

The Coming Exposition.

The Oregon Industrial Exposition, which is to be held at Portland from Sept. 28 to Oct. 28, is to be representative of the entire Northwest.

The products of the field, forest farm, factory, orchard and mine will be put on exhibition in an attractive manner, and every state in the Pacific Northwest will be represented by its products, all of which will be plainly labeled, and will speak louder than words for the locality which produced them.

Many travelers are visiting the Northwest this season, and a full collection of the products of the Northwest, centrally located at Portland, gives them an opportunity to see at a glance just what this section of the country can produce, and they carry away with them new ideas of the natural resources of this region, and those ideas, based on actual observation, result in making the Northwest well known abroad, and causes new capital to come here and locate and increase the population, and the wealth and the general production.

The amusement and elevating features of the exposition are never neglected, and all will admit that they are first class. The committee pays out $10,000 for the music and amusement features alone.

Among the special features of this year's exposition will be a reunion of all of Oregon's veteran soldiers and sailors, and a probable presentation of a sword to Captain Clark, of the battleship Oregon. The National Guard of Oregon will have exhibition competitive drills for $75 cash prizes.

The amateur photographers will be encouraged to place their best work on exhibition, and will be awarded $150 in prizes.

The railroad and steamboat lines are going to give special low rates during the exposition, so that thousands of people may make special trips to Portland between Sept. 28 and Oct. 28.

The Word Remains.

An Albany man desires the publication of the following: In Bible times they used to bury the dead, as when "they carried Stephen to his burial," but in modern times they inter "the remains" only; and at funerals, friends are called on "to view the remains" of the deceased. Well, if men do not die, they should not be buried; for it is wrong to bury live men. But do they die? To the observer they certainly appear to die "at last." What do the Scriptures say about it? They affirm: "It is appointed unto men once to die." Again, "Man dieth, shall he live again?" And if they die, let them be buried, instead of burying "the remains;" but if the real man eludes death leaving only "the remains" to be buried, why need the "remains" ever be resurrected? And where does the Bible ever speak of the resurrection of the "remains"? And unless the "remains" are to be resurrected, they will remain buried forever, and the resurrection will prove a farce; for if the owner of the "remains" is really alive, he does not need resurrection, and cannot have the resurrection taught in the bible; for that is a "resurrection of the dead"—not of the living, nor of the "remains;" and what can liberated living want of curbsome "remains" anyway? If let out of prison, why not stay out, instead of being re-imprisoned?

In the United States Court in New York three applicants for citizenship were rejected upon extraordinary grounds.

In Case One the ground is found in the following colloquy between the clerk of the court and the applicant:

Q. Who in the United States are eligible to become President?
A. Mark Hanna.

In Case Two:
Q. Who is Mayor of New York?
A. Croker.

In Case Three:
Q. Who is Governor of New York?
A. Tom Platt.

One million and a half of men work in the coal mines of the world. Of these Great Britain has 535,000, United States 200,000, Germany 285,000, Belgium 100,000, Russia 44,000. The world's miners of metal number 4,000,000.

There are great forests of costly woods in the Philippines—mahogany, sapan wood, logwood, ironwood, ebony and cedar, besides about fifty varieties not known to European markets but eagerly sought for by merchants from China.

English engineers are making commendable progress in burning garbage as fuel for electric light stations. At Canterbury, England, fifteen tons are burned in twelve hours under a forced draft. This process is in use at several places.

The sacred fires of India have not all been extinguished. The most ancient, which still exists, was consecrated at Vodwada twelve centuries ago, in commemoration of the voyage made by the Parsees when they emigrated from Persia to India.

Get the best flour. The Magnolia

If the trust can get hold of a single ink factory on the coast the price of ink will be nearly doubled. This is a sample of what the trust is for.

That trust conference in Chicago will be about the greatest farce of the day. It will be about as effective as the peace conference that recently ended.

Mark Hanna is said to have made five million dollars in four years by being in politics. It gave him the inside track and he took advantage of the situation. Mark Hanna is not rustling for mere glory.

