A JUDGE BURNETT STORY.—The Sheridan Sun tells the following old story about Judge Burnett: Years ago Judge Geo Burnett, then a young man, taught school at Sheridan. Sheridan at that time had a pretty tough set of big boys who had succeeded in worsting several teachers who were obliged to quit before the term for which they had hired had expired. Young Burnett came upon the scene, and was tendered the school. He knew the job he had before him but made no boasts. One day shortly after the beginning of his term, he asked one of the young men to perform a certain duty. Full of confidence adduced by former triumphs over pedagogic authority, the student told Burnett to perform the duty himself, if he wanted it done. As quick as a flash, Burnett who was then, as now, an athelete, sprang upon the bulky pupil and hastily mopped the floor with him until the student was thoroughly satisfied. Two or three other big boys tried the mettle of the young pedagogue, but they invariably found him too much for them. Eli Branson, one of Sheridan's old timers, says Geo Burnett was the first man who ever taught his term out in Sheridan. Burnett was always dignified even when a boy, and early possessed those qualities of mind that have in later years helped him to attain his present honorable position, viz: innate integrity and the lion-like courage of his every conviction of right. From a nervy teacher who could fight for the schoolroom, he has graduated to a circuit court judge, and it is said he still retains enough of his old-time ideas of deportment to take no "back talk" from would-be "fresh" advocates of the law.

BADLY WIPED OUT.—The foot ball game at Salem Saturday was a one sided affair, as was anticipated. It was experience against inexperience. The Statesman gives the following account of the game: The game of football yesterday afternoon on the university campus between the Salem and Albany Y M C A teams resulted in a one-sided affair, the Salemites scoring fifty-eight to the visitors nothing. There was the usual din caused by those of the spectators who were armed with tin horns and good, strong lungs and the enthusiasm over the success of the home team ran high. It was very evident that the Albany boys are lacking in training and practice while the Salems played almost perfect in every instance. During the game Turner, Albany's right half back. was slightly injured and McCully was substituted in the second half. The score consisted of ten touchdowns, eight goals, and one safety, making the fifty-eight points. Chester Murphy acted as referee, Mark Savage umpire, and Roy Miller linesman. The receipts at the gate were about $13.50 while the expense of bringing the Albany boys down was over $25.

HARRISBURG.—At the last regular meeting of Thurston Lodge, No. 28, A F & A M, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: R L White, W M; Jas McDonald, S W; M Cunningham, J W; Perry Hyde, Trea D Smith, Sec; G W Brandenburg, tyle

Ernest Wadkins met with an accident last Sunday which resulted in a broken arm. It was his birthday and he was over at John Thomas' house and upon mentioning that it was his birthday. Mr Thomas started after him to thrash him, as is the customary manner of extending congratulations upon young persons when entering upon another year of their career, and Ernest started to run As they entered the dining room they both slipped and fell, and it is supposed Mr Thomas fell on the boys arm, breaking both bones just above the wrist of the right arm.—Review.

WILL GO THROUGH ALBANY.—Tom W Winder, editor of the Wasp, and a bicycle enthusiast, will to decide bet and "establish a record," endeavor to make a trip along the coast and border-line of the United States, estimated—via circuitous country roads—at 21,600 miles, in 300 consecutive days, or a daily average of seventy-two miles, crossing thirty-three states and territories 220 counties; visiting 2,984 cities, towns and villages, and registering at seventy-six points en route. The start will be made from New Orleans on Feb 4, 1895, going west so that the entire trip can be made in warm weather, enabling him, to cross the great plains of the Northwest during the early summer, the most favorable time of all the year. Winder only weighs 120 pounds.

"Early in the Winter, I took a severe cold which developed into an obstinate, hacking cough, very painful to endure and troubling me day and night, for nine weeks, in spite of numerous remedies. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral being recommended me, I began to take it, and inside of 24 hours, I was relieved of the tickling in my throat. Before I finished the bottle, my cough was nearly gone. I cannot speak too highly of its excellence."—Mrs. E. BOSCH, Eaton, Ohio.

DEATH OF MRS. REBECCA YOUNG.

Mrs Rebecca Young died suddenly at the home of her daughter Saturday evening, Dec 15, 1894, of appoplexy. Not feeling well she ate her meal alone in the sitting room, while the family were in the dining room. Her daughter upon going into the room to see if she wanted anything found her lying dead in her chair, her napkin neatly folded and her dish upon an adjoining chair.

