

The Democrat.

Thursday's Examiner contains a large illustration of Rev. Edward Davis, of Oakland, as he was to appear in a sermon on "An Actor's Act." It was very dramatic and rather sensational. Mr. Davis has a way of being heard from all his own.

If all the silver billion of the world now for sale were brought to the United States it would increase the circulation only $200,000,000, making it only $50,000,000 above that of 1892, giving us a per capita circulation of $24 where we had $24.44 in 1892. There is nothing startling about that.

The Eastern Congress received the following address from Chairman Jones of the National Democratic Convention: "The act of the nation that I have given up hope of Bryan's election, which you say is telegraphed to Oregon from Washington, is an absolute falsehood, without a shadow of foundation. I was never so confident of his election as I am now and cannot have absolutely no doubt of his success."

A political discussion on First Street ended in one man striking another. Discussions are all right, but men should be reasonable, and one man has no more right to be active in the danger than another. By all means, gentlemen, keep cool. If necessary bring down the north pole to lean against, swallow a polar bear, live on ice cream, sleep in a refrigerator, keep a sponge soaked with ammonia in your nostrils anything to keep cool and not get hot politics. Remember that you are brothers and that we are all interested in the welfare of our country and in having prosperity.

Coin Harvey says: "On the election of a president and congress in November committed to free coinage, the danger a panic will pass in a day. We will rise the danger line the moment the act is known. The next day silver will begin to advance and gold decline. Declining gold will come out from its hiding in a few days after the election. It will seek to invest itself in things that are sure to fall in value. This is a law inexorable as any of the laws of trade. The wheat in existence is sure to fall in value when it is known that a large crop is coming; the effect is felt before the crop is harvested. So it will be with gold when it is known that a new crop of money is coming."

The Albany Democrat thinks it has discovered that the report of depression in industry is a campaign lie because "The Oregonian and Albany." Our exports of manufactures are the largest ever known. Are action sales below cost to clear off dead stock signs of depression? Do shippers' sales under the hammer indicate a thriving business? Our exports of manufactures are large because our people cannot afford to buy the goods and stocks that are left in the mills, which must be disposed of at any price to pay debts. These are not signs of depression, but signs of a demand for our goods and services. American wages and sell to foreign markets, you too close or cut down wages.—Oregonian.

We publish the above as a sample of the manner in which the Oregonian manufactures arguments, regardless of the real facts. Every well read person knows that our people are able to buy their goods and services. In this town men are being threatened with foreclosure because they support Bryan. We know this to be a fact. Many business men who expect to support Bryan, say very little because of the pressure being brought by the wholesale houses and trusts.

They will however vote their convictions preferring the chance of temporary loss to binding this country forever in the galling chains of the gold standard. All honor to such men, if the money kings have determined to force the gold standard on us, shall we again assert our independence.

Let them do their worst but let us preserve the republic. FREEMAN. They Never Grow Old.

By the eternal, we will see which is to rule—the money power or the people.—Andrew Jackson. Gold is the most useless metal in the world. Fit only for plugging teeth and ornamenting tools.—Dr. Franklin. Anything upon which the government places its stamp and declares it a legal tender in payment of all debts and taxes is money; no matter what the material may be.—Henry Clay. The theory of the intrinsic value of money has been abandoned by the best writers and speakers.—Encyclopaedia Britannica. Whoever controls the volume of money of any country is absolutely master of all industries and commerce.—James A. Garfield. Avarice says: "I will oppress the weak and devour the fruits of his labor, and it is in fate that has ordained."—Volney.

I believe the struggle now going on in this country, and in other countries, for a single gold standard, will, if successful, produce widespread disaster, in the end, throughout the world.—James B. Hinton. A government contracted a debt with a certain amount of money in circulation, and then contracted the money volume before the debt was paid, it is the most heinous crime that a government could commit against the people. Atration Lincoln. My friends, unless our children have more patience and courage than saved this country from slavery, republican institutions will go down before money corporations. Rich men, but corporations are immortal. They are never afflicted with disease. In the look run they are bound to win with legislators. Wendell Phillips. Dr. Price's Remedy for Coughs, Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Asthma, Bronchitis, and all the ailments of the throat and lungs.

A Clincher. The following affidavit is from a late number of the Standard. It makes an interesting reading and settles the question as to whether the free coinage of silver is beneficial to Mexico or not. The affidavit speaks for itself, and should be read by every body desirous of arriving at the truth. "I, James H. Kennedy, in the state of Oregon, do hereby depose that I am an American by birth; that I served three years in the Seventh Iowa during the late Civil War; that I have always been a republican. I have resided in Mexico for twenty five years. I speak the Spanish language as well as English. I know the English. I better than I do the English. I have traveled throughout twenty-four of the twenty-seven states in Mexico in an official capacity and as an interpreter for numerous syndicates. I have had access to almost all the archives of that country. I am better acquainted with the customs and habits of that country than any man in this country. I left Mexico on the 24 day of March, 1890, coming to this country to visit my friends, and relatives and old comrades. During the last month in Iowa I have heard more absurd and utterly false statements made in regard to Mexico than I ever thought could be conjured up by mortal man, all to deceive the vote."

One most heard is that you can take one American silver dollar into Mexico and get two Mexican silver dollars for it, or that you can get a meal in Mexico for the price of a dollar. They will give you back change a Mexican dollar. I brand this as utterly false in every respect, a lie manufactured out of whole cloth. I assert that a Mexican will not accept an American dollar, either gold, silver or paper for any where he would sell you silver dollar as bullion for Mexican money; then they will trade with you. The largest hotel in the city of Mexico will not accept American money under any circumstances, but will invariably refer you to a broker.