The greatest joke of the next campaign will be the plank in the republican platform against trusts. Through that party the trusts are getting a grasp of things it will be hard to break loose, and it can be done only by a change.

The trusts have been sending hardware up at a terrific rate. Recently an Albany man by waiting a few weeks paid twenty per cent more for a big bill of goods he had previously received the figures on.

Editor McLean will be the next democratic nominee for governor of Ohio. He is one of the ablest men in the state and will make a strong run in a state where the boodle will flow in torrents against him.

There is no trust in the country to raise the price of the products of the farmer and he has to take the best price for wheat he can get, which is pretty small now. The trusts are not doing anything for the masses but much for their own pocketbook. In the history of the world there has been no such steals as the workings of the trusts of the present day.

John C. Young, ex chairman of the middle-of-the-road populists, tells the Oregonian reporter that silver is a dead issue. This interview would indicate that the Baker city statesman has concluded to become a full fledged republican instead of an assistant and bush-whacker for the G. O. P.—a more manly course than he has pursued in the past. But we should say that John C. is much "deader" politically than is free silver. In fact his picture in the Oregonian looks like the photo of an Egyptian mummy.

Useless Arguments.

The argument so often presented in favor of imperialism and expansion that the history of the United States shows a continual record of expansion in the acquisition of new territory dating from the thirteen colonies, has nothing to do with the expansion of our territory by taking in a lot of useless islands on the other side of the world. The addition of Louisiana, Texas and this western country generally was proper and necessary for the completion of the United States and the making of it what it is. Anti-expansion is not opposition to this, but it is opposition to the imperialistic style of reaching out over the world for new territory regardless of the will of the inhabitants. If the expansion theory now so glibly presented by men who see narrowly, is proper then the United States should not be content with securing such a white elephant as the Philippines but should go further and while China is being cut up, grab a slice of it, and every other old thing wherever it may be found in the world. If any country voluntarily desired to become a part of the United States our country could not do otherwise than take it in, but to reach out and imperially grasp at the islands of the sea with the strong arm of the cannon and make them come into the fold, is wrong and unchristian, and it takes no erudite head to appreciate the fact.

That Ingersoll Incident.

ATLANTA, Aug. 23rd '99
EDITOR DEMOCRAT:

From your "Ingersoll Incidents" there appears a slight misquotation of the "pew" occurrence which robs it of originality which was peculiarly Ingersollian. The story which was widely circulated about twelve years ago is as follows: Mr. Ingersoll was in Chicago, and being detained over Sabbath concluded to attend church. One of the most wealthy and fashionable churches where a very able divine was to preach, was selected. On entering the church Mr. Ingersoll was observed by the usher to be a marked looking personage and in consequence was conducted forward and seated in one of the best pews. Later, a gentleman came to the pew door, and after looking Mr. Ingersoll over with some perturbation, entered and took a seat. After frisking about uneasily for a time, the man wrote on the fly leaf of a hymn book the following and passed it to Mr. Ingersoll: "I pay just $3000 a year for this pew." Mr. Ingersoll, with undisturbed equanimity, wrote a line under this and handed the book back. It read: "I don't doubt your word in the least sir, it's a dam'd good pew."

Misfits.

Mr. Pagne may hit the mark 80 per cent in the year, but in the recent bad weather when the facts were sorely needed he went badly astray. Even Portland people have been kicking.

The general character of the recent rains is proven in a letter by Editor Huffer of the Salem Journal who has gone east. Wherever he went he ran into mist and rain, in highland and lowland in U. S. and Canada, and he was satisfied it was raining in the Sahara desert.

For future reference the DEMOCRAT remarks that the weather cleared up Sunday morning and today has been a glorious day, with the barometer high and the wind from the north. We do not even dare guess the future weather we have been disappointed so much lately. We leave that for Pague.