Funeral services were held this afternoon. Her pastor for many years, Rev S G Irvine D D, has dictated the following sketch of her life:

Mrs Young was born in Steuben county, N Y, on April 9, 1814. Her parents removed to Ohio when she was but five years of age and settled in Helmes county. She was married July 12, 1831 to Isaac Young. They lived together and walked in harmony down the pathway of life like Isaac and Rebecca of old, during the long period of forty five years. Mr Young departed this life in 1876. Their family consisted of seven children, but two of whom survive her, Mr Samuel E Young and Mrs Weltha Sox. Mrs Young lived in Ohio until the year 1844, when they emigrated to Burmingham, Iowa. In the year 1852 in company with their brother-in-law Dr Wm Miller they emigrated across the plains to Oregon. After coming to Oregon they resided for a few months in Washington county. They moved to the vicinity of Albany in 1853. Their home was at first on the other side of the river, where a son Nelson, a young man 21 years of age was taken from them by death. They moved into the town of Albany in 1856 and Mrs Young has been a constant resident ever since. She has not only been well known and esteemed by the community at large as a useful citizen but has been loved and respected for her benevolent and religious life. She made a public profession of her faith in Christ soon after their removal to Iowa and connected with the United Presbyterian church. During their long and tedious trip across the plains she found opportunity to minister with her willing hands to many a sick and suffering one. Her serenity of temper and kindliness of heart which marked her whole life were specially noticed in the trying scenes on the plains and the early privations of pioneer life. One who traveled with her spoke of her as almost the only person in the train who was always serene and pleasant. During her life of more than forty years in Albany she seemed to search out, as if by instinct almost, every case of sickness and distress within her reach. She never passed by on the other side but always administered to the distressed and gave relief when it was possible.

The religious side of her life was quite as well marked as her benevolence. She joined the U P church of Albany in 1853 and her name was signed to the call for the first pastor on June 19, 1857. She has thus been a constant member of the congregation for the period of 41 years. Since the death of her husband Mrs Young found a home and affectionate care in the families of her son and daughter. While she never enjoyed very vigorous health at any period of her life she was kindly spared in considerable comfort during her declining years and was mercifully allowed to depart in peace without a pang or a shudder in her final hour. After partaking of her evening meal she fell asleep surrounded by her loved ones and in full possession of the joyous christian faith which had sustained her during the years of her long life. To her death could scarcely have been a dark valley and shadow but was rather a peaceful entrance into a higher life. Her memory remains a precious heritage to her family, to many loving friends in the community and to the church with which she was connected.

TUESDAY

NEARLY DROWNED.—Last Sunday Mr Max Friendly came near being drowned in the river at Corvallis. He had started to look after some logs in the boom across the river from Corvallis and had gone down the stairway of the incline, and was standing waiting for a couple of men from the mill who were to take him across in a boat While he waited he fell in, and struggled into the stream. Three government engineers heard his cries, rushed from their cabins, got a boat and succeeded in reaching him just as he was sinking the third time. The Times says: Mr Merrill, one of the two engineers who pulled Max Friendly out of the river yesterday morning said of the affair: "If we had been making any noise in our cabin, we should not have heard the struggling man's cry for help. If we had not heard one of his first cries, we should not have reached him in time to save him." Max is a denizen of earth simply by a scratch.

HUNT'S RAILROAD.—Our readers will probably not be surprised to read the following from the Walla Walla Union: "Word has reached Walla Walla that men who went to Fort Bragg to work upon the new road to be built by G W Hunt are in straightened circumstances. One hotel that was boarding 40 men has had to close and the men have gone into camp with Pat Dwyer. The only work to be had is when one of the small steamers belonging to the mill company at that place arrives and takes on timber. This only happens once a week, and the work lasts a day and a half. Work will not be commenced for two or three months. G W Hunt is in San Francisco. It is reported that the men are liable to be refused food at any time. Mr Duff, G W Hunt's chief clerk, is in San Francisco in straitened circumstances."

