

STATE RIGHTS DEMOCRAT.
Pub. is ed every Friday by
STITES & NUTTING.
BUSINESS OFFICE—In Democrat Building on Madalain Street.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
Single copy, per year, in advance..... $2 00
Single copy, per year, at end of year..... 1 00
Single copy, six months..... 1 00
Single copy, three months..... 0 50
Single copy..... 0 25

State Rights Democrat.

VOL. XXII.

ALBANY, OREGON, FRIDAY, JUNE 3, 1887.

NO 44

STATE RIGHTS DEMOCRAT.
THE BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM
IN THE WILLAMETTE VALLEY.
Special business notices in Local columns 10 cents per line, 5 cents each additional insertion.
For legal and transient advertisements $1.00 per square for the first insertion, and 50 cents per square for each subsequent insertion.
Rates for other advertisements made known on application.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

L. H. MONTANYE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
—AND—
Notary Public.
Albany, Oregon.
Office upstairs, over John Briggs' store, at street.

J. K. WEATHERFORD,
(NOTARY PUBLIC)
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
ALBANY, OREGON.
WILL PRACTICE IN ALL THE COURTS OF THE STATE. Special attention given to substance and reliable matter.
220 So. in Old Fellow's Temple. 1147

G. POWELL, W. R. RILEY, POWELL & BILYEU,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
And Solicitors in Chancery,
ALBANY, OREGON.
Collections promptly made on all points.
Laws negotiated on reasonable terms.
Office in Foster's Block.
14191st.

J. J. WHITNEY,
Attorney and Counsellor At Law
—AND—
Notary Public.
ALBANY, OREGON.
Will practice in all of the Courts of this State. All business entrusted to him will be promptly attended to.

L. W. CLARK,
Portrait Photographer.
Sittings by appointment.
COPYING AND ENLARGING.
Tweedale's Building,
ALBANY, OREGON.

E. W. LANGDON,
DEALER IN DRUGS, MEDICINES,
CHEMICALS,
BRUSHES,
SOAPS,
COMBS,
and everything kept in a first-class Drug Store. Also a fine stock of pianos and organs.
ALBANY, OREGON.

FOSHAY & MASON,
—FURNISHERS AND REPAIRERS—
Druggists and Booksellers,
Agents for John B. Alden's publications, which we sell at publisher's prices with postage paid.
ALBANY, OREGON.

A. PRUSHAW,
DRUGGIST.
Stationary, Toilet articles, Etc.
PRESCRIPTIONS CAREFULLY FILLED,
Open day and night.
Albany, Or.

FURNITURE.
I have the best stock of furniture in the city and will sell
Cheap, Cheap, Cheap,
The only stock of
WALNUT FURNITURE
in the city and the lowest price in the Valley. Come and see.
Undertaking,
A complete stock and can give SATISFACTION. Try me.
A. B. WOODIN,
Albany Bath House.

DR. J. L. HILL,
Physician and Surgeon,
Office—cor. First and Perry Streets,
ALBANY, OREGON.
G. C. CHERRY, G. E. PERRY

ALBANY IRON WORKS.
CHERRY & PARKES,
(Successors to C. C. Cherry.)
Machinists, Millwrights, and Iron Founders.

WE HAVE OUR NEW SHOPS ALL completed, and are now prepared to handle all kinds of heavy work. We will manufacture Steam Engines, Grist and Saw Mill Machinery, and all kinds of Iron and Brass Castings.
PATENTS MADE OF SHORT NOTICE. Special attention given to repairing all kinds of machinery. Will also manufacture the Improved Cherry & White Grain separator.
Notice of Application to Purchase Timber Land.
U. S. Land Office, Oregon City, Or., May 24, 1887.
Notice is hereby given that, in compliance with the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 3rd, 1878, entitled "An Act for the sale of Timber Lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory," David Myers whose post-office address is Seilo, Linn county, Oregon, has this day filed in this office his application to purchase the 8 1/2 of S 34 and N 1/2 of S 34, Section No. 18, in Township No. 10, N. Range No. 1 east of the Willamette meridian.
All persons holding any adverse claim thereto are required to present the same at this office within sixty days from the first publication of this notice.
W. T. HOANEY,
Register.