The cosmopolitan character of the Dreyfus case is emphasized in the fact that L. Leon Bureau, the private secretary of Labor, Dreyfus's lawyer, was recently in Seattle on his way back, as fast as cars and boats would take him with evidence in the case, which he had obtained on the Great Slave Lake in the Northwest Territory.

According to the Portland Mercury, whose editor is evidently jealous of the distinction accorded some of the late press association editors, the recent association which was in Astoria, met in an old barn of a building, and that with the assistance of the saloon keepers in the vicinity six editors were gotten together and the meeting called to order and the reports read. As a matter of fact the attendance was large, and the girls and boys had a good time.

C. C. Cunningham, a life prisoner at the penitentiary, aged 49 years, was yesterday examined as to his sanity, by County Judge G. P. Terrell and Dr. J. N. Smith. He was adjudged insane, and will be transferred to the asylum today. Cunningham was received at the prison last year, having been convicted of murder in Pendleton.—Salem Statesman.

Cunningham has heretofore been referred to as a former Albany man, leaving here though about twenty years ago. He is reaping the whirlwind of a reckless life.

Charles Nickell, the democratic war horse and editor of the Jacksonville Times, arrived in Portland yesterday. He had been taking in the Astoria regatta and the beaches. It is reported on the rialto that Charley ran "up against" a preacher on the train from Seaside to Astoria, who compelled the Jacksonville editor and his banker friend, Moose Bloch, of Portland, to cough up transportation notwithstanding they both had passes. It appears the train was an excursion train of the W. O. T. U., and the temperance people wouldn't stand Charley's work and obliged him to put up the fare in cash.—Mercury.

The Eugene Guard goes for the mill of that city as follows:
The Guard is a firm believer in sustaining home manufactures when it is possible, but when the home manufacturers force the poor man who works for a dollar a day to pay outrageous prices for the greatest necessity of life, we feel it a duty we owe the public to expose their actions in plain words.

The greater portion of the grain crop is out in the rain, and the mills take advantage of this and place the price of flour far above its real worth. Today they raised their already extortionate price from $3 to $3.50 per barrel, which compels the merchant to retail it at 95 cents per sack, at $3.80 per barrel. Again, they will not pay the farmer for first-class old (1898) wheat more than 50 cents per bushel.

There will be a future, and we do not believe any business that depends upon the people for support can afford to take advantage of public necessities, and with such a lame excuse place themselves in the role of extortioners.

Prof. R. Outgen is in great demand by the German universities. Some time ago he received a call to Lipsic, and Wurzburg only succeeded in keeping him by promising to erect a new physical laboratory. Now Munich is trying to secure him.

Police Judge Hennessy of Portland is the recipient of a Japanese pug dog, year old, that weighs only two and one-half pounds. The mite of a dog is still on the Oriental steamer. The Judge being hardly willing to pay the four dollars duty that attaches to delivery of the animal. Dog at a dollar and sixty cents a pound comes rather high even to a Judge.—Ex.

William O. Whitney says that the more he sees of politicians the better he likes his horses, and Mr. Whitney is somewhat of a politician too.

Lebanon people ought to be well by this time. That city has recently been filled with all kinds of healers, and now another one is to come, a magnetic healer and mental scientist.

The Northern Agriculturist of Minneapolis, Minn., says: "And the people of Oregon—what are they like? They are like the restless sea, in energy; like their own great forest trees, in bigness of heart; like their bounteous torrents of rain falling upon the just and the unjust, in their cordiality to all who come to them as friends or as guests."

Did you hear that bugle all yesterday afternoon in the present court house block. It has a history. Yesterday Mr. John Ostlin, the janitor, received it from the east from an old comrade of the rebellion, who had blown it both at Santiago and Puerto Rico. John blows it well, and the bugle with a more versatile lip is not often found.

San Francisco has just spent $60,000 in making a show with the Volunteer firemen, in order to draw a crowd from all over the state, which was done. If the $60,000 had been divided among those needing it it would have done some good.

