Fine butter and pure milk. The dairy industry is the most powerful of all industries in progressive agriculture. Fine butter is a product of art and skill, and we know of no competition in the manufacture of fine butter in the winter. The profit in winter dairying is large and profit in winter dairying is large and certain, the Willamette valley is as well suitedto dairying, especially winterdairying, as any state or country I know of. I have studied the dairy industry in all its bearings in the East and West, I have been through Holland, Ireland and Denmark and other countries to learn their methods and their advantages and I find we are ahead in all respects but one.