First National Bank OF ALBANY, OREGON.

President, J. E. YOUNG. Vice President, G. E. YOUNG. Cashier, G. E. CHAMBERLAIN. DIRECTORS: G. E. CHAMBERLAIN, L. E. BLAIR, WALTER E. TURKELL, J. L. COWAN, J. W. GUNICK.
TRANSACTS A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS. ACCOUNTS KEPT subject to check. NIGHT EXCHANGE and telegraphic transfer, and all New York, San Francisco, Chicago and Portland Oregon. COLLECTIONS MADE ON FAVORABLE TERMS.
DRAW RIGHT DRAFTS on New York, San Francisco, Chicago and Portland Oregon.
RECEIVE DEPOSITS subject to check. COLLECTIONS entrusted to us will receive prompt attention.

Linn County Bank, COWAN & GUSICK, ALBANY - - - OREGON.

TRANSACTS A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS. DRAW RIGHT DRAFTS on New York, San Francisco and Portland Oregon. LOAN MONEY ON APPROVED SECURITY. RECEIVE DEPOSITS subject to check. COLLECTIONS entrusted to us will receive prompt attention.

H. F. MERRILL, Banking and Insurance, ALBANY, - - - OREGON.

Sell exchange on New York, San Francisco and Portland. Buy notes, State, county and city warrants. Receive deposits subject to check. Interest allowed on time deposits. Collections will receive prompt attention. Correspondence solicited. 220 Office hours from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Russ House, J. GIBLIN, Proprietor.

This house is now open and furnished with the best new furniture. Everything clean and commodious, offering to the general public superior accommodations to any in the city.

ALBANY SAW AND PLANING MILLS.

All kinds of rough, dressed and seasoned lumber, laths and pickets kept constantly on hand. Bills saved to order on shortest notice. Use only best Calapooia timber. Price and terms made satisfactory.

ROBINSON & WEST.

MISS EMMA SCHUBERT, Fine Millinery, OPPOSITE REVERE HOUSE.

WILL BROS., Dealers in all the Leading Guns, Pistols, Sewing Machines, Organs and Pianos.

Sheet music, musical merchandise, ammunition, fishing tackle, etc. Warranted razors, butcher and pocket knives.
THE BEST KIND OF SEWING MACHINE NEEDLES, Oils and Extras for all Machines supplied.
LINN COUNTY AGENTS FOR NORTHWESTERN INSURANCE CO.
Repairing of sewing machines musical instruments, guns, etc. neatly done.
ALBANY, - - - OREGON.

J. GRADWOHL, Crockery, Glass Ware and Hardware. OIL AND LEAD.

Agricultural Implements, Agent for Fire and Marine Insurance

FRANK BROTHERS IMPLEMENT CO., PORTLAND, OREGON, Dealers in Farm and Mill Machinery.

Walter A. Woods' Mowers, Reapers and Steel Wheel Twine Binders Thomas and Royal Self Dump Rakes; Hodges' Double Draper Headers; Gaar, Scott & Co.'s Threshers and Horse Powers; Rock Island Walking Gang and Sulky Plows.
—Most Complete line of—
Bugies, Carriages and Spring Wagons on the Pacific Coast. Having received our goods during the low rates on freight from the East, we are going to give our customers the benefit, and sell them goods in our line lower than ever before. Write for Catalogue and Prices.
Address—FRANK BROTHERS IMPLEMENT CO., Portland, Or.
Or J. GRADWOHL, Agent, Albany, Or.

Emil's Tea HAMBURG TEA

GOOD for the cure of Constipation and Indigestion.
GOOD for the cure of Biliousness and Dyspepsia.
GOOD for the cure of Bowel Complaints.
GOOD for the cure of Kidney Diseases.
GOOD for the cure of Languishness and Weak Back.
GOOD for the cure of Liver Complaints.
GOOD for the cure of Bells and Carbuncles.
GOOD for the cure of Puff Breath and Sour Stomach.
GOOD for the cure of Sleeplessness and Irritability.
GOOD for the cure of all Complaints.

