THE HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Word reaches us to-day of a horrible gun accident that happened at Brownsville last evening. Phil Walker, a young man about twenty years of age, was sitting on a stool handling a loaded shot gun. Another young man was standing near him and looking another way when the loud report of the gun at his back made him turn instantly, when he was horrified to see his companion fall over, the blood flowing from his head. The load of shot had struck the victim fairly in the head, going upwards, shattering it in a horrible manner. A surgeon was sent for when the young man was dead in a few moments. Just how it happened is not known for certain, though it is supposed that while the stock was resting on the floor in a slanting manner the hammer struck against something causing the discharge of the gun. This is the version of the accident as given us. No doubt it may be varied somewhat in full reports received of it. Young Walker resided with his parents and was well spoken of.

LOOKS LIKE GEORGE.—A great many people are wondering what Mr. Harrison looks like. The following from a Salem paper explains it so well that most Albany people will catch on immediately: "The facial resemblance between President-elect Harrison and ex-Congressman M. C. George, of Portland is said to be very marked. The only difference is in the height, Mr. George being tall, broad chested and stalwart, and inclined to be portly, while Gen. Harrison is said to be heavy-set and about medium height. Both have high foreheads and light complexion, both are full featured and both have brownish red beards and mustaches, worn in the same fashion. In the eyes the expression is almost similar."

THE SEQUEL.—A few days ago we mentioned a hunting expedition into the country by a New York drummer and two Albany young men. Now comes the sequel. The drummer killed six birds. He took two of them to Portland with him. They were Chinese pheasants. He showed them promiscuously, as if he had done a big thing, and in the evening went to a ball and paid too much attention to another fellow's girl. The other fellow got even being apprised of the Chinese pheasants had the drummer arrested and he was fined $20 and costs. The Albany boys, who led him a hard chase for the game, are considerably elated over the joke. They only killed American pheasants!

INSANE.—Barney Bressler, alias Reed, the drunken tailor, was examined last Thursday by Drs. Wallace and Hill at the Court House, declared weak in the brain, non compos mentis, and was taken to Salem this noon by Deputy Sheriff Smith and C. G. Burkhardt. While he was a hard drinker he was also completely out of his head and talked mostly about seeing devils and cutting off his legs and arms, and demanded all kinds of matters to be released. He seemed to prefer to go without clothing and was wild generally in his conduct.

TWO OF THEM.—There were two of them. One was a masculine man and the other a female woman. From the amount of kind and considerate attention they paid to each other we should say they were unmarried. They chose Broadalbin street as a place of promenade. Here they promenade up and down up and down until they became the observed of all observers. Many remarks were made by the bystanders. He looked like a man of worldly experience. She is an unphilosophical rural maiden. May be it was none of our business but we thought she ought to open her eyes.

SOME RASPBERRIES.—Mr. Chester Skeels left at the Democrat office to-day a large bunch of second growth raspberries, as plump and luscious looking as those in season. A Baltimore, Md. paper which saw an item from the Democrat in reference to our second growth fruit says it is a sign of an unhealthy climate. This may be true in the East, but it is not here. It means that we have a mild and remarkable climate and soil.

A GOOD SOCIETY.—Home science reading circles are being organized at different places. Corvallis is to have one this winter. The principal object is to read and study subjects relating to the management of the home, such as cooking, ventilation, economy in labor, children, hired help, etc. The object is a simple one and we hope to see the women of Albany organize such a society.

DELL DOREL.—The business man who do not advertise. A sleepy sermon or a sleepy listener. A drunken man's wit. Arguments in favor of keeping cows on our streets. After election speeches. The mud on First Street. A foggy day. Seeing a man bet on election who doesn't pay his honest debts. The conversation of a man who has nothing to say. "Christians" generally.

ANOTHER ONE.—Michael Morela, who was arrested in Albany last Thursday by Deputy Marshal Humphrey for selling liquor to Indians and was taken to Portland to-day where he will face Judge Dandy. Two much of this kind of business all together. A trap and fine don't seem to frighten these fellows at all.

CONCERTS.—Albany has talent now for getting up a first-class local talent concert. Besides Mrs. Langdon, who will now be with us, and whose voice is said to have been greatly improved, and several old citizens, we have several new comers with good voices. A little life this winter will be a good thing.

A SUGGESTION.—We suggest that in order to get a full expression on the cow question it be voted on at the coming election, a place being arranged on both tickets for the purpose, and then let the majority rule. Perhaps the Council could do something in the matter.

IN LUCK.—Dr. Maston has just received information that the North Pacific R. R. has established a depot on or near a half section of land which he owns up in Washington territory. This will add very much to its value which the Dr. accepts with a quiet, satisfied air.

THE VOTE.—Harrison's plurality will be about 6800, which is about 600 less than Herman's. The total vote in the State was about 62,000. A great many people did not vote at all. The prohibition vote was 147, labor vote, 257.