Secretary Wilson and Commissioner Binger Hermann have clashed. The Secretary favors not allowing any sheep on the forest reserve, while the Commissioner favors it, thus increasing the range. The people will back the Commissioner in this position.

"I don't mind sayin' I'm disappointed in that boy of mine," observed Farmer Brumback. "I've spent mighty high $3,000 makin' a first-class doctor of him, and when I asked him the other day what would cure a wart I'm darned if he could tell me."

There are optimists and pessimists. One of the former, who resides near Jefferson, who was in the city today, says the damage to wheat will not amount to more than ten per cent, if the weather clears up and stays clear until the threshing is done.

A late writer from Dawson says that city is nearly deserted on account of a rash down the river to Nome. This is not made so much on account of the better prospects as it is to get away from the outrageous restrictions placed upon them by the Canadian authorities, who are bound to freeze out the Americans.

Eugene is having an interesting time on the flour question. In response to an article in the Guard charging that the raise to $3.50 a barrel, with wheat at 50 cents was extortionate one firm admitted that the price was unreasonable and could not exist, but since the rain they had been unable to get wheat and the demand for flour was greater than could be met and the raise was only temporary. The firm had offered as high as 80 cents for wheat for milling purposes in order to meet the demand for flour. At the same time Fisher in Corvallis the Guard says was selling flour for $2.80.

The following from the Standard, of Montgomery City, Mo., whose editor was recently in Oregon at the National Convention, will make eye Oregonians open their eyes:
"Speaking of potatoes, this good story is told of a certain gentleman. Visiting an Oregon town, he was entertained by a friend. With the frankness of Western hospitality, his friend inquired what were the Easterner's favorite dishes. 'I have never seen the day,' he replied, 'when I couldn't eat a good baked potato and a piece of fat and tender roast mutton.' At dinner the next evening a huge platter was borne in with nine baked potatoes, aggregating 63 pounds in weight. The biggest one fell to the lot of the Easterner guest. It weighed 11 pounds. Broken open it was mealy and white, with a perfect flavor. 'And this is the first day I ever knew when I couldn't eat one baked potato,' was the comment of the astonished guest."

A New Feature.

MANILA, Aug. 28, 7:23 P. M.—A report received here from Cebu says: Dato Mundi, with his tribesmen, have taken the warpath against the insurgents at Zamboanga, and has given them a warm battle. Mundi welcomed General Bates, saying he was anxious to become an American citizen, and asked permission to fight the insurgents. He was given an American flag.

Big Reception.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 28.—With cannon booming, bells clanging, whistles shrieking, flags waving and mighty cheers from hundreds of thousands of throats, the brave Tenth Pennsylvania volunteers were welcomed today, after more than a year of service in the Philippines.

Small Damage.

CORVALLIS, Aug. 28.—It is the opinion of Dr. James Whittycumb, of the agricultural college, that the damage to the wheat by rain is over-estimated. After minute examination of several fields, he ventured the opinion today that where grain in the shock had been properly cared for during the rainy spell, 90 per cent would be saved. There would, of course, be loss where shocks had not been rebuilt or where bundles were allowed to lie for a considerable time on the ground.

A Horse Stolen.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 28.—A horse belonging to Olaf Johnson, a farmer near the northeastern limits of Salem, was stolen last night. It was valued at $110. The thief took the saddle also. Another horse was found loose in the barn. It is very stubborn, and it is thought that prevented its being stolen.

Fatal Accidents.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Twelve steel arches, each weighing 33 tons, which were to have supported the superstructure of the Coliseum building, in course of erection on Wabash avenue, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets, fell to the ground late this afternoon. It is known that one lives were lost. The bodies of three men are supposed to be under the wreckage.

The British Plan.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says: British troops will be immediately concentrated at Laing's Neck and Naafoking, and it is believed that the British program will be to surround the Transvaal and then to negotiate a new convention.

Boundary Question.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—A special to the Tribune from Washington, says: In spite of the apparent abandonment of the negotiations with Canada, it is learned, on the authority of an official whose connection with the boundary question has been constant and confidential, that a secret agreement has been reached as a result of which a temporary arrangement will be accomplished before congress meets.