VITIATED BLOOD

Serofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your Cuticura Remedies, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I had ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our country. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, published as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your Cuticura Remedies a trial.
F. S. WHITMAN, Leeburg, Pa.
Reference: Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James K. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, La., writes: "In 1873 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands or my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1881 I heard of the Cuticura Remedies, used them, and was perfectly cured. Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. CHAFFIN."

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your Cuticura Remedies for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a physician. One of the worst cases of Scrofulous Ulcers ever seen was cured by the use of five bottles of Cuticura Remedies, Cuticura, and Cuticura Soap. The Surgeon takes the "Cure" here as a medical case.
TAYLOR and TAYLOR, Druggists, Frank, Kan.

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED.

And Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Ring Worms of the Skin, are positively cured by Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Remedies, externally, and Cuticura Remedies internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for pamphlet.
Cuticura Remedies are sold everywhere. Price: Cuticura, the Great Skin Cure, 50 cts.; Cuticura Soap an Exclusive Remedy, 25 cts.; Cuticura Remedies, the New Blood Purifier, 50 cts., Foster Drug and Chemical Co., Boston.

PAIN, Blackheads, Skin Blemishes, and Itchy Humors, use Cuticura Soap.

NOW MY BACK ACHES!

Back Ache, Kidney Pain and Weakness, Rheumatism, Lameness, Stiffness and Pain relieved in one minute by the Cuticura and Pain Plaster—Infallible.

Administrator's Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the County Court for Linn county, Oregon, has this day appointed the undersigned Administrator of the estate of Mary Ann W. R. Savage, deceased. All persons having claims against said estate are notified to present them properly verified to the undersigned at his residence near Shedd's Or., or to W. B. Black, at Blackton, Astoria, at Albany, Or., May 10th, 1887.
JOHN MORGAN,
Administrator of the said estate.

Washington.

(From our regular correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, May 13th, 1887.

The reunion of the Army of the Cumberland, the American Surgical Association and the annual convention of Hotel Proprietors are the most important gatherings of the week in this popular rendezvous of all kinds of National interests.

It was the eighth annual convention of "Mine-Hosts" of the American traveling public, and the primary object of their meetings is to give the proprietors, managers and clerks of hotels a chance to talk over matters of mutual interest. They all want to know (you know) the best manner of getting rid of dead beats, and about all kinds of fire escapes and such things. In addition to this interchange of experience, information and ideas, a mutual benefit insurance association is carried on, and during the seven years of its existence the association has paid out to its beneficiaries the sum of $77,371.

It is seldom that so many epicureans meet around one table as banqueted together in the large dining saloon of Willard's Hotel on Wednesday night. The banquet was given to the visiting Bonifaces by the local hotel proprietors, and such a feast it was as filled the guests with enthusiasm and prompted them to give the palm to Washington for entertainment. Nearly two hundred proprietors and managers, representing the leading cities and the leading hotels in the United States, and a few specially invited guests composed the company. The tables and the room were profusely decorated with cut flowers and potted plants, and here and there stood immense specimens of the confectioner's art in fanciful and appropriate designs. The menu was very choice, and the company was a jovial one, hardly needing the inspiration of the band, which discoursed popular music from an adjoining room.

It was nearly eleven o'clock before the feasting gave way to oratory. "The President of the United States," said the first speaker, proposed by Treasurer Garrison, the ex-president of the association. To this Gen. Black, the Commissioner of Pensions, responded in an eloquent strain twenty minutes long. He never once mentioned the name of any particular President, but painted a graphic picture, easily recognizable, of Lincoln as he remembered him away back in 1850, when, as a lawyer, he used occasionally to visit the little frontier village in Eastern Illinois, which was Gen. Black's home. He painted Lincoln in his rustic simplicity and his homespun suit as in instances that Presidents do not always spring from the aristocracy, and then, enlarging upon the power and the greatness of the Presidential office and pronouncing the President of the United States the foremost man in the world, he roused the company to enthusiastic applause.

