LABORERS.—One of the latest business enterprises talked of is a bakery, which will be run by W. H. Templeton, of Albany.

Louis Barone, of Jefferson, has been engaged to teach the Seaside school at a salary of $80 per month.

The writer knows of six houses that will be built immediately after the Fourth. Perhaps this is only a tithe of the buildings that will be erected within the next sixty days.

We have it from very good authority that the O. R. V. will be built through Lebanon; but if our citizens would memorialize Mr. Huntington it might give additional security and materially expedite matters.

A slight unpleasantness occurred Saturday between Messrs Patterson and Lamberson, which was satisfactorily adjusted by one of the combatants paying into the city treasury eight dollars.

The farmers along the line of the narrow gauge have been compelled to paper their fences with trespass notices to keep trains out of their wheat fields. If you want to keep the paper out of your grain, pull dog fence until the train hands can see where to drive.—Express.

A PLUCKY GIRL.—On the grassy banks of the raging Big Nestucca to be found a rare jewel in the form of a young lady, five years ago this month Miss Mattie Jones, daughter of J. D. Jones, fled on a homestead of 60 acres of the choicest soil in the Big Nestucca valley, and has made that her home since that time. She has a good frame house and barn, ten acres cleared, six acres planted out and growing, three head of calves and a number of agricultural implements. On the 17th inst. she went before the county court of Tillamook, where she made final proof, Messrs J. C. Norris and Louis T. Johnson acting as witnesses. It is such young ladies as Mattie who make model wives, but we opine that she will be slow to trade a thousand dollars for a fifty-cent husband.—Sheridan Courier.

THAT "BLUE BUCKET."—The following item from the Baker City Democrat will be of interest to several around Albany who have been there themselves on the same wild chase: "Frank Daprat is preparing to leave for the East. Oregonian. Prediction is a few days with a small party of spectators on a trip to a point fifty miles beyond Canyon City, where gold is being mined. The prospectors are immigrants some twenty-five years ago. They were pursued by Indians and were unable to develop their find, which it is supposed has never since been worked. Jack Jenkins, who will accompany the expedition, was among the immigrants mentioned, and discovered the gold."

SCIO WANTS THE R. R.—Peter Smith, E. G. and J. S. Smith, of Scio, were in the city to day on their way home from Portland, where they had been to confer with the officials of the Southern Pacific Railroad Co. in reference to running their line through Scio, instead of along its present course. A change would only make the line a mile and a half longer and would take it through a much better and safer country than heretofore, so say the committee, and would increase the freight traffic. The officers of the railroad and surveyors into the field and make estimates. Mr. Smith and his companions think the prospects are good for the change.

WHAT THEY CARRY.—The following regulations in reference to the carrying of traps on the S. P. will be of general public interest: The overland trains carry mail and express, take and let off passengers, and carry baggage, but not traps, but at other points, the Albany local runs out a short time ahead of the overland and carries passengers only. If there are passengers at way stations, the local carries tickets that are picked up by this train and dropped off at the first stopping place.

ADVERTISING CONTRACT.—Geo. M. Miller has made a contract to advertise Lane county through the agency of Lane & Thomas, Chicago, for twelve months. He pays the sum of $4,705. The advertisement to run in nineteen religious journals in Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, Tennessee and Georgia, with a combined circulation of 200,000.—Eugene Register.

POCKETED RIFLE.—While playing in the game of base ball at Lebanon the members of the Albany club left their dollars in a room at the hotel and requested the proprietor to look it. It was not locked, though, and during their absence some one entered it and went through some of their pockets. $15 in money was taken from the pocket book of Frank Brockreidge and one or two pieces of jewelry were stolen.

A SHINGLE MILL.—Mr. J. H. Armstrong of the Long Tom shingle mill was in town Monday looking after his business. He shipped a car load of cedar shingles to Albany the first of the week. The car contained 40,000 shingles. He has recently employed an experienced shingle maker from the East and now has five men at work. He made fifty thousand shingles last week and has a good prospect for the future. He is a good business man and is meeting with the success he deserves.—Eugene Register.

THE LOCAL CRITIC OF THE EVENING DEMOCRAT.—In trying to correct a dispatch in the Oregonian, says that Wm Workman had an "apologetic fit." He should procure a pocket dictionary and refer to it before trying to correct his superiors.—Herald.

A paper that criticizes another on account of a typographical error in a small business, particularly one that lives in a cottage and glass house; and the local critic does not acknowledge such a blunder to be his superior.

WHERE STOP.—A Eugene paper says the overland train will stop only at the following stations between Roseburg and Portland: Eugene, Irving, Junction, Harney, Albany, Sheild, Halsey, Tangent, Salem, Woodburn, and Oregon City. Tickets to other stations along the line can not be purchased to go on this train.

