all contestants.

The prices of admission remain the same, or nearly so as last year. Season tickets for members of the society and campers at the fair $2, season tickets for ladies $1; girls and boys under 12 years of age free; day ticket for men $1; ladies and boys 50.

In order to correct abuses in license privileges, and the impositions that have been increasing from year to year in the past, the Board of Managers took the following decisive action: Relative to the forthcoming fair, viz:

Resolved, "That no licenses shall be granted by this society at the next State fair for the sale of spirituous liquors."

granted for the operation of any gambling device prohibited by the statutes of Oregon. And resolved, further, that all parties attempting to violate the laws of this State at the annual fairs held by this association, we will endeavor to have prosecuted by the proper authorities."

The above will be rigidly enforced.
No effort will be spared to make the fair of 1884 a complete success. We therefore urge renewed interest by former patrons of the fair in bringing forward exhibits in every department, and to all who desire to encourage the society in advancing the agricultural, mechanical, and other industrial interests of our State to cooperate with the society in making a grand exhibition this year.
Let every county take hold of this matter and make a showing that shall reflect great credit on the enterprise of its citizens. With such united effort, success will be assured.

Secretary O. S. A. S.

TEMPERANCE DEPARTMENT.

EDITED BY THE Women's Christian Temperance Union
Soc. June 23rd, 1884.

I had half forgotten my promise to write and inform you of our prospects as a W. C. T. U., and a sort of daughter of your Union.

Since our organization in April we have had no additions, although some promises of aid in the future, and owing to illness and absence we members have never all been in attendance only at one meeting. Still we are in no sense discouraged, although we see more work to be done than we can undertake all at once. We are trying now to have the laws enforced in regard to minors frequenting the saloons, as now small boys even are in and out without let or hindrance, and having the saloon closed on Sunday, as that law evidently is not enforced. Many good citizens look at the subject as we do, and we expect our city council to take some action at its next meeting.

The Fourth of July is to be celebrated here, and we propose to have a stand on the picnic grounds where we will dispense hot coffee, lemonade, sandwiches, cake, etc., for reasonable prices, hoping by this means to lessen the demand for strong beverages, circulate temperance literature, and also make something for our treasury, so that we can send for temperance lecturers and literature to aid us in our efforts, for we naturally dislike to beg and means we must have.

We have our trials of course, but we are trying to be patient, and with faith in the ultimate success of our cause, above all reliance on God, we need not fear, but still pray that we may be counted as "laborers."

Quite a number of us want to come over to hear Mrs. Foster's lecture, and will if we can manage it. It seems to me that you might possibly reserve a few seats for us, so that we might not be crowded into a back corner after taking a long ride, but perhaps this is asking too much. Thanks for your interest in us, and will write again before long.

Mrs. E. E. PENTLAND, Cor. Sec. W. C. T. U.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION, SEATTLE, W. T.

About twenty delegates reported at the convention, which opened yesterday forenoon. This number was largely augmented by members of the local Union. Mrs. Margaret Le Sourd of Olympia, President of the Western Washington Division, led the devotional exercises. After prayer and roll call of officers and delegates, Mrs. A.
T. Barrell, as Recording Secretary, made the annual report.

The report of the Organizer, Prof.
Mattie L. Hansen, showed that during the year Unions were established at Seattle, Coupeville, Sequim, Ferndale, Anacortes, Whatcom, Oak Harbor and White River. The Union at the latter place was effected under the auspices of Mrs. L. V. Ward. Many other places will receive teatation in the near future.

Mr. Rinner, Supt. of Press Dept., reported. In the list of Western Washington newspapers we find several avid advocates of temperance. The Clark County Register of Vancover, Standard of Olympia, Mirror of Seattle, Skagit News, Washington Farmer and Lewis County Nugget. There are others leaning very strongly toward temperance, important among which we may mention the Port Townsend Argus, Tacoma News and Post Intelligencer, and Chronicle of Seattle. I feel certain there are others I should place in this list, but I have not the data by which to give their names. We would bespeak for each of your temperance papers a better patronage, as they deserve at the hands of our Christian and Temperance communities. Let us labor the coming year to secure as a recognition of merit a large and paying subscription list for this class of papers.