Terrific Disaster.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—A special to the World from Nyack, N. Y., says: Fire was discovered in the large boys' and girls' orphan asylum connected with St. Anne's convent, at Sparkkill, Rockland county, at 1 a. m. today (Monday) but not before the entire structure, a frame building, was wrapped in flames. Many of the inmates, children, were burned and suffocated.

Should Be Enriched.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Enrico Malatesta the Italian anarchist who recently escaped from prison in his own country and came to the United States, addressed a French anarchist meeting in Paterson, N. J., and a few hours later spoke to 200 Italian anarchists in this city. He told his hearers that the Italian and Spanish workingmen were organized for a great uprising. He said that he would stay in this country about three months and organize anarchist group in many of the leading cities.

A Walla Walla Murder.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Aug. 27.—Lee Won, a Chinaman was murdered in Chinatown today. According to Chinese testimony, a white man wearing an old brown coat, blue overalls, and a light soft hat, entered a Chinese house in the alley and made a disturbance. A woman made an outcry. Her man came, and tried to eject the white man, who drew a knife and stabbed the Chinaman in the neck, making a large, irregular hole.

Want Them Discharged.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27.—A determined effort is being made to secure the discharge of a number of volunteers in the Fourteenth United States infantry, now stationed at Manila. At a meeting held today to discuss means to secure the discharge of 200 Clevelanders in the regiment, two letters from Adjutant Ward were read.

Coming West.

DENVER, Aug. 27.—Hon. W. J. Bryan arrived in Denver at 4 o'clock this morning from the east, and left at 6 o'clock over the Colorado & Southern road for Pine Grove, up Platte canyon. Tomorrow morning Mr. and Mrs. Bryan and the children will leave over the Rio Grande for California, where a month's stay will be made in the Yosemite valley.

Will Fight to the End.

MONTEBAL, Aug. 29.—Dr. Mariano Ponce, private secretary to Emilio Aguinaldo, is here en route from London to Manila. In an interview, he said: "My country fights and will fight for her independence, because she is fully convinced that it is a duty imposed by Providence. The ambition of a powerful nation is not enough to make her renounce her destiny. She is ready to make every sacrifice for the defense of the freedom of the land. The last word in the question has been said by my nation. The Philippines will become an American possession only when there are no more Filipinos."

Looks Serious.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Commenting on the declaration of President Kruger, of the Transvaal government, to the effect that the South African government adhered to its latest offer, and would make any further concessions, the afternoon papers here unanimously draw attention to the increased seriousness of the Transvaal situation, but at the same time they express uncertainty regarding the nature of the concessions.

Bland's Successor.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 29.—In complete returns received tonight from the eight Missouri districts, in which an election was held today to fill the unexpired term in congress of Richard P. Bland, deceased, show that Dorsey P. Shackelford (democrat) has been elected over W. J. Voshell (republican) by 2900 plurality. Complete returns cannot be had to light.

Returning Bums.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—The United States transport Grant, bearing the Idaho, North Dakota and Wyoming volunteers, arrived here tonight shortly before midnight. The Grant left Manila Aug. 1, touched at Nagasaki and Yokohama, and left the latter port for San Francisco August 13.

Proposed R. R.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 29.—Articles of incorporation of the Corvallis & Southern Railroad Company, which have been recorded in Benton and Lane counties, were filed in the secretary of state's office today. The company's capital is given at $1,000, and the principal office will be at Junction City. The termini of the road will be for a time Corvallis and Eugene, but provision is made for the extension of the line hereafter to some point in or near Coos Bay.

Ohio Democrats.

ZANESVILLE, O., Aug. 29.—There is an unusually large attendance at the democratic state convention this year, the 802 delegates constituting only a small part of the attendance. The new state central committee selected will hold over for presidential year and for this reason is attracting much interest. It is a McLean gathering.