Yesterday the visitors were taken on a drive to Soldiers' Home, at noon they had an interview with the President at the White House, in the afternoon they had a sail to Mount Vernon, in the evening they were taken to the theatres, and to-day they are having a round of the public buildings.

The chief event of the reunion here of the Army of the Cumberland was the unveiling of the statue of Garfield, which took place to-day amid imposing ceremonies. There was an immense concourse of people at the unveiling, and the President and Mrs. Cleveland occupied seats on the Grand stand, while Mr. Keifer, who once figured here as Speaker of the House, you remember, and who for some inscrutable reason was chosen orator of the day, was there to perform his part. Gen. Sheridan, the president of the society of the Army of the Cumberland, rode in a carriage in the parade with Gen. Sherman, Bull and Rosecranz, the three surviving of the five commanders who succeeded one another at the head of the Army of the Cumberland.

Among the busy preparations for the Drill is the pyrotechnics which will be exhibited each night, and which will represent the naval battle in Hampton roads between the Merrimac and the Monitor. Unlike a panorama, the war vessels in this case are real, are seen moving about and real guns are fired, depicting the shock and fire of battle vividly. The illusion is such that the spectator seems to be standing on the shore of Hampton Roads. In the distance can be seen Forts Monroe and a number of vessels of the federal fleet anchored near by. The drama opens by the appearance of the Cumberland, which sails in under full sail and backing around drops anchor. The Merrimac then appears and the work of destruction begins, ending with the

Washington.

(From our regular correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, May 13th, 1887.

The reunion of the Army of the Cumberland, the American Surgical Association and the annual convention of Hotel Proprietors are the most important gatherings of the week in this popular rendezvous of all kinds of National interests.

It was the eighth annual convention of "Mine-Hosts" of the American traveling public, and the primary object of their meetings is to give the proprietors, managers and clerks of hotels a chance to talk over matters of mutual interest. They all want to know (you know) the best manner of getting rid of dead beats, and about all kinds of fire escapes and such things. In addition to this interchange of experience, information and ideas, a mutual benefit insurance association is carried on, and during the seven years of its existence the association has paid out to its beneficiaries the sum of $77,371.

It is seldom that so many epicureans meet around one table as banqueted together in the large dining saloon of Willard's Hotel on Wednesday night. The banquet was given to the visiting Bonifaces by the local hotel proprietors, and such a feast it was as filled the guests with enthusiasm and prompted them to give the palm to Washington for entertainment. Nearly two hundred proprietors and managers, representing the leading cities and the leading hotels in the United States, and a few specially invited guests composed the company. The tables and the room were profusely decorated with cut flowers and potted plants, and here and there stood immense specimens of the confectioner's art in fanciful and appropriate designs. The menu was very choice, and the company was a jovial one, hardly needing the inspiration of the band, which discoursed popular music from an adjoining room.

It was nearly eleven o'clock before the feasting gave way to oratory. "The President of the United States," said the first speaker, proposed by Treasurer Garrison, the ex-president of the association. To this Gen. Black, the Commissioner of Pensions, responded in an eloquent strain twenty minutes long. He never once mentioned the name of any particular President, but painted a graphic picture, easily recognizable, of Lincoln as he remembered him away back in 1850, when, as a lawyer, he used occasionally to visit the little frontier village in Eastern Illinois, which was Gen. Black's home. He painted Lincoln in his rustic simplicity and his homespun suit as in instances that Presidents do not always spring from the aristocracy, and then, enlarging upon the power and the greatness of the Presidential office and pronouncing the President of the United States the foremost man in the world, he roused the company to enthusiastic applause.

Yesterday the visitors were taken on a drive to Soldiers' Home, at noon they had an interview with the President at the White House, in the afternoon they had a sail to Mount Vernon, in the evening they were taken to the theatres, and to-day they are having a round of the public buildings.

