A MAN ABOUT TOWN.

The Corvallis Chronicle says the O. P. management has the money of the Albany people, and that is all it wants. The Man About Town congratulates the people of Albany on the fact that even if this were true this city alone, to say nothing of the county, has gotten even with them several We are more than satisfied with the bargain. The advent of the O. P. has put thousands of dollars into the pockets of Linn county people already, in one short seasonmany times what it cost to get it here.

The editors of the paper mentioned should stop calling the road the Oregon Pauper long enough to see the holes in their own shoes, if the M, A. T. is rightly informed. Once one of them, according to his own story ate the bread handed him by this same "pauper," and because the "pauper" cast him off he is seeking to make capital by throwing stones at him pbut not even the rabble is pleased.

After hearing the Salvation Army band as it paraded the streets Sabbath the Man About Town is completely reconciled to the Chinese New Year band. The Salvationists should borrow some of the Celestials instruments and play without practice hereafter

A Fine Excursion.

The Albany excursionists returned from the Bay Friday noon after an uncommonly enjoyable trip. Flags were hoisted in honor of the event, unmarred by many accidents. With its rugged scenery, splendid atmosphere and good accommodations, there are few finer places in which to spend a day or even month than Yaquina Bay, which is becoming the most popular resort on the north Pacific Coast. In the evening the Albany Dramatic Company played Niagara to a good house. Friday morning all hands who stopped at Newport were awakened at about 4 o'clock and given an early breakfast. The steamer and ferry boat were together this time, necessitating only one trip. At six o'clock the train started homeward bound, Albany being reached only about five minutes late. Conductor Kennedy and his assistants are entitled to much credit for the careful manner in which they transported the company's