A DYNAMITE BOMB.—Marshal Eastland in searching the city jail Sunday morning, found what was considered to be a dynamite bomb. This instrument was a piece of lead pipe about one inch in diameter and four inches long, both ends being securely plugged, and about the center of the pipe was a small hole about the size of the body of a pin. After consulting with the city officials the marshal took the bomb, or whatever it may have been, and threw it into a deep hole in the river.—Eugene Guard. Probably as much of a dynamite bomb as the one found on the O P depot at Corvallis.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mrs James Shahan died suddenly last evening at her home in Mill City. Mrs Shahan went to bed early, while Mr Shahan remained down stairs and read. He heard a noise but thought it was his wife snoring. Upon going to bed in the dark he spoke to Mrs Shahan; but receiving no response got a light and was startled in finding that his wife was dead. Neighbors were called in when it was learned that Mrs Shahan had died of heart disease. The deceased was formerly Mrs Richard Mayo, and was married in this city to Mr Shahan several months ago.

THE LAND PURCHASED.—The new branch insane asylum at Union, in Eastern Oregon is an assured fact now. Heretofore everything has been uncertain and doubt concerning the building of the new asylum but the money has been paid, the deeds made over and the state of Oregon finds herself richer by the possession of 620 acres of land and poorer by the expenditure of $25,000 of good, hard gold. The land purchased is reported as being very rich and fertile and is located one mile and a half northwest of the town of Union, in Union county. The price paid is a trifle over $40 an acre.—Post.

CONTINUES AHEAD.—Receiver Clark was in the city today. Mr Clark continues to show his splendid qualifications as a receiver. Friday $6,480 were paid employes and a small balance was left. The surplus is all used to keep the road bed up, and as a result the road is not only paying but the property is not being allowed to run down as is often the case with roads in the hands of receivers.

Mr Lyman Page, a resident of Albany for only a few years, upon reading the obituary notice of Mrs Young, in the DEMOCRAT, last night, remarked that he was a member of the same party, with Mrs Young across the plains, and gives incidents of the trip.

About two months ago a family named Freeland, consisting of the husband, wife and two boys, arrived here from San Jose, Cal., bound for Albany, Or. Mrs Freeland was quite low with consumption and the family stopped temporarily at the Brooks ranch. The women grew worse and died last Sunday, the funeral occuring the following day.—Klamath Falls Express.

The ad of the Bandon Dye Works appears elsewhere in this issue. Mr David Landles, the proprietor, is an expert dyer with years of experience, having held the position as head dyer in the woolen mills at Oregon City and numerous other factories. Several parties in town have had work done at the Bandon Dye Works and are highly satisfied with it.—Marshfield Sun. Mr Landles and family recently moved from Albany to Marshfield.

EQUALIZING ASSESSMENTS.—The State Board of Equalization is overhauling the different rolls. According to their figures Umatilla county leads in the number of horses, and mules, 14,883. Lincoln county is least with 351. The highest average value is in Multnomah county, 46.99; next Douglas county, $34.65. Linn's is $22.34. The lowest is Crook, $10.40. Total, 179,-397, average $18.90. Harney leads in the number of cattle, 35,441. The highest average value is Multnomah $13.69, next, Coos $12.99; Linn, $6.56 is lowest. Total $356,048; average, $9.98. Crook has the most sheep, 219,842; Grant, 175,988; Clatsop the least, 615. The highest average value is in Clatsop, $1.54, least in several, $1.00; Linn, $1.03. Total in state, $1,-451,861, average $1.14. Jackson leads in hogs, 8,653; Lincoln has the least, 236. Highest average, Washington, $4 14; lowest, Josephine $1.80. Linn, 6,119 at $2. Total in state 95,738, average $2.25. The grand total of the gross value of the assessable property in Oregon for the year 1894 as returned by the county boards of equalization is $155,830,045, while that for the year 1896 is $179,088,770. A decrease of $21,419,041, or 12 per cent. The state board in their 1893 work equalized the assessment to such an extent that the grand total was $177,249,086.

AN HONEST MAN.—A couple of weeks ago the sons of a farmer, B F McGhee, living on Lake Labish. killed a young fox and, mistaking it for a young coyote, saved the scalp. brought it in to the county clerk's office and claimed and received the bounty of $5 for it. When McGee heard of the matter he investigated it and yesterday came in and returned the bounty money his boys had received, saying that he was not honestly entitled to the money he would not keep it but wished to turn it back into the county treasury. Surely that man must feel lonesome in this world.

