TEMPERANCE DEPARTMENT.
EDITED BY THE
Women's Christian Temperance Union
The W. C. T. U. meets on the 1st and 3rd Tuesday of each month at 3 o'clock p. m. at the A. O. U. W. Hall, over French's Jewelry Store.
We clip the following from the Oregonian of Nov. 15th:
"The Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union will open their educational classes at their rooms, in the old central school building, Sixth street, between Morrison and Alder, this evening, at 7:30 o'clock, at which time they will be pleased to meet any young ladies who wish to avail themselves of these privileges. It is the aim and desire of those undertaking this work to make the meetings both interesting and instructive."
This certainly shows praise-worthy effort on the part of the young ladies, and as just such instruction is greatly needed in Portland we have no doubt their work will be fully appreciated.
The meeting of the Temperance Alliance, recently held at Brownsville, was a most successful one. We hope to hear of good results following.
CONVENTION NOTES.
The National Convention proper closed Wednesday night. Miss Willard was re-elected President by a vote of 251, Mrs. Aldrich 26. The other officers were elected with a like unanimity.
Scientific Temperance Instruction drew more attention than any other department. A committee of five on text-books was elected: Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, Chairman, Dr. Mary Weeks Burnett, Prof. Hitchcock of Amherst College, Dr. Nichols, editor of the "Journal of Chemistry," and Alice Guernsey.
On the Sabbath twenty-five addresses were made by the ladies of the convention in the churches of Minneapolis and St. Paul.
Miss Willard spoke in Westminster Church, the largest in the city. Long before the hour to commence it was packed to its utmost capacity and hundreds went away, failing to secure entrance.
Three children's meetings were held in different parts of the city, besides which many Sunday schools were addressed by our women.
Wednesday evening, after the close of the convention, Mrs. Lathrap, on invitation of the Prohibition Club addressed an immense audience in the Opera House. Leaving men, not at all inclined to fanaticism, declared it one of the strongest, most logical addresses ever delivered in Minneapolis.
Among the pleasant things of this convention were the lunches prepared each noon in the Centenary M. E. Church. Like all the other arrangements made by the local committee, the arrangements for these lunches were perfect. We have seldom seen so large a body served with such "eagerness and dispatch" as the four or five hundred delegates who were served there.
News of the death of Mrs. Bannister, mother of Mrs. Mary B. Willard, first editor of the Union Signal, was received by the executive committee in session Tuesday. A message of condolence was sent to Mrs. Willard, in Berlin. Messages were also sent to Mrs. Bent, the gold cornetist, who was detained by sickness; to Mrs. Byron Baines, now on the Pacific Coast, who in response to the call for a worker to go to Alaska, responds, "Here I am, Lord, send me!" to Mrs. Mary Clement Leavitt, our round-the-world Missionary, now in Japan, and to other workers, who, for various reasons were prevented from attending this convention.
The interest felt in the convention was evinced by the fact that people leaving the Casino from the meeting in the afternoon, were met by a stream of people coming for the evening service, and some were so anxious to secure seats that they brought their lunch and stayed from one session till the other. Families came in carriages from the surrounding country out as far as Minneapolis. No previous convention has attracted such large audiences. All the delegates were loud in praise of the admirable arrangements made for the comfort and convenience of the convention.
Mrs. R. J. Penfield, the oldest member of the New Jersey W. C. T. U., presented a beautiful banner, whose object is to keep in mind the sacred non-vice hour—one of the bonds binding the W. C. T. U. together in this moment of prayer. Wherever, on the face of the wide world, a white ribbon is found, when the clock strikes twelve, she lifts her heart to God in prayer that He will bless the temperance work and workers. This banner is of pale blue satin, bearing the inscription: "New Jersey W. C. T. U." Just below is a clock face, with the hands pointing to twelve o'clock. On one side is a flower encircled cross, with the Bible resting against it; on the other side is an anchor. Over these a white dove descends through the blue, bearing the olive branch of peace. Below the dial are the words: "Non-vice hour of prayer." Still below this, the stanza in gold letters:

"Prayer is the key for the bending knee
To open the noon's first hour,
See the perfume rise to the sunny skies,
Like incense from the flowers,
Take the golden key in your hand and so
As the noontide drifts away,
How its blessed hour is a crown of gold,
Through the weary hours of day,"
TO GET RID OF WARTS.
A Secret Which Many Persons Desire to Learn.
The arsenic treatment is well adapted for warts. The top of the wart should either be sliced off with a sharp knife, cut off with a pair of scissors, or destroyed with one drop of some caustic, such as nitric acid. It is then to be painted with the arsenic solution two or three times a day. In a short time it undergoes a change and appears to break up into a number of pieces. It may then be removed or turned out without the slightest difficulty. There are several other means of getting rid of warts. Their vitality is low, and they are usually readily destroyed by the application of the caustic or astringent. The strong acetic acid known as the "glacial" acetic acid is often used for this purpose. It should be applied with a glass rod until the wart is pretty well sodden with the acid.
It may have to be applied more than once, and care should be taken to prevent it from coming in contact with the surrounding skin, or it may cause a blister. Small warts occurring in numbers may usually be got rid of certainly and painlessly by keeping them constantly moist with a lotion made by adding two drams of dilute nitric acid to a pint of water. Lunar caustic is sometimes used for warts, but its action is, as a rule, too superficial to be of much service. When warts or wart-like growths occur on the nose, lip, or any part beside the hands, chronic acid may be used. The solution is made by dissolving a hundred grains of crystallized chromic acid in an ounce of water. The solution is best applied by the aid of a pointed glass rod, or, when a large quantity is required, by means of a small glass tube drawn to a point. Only so much should be applied as will saturate the diseased growth, and it should not be brought into contact with the surrounding tissue.
Any superficial acid is to be removed by a piece of blotting paper or wet lint. The application usually produces only a temporary smarting, when the pain is more severe and of longer duration. After the application of the chromic acid, it is a good plan to dress the part with lint dipped in lead lotion, as it relieves the soreness and restrains the inflammation. Under the influence of this treatment, the growth usually rapidly wastes, in some cases being thrown off altogether, and in others undergoing a partial, though distinct, diminution in size. The majority of cases one application suffices, the cure being complete in from four to eight days. When, however, the warts are very large, repeated applications may be necessary.—Family Physician.
