

The Governor's Appeal.

Governor Geer and staff returned this morning from San Francisco where they had been to greet the Oregon volunteers.

When I left Oregon with my staff to meet you here, it was with the understanding that you were to proceed immediately to the Vancouver barracks and there be mustered out.

I leave for Oregon with my staff tomorrow night, and I hope I can carry to the people of Oregon the assurance from you that you will all go to our native state as a body.

Colonel Sumner then stepped forward and cried in a voice that could be heard all over the field: "Men—you have heard your Governor ask for an assurance from you that you will hang together until we reach Oregon."

The Grangers made a big graft at Independence last Saturday defeating the boys of that city in their second game 39 to 15. Independence has one of the finest grounds in the state and the juveniles are very much pleased with their game there and treatment received.

L. W. Doyce worked it pretty slick on the Catching creek people last Saturday night says the Myrtle Point Enterprise. Under the pretense of going a hunting he slipped away from home and attended the dedicatory services of the new schoolhouse at that place—a social dance. He posed as a young man and the deception was complete and he says the hospitable qualities of the people are unexcelled. But the fur will fly when a certain Myrtle Point lady hears of Mr. Doyce's lunt.

A Memorable Event.

One of the most enjoyable social events of the season occurred yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. Jas. Elkins.

The gathering was in honor of Mrs. Amelia Fisher, the mother-in-law of Mr. Elkins, who on last Sabbath, July 16 passed her 97th birthday and to commemorate this event her friends of the M. E. church and the W. O. T. U. gave her a pleasant surprise.

During the afternoon several of the favorite hymns of Mrs. Fisher were sung by the guests, and Dr. Wire offered a fervent prayer, thanking God for the life He had given to us, and asking that this mother in Israel be spared another year, if it be His will.

Refreshments of ice cream and cherries were then served. The friends enjoyed the afternoon most heartily, and separated in the evening with the blessing of this aged saint resting upon them like a benediction.

The following guests were present: Dr. and Mrs. Wire, Dr. and Mrs. Winward, Judge and Mrs. Montague, Messrs. Erskine, Adams, Simpson, Crowder, St. John, Farrier, Watson, Moon, Stafford, Hochstetler, Livingstone, Brink, Hale, Stewart, Purdon, Althouse, Vance.

Robson, Westfall, Wandell, Williamson, Thomas, Millard, Crawford, Bryan, Jones, Howard, Lee, Miller, Brown, McChesney, Patterson, McBride.

Misses Stafford, Mead, Montague, McAllister, McBride, Yantis and Hopper and Mr. Wesley Wire.

The Crops.

The warm weather and bright sun shine were favorable to all growing crops, but rain would prove beneficial in some localities.

Fall sown wheat, barley and oats are turning yellow, and in some sections harvesting of barley has commenced. Oats are in excellent condition.

Early sown spring grain is heading and promises well; the prevailing warm weather is injurious to filling. The yield will not be as heavy as the fall sown on account of the reduced acreage caused by the backward season.

The cutting of timothy, clover and chest cottages. The hay crop is excellent and is turning out well. There has been an absence of hot, dry winds up to date, and reports from all sections indicate that the grain crop is in a fairly satisfactory condition.

The strawberry season is over. Cherries are ripening rapidly and picking has commenced; there will be a large crop of Royal Anne. The fruit prospects remain unchanged. Apples, prunes and pears will be a poor crop. Dropping has ceased.

Hops continue in excellent condition and are the most promising of any crop. Raspberries are in market and are very plentiful; a good crop is being secured. Blackberries are ripening rapidly and a very large yield is promised. Currants are ripe and in market. At the close of the week the crop conditions in western Oregon are fairly satisfactory.

Frank McClung returned Saturday evening from Monmouth, where he had been with Frank Girard, the young man referred to by the Democrat in Saturday's issue as having left his company at San Francisco without permission. The particulars show very extenuating circumstances. Girard received a dispatch immediately on his arrival announcing the dangerous illness of his mother, which was refused. The boys let him down into a small boat with an improvised rope and he came home. He told McClung that he would go right back as soon as possible, and the sentiment is general that he should be excused. Girard was with Dr. Adams in this city for sometime and is highly spoken of as a young man as well as soldier.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT.—Mr. Frank Watson, of the Albany Iron Works, met with a peculiar accident this morning. He was pouring some molten metal into a brass box, which had been washed with muriatic acid, when there was an explosion and his face was filled with acid and molten metal, burning his face so that it was necessary to quit work for a few days.

A Hail Storm Story.

A. W. Moses, a teacher at a North Dakota Indian Agency, who is spending the summer at Tangent, told the Corvallis Times the following:

They had a storm at Fort Berthold on July 3rd that made things lively while it lasted. It was a Lailstorm, the like of which Mr. Moses never saw before and never wants to see again.

The hailstones knocked sheep down, bursted Indian boys from the saddle and hurled the band at a Fourth of July celebration. His horn was tied on the saddle behind him. The hailstones beat the horn into a shapeless mass and rendered it useless.

The boy saved himself by holding his heavy overcoat over his head, stretched like a tent by his two hands, which broke the force of the stones and saved him from being knocked senseless. As it was his arms and legs were terribly bruised. The same storm knocked all the shingles off a dwelling house located some distance from the agency.

The stones that did the latter were described as solid ice with jagged edges and not round as hailstones in this remarkable hail storm were not less than three inches in circumference, while the larger ones were often more than seven inches. It is not surprising that Mr. Moses prefers his native state.

At Tangent.

On last Saturday evening an ice cream and lawn social was given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Luper by the young ladies of the Epworth League of the M. E. church at Tangent.

About eighty people were present and a good time was had. The literary exercises consisted of songs, declamations, instrumental music and a tableaux. The lawn was beautifully lighted by Chinese lanterns suspended from over hanging boughs.

The literary program came the ice cream supper of which five and a half gallons were soon disposed of. Next came the social part which were highly enjoyed by all present.

To the success of this social much credit is due the young ladies; but at the same time much is due to Mr. and Mrs. Luper for their untiring efforts and the kind and friendly manner in which they entertained those present.

The only incident that arose: mar the pleasant time happened when one of the boys pitched up his buggy and had his partner in the seat beside him and had taken a firm hold upon the lines and told the horse to go he stubbornly refused, but began to back and act ugly which frightened Miss — so badly that he had abandoned the horse and buggy and walk home with her.
