UNDER A DENSE CLOUD.

The Herald-Democrat says:
The burden of democratic argument is to the effect that taxation should be removed, yet when the republican platform, says that if it becomes necessary the only direct tax that is levied by the government should be removed, they raise the horror-stricken cry of free whisky and free tobacco.

The Herald editor is badly befogged that the republican party wants to repeal the direct tax in order to reduce the surplus is just what the democrats charge. Now, what is the direct tax now levied by the government? It is the internal revenue tax, that is the tax upon whisky, tobacco and oleomargarine. This tax the Herald says will be removed if necessary. The democrats say this is the tax republicans will remove before they will remove any part of the protective tariff duties.

Then how in the name of all that is reasonable can the Herald say that not the slightest intimation has ever been made by republicans towards removing the tax from these articles, meaning whisky and tobacco. No, Mr. Herald, when you say that your platform provides that if it becomes necessary the only direct tax that is levied by the government should be removed, you give your whole case away for the direct tax is the internal revenue tax upon whisky, tobacco and oleomargarine. The customs duties tax, as every ten year old school boy knows is an indirect tax. Your platform pledges you to repeal all the tax on whisky, tobacco and oleomargarine before you would surrender any part of the protective system. It is useless for any one to deny the free whisky plank in the republican platform. It is there, and the men who made that platform meant that it should be there. If they did not represent the honest and virtuous republican masses then let them and their work be repudiated. They put in the free whisky plank because they believed in it, and it will be found that they will say as much before the campaign is over. Whatever else Major McKinley and his crowd may be, they are not hypocrites. Their plank is as follows:

"If there shall remain a larger revenue than is requisite for the wants of the Government, we favor the entire repeal of internal taxes rather than the surrender of any part of our protective system."
That is the free whisky plank. If taxes must be reduced they shall come off whisky and tobacco, and not off lumber, clothing, salt, iron and steel, and the other necessities. Free whisky means whisky at 3 cents a drink, or two for a nickel. Is the country ready for it?

Mr. S. S. Train, editor of the Herald-Democrat, the self-constituted grange organ, has worked himself up into a feverish state of mind and mental fervor, (that because he supports the free whisky platform), because we gently called him to account for saying that Cleveland carried Oregon in 1884. He says it was a mistake that the statement was "inadvertently" made. Very well. We accept the apology. But this is not enough. You made two other statements both of which were equally untrue. You said Vermont at the late election gave the largest majority ever given. This is no more true than the statement about Oregon going for Cleveland. Did you make this statement "inadvertently"? You either knew nothing about the history of elections in Vermont or you intended to deceive your readers. You can take either horn of the dilemma which you choose. Again you said that Maine in her late election had made the biggest record since 1866. This is no more nearly true than the statement about Oregon. Did you make this statement "inadvertently"? You either knew nothing about the history of elections in Maine or you were intending to deceive. As to our editorials on the "free whisky" and "oleomargarine" features of your platform, the public has noticed in a marked way that you fail in every instance to answer them. The reason is we quote your own platform which is self-evidently conclusive against you. You cannot deny your own platform. You have not the courage to repudiate it, nor the hardness of heart to defend it. Hence you can only do as you are doing—remain mum and cry free trade.

September the 20th, 1884, the Oregonian said:
"The debt (public) may now be easily managed. The war tariff must now be cut down."
September 20th, 1888, it said:
"The American system (protective tariff) has been a wonderful success, and as long as it works such results why demand a change?"
September 27th, 1884, it said:
"The Portland Advertiser, on the contrary, says that the working men do understand that their wages are low and their employment uncertain; and when traveling agents tell them that the tariff gives them steady work and good pay, they know better."

Now that same paper with craven servility bows to the behests of the party of free whisky, cheap tobacco, and high priced clothing and food that thrift and political influence may follow such fawning.

HALSEY, Sept. 25th, 1888
A republican friend of mine says the prohibition vote in Maine at the election the other day was less than it was in the September election of 1884. Give us the official figures.

