

The Democrat.

MR. CLEVELAND IS NEW YORK

No man has any warrant for saying dogmatically either that Mr. Cleveland can or cannot carry the state of New York, if nominated by the democrats for president.

Not only knows Mr. Edward Murphy has expressed the opinion that Mr. Cleveland "would fail by 50,000 votes of drawing the full democratic strength."

Why he might do that and yet carry the state. If either Harrison or Blaine shall be nominated will not the republicans fall by more than 50,000 votes of polling their full strength in this state?

Remember Folger. Remember Fassett. In addition to this, it will hardly be denied, we suppose, that Mr. Cleveland would poll more of the independent and Mugwump vote in this state than any other democrat would be likely to secure. This vote is peculiar. At times it is funny and at other junctures it is exasperating in its freaks. Yet it is a very intelligent vote. And it counts in elections just as much as though it were regular and reliable.

Mr. Cleveland is furthermore the democrat who is more likely than any other to get a considerable number of disaffected republicans, especially upon the city issue. Mr. Murphy says: "In what way is Mr. Cleveland stronger today than he was in 1858?" Many others have asked the same question. It is not easy to answer definitely. And yet it may be fairly asked in return why Mr. Cleveland is not as much stronger than he was in 1858 as the democrats issue of tariff reform for which he conspicuously stands if stronger?

The forcing of that issue in 1857, as the World said, was the right thing done at the wrong time. It should have been presented in the first year of Mr. Cleveland's administration or there have been delays until after the election.

There was not time enough in which to make the people understand it. New York was lost by a plurality of 13,000 through that and other causes. But when McKinley carried this state in 1890, upon a square issue in the election of congressmen, by a plurality of 78,000. And again last year, with tariff reform emphasized in the platform and made the leading issue in the speeches, the democrats won by a plurality of nearly 48,000.

Is it not reasonable to suppose that Mr. Cleveland would benefit by some of this gain? The "troubled appointments" of office-seekers and patronage-peddlers, which are just as unbecoming in Harrison, caused President Cleveland some losses in 1888 which he would feel to a less extent now that a republican is the spoils-distributor.

The World does not say that Mr. Cleveland could surely carry New York. This state is, as we have heretofore conclusively shown, an extremely doubtful state in presidential elections. But we do say that Mr. Cleveland should not carry it if any democrat can. A factional fight against him would of course imperil it if not surely lose it. But why should there be such a fight if the national convention shall nominate him and its proceedings are conducted with ordinary prudence and wisdom? What need is there of opposition or sulking here?

Mr. Cleveland has done nothing to push his own candidacy. He has not distinguished himself. He has even expressed his misgivings as to the wisdom of his nomination. Mr. Murphy disclaims any personal feeling. "All the delegates to the national convention," he asserts, "voted kindly towards Mr. Cleveland." The Tammany leaders have repeatedly said the organization would give the ex-president a loyal support should he be nominated. Senator Hill has never yet opened his mouth in support of Mr. Cleveland, nor given one a merely lukewarm support. He is not likely to begin this year, when so much is at stake both for his party and for him.

The great majority of the democrats of the union seem to prefer Mr. Cleveland to his candidate. If that preference shall take the form of a nomination the World hopes and expects to see him receive a solid democratic support here. It will not be a party vote, but a vote in accordance with his own policy, to secure for the democratic ticket the electoral vote of New York—New York World.

Carnegie is a great republica and a very devoted protectionist. At each recurring campaign he manages to get himself before the public and tells of the beauties of protection in securing good wages for labor people. Before the sound of his Scotch intonation he died away we read the following despatch from Pittsburgh:

One of the most bitter contests between labor and capital in recent years is expected to begin at the Homestead steel works of Carnegie, Allegheny, Pa., on the 23rd inst. The workers have until the 24th instant to decide whether or not they will accept a scale of wages, which they claim, will reduce their carrying capacity from 10 to 8 per cent. They have formally rejected the new scale, but no person expects them to accept it. When the strike broke the Carnegie organization, he counts upon repeating the experience at Homestead.

When Governor Penrose says that the democrats of Oregon, if they had pronounced for free coinage of silver and had not declared for Grover Cleveland, they would have carried the state, he forgets that there are many democrats of sound free sense in Oregon who would not stand free coinage in Oregon. It is not a question of money, but of principle. Then, here is a conundrum. The Oregonian says the Minneapolis platform is sound on the silver question. That is, it is sound from the standpoint of the Oregonian—opposed to free coinage. Now, the query is, what will the seven or eight thousand republican voters in Oregon who favor free coinage, led by Mitchell and Hermann, do this fall with reference to the matter of voting for Harrison, a gold bug, on a gold bug platform? This is a sensitive matter but the Oregonian prods the free silver republicans up to their eyes and ears.