The chief event of the reunion here of the Army of the Cumberland was the unveiling of the statue of Garfield, which took place to-day amid imposing ceremonies. There was an immense concourse of people at the unveiling, and the President and Mrs. Cleveland occupied seats on the Grand stand, while Mr. Keifer, who once figured here as Speaker of the House, you remember, and who for some inscrutable reason was chosen orator of the day, was there to perform his part. Gen. Sheridan, the president of the society of the Army of the Cumberland, rode in a carriage in the parade with Gen. Sherman, Bull and Rosecranz, the three surviving of the five commanders who succeeded one another at the head of the Army of the Cumberland.

Among the busy preparations for the Drill is the pyrotechnics which will be exhibited each night, and which will represent the naval battle in Hampton roads between the Merrimac and the Monitor. Unlike a panorama, the war vessels in this case are real, are seen moving about and real guns are fired, depicting the shock and fire of battle vividly. The illusion is such that the spectator seems to be standing on the shore of Hampton Roads. In the distance can be seen Forts Monroe and a number of vessels of the federal fleet anchored near by. The drama opens by the appearance of the Cumberland, which sails in under full sail and backing around drops anchor. The Merrimac then appears and the work of destruction begins, ending with the

Washington.

(From our regular correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, May 13th, 1887.

The reunion of the Army of the Cumberland, the American Surgical Association and the annual convention of Hotel Proprietors are the most important gatherings of the week in this popular rendezvous of all kinds of National interests.

It was the eighth annual convention of "Mine-Hosts" of the American traveling public, and the primary object of their meetings is to give the proprietors, managers and clerks of hotels a chance to talk over matters of mutual interest. They all want to know (you know) the best manner of getting rid of dead beats, and about all kinds of fire escapes and such things. In addition to this interchange of experience, information and ideas, a mutual benefit insurance association is carried on, and during the seven years of its existence the association has paid out to its beneficiaries the sum of $77,371.

It is seldom that so many epicureans meet around one table as banqueted together in the large dining saloon of Willard's Hotel on Wednesday night. The banquet was given to the visiting Bonifaces by the local hotel proprietors, and such a feast it was as filled the guests with enthusiasm and prompted them to give the palm to Washington for entertainment. Nearly two hundred proprietors and managers, representing the leading cities and the leading hotels in the United States, and a few specially invited guests composed the company. The tables and the room were profusely decorated with cut flowers and potted plants, and here and there stood immense specimens of the confectioner's art in fanciful and appropriate designs. The menu was very choice, and the company was a jovial one, hardly needing the inspiration of the band, which discoursed popular music from an adjoining room.

It was nearly eleven o'clock before the feasting gave way to oratory. "The President of the United States," said the first speaker, proposed by Treasurer Garrison, the ex-president of the association. To this Gen. Black, the Commissioner of Pensions, responded in an eloquent strain twenty minutes long. He never once mentioned the name of any particular President, but painted a graphic picture, easily recognizable, of Lincoln as he remembered him away back in 1850, when, as a lawyer, he used occasionally to visit the little frontier village in Eastern Illinois, which was Gen. Black's home. He painted Lincoln in his rustic simplicity and his homespun suit as in instances that Presidents do not always spring from the aristocracy, and then, enlarging upon the power and the greatness of the Presidential office and pronouncing the President of the United States the foremost man in the world, he roused the company to enthusiastic applause.

Yesterday the visitors were taken on a drive to Soldiers' Home, at noon they had an interview with the President at the White House, in the afternoon they had a sail to Mount Vernon, in the evening they were taken to the theatres, and to-day they are having a round of the public buildings.