THANKS.—The committee that had in charge the management of the Dickens Carnival avail themselves of the opportunity to thus publicly return their sincere thanks to all those who so kindly consented to represent the various characters and also to the orchestra, ushers and all others who contributed to th ccess of the undertaking.

THE FORMATIVE PERIOD.

Editors Democrat:

The child's emotional nature is the first to wake up after his physical sensibilities, and this is the garden ground to work upon whilst the intellectual side is slowly dawning. The formative work done now tells more on the future character than in the later years of childhood and youth. To form aright is better than to reform, and to prevent is a greater good than to cure. The key to this formative process is in the Frobel method, whether practiced in the home, or in the kindergarten—the "children's larger home," where the children's entire needs are deeply studied and tenderly supplied, the ideal mother—teachers

The report of the St Louis Kindergarten (an adjunct to the Public school system) says: "It is also an ideal community, where each child finds his true relations to his little fellows, his equals through living examples rather than abstract truth." A police in Chicago said: "I find less to do in a beat where there is a kindergarten than in any other."

True education should be as the word implies a "drawing out i. e. of what is good, while there is a corresponding shrinkage of what is bad. The teaching of the Kindergarten is partly by song and play used instinctively the world over, and now as a means of heathfully feeding the receptive mind. Likewise the teaching by question and answer. Not the dull catechism learnt by rote in former years; but the question suggested already by something else, that draws out thought and idea in the childish answer.

They have been having a hot time in Corvallis over the water works bonds. A correspondent in the Times gets hot and asks: Was it good faith to the taxpayers for a majority of the council to agree to pay the water company $8,000 more for their property than it is worth, without making any effort to get it for less? Was it good faith to employ a Portland firm to represent the city in the litigation, when they had an efficient city attorney? Was it good faith to fight the case through the circuit and supreme court on a technicality instead of filing an answer and trying the issues presented by the complaint, and then paying the Portland firm $300, the city attorney $250, and an Albany firm $150 without benefitting the city one dime?

It is often a mystery how a cold has been "caught." The fact is, however, that when the blood is poor and the system depressed, one becomes peculiarly liable to diseases. When the appetite or strenght fails, Ayer's Sarsaparilla should be taken without delay

TALK AS YOU PLEASE about "new men" being humbug and patronize older firms, just because your grandaddy did, be an old fogy just because somebody else is and you never will amount to anything. It's a good thing some people are that way, or Tinkle the artist would not have time to eat. As it is people are learning that he is away ahead in fine, artistic photography and his business has been steadily increasing ever since he came here last winter. It will pay you to see him about your photos.

ALBANY TO PRINEVILLE.

A Spicy Account of an Interesting Trip.

Editors Democrat:

Of all sweet words in prose or poem, the sweetest are these: "Once more at home." A trip from Portland to Prineville at this season of the year via Albany and Lebanon would be an undertaking at which one would hesitate; but via The Dalles, while not a pleasant trip, is possible and can be easily made in seven days. We left The Dalles at 6 a m on Monday, the day following the heavy storm which raged in the valley, while there was rain here, they had snow east of the Cascade mountains together with strong winds, causing the snow to drift badly. On account of the snow, the stage company found it necessary to lay off their Pullman cars; using instead a buckboard, which for "comfort, durability and style" can be excelled. The first day we wallowed through the "beautiful" for a distance of fifty miles. As the company had also discontinued their sleeping car service, we were obliged to lay over that night at Bake Oven, which, by the way is a missnomer, for of all the cold places, this certainly ranks first Wood and coal are expensive, consequently they use no more than is absolutely necessary. For a person coming in from a long cold ride with hands and feet in a congealed condition the sight of the stove was anything but cheering.

Next morning we arose before the lark, for "* * * * *" 'tis not yet morn, 'Tis the Nightengale and not the lark, which doth pierce the hollow of thine ear."

We got started at 3:30 and had a ride of 16 miles over the cold bleak table lands, before breakfast, just as an eye opener. There was one consolation, however, 16 miles is not as far as twenty would be. This second day we make seventy miles, landing in Prineville at 6 p m. One of the first citizens to greet us was Judge Mason E Brink, who, in addition to political honors, has been taking on considerable averdupois. The town hay scales are the only ones which will register his 215 lbs weight. There seems to be some virtue in the climate for Prof Lee Liggett, formerly of Albany, weighs 245 lbs. He is now principal of the public school. Time seems to have favored him, for, with the exception of his ponderous presence and prodigious personage, there has been no noticeable change in his personal appearance.