A report from Supt. Juvenile Work followed. This report was full and comprehensive, showing that a great deal of stress is to be given to the correct information imparted to the little ones. It was shown that a vast amount of good would result from a generation of good temperance children.

The report of the Superintendent on Temperance Literature was submitted by Miss C. M. White of Fidalgo. She claimed her department to be one of the most important, and said it occupied the broadest field. "This temperance education of the public and the young is the foundation, yes, the corner stone upon which we build, if we build successfully." She spoke of the importance of newspapers, and asked for more temperance news to make its appearance. "Therefore give them some of the startling facts of temperance, if possible, and let every pronounced temperance paper have the hearty support of all workers."

After this excellent report was discussed and adopted, Mrs. E. G. Johnson

THE STAG-DRIVER'S STORY.

New General Scott's Life was Saved and How His Driver Twice Escaped Death.

The traveler of the present day, as he is hurried along by the lightning express, in its buffet cars and palace sleepers, seldom reverts in thought to the time when stage coach and packet were the only means of communication between distant points. It is rare that one of the real old-time stage drivers is met with now-a-days and when the writer recently ran across Fayette Haskell, of Lookport, N. Y., he felt like a bibliographer. The only remedy was to some rare volume of "forgotten lore." Mr. Haskell, although one of the pioneers in stage driving (he formerly ran from Lewiston to Niagara Falls and Buffalo), is hale and hearty and bids fair to live for many years. The strange stories of his early adventures would fill a volume. At one time when going down a mountain near Lewiston with no less a personage than General Scott as passenger, the brakes gave way and the coach came on the heels of the wheel horses. The only remedy was to whip the leaders to a gallop. Gaining additional momentum with each revolution of the wheels the coach awayed and pitched down the mountain in side and into the streets of Lewiston.
Straight ahead at the foot of the steep hill flowed the Niagara river, towards which the four horses dashed, apparently to certain death. Yet the firm hand never relaxed its hold nor the clear brain its conception of what must be done in the emergency. On dashed the horses until the narrow track was reached on the river bank, when by a masterly exhibition of nerve and daring the coach was turned in scarce its own length and the horses brought to a stand still before the pale lookers-on could realize what had occurred. A pursue was raised by General Scott and presented to Mr. Haskell with high compliments for his skill and bravery.

Notwithstanding all his strength and his robust constitution the strain of continuous work and exposure proved too much for Mr. Haskell's constitution.
The constant jolting of the coach and the necessarily cramped position in which he was obliged to sit, contributed to this end, and at times he was obliged to abandon driving altogether.

Speaking of this period he said:
"I found it almost impossible to sleep at night; my appetite left me entirely and I had a tired feeling which I never knew before and could not account for."
"Did you give up driving entirely?" "No. I tried to keep up but it was only with the greatest effort. This state of things continued for nearly twenty years until last October when I went all to pieces."

"Oh, I doubled all up; could not walk without a cane and was incapable of any effort or exertion. I had a constant desire to urinate both day and night and although I felt like passing a pailon every ten minutes only a few drops could escape and they thick with sediment. Finally it ceased to flow entirely and I thought death was very near."

"What did you do then?"
"What I should have done long before: listen to my wife. Under her advice I began a new treatment."
"Wonderful! It unstopped the closed passages and what was still more wonderful regulated the flow. The sediment vanished; my appetite returned and I am now well and good for twenty more years wholly through the aid of Warner's Safe Cure that has done wonders for me as well as for so many others."

Mr. Haskell's experience is repeated every day in the lives of thousands of American men and women. An unknown evil is undermining the existence of an innumerable number who do not realize the danger they are in until health has entirely departed and death perhaps stares them in the face. To neglect such important matters is like drifting in the current of Niagara above the Falls.

It has been claimed for Blaine, as heretofore stated, that he will get some of the Irish votes on the ground of his friendship for Ireland. The Democratic Campaign Committee will meet this by printing the records of the cases of some of the Irish suspects who were, though American citizens, imprisoned by England. A speech delivered by Senator Voorhees on the subject of the imprisonment and detention of Mr. McSweeney, for many years a resident of San Francisco, and who was imprisoned for a long time, is to be printed. The point to be made is that Blaine was Secretary of State for six months, just succeeding the arrest of McSweeney, and that he did not even answer appeals in behalf of the man.