The House has passed bills to admit New Mexico and Arizona to the union as states. Each has a population greater than that of several recently admitted states, but both were kept out when the last batch of states was made because both were supposed to be democratic, and state-making at that time was an arduous task for the party of strengthening the republican grip on the senate and the republican chance in presidential elections.

We call the attention of the readers of the Democrat to an article taken from the New York World published in another column. The World heretofore has been unfriendly to Cleveland, hence the opinion expressed by that it "sees no reason why Mr. Cleveland should not carry New York if any democrat can." must be taken as worthy of great consideration.

Latest Portland News—"I called to sleep" says 50 cents; "Woobly" says 75 cents. For information, will mail either for "two cents" or "three cents." Catalogue free, send at once to "NATIONAL MEDICINE BUREAU," London, Ohio.

"NATIONAL MEDICINE BUREAU," London, Ohio. "HACKMETHAN" is a leading and reliable...

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

A Salem Fire.
SALEM, Or., June 18.—Just before midnight the Salem Iron Foundry and Ira Levi's saw and door factory caught fire from the lumber yards or engine rooms and very soon almost the entire block was in flames. At 2 o'clock the fire was under control with eight private residences damaged to the extent of about $100,000. Levi's loss of lumber is $8000, covered by a fire insurance policy. The foundry loss is $5000; insurance $8000. In the State, Lion and Imperial. Six hundred men were employed in the fire now, but all the buildings are saved, nothing being burned but lumber, wood and frames. A reporter named Beach was badly injured by a brick with fire-axe on the eye, and is now delirious. A fireman was injured by a falling roof. No further news.

Five Children Drowned.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 18.—Five children were drowned at Neville island, on the Ohio river, eight miles from Pittsburg, at 3:30 this afternoon. The names are Paul Pittcock, 3 years old; Maggie Pittcock, 12 years; Edna Pittcock, 14 years; Edna Richardson, 13 years; and the brother of H. L. Pittcock, of the Portland Oregonian and lives in a pretty country one near Nevada. The children were in a buggy in the river when it tipped over.

A Site Selected.
WASHINGTON, June 17.—Postmaster General Wamanager, Attorney General Miller, and Secretary Foster, acting as a commission, have agreed upon the selection of a site for the new public building at Washington. The site is on the corner of the new public building at Washington.

It Was Fatal.
MANKATO, Minn., June 17.—The latest developments substantiate the gravest fears of yesterday as to the fate of the boat. The boat will be at least thirty, and seven bodies have been recovered thus far. The building was destroyed. Several people were injured. At Linden many houses were torn from their foundations.

A Terrible Cyclone.
MANKATO, Minn., June 16.—One of the worst disasters that ever visited southern Minnesota occurred here on the 16th. A funnel-shaped tornado swept over the land, laid waste scores of happy homes and laid 40 or 50 souls into eternity. The extent of country destroyed is enormous. In some places the cyclone was the worst that ever hit the Northwest.

A Big Laying Out.
MOUNT VERNON, June 16.—Peter Brosslin arrived in the city tonight with a story of a horrible murder of a pit boss on the Monte Christo road, and the lynching of four Italians who perpetrated the crime. There were about 150 Italians working for Smith Bros., contractors, and about 40 white men. The bodies were found in a ditch. The bodies were found in a ditch. The bodies were found in a ditch.

Chicago Center.
CHICAGO, June 16.—The democratic national convention is expected, will get to actual work in its session at the Chicago Convention Center. The Chicago Convention Center is expected to be completed by the 1st of August. The Chicago Convention Center is expected to be completed by the 1st of August.

Another Cyclone.
SAINT ROSE, Quebec, June 15.—The pretty little village of Saint Rose, a fashionable summer resort near Montreal, was entirely obliterated by a cyclone on the 15th. The houses were carried away, trees were torn from their roots, and horses and cattle literally carried away and deposited in fields hundreds of feet from the place. The school was totally demolished, and of the 25 young scholars two were dead and many were injured. The school was totally demolished, and of the 25 young scholars two were dead and many were injured.

Four Disagreeable Items.
WASHINGTON, June 15.—The conference committee on the river and harbor bill held a meeting today. The committee adjourned this afternoon. There were only four items in the bill upon which they disagreed. Two of these were disposed of by the committee reading one and the other on the spot. The two remaining items not agreed to are the Lake Michigan and the Lake Superior and the Lake Ontario and the Lake Erie.