The chief event of the reunion here of the Army of the Cumberland was the unveiling of the statue of Garfield, which took place to-day amid imposing ceremonies. There was an immense concourse of people at the unveiling, and the President and Mrs. Cleveland occupied seats on the Grand stand, while Mr. Keifer, who once figured here as Speaker of the House, you remember, and who for some inscrutable reason was chosen orator of the day, was there to perform his part. Gen. Sheridan, the president of the society of the Army of the Cumberland, rode in a carriage in the parade with Gen. Sherman, Bull and Rosecranz, the three surviving of the five commanders who succeeded one another at the head of the Army of the Cumberland.

Among the busy preparations for the Drill is the pyrotechnics which will be exhibited each night, and which will represent the naval battle in Hampton roads between the Merrimac and the Monitor. Unlike a panorama, the war vessels in this case are real, are seen moving about and real guns are fired, depicting the shock and fire of battle vividly. The illusion is such that the spectator seems to be standing on the shore of Hampton Roads. In the distance can be seen Forts Monroe and a number of vessels of the federal fleet anchored near by. The drama opens by the appearance of the Cumberland, which sails in under full sail and backing around drops anchor. The Merrimac then appears and the work of destruction begins, ending with the

Washington.

(From our regular correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, May 13th, 1887.

The reunion of the Army of the Cumberland, the American Surgical Association and the annual convention of Hotel Proprietors are the most important gatherings of the week in this popular rendezvous of all kinds of National interests.

It was the eighth annual convention of "Mine-Hosts" of the American traveling public, and the primary object of their meetings is to give the proprietors, managers and clerks of hotels a chance to talk over matters of mutual interest. They all want to know (you know) the best manner of getting rid of dead beats, and about all kinds of fire escapes and such things. In addition to this interchange of experience, information and ideas, a mutual benefit insurance association is carried on, and during the seven years of its existence the association has paid out to its beneficiaries the sum of $77,371.

It is seldom that so many epicureans meet around one table as banqueted together in the large dining saloon of Willard's Hotel on Wednesday night. The banquet was given to the visiting Bonifaces by the local hotel proprietors, and such a feast it was as filled the guests with enthusiasm and prompted them to give the palm to Washington for entertainment. Nearly two hundred proprietors and managers, representing the leading cities and the leading hotels in the United States, and a few specially invited guests composed the company. The tables and the room were profusely decorated with cut flowers and potted plants, and here and there stood immense specimens of the confectioner's art in fanciful and appropriate designs. The menu was very choice, and the company was a jovial one, hardly needing the inspiration of the band, which discoursed popular music from an adjoining room.

It was nearly eleven o'clock before the feasting gave way to oratory. "The President of the United States," said the first speaker, proposed by Treasurer Garrison, the ex-president of the association. To this Gen. Black, the Commissioner of Pensions, responded in an eloquent strain twenty minutes long. He never once mentioned the name of any particular President, but painted a graphic picture, easily recognizable, of Lincoln as he remembered him away back in 1850, when, as a lawyer, he used occasionally to visit the little frontier village in Eastern Illinois, which was Gen. Black's home. He painted Lincoln in his rustic simplicity and his homespun suit as in instances that Presidents do not always spring from the aristocracy, and then, enlarging upon the power and the greatness of the Presidential office and pronouncing the President of the United States the foremost man in the world, he roused the company to enthusiastic applause.

Yesterday the visitors were taken on a drive to Soldiers' Home, at noon they had an interview with the President at the White House, in the afternoon they had a sail to Mount Vernon, in the evening they were taken to the theatres, and to-day they are having a round of the public buildings.

The chief event of the reunion here of the Army of the Cumberland was the unveiling of the statue of Garfield, which took place to-day amid imposing ceremonies. There was an immense concourse of people at the unveiling, and the President and Mrs. Cleveland occupied seats on the Grand stand, while Mr. Keifer, who once figured here as Speaker of the House, you remember, and who for some inscrutable reason was chosen orator of the day, was there to perform his part. Gen. Sheridan, the president of the society of the Army of the Cumberland, rode in a carriage in the parade with Gen. Sherman, Bull and Rosecranz, the three surviving of the five commanders who succeeded one another at the head of the Army of the Cumberland.