SEVERAL BETTER.—The democratic majority in Burns, which is surrounded by sheep, was 76 in a vote of 208. That is nothing to Selo precinct in this county. The majority was 97 in a vote of 190.

TRAMPING.—Several farmers are posting trespassing notices. The regular price for trespassing is $5. Several narrow escapes are reported and more fun is promised.

CHILDREN.—A child was found

THE MAN ABOUTTOWN.

In order to accomplish anything in this world you have to make an issue of it, as a dog does a bone, and the town cows slide walks. A bone is good for nothing and you can't see it; but the cows are always with us. If any one has a real, live, kicking reason why we should keep the bovines on our streets will he please come forward and give it.

The best way to get along in this world is to take things cool. The frightened person at fires gets tramped under feet first, the scared bird bumps the window pane and the person who sees small pox on every lamp post is the first to get it. Keep cool, and cream tartar, not water drunk when cool will help do it.

The worst enemies to the business part of the world are the men who try to wiggle out of their honest debts, as a worm creeps seeks to burrow its way into solid rock. It pays to keep above board on this mundane sphere.

Honest, Injun, now, don't you feel better when you wear clothes bought of home merchants.

Why not begin making good resolutions at the present tick of the clock, so as to have them in a condition to be able to stand alone on the 1st of January, a day when it takes a mountain of will power to walk straight. Able bodied resolutions are never put off till the first of the year. Always resolve to live honest, christian lives. That's the best bill of fare.

DRUMMERS.—The drummer from the East as much as any other class of people likes to brag about his country, and how absolutely ignorant they are of us. A day or two ago one received a letter at this city informing him in a serious manner that Harrison was elected, not as a joke, but the writer thought he had probably not heard of it. Another one says his "boss" told him he would have to go well prepared, as he would have to travel mostly in wagons, whereas he had not been in one at all. Another commercial tourist after reaching the Columbia wrote back to a friend describing in glowing but not exaggerated words our country. He received an answer like this: "Your description is very nice, but I believe it is a d—d lie." And so we might continue instances. These are the things we go to contend with. The truth is we are not so much in the backwoods as a majority of the towns in any of the Eastern states; we wear as many pling hats, but we are not so much in the backwoods as in many places much larger. We read as much and get the news just as early. For genuine civilization this valley will take a reserved seat with most any country.

A BRAKEMAN'S FALL.—A brakeman on the freight train named Van Rankin was taken to Junction City last Friday, where his parents reside, in an almost lifeless condition. He had been knocked from the freight train going north. The Salem Journal gives the following account of the accident, which happened at Jefferson: "The train was in full motion and Van Rankin was between two cars examining the bulk heads. He swung out and started to mount the train. At just this moment the train was passing over the bridge, and as he started up the ladder he was struck by the timbers of the bridge and knocked to the solid rock twenty-five feet below. He was picked up an almost lifeless form. One leg was broken by the fall and he is being very badly bruised. Aside from being cut up about the face and head by coming in sudden contact with the bridge, he is terribly bruised by his awful fall. Although he is horribly bruised, almost beyond recognition, it is thought he may recover. As yet there are no evidences of internal injuries, but it is feared he was precipitated from such an elevation to the solid rocks below, that he may be seriously injured."

FRUSTRATED FACES.—That of a grocer who has driven a cow away from his turnip box for the tenth time in an hour. That of the merchant who has spent an hour picking out a piece of calico for a particular customer. That of the Albany youth after sampling the old gentleman's tea. That of the tramp when told "no, sir." That of the street bum when being refused a drink because he hasn't a cent. That of the careless gentleman on being refused credit for groceries. That of the gentleman who has lost an election on receiving unfavorable dispatches.

LIKE A DIME NOVEL.—Deputy U. S. Marshal Humphrey returned from Portland last Thursday, where he had been with Michael Moran, arrested for selling liquor to an Indian. Here is the dime novel description of him given by a Portland paper: "He is a sailor by profession and had not been long ashore in this wild and woolly Western land when his too susceptible heart was smitten with the charms of a dusky aboriginal maiden, Mary by name, and she, in turn, was the good graces procured a quantity of 40 rod whisky for her. He was duly held."

How often do we hear our friends say "Oh I am feeling pretty well but have a pain in the back that I suppose will soon pass away." But does it pass away? No, not often, unless assisted by some good remedy. Pain in the back is frequently followed by weakness, flushing of the face, nervousness and milky discharges, eruptions on the face and neck, dizziness, loss of appetite, general debility and Bright's Kidney Trouble. If you have any of these symptoms do not delay but buy this money and health by using Oregon's Kidney Tea. It is a safe and speedy remedy. For sale by Foshay & Mason.