THE GEORGIOS POINT.

The quietest and most peaceable city in Oregon, Friday, was Albany. Partially depopulated it enjoyed an intense solitude as the store of the man who does not advertise. It's citizens went to divers places to put in the day and help make that noble old bird, the eagle, give his anti-social speech gradually changing into a hoodlum whoop.

AT LEBANON.

From far and near the people of the country gathered in at Lebanon, and nowhere was the day celebrated in a more becoming manner. A large number went from this city, and report a fine time. The young man detailed to keep track of the horses for the Democrat, heads his memorandum with "pretty girls," and they were there in all their loveliness.

The attendance was quite immense, and—as is the custom—was variously estimated at the way from 8000 to 15000. The procession was a long and live one, being about a mile long and contained about 1000 persons. Then the pluggies came out they were greeted with a cyclone of applause.

A game of base ball was played in the afternoon at the Lebanon grounds, Albany and the C. C. H's, of Lebanon, were the contestants. The game was won by the Albany team by a score of 17 to 10. The game was much more than an ordinary one, the present baseball rules, but the game was interesting. Mr. J. D. Ginnis umpired with marked fidelity.

The oration by William Kalmer, of Salem, was a sensible, scholarly effort and was well received by the audience. The declaration of independence with fine elocutionary effect.

One or two lights added spice to the horse race brought out three teams, the Lebanon, Scio and Knox Albany teams. Knox Albany bette second money in 35 seconds; Scio dropped the nozzle and was out of the race.

The fat man's race was contested in a lively manner and was won by Ed Keebler.

Tom Peshler won the 100 yard foot race with ease, and there were several other spirited contests with wheelbarrows.

The game of baseball in the afternoon was the feature of the day, and was a splendidly successful one. The Lebanon team played the Lebanon nine and won by 21 to 13. The general playing was excellent on the part of the Albany as well as some of the Lebanon players. Wilson's short stop, Tenniff's catching, Welch's second base, were particularly noteworthy. The support of the Albany nine. Following was the score:

| ALBANY | LEBANON |
|-----------------|---------|
| Batters: 8 | 8 |
| Runs: 17 | 10 |
| Errors: 3 | 3 |
| Left on base: 3 | 3 |
| Stolen bases: 2 | 2 |
| Struck out: 3 | 3 |
| Double play: 1 | 1 |
| Ball game: 1 | 1 |
| Fielding: 3 | 3 |
| Put out: 12 | 12 |

Lebanon was handsomely decorated for the occasion and the celebration was a possible to make the celebration a glorious success.

AT SALEM.

A DEMOCRAT MAN, for indisputable reasons, was one of nearly three hundred invited to the Lebanon celebration to the glorious day, at Salem.

Leaving Albany at 5:30 o'clock, a few thousand whirled off in a motor car, with building products for the Liverpool market, many passengers being taken on the special for the Lebanon celebration, and we were at the Capital City.

The four young men who emptied a black bucket of whisky apiece, before they reached there, in order to be in the condition to celebrate in their version of the proper style, were never drunker during the Lebanon celebration than they landed in the suburbs of Salem.

As the DEMOCRAT man was there more to collect than to celebrate, he took out his note book and hence the proceedings of the day will only be given in an off hand style, without the usual amount of formality and pomp.

At 10 o'clock, in company with several friends, the DEMOCRAT man, his chaperon during the day, the DEMOCRAT man, after admiring the broad streets, busily gotten up, the nicely decorated and arranged commercial and State streets, that were a credit to the occasion, and instructing the DEMOCRAT man to be ready at 11 o'clock, he started on a car, on the electric motor line, for the celebration. The ride in a very cool and comfortable car, was also very enjoyable. We were also able to make good money, as we had the ideal 4th of July weather—clouds, cool, bracing, which tended to make everything seem to be in the best of the DEMOCRAT man, henceforth, is a complete electric motor advocate.

At 11 o'clock, the finest parade ever given in the valley, was held. It was full of attractive features, the representations of the different trades being particularly noteworthy. The parade was headed by the band, being those of Dallas, Silverton, Stayton, Cheshewa, Independence, Harney, and Oregon City. The parade ended at Marion square, where the spread-eagle act occurred, of more than ordinary interest for a moment of the part of the program. Among other features were some delightful vocal solos by Halle Parrish, Mrs. Strickler and Miss Gail Hart. The parade of kissing game, delivering the oration.

Beginning at 2:30 o'clock some interesting horse races were run for which the time seemed to be kept in a very certain manner. Corvallis fairly won both the trot and engine race, and Salem Captains' tender race. Albany, with splendid teams, got some.

A one-sided base ball game took place at 4 o'clock, on the Lebanon grounds, that cost $1500 to fence, between Salem and Dallas. It was won by Salem, with hands down. Score, 12 to 1.