By paying the mistake any one can take silver bullion to either of the mints in Mexico and get Mexican silver dollars for it, and for 250 years silver dollars have been stamped up or down to exceed two cents. I have heard it asserted that the National debt is payable in gold. I brand this as utterly false. Every dollar of the debt, $146,000,000, is and always has been payable in the lawful money of that country, and we are now paying our debts in Mexican silver dollars, the money of the country.

I assert that Mexico in the present condition is a country of advanced civilization greater than any other nation on earth. Twenty five years ago we had eighty miles of railroad; now we have nearly eighty thousand miles of railroad. We are building factories on every hand. Twenty-eight years ago, when the French army was left penniless, not a dollar in the treasury. We can now pay our entire debt any day a demand would be made for it. I am now on my way to Mexico to spend the rest of my life. Anyone can find me by addressing a letter to James H. Kennedy, Salem, Oregon. In conclusion I invite an honest and thorough investigation into the facts of my statement, and I defy successful contradiction. I am not the owner of mining stocks and no personal interest has caused me to make this statement, but has given it by the request of my old comrade, James H. Kennedy. Subscribed in my presence and sworn to by James H. Kennedy, this 20th day of August, 1890. E. H. ESOLSON, Notary Public in and for Polk county, Iowa. (Seal)

Salem has Oregon's only lady campaign speaker. Olive S. England, who is outspoken for Bryan, and spoke at a public meeting at Salem Saturday evening. Mrs. England said in a letter to a local paper: "I for one shall be willing, if needed in a humble way, to aid the only man at the head of the free silver movement without chart or compass on the troubled political sea, into smooth waters. And if in the immediate future I feel the necessity of making a political speech, it shall undoubtedly be for Bryan, silver, one of our country's richest products and constituting over one-half of its store of money, the convention simply gave me new point and edge to the free silver argument. It is a bankers' plank written by bankers' attorneys and hence is both selfish and untrue. Myself, my wife and my associates are apparently too closely identified with the Wall street view of finance to understand the depth and strength of the popular belief in bimetallicism. In opposing the divorce decrees to a cheap silver basis, the right of the possibility of reconverting the country to the single gold basis. "The people of the United States desire an honest and actual bimetallic, gold and silver dollars of equal intrinsic value. This is the tradition of the people of this country. In failing to recognize to the Indianapolis convention made a bad mistake."

Gave Some Figures Mr. Ripston in a speech at Salem quoted from the tariff reform league document No. 9, showing as follows: Last year of the tariff of 1883, surplus $85,000,000. First year of McKinley bill, surplus $20,000,000. Second year of McKinley bill, surplus $19,000,000. Third year, surplus $2,000,000. Fourth year, deficit $69,000,000. First year under Wilson bill, deficit $42,000,000. Second year, deficit $26,000,000. Showing the greatest deficit since the year of the McKinley bill and further that the customs receipts last year of McKinley bill were $123,000,000 making customs receipts $22,000,000 in favor of the Wilson bill. He also showed by the same Republic tariff document that the per cent of free goods imported under the McKinley bill was the greatest in our history reaching the enormous figure of 60 per cent free importations, also that our exportations at present are greater in our history.

These figures his audience thought and justly so. It is the proper mood for a careful investigation of the cause of our present hard times, says the Journal. An improvement in times, reported by Dun and Bradstreet, the Oregonian on the income tax was defended. Taking up the main issue, the committee argued the impossibility of the attainment of bimetallicism through international agreement. Continuing the report reads: "We maintain that an adherence to the gold standard means a continued contraction of the money of ultimate redemption for an indefinite period of time. It will produce a continual fall of prices for an indefinite period of time, and history bears us out in the assertion that a regime of falling prices paralyzes industry, makes public paupers of respectable laborers, causes an abnormal increase in crime, and produces untold misery, want and despair. "We do not claim that free silver will cure all the ills of society. Indeed, we recognize the fact that our money system is a very imperfect system at the best. But we do claim that the adoption of free silver will increase the stability of our currency in stemming the mighty tide of falling prices."

Mr. Bryan, candidate for president on the national democratic ticket, candidate of the populists, and candidate of the silver republicans, has performed a remarkable feat, says an exchange. He has made 150 campaign speeches in all kinds of weather and in many different sections of the country, and as many different kinds of people, and has not made an utterance that could be twisted by his opponents into a weapon against him. In all these speeches he has earnestly and frankly presented what his heart felt and his brain really thought and for this reason he has said nothing that would give his opponents any means of the people and with which they have not sympathized. Mr. Bryan is a young man, but he has proven himself to be both wise and capable and exceedingly democratic.

After A. S. Bennett's speaking in Roseburg a white haired gentleman came to the front of the house and said: "Thirty three republicans have been in the convention of Douglas county held in the old court house which stood on the site of the present building. I had the honor to be chairman of that convention, and have always been a republican. I claim to be a republican yet, and I shall not vote for Mr. Bryan for president." This man is one of Douglas county's most honest pioneers. Mr. name, late of Days creek.

According to the Oregonian the principal object of the recent meeting of bankers was to pay the interest of the permitting banks to issue paper money according to the amount of their stock. This is one reason why such an effort has been made to retire greenbacks. The amount of the interest on the $100,000,000 of gold was estimated to arrive there from Australia a week from next Friday. Information also comes from London that the gold reserve is estimated to lose $5,000,000 before the end of the week. Both shipments are expected to arrive in the treasury, together with the amount already in sight, which would bring the gold reserve approximately to $135,000,000.

MISFITS. Two men in Albany had a fight Saturday evening over politics, and another two men yesterday morning had a pugilistic encounter over it. The two together make an interesting and suggestive combination, indicating that this is inclined to be a pugilistic era.