Among the busy preparations for the Drill is the pyrotechnics which will be exhibited each night, and which will represent the naval battle in Hampton roads between the Merrimac and the Monitor. Unlike a panorama, the war vessels in this case are real, are seen moving about and real guns are fired, depicting the shock and fire of battle vividly. The illusion is such that the spectator seems to be standing on the shore of Hampton Roads. In the distance can be seen Forts Monroe and a number of vessels of the federal fleet anchored near by. The drama opens by the appearance of the Cumberland, which sails in under full sail and backing around drops anchor. The Merrimac then appears and the work of destruction begins, ending with the

Washington.

(From our regular correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, May 13th, 1887.

The reunion of the Army of the Cumberland, the American Surgical Association and the annual convention of Hotel Proprietors are the most important gatherings of the week in this popular rendezvous of all kinds of National interests.

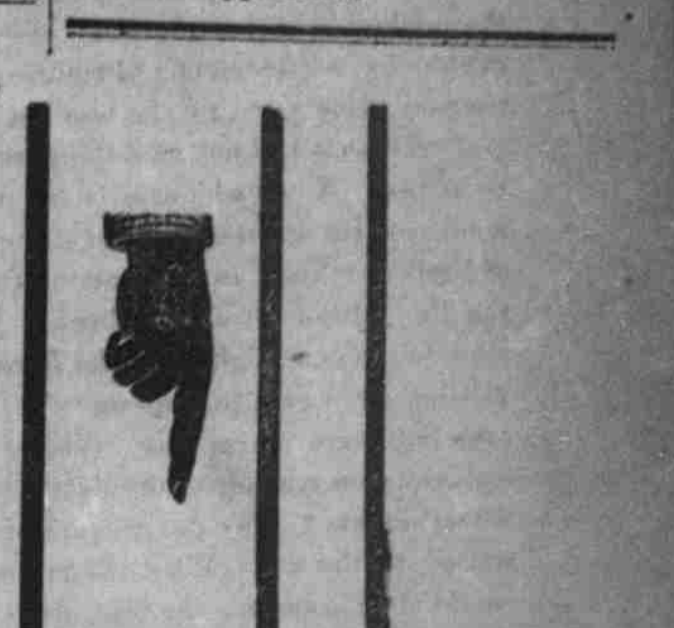

It was the eighth annual convention of "Mine-Hosts" of the American traveling public, and the primary object of their meetings is to give the proprietors, managers and clerks of hotels a chance to talk over matters of mutual interest. They all want to know (you know) the best manner of getting rid of dead beats, and about all kinds of fire escapes and such things. In addition to this interchange of experience, information and ideas, a mutual benefit insurance association is carried on, and during the seven years of its existence the association has paid out to its beneficiaries the sum of $77,371.

It is seldom that so many epicureans meet around one table as banqueted together in the large dining saloon of Willard's Hotel on Wednesday night. The banquet was given to the visiting Bonifaces by the local hotel proprietors, and such a feast it was as filled the guests with enthusiasm and prompted them to give the palm to Washington for entertainment. Nearly two hundred proprietors and managers, representing the leading cities and the leading hotels in the United States, and a few specially invited guests composed the company. The tables and the room were profusely decorated with cut flowers and potted plants, and here and there stood immense specimens of the confectioner's art in fanciful and appropriate designs. The menu was very choice, and the company was a jovial one, hardly needing the inspiration of the band, which discoursed popular music from an adjoining room.

It was nearly eleven o'clock before the feasting gave way to oratory. "The President of the United States," said the first speaker, proposed by Treasurer Garrison, the ex-president of the association. To this Gen. Black, the Commissioner of Pensions, responded in an eloquent strain twenty minutes long. He never once mentioned the name of any particular President, but painted a graphic picture, easily recognizable, of Lincoln as he remembered him away back in 1850, when, as a lawyer, he used occasionally to visit the little frontier village in Eastern Illinois, which was Gen. Black's home. He painted Lincoln in his rustic simplicity and his homespun suit as in instances that Presidents do not always spring from the aristocracy, and then, enlarging upon the power and the greatness of the Presidential office and pronouncing the President of the United States the foremost man in the world, he roused the company to enthusiastic applause.

