LOCAL RECORD.

The Oregonian.—While we are happy to learn that Judge Powers is at the other end of the road from us, it is nevertheless regrettable that the police of the State should have taken such a course in arresting the man who was charged with having killed the woman in question. The case is a very serious one, and we trust that the proper authorities will take steps to see that justice is done.

The Oregonian.—The trial of the case in which the woman was charged with having killed the man in question is now in progress. The defendant is a very respectable citizen, and we trust that the facts will be brought out in such a manner as to show the woman's innocence.

The Oregonian.—The case in which the man was charged with having killed the woman in question is now in progress. The defendant is a very respectable citizen, and we trust that the facts will be brought out in such a manner as to show the woman's innocence.

The Oregonian.—The case in which the man was charged with having killed the woman in question is now in progress. The defendant is a very respectable citizen, and we trust that the facts will be brought out in such a manner as to show the woman's innocence.

The Oregonian.—The case in which the man was charged with having killed the woman in question is now in progress. The defendant is a very respectable citizen, and we trust that the facts will be brought out in such a manner as to show the woman's innocence.

The Oregonian.—The case in which the man was charged with having killed the woman in question is now in progress. The defendant is a very respectable citizen, and we trust that the facts will be brought out in such a manner as to show the woman's innocence.

The Oregonian.—The case in which the man was charged with having killed the woman in question is now in progress. The defendant is a very respectable citizen, and we trust that the facts will be brought out in such a manner as to show the woman's innocence.

The Oregonian.—The case in which the man was charged with having killed the woman in question is now in progress. The defendant is a very respectable citizen, and we trust that the facts will be brought out in such a manner as to show the woman's innocence.

The Oregonian.—The case in which the man was charged with having killed the woman in question is now in progress. The defendant is a very respectable citizen, and we trust that the facts will be brought out in such a manner as to show the woman's innocence.

The Oregonian.—The case in which the man was charged with having killed the woman in question is now in progress. The defendant is a very respectable citizen, and we trust that the facts will be brought out in such a manner as to show the woman's innocence.

The Oregonian.—The case in which the man was charged with having killed the woman in question is now in progress. The defendant is a very respectable citizen, and we trust that the facts will be brought out in such a manner as to show the woman's innocence.