A Handcar Accident.
SPOKANE, Wash., June 15.—A handcar accident occurred on the Great Northern road last evening, about 30 miles east of this city. A handcar was carrying a load of lumber and was being pushed by a man. The handcar was carrying a load of lumber and was being pushed by a man.

Getting Bloodthirsty.
GUTHRIE, June 15.—To escape mob violence last night, the negro artist Holby was taken from this city to Oklahoma and lodged in jail. Today the sheriff received a message from Oklahoma, saying the negro must be taken away, as trouble would likely be made on his account. The sheriff then sent a deputy to remove the negro. About 500 people gathered at the depot upon the arrival of the train, determined to take the prisoner. The negro was taken to the United States marshal and strong guard.

Pattison For Second Choice.
PHILADELPHIA, June 15.—It leaked out today and was the subject of much discussion in democratic circles that the Cleveland delegates from Pennsylvania had been asked to support Pattison for second choice. The delegates from Pennsylvania had been asked to support Pattison for second choice.

High Prices For Chicago Realty.
CHICAGO, June 15.—Marshall Field today purchased from H. H. Kohlman, of the International, 2940 feet of the northwest corner of Dearborn and Madison, containing the new 8250 a square foot. This is $100,000 for a foot on the Dearborn street frontage. Mr. Kohlman purchased the property February 22, 1889, for $150,000, which was at the rate of $17.50 per square foot.

Stage Robbers at Work.
KLAMATH FALLS, Or., June 16.—Two masked robbers held up the Linkville and Linkville stage about half way between Klamath Falls and Madras, during the morning. They ransacked the Wells Fargo bag getting, it is believed, a large amount, and then escaped.

A Local Accident.
MADRID, June 16.—Herman Peterson, a Swedish, while working in the camp of Charles Rodin, had both legs badly mangled yesterday by being caught in a trap. The left foot was amputated, and the chances of saving the right are very uncertain.

NOTES.

F J Catterlin was today called to Marion to photograph the scene of the "Oregon Wonder." This call is almost altogether like the one in "Journal."

Sol M. Stock was elected convalescent of this precinct by a majority over Zephiah the banker. It was a close race and both developed considerable strength as politicians. Sol received a total of three votes for the position and Zeph two—Corvallis Times.

This afternoon before the adjournment of court for the day Hon Geo B Dorris, on behalf of the Eugene bar, presented Judge Pipes a fine gold headed cane with the name of Eugene Bar. Mr Dorris said that the cane was a gift from the public school to the Normal school, and that then we need the best teachers possible. The cane was presented to the Normal school to the Normal school, and that then we need the best teachers possible.

Senators Mitchell is a man of the people. Wednesday he even lunched with Joe Simon, the Portland boss.

In 1891, the street cars in New York City carried 324,000,000 passengers. This city should begin looking to her laurels.

The wheat situation is a peculiar one. Mainly would be high, and wheat and spring wheat. What is wanted is an apparatus that will cause the rain to fall where wanted, and keep it from falling where it is not wanted. It is a puzzle.

In Albany young people have to be dozen times before the real knot is tied. There is too much "previous" conduct in this respect.

In Portland a voter made no mark on the ticket until he came to the last name, James Sprague. He scratched this out and wrote "I scratch this name" and the name was for being on the tail end of such a ballot.

Did you ever notice that everyone who has real estate values are at the maximum? The time to buy real estate is when values are at the minimum. It is a rule. It is a rule. It is a rule.

There are no mosquitoes on the following from the Oregon City Express: "I H and W T Spooner and Bert Davis returned Tuesday from a trip by team up the coast. They saw many fine views of the country and over to Coos county. We report Oregon City and Albany the loveliest places they found on the trip."

The Democrat mentioned the escape of John Hutchinson from the insane asylum. He was formerly of Wolf Creek, and was taken to the asylum by the institution he informed several of the inmates that he intended killing the doctor on Wolf Creek and returning to his home in Oregon. The doctor was killed and the inmates were taken to the asylum. The doctor was killed and the inmates were taken to the asylum.

Barrows Bros have entered Bell Norte for the 245 class in the State fair race. Dick Flaherty has been entered in the stialk class.

Miss Mary Edwards, a young lady from Maine, has made the journey from that state around through the southern part of California. She is a distance of about 5000 miles, alone and on horseback. She dresses for convenience and safety in male attire.

