ST. PAUL, Dec. 15 .- A dispatch recelved late tonight by the Pioneer Press about today's fight says that when the Indian police reached camp they found the Indians ready to march. The ponies were painted and many of the savages had stripped for war. The police made a dash into camp and selzed Sitting Bull. They were on their way back to Standing Rock when a son of the famous chief urged his comrades to recapture the old man. The women and children were left in the bushes and then with yells, the hostile charged upon the police, firing as they came. A hand-to-hand struggle ensued, during which Sitting Bull, who was not shackled, gave his orders in a loud voice. For several minutes the firing was heavy and deadly. In the fusilade Sitting Bull fell out of his saddle, plerced by a bullet, but it is not known whether it was fired by the