Geo E Waggoner, of Corvallis, is engaged there in making a map of Crook county. He, too, is getting the benefit of the climate, having gained two lbs. He now weighs 97.

While times, financially, are quiet, owing principally to the prices of wool and cattle, there is still considerable money in circulation, and things look better than through the Willamette valley.

The sentiment regarding the O P railroad is pretty evenly divided. The local paper, that "moulder of public opinion" is doubtless sincere in its assertion that the town is better off as it is at present, depending on freight wagons for its supplies, while many of the citizens contend that the road would greatly benefit the country generally. There is one thing sure; if the road is ever extended east on the line of the present survey, there will be a larger town built about thirty miles south of Prineville, which will be a death blow to the future of this prosperous town. The citizens cannot afford to let the road pass them by at any great distance. It would be to their interest to raise a sum sufficient to induce the company to consider the matter of passing through the town

A stay of two days in Prineville was enjoyed, and the return trip was made without incident. Both days on the road were clear and cold; but while the cold was uncomfortable, the magnificent view of the mountains was a compensation for any suffering to which we were subjected. There stood Mt Adams, Mt Hood, Mt Jefferson and the Three Sisters towering above the surrounding mountains, clear and distinct in outline. It was a picture which could not help but attract the admiration of a lover of the beauties of nature. While there were many pleasing features, it is a trip which one would rather take in small doses, but having made it there is nothing to regret.

PINKY.

AN IMPOSTER.—Last Sunday a nice appearing and apparently gentlemanly young man with a burnt-umber complexion appeared at one of our churches and gave out the information that he was an Assyrian who was in this country studying with the intention of preparing himself as a missionary to go back to his native land. Naturally he was welcomed by the good people, who made much of him. Alas, for the frailty of the human mind! In the afternoon positive evidence was produced showing him to be a pretender. When confronted with the charge he confessed it, and stated that he was a peddler. He was a shrewd and intelligent young man and distinguished himself in the morning Sunday school by his information and the excellent points he brought out on the lesson. And when asked to lead in prayer responded in his native tongue with what was supposed to be the Lord's prayer, but whether it was or not is now only a matter of conjecture.—Eugene Guard.

The man was recently in Albany, and under his representations sold a good many bills of goods, one lady buying nearly $20 worth of his tapestries and others purchasing his goods merely on the strength of his being a student and missionary. He is a sharper for certain.

THE EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS at the United Presbyterian church continue with unabated interest. Last evening Mrs Peak preached with her usual earnestness and power to a large audience. Her theme, "We will see Jesus," was presented under four heads: Jesus as the "Son of Man," born of our bone and flesh of our flesh; "The Lamb of God," that taketh away the sin of the world; "The King of Kings," whose reign is from everlasting to everlasting; "The Bridegroom," who, at His coming, will take unto himself His bride—the church of God. The sermon was one of great interest. Services at the usual hour this evening. Bible reading each afternoon at three o'clock. All are made welcome to these meetings, and cordially invited to come.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

World's Fair Highest Award.

Planting the Standard

All hail Columbus! Behold the great navigator as he lands. The perils of the deep are past. The clouds of fear have vanished. The night of gloom has ended. In the heavens the sun of success shines resplendent. Morning has dawned.

Imperiously the banner of haughty Spain greets the daylight. Upon its fluttering folds are inscribed the destinies of a new world. Its gleaming surface marks a long advance in the evolution of the human race. It tells a story of prophecy unparalleled, of developement unapproached in the fullness of recorded time. It crowns with triumph the efforts of genius.

The World's Fair contained no finer statue of the great discoverer than this colossal figure. It commanded from its pedestal the eastern entrance to the Administration building. The majesty of its dimensions, the vigor and aggressiveness of its expression and the artistic finish of its composition made it admired as a genuine sculptural triumph.

Another Standard Proudly Displayed at the Fair was that of

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

A Standard of Excellence for Forty Years.

It was the standard of unequalled strength, perfect purity and wholesome results. The award to Dr. Price's of highest honors at the Fair furnishes conclusive evidence of its superiority over all other baking powders.