It is said Senator Dolph sent $1000 to Douglas county to elect A W Reed, a hold over senator. County Clerk Taylor has filed a writ to restrain the county from paying the money. The county clerk has filed a writ to restrain the county from paying the money.

Miss Little Laidlaw, who killed Walter Clark at Tracy, had a neck saw held to answer on a charge of manslaughter, with bail fixed at $20,000. She is a pretty blonde, 19 years of age, innocent and quiet in appearance, and of excellent character, says an Ex.

PUBLIC SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT.

A packed house greeted the graduates of the public school at the opera house last night. The program was opened with a piano solo, well executed, by Misses Hopkins and Stuart. After an invocation by Dr Irvine, the quartet were heard in a song. An address was delivered by Prof J B Horner, of the Agricultural college, of Corvallis, on "Our duty to the public school."

President Campbell, of the Monmouth Normal school, spoke to the point, sentimentally, on "the relation of the public school to the Normal school," showing that the first and best question is education, and that the relation of the public school to the Normal school is education, and that the relation of the public school to the Normal school is education.

David Gottlieb was heard in a violin solo, nicely executed for one so young. Nellie M. Brown read an essay on Longfellow, paying a tribute to the poet's favorite poet, in a short sketch of his life.

Enter a Baldwin read an essay on the "Joy Land," will present "The Farina Well," at the opera house, on the 22nd inst. The program will be a very interesting one, and will be sure to take advantage of the press speaks in high terms of the play and program generally, and the Democracy will quote from them in the next few days.

Kate W Briggs read an essay on "Our Centennial," a well written sketch of the events leading up to the 40th anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus, to whom we are much obliged, whether the first discoverer or not.

A song by the quartet, Prof W W Davis, C H Hart, Prof Crawford and W H Brown, was enthusiastically received, and a second time encored. The quartet made a decided hit.

Winnie E Chamberlain read an ably written essay on Noble Women, speaking in contrast to those who give up their lives for the cause of humanity. Her clear voice, distinctly heard over the entire audience. The essay referred to Cordelia, to Anna Moore, to Harriet Beecher Stowe, to Lucretia Mott, Alice and Phoebe Carey, Mrs Livermore, Miss Willard and Mrs. Sumner, among the noble women of our country.

Carey E Crawford read a history of the members of the class, full of interesting facts, and a list of names. The girls were the young ladies not merely school girls, but the young ladies of the city. It showed how rapidly this country is filling up, the class being born in 1847.

C H Hart sang "From the Cradle to the Grave," with guitar accompaniment. It was a beautiful and sweetest always pleasant to hear.

Ella E Mead was heard in an essay, "The Mother." It was well presented, and was an excellent monologue on putting our shoulders to whatever work we attempt. Education is the result of the mother's care. We must not shrink from hard work. We need a practical education. It promotes peace and happiness. Ignorance means idleness and crime. The essay was one of much merit.

Geo B Montanye read an essay on "The Mother." It was well presented, and was an excellent monologue on putting our shoulders to whatever work we attempt. Education is the result of the mother's care. We must not shrink from hard work. We need a practical education. It promotes peace and happiness. Ignorance means idleness and crime. The essay was one of much merit.

Robert P Lee, giving a sketch of his life, and of the life of his father, a general, now recognized by the world. Maggie E Shupp read an essay on "English Literature," beginning with the story of the life of William Shakespeare and Spenser, down to Scott, the greatest novelist. In our own country, the greatest writers are Cotton Mather and Jonathan Edwards. In the revolutionary period were Tom Paine and Benjamin Franklin, closing with the names of the great writers of the present day, including William Cullen Bryant, being among the list.

William M Crawford read the class prophesies with good effect, in a clear, agreeable voice. This foretold the future of each member of the class with many bright references, and was a sparkling affair from beginning to end.

Winnie Chamberlain delivered the valedictory, containing good words and kind remembrances for the public school and kind remembrances for the public school and kind remembrances for the public school.

The graduates were presented their diplomas by Prof J B Horner, of the Agricultural college, of Corvallis, on "Our duty to the public school." The graduates were presented their diplomas by Prof J B Horner, of the Agricultural college, of Corvallis, on "Our duty to the public school."

Prof J B Horner, of the Agricultural college, of Corvallis, on "Our duty to the public school." The graduates were presented their diplomas by Prof J B Horner, of the Agricultural college, of Corvallis, on "Our duty to the public school."

