

It might be a good idea to secure the Filipinos that they will not have to pay more than some given percentage, in order to persuade them to submit to our kindly and enlightened way.

Preacher Sheldon's paper is to become permanent religious daily. Now as shall see how much of its tremendous circulation is due to mere novelty and how much to genuine interest.

The republicans say that 15 per cent is very little. True enough, if Porto Rico exported everything that the United States imports. But, as it happens, the island exports only a very few articles, on all of which the Dingley rates are very high.

It is very appropriate that the British who held up the Hague peace convention and prevented its declaration against dum-dum bullets should now be protesting against the Boers using them.

Now the Chicago grave diggers have formed a union to bring influence to bear on the city council to refuse burial to a body unless enclosed in a union coffin. Really, this is going a little too far.

Democrats could almost find it in their hearts to pity the republican trouble over the Porto Rico bill were it not so obvious that they brought them all on themselves by wanton disregard of justice at the behest of a few protected interests.

The republicans say that the sugar and tobacco trusts will pay the Porto Rican duties. How's that? We thought they told us that it was the forger who paid the tariff taxes a few years ago.

The republicans dislike to take their medicine in the Quay case and when forced by Senator Hoar to set a day for considering the matter, they put in so many provisos that it is doubtful whether it will be possible to reach the case before the end of the session.

President McKinley is disturbed by Ex-President Harrison's declaration in regard to Porto Rico. He thinks that Harrison is getting ready to run for President again. McKinley seems unable to comprehend that a man may speak his honest mind without looking to the future to reward him for it. But he may, Mr. McKinley. Everyone does not act solely from principles of expediency.

Democratic chances continue to brighten. The republicans grow more and more hopelessly divided as the days go by. By coming out boldly for imperialistic government of Porto Rico, they have stripped off the mask of "expansion with which they concealed their true policy and the people can now choose with knowledge. There can be little doubt how they will decide when the issue is put plainly before them.

If the new doctrine of the Republican party is true, that the constitution of the United States applies only to the states within the union, and that the inhabitants of our territories and colonies have absolutely no constitutional rights except such as congress may give them by statute, what is the logical consequence? The District of Columbia is not in the United States. The city of Washington is in the District of Columbia. Hence the capital of the United States is not in the United States.—Albany Argus.

Today a popular young Dallas girl was showing a gentleman a collection of rare coins of the Philippines, Spain, Mexico, Japan, China, and other nations when he picked up for examination a United States ten cent piece. "I prize that very highly," she said, as it was made the year in which I was born." Eighteen hundred and sixty seven," he read from the coin, and scarcely had he uttered the phrase when she sank into her chair like one who had unknowingly confessed to a terrible crime and gasped frantically, "that isn't the coin, I made a mistake." She doesn't acknowledge the coin.—Times Mountainer.

Of course it pays to advertise. George Landreth recently lost a ring and published the fact in the Leader. About a week later he found the ring in the work-box at his barbershop. He searched the box thoroughly before advertising, but the ring wasn't there.—Toledo Leader.

The United States Department of State has instructed its Consuls to investigate the subject of trusts in the countries where they are stationed. If the State Department want to prove by these investigations that some country on earth is worse off in this regard than the United States it has a task on its hands like that of King Canute when he ordered the tide to stay back.

Sensor Beveridge has given notice that he will address the Senate on his "free trade for Puerto Rico" amendment. Is it that the Senator has visited Puerto Rico and picked up some gold nuggets on the banks of a meandering stream.

Washington Letter

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19th, 1900.

The nightmare labeled "Porto Rico tariff" still hovers over the pillow of prominent republicans and destroys their rest. Conferences are held every day with Mr. McKinley by Senators who favor the tariff and by Senators who favor free trade, and the odd thing is that both classes of Senators talk as though they believe McKinley to be on their side. All sorts of propositions are being advanced by republican senators to avoid anything like an open rupture in their party on this question, one of them being to continue the debate until the close of the session without allowing the bill to come to a vote, and another to add it up with all sorts of amendments and then defeat it by an overwhelming vote. The dodge in either of these expedients would be so palpable, that it is hardly conceivable that the republican leaders will be foolish enough to allow either to be adopted. The republican party is in control of all branches of the government and for it to fail to place itself on record by positive legislation on this question, would be an acknowledgment of weakness that would be absolutely certain to drive the party from power. That is why they will have to patch up some sort of legislation.