AS TO REMOVALS.

A subscriber wants to know if the statement made by the Oregonian that great numbers of federal officials in Oregon were removed by President Cleveland before the expiration of their terms is true. The statement is false in a very great degree. The statement as to removal of postmasters all over the state before the expiration of their terms is false in its entirety. Many changes were made in the fourth-class postoffices, but these offices have no terms. They serve at the pleasure of the Postmaster General, and he alone makes the changes. As to the postmasters in this state who hold by appointment of the President not one in this state was removed by Cleveland. They all served their terms out. These are the post offices: Portland, Albany, East Portland, Oregon City, Corvallis, Eugene, Jacksonville, Astoria, Dalles, Pendleton, Baker City and Salem. The republican postmaster at Oregon City who was appointed by Arthur just completed his term a few days ago. The republican postmaster at Salem who was appointed by Arthur in December 1884, and who on general principles ought to have been removed long since, still holds that office. As to the statement that numerous officials of the land offices in the state were removed we think the Oregonian is in error. The friends of civil service reform will be more than pleased if Harrison shall make as good a showing.

DO NOT BUY THEM.

It is quietly whispered about that there is a scheme being concocted to get the legislature to buy the canal and locks at Oregon City. It is said there will be a greater paid lobby at Salem this winter than has ever been known in the history of the State. It is necessary to caution members against the folly of investing hundreds of thousands of dollars of the people's money in this scheme? Don't buy them.

The Presidential term of office should be extended to six years, and the President elected by a popular vote. United States Senators should be elected the same way. But these reforms can only come through constitutional amendments, which must originate with Congress, and so there is little hope of their coming to pass.—East Oregonian.

These reforms would meet the hearty approval of the people, but our cotemporary is slightly in error about its being necessary that they should originate with Congress. On the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the states Congress would have to call a convention to propose amendments to the constitution. We suggest that the legislature of this state soon to meet pass a joint resolution calling upon Congress to call a convention for the purpose above indicated, and then send the resolution to all the other state legislatures for action. What say you, Bro. Wager?

It is said that Mr. Quay, Chairman of the national republican committee insists that John W. Wamaker the great merchant prince of Philadelphia must be made Secretary of the Treasury under Harrison and gives as the all sufficient reason that he contributed more money to the campaign than any other man. This kind of fitness may suit the republican managers, but it will not meet the approval of the people. By the way is not Wamaker an importer of foreign merchandise, and does not that disqualify him to act as Secretary of the Treasury?

The wife of a well known iron operator in Pennsylvania is beautiful, witty and accomplished, but she bites her finger nails. She says she cannot help it. She acquired the habit in childhood, and has tried every means to break it up, but without success. At times she has succeeded in resisting the inclination until all her finger nails are triumphantly long, but invariably she has driven a cow away from his turnip box for the tenth time in an hour. She does not know when she bites them. She suddenly finds them all gone. Her doctors tell her the habit is incurable except for very strong willed phlegmatic persons.

Many a man is saved from the company of the defiled and the defiling by the sweetness and light of a cheery home. Many a woman, in the possession of a house which invites the actualization of her womanly concepts of the amenities of decorative art, finds the cares of the household no drag and her work lightened and brightened by the cheerfulness of her environment. Human nature is always more or less influenced by environment, and the house which one builds and lives in has much to do in shaping his character and disposition.

James G. Blaine is pre-eminently the leader of the Republican party, and as such should be recognized by President Harrison. Bring leaders to the front and let the monopolies enjoy the fruits of their victory.—Umpqua Herald.

Our cotemporary W. F. Benjamin has suddenly changed to a "British free trader." He now advocates put ting sugar on the free list. O, how sweet free trade must be to him.—Reverie.

The Statesman says that three months ago the democrats could not tell the difference between the tariff and the binomial theorem. The republicans can't yet. The republican party would have run just as well if it had advocated that the square of the sum of two quantities is the difference of their squares.—Leader.

The legislature of California is democratic in both branches. In the Senate the democrats have 23 and the republicans 16 members with one vacancy. In the House the democrats have 41 and the republicans 39 members, making a majority on joint ballot of 8.

According to the Oregonian no state is to be considered in the Union that votes the democratic ticket. That shows clearly the standard of the Oregonian's patriotism.

The Leader of Corvallis is now being sent weekly and is a brightly wrapped newspaper. Every citizen of Benton county should subscribe to it.

Remove the cause with that great nerve tonic, and the ailment will disappear.

Paine's Celery Compound
Jas. J. Paine, Springfield, Mass., writes: "Paine's Celery Compound cannot be credited as a Nerve Tonic. In my case a single bottle brought great change. My nervous system was shattered, and with it the resulting affection of the stomach, heart and liver, was wonderfully invigorated. I tell my friends, friends as I have been, Paine's Celery Compound."