There were some bicycle, pluggie and other small contests of no interest to our readers. The hand contest, on Wilson Avenue, was won by the band from Dallas. The Albany hand did not enter, the members returning home on the Lebanon train. Cheshewa was second, Stayton third.

The celebration, altogether, was a great credit to Salem, and a result of much better than many 4th of July celebrations.

TO THE FRONT.

Six or seven car loads of excursionists from points east of the Bay, the largest number being from Albany, went to the Lebanon celebration. They were very scenery and bracing atmosphere and a jolly ride, and all obtained in abundance.

There was no special Eagle, no declaration of independence or oration; but lots of fun of its kind. The scenery is simply grand in places and the excursionists were delighted with the trip, reporting one of the pleasant rides ever participated in. It had been intended to take dinner at Coe; but learning that a couple from from Mil City had set a test there with a lot of corn juice on the inside they were stopped seven miles this side of the maddest man yet reported was the result. The company returned in splendid spirits, as sober as demerol, and reported the best way on record to spend the Fourth.

AT BROWNSVILLE.

A large and delighted crowd gathered at Brownsville, where the day was passed in a very pleasant manner, notable for the orderly, well behaved conduct of those present. The procession was a good one. The Henry car with little girls representing the states, was one of the best ever seen in that city. Thirty says that Senator Stewart has become dependent over the silver situation, and now believes there will be no silver legislation this session, and perhaps this session. He believes that the conference committee was selected with the intention that it should not agree or even try to agree. He charges that the action of the vice-president in appointing Sherman chairman of the senate committee was to induce defeat and that Sherman understood and will call a meeting of the conference committee whenever he feels like it and not before. As Senator Jones of Nevada fathered the silver bill he should have been appointed chairman of the senate conferees, but that would not suit the good men, as under Jones' chairmanship an agreement would be arrived at very shortly. Senator Stewart believes Speaker Reed to be in the plot to delay this legislation, and that it was for this purpose that he appointed Walker of Massachusetts as one of the house conferees, and Walker is at home in Massachusetts, and no one seems to know when he will return.

THE WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT OF THE OREGONIAN

This is a bad country for croakers. The man who always laments the world is going to the dogs has no place in the United States. Even the mistakes of legislation are soon healed over by the inevitable growth and prosperity of this grand republic. The increase in population is steady, and the increase in production of wealth is beyond all precedent. Even the English statisticians now admit that the wealth of the United States in real and personal property surpasses that of Great Britain, but the latter country represents the accumulations of a thousand years, while the United States represents the business of one-quarter of that time, and, in fact, as a nation, only one-tenth of that period. There can be no doubt of a profitable field for enterprising and industrial manufacturers in the United States, while such elements of prosperity are prominent on all sides. It is a grand time to extend one's facilities, and to be able to meet the inevitable increase in the demand for standard goods.

The Watson county Saw is much coveted over the different results obtained in multiplying $5 by $5 and 500 cents (which is equivalent to $5) by 500 cents. The first result is $25, and the second 250,000 cents or $2,500. The absurdity of the Saw's proposition is found in the fact that $5 can not be multiplied by a concrete number can not produce a concrete number. If however, we call the 5 that we multiply by an abstract number, it will be seen that in the multiplication we took the $5 five times and made the $25. Now, to maintain the equality of the two quantities 500 cents must be also taken five times and not 500 times as the Saw does.

The Washington correspondent of the Oregonian expresses the opinion that the federal election bill will probably go over to the next session of congress. He thinks enough republicans in the senate will cooperate with the democrats in that body to prevent its passage this session. This we do not believe. We believe the bill will pass within the next twenty days, and that it's talk about the senate's in-jesting or prolonging action on it is put forth to ally the feeling that is springing up against its passage among republicans throughout the country.

It is estimated that over 20,000,000 cigars are manufactured every day in the United States, and that this enormous number requires in the neighborhood of 40,000 boxes for their keeping. As a result there are over 200 factories in the country turning these boxes out. The wood of which these boxes are made comes from Mexico, Central America and the West Indies.

It is not generally known that there are more wagoes manufactured in St. Louis than in any other city in the country. The entire south and southwest are supplied with wagoes of all kinds from this point. In the line of fancy wagoes and carriages St. Louis manufacturers beat the world, shipping even to Europe and Australia.

The question in Pennsylvania this year is whether Mathew Quay can buy more votes for Delamater with the Standard Oil monopoly's money than the disgust of honest republicans can alienate from the smother candidate.

The democrats of Pennsylvania have nominated Ex-governor Patton for governor and C. M. Black for Lieutenant governor. This is a strong team.

The republicans in the house yesterday passed the infamous federal election bill.