Yesterday the visitors were taken on a drive to Soldiers' Home, at noon they had an interview with the President at the White House, in the afternoon they had a sail to Mount Vernon, in the evening they were taken to the theatres, and to-day they are having a round of the public buildings.

The chief event of the reunion here of the Army of the Cumberland was the unveiling of the statue of Garfield, which took place to-day amid imposing ceremonies. There was an immense concourse of people at the unveiling, and the President and Mrs. Cleveland occupied seats on the Grand stand, while Mr. Keifer, who once figured here as Speaker of the House, you remember, and who for some inscrutable reason was chosen orator of the day, was there to perform his part. Gen. Sheridan, the president of the society of the Army of the Cumberland, rode in a carriage in the parade with Gen. Sherman, Bull and Rosecranz, the three surviving of the five commanders who succeeded one another at the head of the Army of the Cumberland.

NEW SPRING GOODS.

Dry Goods, Boots, Shoes, Groceries, Etc

At prices never before offered in Albany—and

N. H. ALLEN & CO.,

are the ones that are making the offer. We propose to sell goods for

CASH AND PRODUCE

only, and will duplicate the prices given in any Spring Catalogue in the State. We propose hereafter to talk to point, and

Give You Prices upon application by mail or otherwise that will ASTONISH YOU.

Mail orders solicited, and samples sent upon application.

N. H. ALLEN & Co.,

57 First Street Albany,

TO WHOM It May Concern.

ALBANY, Or, March 9th, 1887.
Self preservation is the first law of nature. Among my old friends and customers who have been trading with me for the last ten years, and who still do the same and profit thereby, some desiring party with emnity in his soul is circulating the report that because some one else received the sugar contract that was let last week by certain business managers I am higher in prices than others. Gentlemen, it was impossible for me to get the above contract, as I was not asked for a bid, why, is best known to themselves. By selling and ascertaining my prices you can judge for yourselves whether justice has been done to you or not, and whether the prices of my goods are not as low or lower than any other house. In case that I should be compelled to give up my business on account of the above, I will be compelled to become an office worker.

Very respectfully yours,
P. COHEN.

Remarkable Offer.

The Democrat..... $2.00
New York World..... 1.00
Five Cent Magazine..... 1.50
American Farmer..... 1.00
$5.50
And cheap at the price; but we offer the four for $3.25, giving a remarkable bargain. Drop the American Farmer and you can have the three remaining for $3. Drop the World and History and you can have the two others for $2.25. The History is a 320 page book nicely bound, and is worth the regular price.

Administrator's Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned Administrator of the estate of S. T. Jones, deceased, has filed his final account of his Administration of said estate in the County Court of Linn county, Oregon, and said account has fixed Monday the 6th day of June, 1887, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m., in said court for hearing the same. All persons interested in said estate are required to appear at said time in said Court and show cause if any exists why said estate should not be finally settled. Dated Albany, Or., May 2nd, 1887.
Administrator of said estate,
J. A. JONES.

HOLY ANGELS COLLEGE.

A Boarding School for Boys!

Conducted by secular priests and lay teachers.
First term opens first Monday in September. Second term opens first Monday in February. For prospectus address Rev. F. A. Hovet, Vancouver, W. T. Box 101.

PAINTS AND OILS

Of all kinds, mixed ready for use, also, colors and white wash brushes, etc.

Red Crown Mills

ISOM, LANNING & CO., PROP'RS.
NEW PROCESS FLOUR SUPERIOR FOR FAMILIES AND BAKERS USE.
BEST STORAGE FACILITIES.
Highest Price in Cash for Wheat.
ALBANY OR.

WOLVERTON & IRVINE, ATTORNEYS AT LAW

Office up stairs in Foster's Block.
ALBANY, OREGON.

T. J. STITES, ATTORNEY AT LAW

—AND—
Notary Public