STUDENT.
(The official vote for the prohibitionists in September, 1884, was 1157, and in the election the other day it was 2971, or a gain of 1814.—THE DEMOCRAT.)

If anything were needed to show the necessary apostasy and utter lack of loyalty to right principles as discovered through the reason and conscience of the editor of the Oregonian, that need will be found fully supplied in the supplement which we furnish with the DEMOCRAT to-day as a supplement to the Oregonian. It is to-day the servile organ of the protection party. It is utterly unable to answer its own arguments so fully set forth in the supplement. The Democrat read it and ask its republican friends to do so too.

TO REDUCE THE SURPLUS.

The Herald insists that if Cleveland wants to reduce the surplus in the treasury he should do so by paying off United States bonds with it. The Herald is reminded here that some of the outstanding bonds are due until 1891. There is a law which authorizes the Secretary of the treasury to go into the market and buy bonds, but he is compelled to pay such a premium as the grasping consciences of bondholders see fit to ask. The Herald editor is also reminded that since the 17th of April last, $64,499,163 has been paid out of the surplus in buying bonds and that this amount bought only $53,266,800 in bonds at par value, so that $11,232,363 of the $64,499,163 was actually paid out in premiums. While Secretary Fairchild is very emphatic in the opinion that it is very unjust to the tax payers of the country to call upon them to redeem their debt by paying such enormous premiums, yet it is the only avenue left open by republican obstructionists for reducing the surplus. The Herald would do well to put the question to its readers this way: Which is preferable, to reduce the surplus in the treasury by buying bonds not now due at a large premium and continue to burden the people with heavy taxation, not only to pay back these bondholders dollar for dollar, but in addition thereto large bonuses besides in the shape of premiums or to reduce the surplus by reducing the war taxes on the necessities of life, such as lumber, iron, salt, chemicals, tin, jute sacks, and many other of those things essential to the comfort and well-being of the people. No intelligent person but knows that this latter plan would result in the greatest good to the greatest number. Farmers, business men and professional men feel that it is burdensome enough to be taxed to pay bondholders in gold, dollar for dollar, for bonds which were purchased at 50 cents on the dollar, let alone taxing them to pay large premiums on these bonds. To buy bonds at a heavy premium to get rid of the surplus when that surplus could be gotten rid of by releasing the tax payers from the war taxes on the necessities of life is simply suicidal. No intelligent business man would do so in business and why should the government?

WHERE TO GO.
An Important Question.
Some will say to the grand old ocean at Newport; some to breezy Hiawac; some to the health giving Springs at Solvile and Waterloo, and some to where the deer graze in the mountains; but the general verdict will be, when you are after dry goods, boots, shoes, clothing, furnishing goods, etc., to go to A. B. McIlwain's, Albany, Or. After the most beautiful harvest in the history of Oregon the question is a very important one. Big crops with low prices and good goods will make things flourish. If you would realize this combination call on Mr. McIlwain and you will be taken through his large stock and by shown goods and prices that will impress this fact on your mind. His stock of dry goods is complete and selected to meet the demands of this growing community. In dress goods of all kinds he has a stock that speaks for itself. New designs, styles and patterns. His goods are remarkably fine, and as fall is now here, deserves your consideration. Superior goods at low prices is his program. His stock of blankets is a good one and now is the time to buy. In ladies' shoes he can surprise you at their cheapness considering the quality of the article. You will not lose anything by examining his boot and shoe stock generally. Mr. McIlwain's clothing and furnishing goods department is well stocked with a good assortment of goods which he is selling at very low prices.

Mr. McIlwain's goods generally have been bought under the market, and hence can be sold at prices that defy competition. Farmers, laboring men, mechanics, men, women and children should inspect his large assortment of goods, as it will be business for them to do so. A dollar saved is a dollar earned, as much now as ever, and Mr. McIlwain proposes to help you do the saving by giving you the prices and goods.

Large crops and high prices for wheat in order to make prosperous times should be followed by close buying in the best market, hence it will be to your advantage to call on A. B. McIlwain who has the goods and prices to give you bargains such as cannot be obtained elsewhere.