HERE AND ABROAD

THURSDAY.
Prof D V B Reid has been reelected as principal of the Eugene schools for the coming year.

A game of baseball will be played the first of next week at this city between the Albany and Salem teams.

A man named Fay met with an accident Tuesday beyond Watson, resulting in the dislocation of one of his ankles.

Yesterday the Young Alliance defeated the Thompsons 13 to 12. This made the seventh game between the clubs. It was stands. Thompson, 4; Young Alliance, 3; C. E. Brown, 2; and the system.

Harrisburg Lodge No 26, A O U W, has been organized by Lecturer O W Whitmore, with the following officers: E E Upmeyer, N W Stone, Treasurer; James S Baker, Secretary; W W Lang, Recorder; Charles L. Baker, Treasurer; J W Lang, Secretary; Ed M. Davis, Treasurer; J W Lang, Secretary.

WH Power's company, recently here on the "Joy Land," will present "The Farina Well," at the opera house, on the 22nd inst. The program will be a very interesting one, and will be sure to take advantage of the press speaks in high terms of the play and program generally, and the Democracy will quote from them in the next few days.

DISTRICT CAMP MEETING.—The Evangelical church will hold a district camp meeting of Albany district, at Jefferson beginning on Monday, June 20th and lasting over five days. It will be held at the residence of Mr. J. S. Fisher and family, and several other Albanyans are expecting to camp.

Beginning July 1, there will be two daily trips on Sunday between Albany and Lebanon.

The monthly meeting of the Building and Loan association will be held this evening at the residence of Mr. J. S. Fisher.

The "shivers" band was out last night playing until a "cop" put a quietus to their midnight frolics.

The Albany B. C. will go to Yreka on the coast train, and will play the Corvallis club at Newport.

The horse advertised by H J Kuylen in the Democrat has been found as owner. Mr. Ben Baker is laying claim to the property.

A Corvallis sabbath school excursion, headed by C C Hogue and J N Johnson came to the coast train.

Judge Biss will perform his last official act as a Circuit Judge in Albany at the court which convenes here on the 27th. Judge Biss assumes his duties on Monday, July 4th.

Joe Grogan was found dead drunk on First street this morning, and placed in the calaboose. Joe is a good fellow when sober and even a harmless man when drunk. He is a native of this city, and is now in the calaboose.

Following are the new officers of the grand lodge of the B. O. E. L. of Albany: Grand Master, M J Clifford; Senior Grand Warden, Paul Metzchen; Junior Grand Warden, D C McKee; Grand Treasurer, F C Chapman; Grand Secretary, W B Lacey; Grand Chaplain, W B Lacey; Grand Organist, J H Thompson.

ONE TRIED, THEY WILL ALWAYS BE USED.

Bernett's Extracts. C E Brownell, sole agent for Burnett's Extracts. When you wear a crown and windows in your eyes, and in your eyes, at corner Second and Ferry streets, Albany. The correct place to buy your groceries is at Samuel P. Ford's.

The best roast coffee in the city at Conrad Doyers. Ashby & Carr, 101 East, 801 Washington Street, Portland, Or.

Novelty in parcels and sun umbrellas at Samuel P. Ford's. Will & Stark carry a splendid stock of gold and silver watches, for men and ladies, and on elegant line of silver ware.

All kinds of choice eating and cooking apples at Albany.

Following is an address delivered at Oak Park grange, No 6, June 11, 1892, by J L Wyle.

The worthy lecturer has requested that I should first state his purpose, I comprehend the necessity of more diligence and of a reformatory work in the care of the orchard. There is no branch of labor more neglected than that of the orchard, and the practical knowledge of that age will compare with the same branch of labor in the present day.

The model farmer delights in the cultivation of those engaged in that branch of labor at the present day, except it be the culture of fruit. The products of the farm and the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food.

The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food. The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food.

The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food. The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food.

The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food. The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food.

The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food. The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food.

The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food. The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food.

The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food. The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food.

The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food. The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food.

The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food. The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food.

The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food. The products of the orchard are the main source of our food, and the products of the orchard are the main source of our food.

A BURNING SORE LEG

Ulcers Form. Hospitals and Doctors useless. Cured with Pain. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About eight years ago I wrote you from Willamette Falls, Or., describing how your wonderful remedy completely cured me of a terrible sore leg. I had been in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.

I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.

I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.

I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.

I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.

I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.

I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.

I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.

I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.

I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.

I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.

I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.

I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.

I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.

I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good. I was in the hospital for months, and had been treated by the best of the medical profession, but nothing would do me any good.