It was by a strict party vote, excepting Senator Lindsay of Ky., who voted with the republicans, that the senate tabled Senator Allen's amendment to the Porto Rico bill, declaring that by force of the Paris Treaty of Peace the Constitution of the U. S. was extended over Porto Rico and its inhabitants, and the previous talk of some of the republican senators made their votes somewhat surprising, as a vote to table the amendment was equivalent to a vote in favor of the contention that congress can legislate for our new possessions, regardless of the Constitution.

The alleged offer of the good offices of this government to facilitate negotiations for peace between Great Britain and the Dutch republics in South Africa was confirmatory rather than otherwise of the belief that an understanding exists between the McKinley administration and the present British government. It enabled Mr. McKinley to make an attempt to soothe the numerous republican sympathizers with the two struggling republics, by pretending to do something, and at the same time gave Lord Salisbury just what he wanted—an excuse to serve notice on the powers of Europe, through his answer to the alleged offer of our good offices that no mediation would be tolerated by Great Britain, and that the conquest of the two republics would be pushed to a conclusion as originally planned. If that was not the result of an understanding between the British government and the McKinley administration, it was one of the oddest coincidences that ever occurred.

Foreign policies are not the only things this administration is copying from European nations. Secretary Loeb has created a board to be known as the Naval Policy Board, corresponding to general staff of European navies, which will control our Navy both in peace and war. Admiral Dewey is head of the new board.

From the Telegram.
What the Administration badly needs is a policy with reference to our island acquisitions a definite, positive policy. The people look to a President to be a leader and a statesman, a man capable of deciding on some line of action in regard to great national questions, and pursuing that line of action. They want to know whether the islands are to be colonies, territories or states; whether their people are to be citizens or wards, equals or inferiors; and whether we are to establish tariff or free trade with them. The vague talk about extending the Constitution and the flag over them is not satisfactory; what voters want is specific information. And while these matters rest chiefly with Congress, they expect a President to have and declare some policy, and stick to it. But this is apparently impossible to Mr. McKinley. He wants to be re-elected, and beyond that he seems to know no care for nothing in particular. Two things the American people will not approve; first, that these semi-civilized tropical peoples shall become full citizens and our political equals; and, second; that they shall be tariff-taxed for the benefit of American trusts. Somehow the Republican party must steer between these two rocks.

Twickenham's new paper is announced to appear next Wednesday. As the town of Twickenham consists of a post-office and school house on the banks of the raging John Day, it was profanely hinted that the publisher would have to use the school house for an office but the last grapevine telegraph announces that a shack has been built for the paper's accommodation. The paper will be the official organ of the Twickenham town at a boomers in the coming county seat contest. When the fight is over and Fossil has won, the little paper will wrap the drapery of its couch about it and lay itself down in everlasting sleep.—The Dallas T. M.

If Joe Simon, Oregon's senator, keeps on he will be a first-class democrat. He is opposed to the Porto Rico tariff bill, opposed to seating Quay and is against the Hanna-Payne shipping bill.

One of the most interesting contests going on is that between Judge J. N. Duncan and A. M. Cannon for the delegation for district attorney. The man who gets it stands a good chance of receiving the nomination at the hands of the state convention. At the present time it looks as if Mr. Duncan was in the lead.

The following "alleged" transaction appeared in yesterday's Guard: Lewis Wagner to J. J. Peppot and Geo. A. Dorris, one-half interest in the Blue River mining district, $1. What a cheap mining section Blue River must be if half the district can thus be disposed of for $1.00.—Register. How easy it is to see mistakes in others.

Figures are very interesting things in a campaign particularly just before a county convention. For instance on the district attorney contest it is easily figured that Cannon has about 40 to 8 in his favor, in the four city precincts with a big lead in the country so far as heard, while on the other side it is figured that in the four precincts Duncan has exactly 33 to 15 while in the country out of 128 delegates he has 91.

The champion liar lives at Cottage Grove, where he has a paper. In order to create prejudice he stated that Bryan only charged the good people of Eugene $200 to speak there, whereas he charged nothing there nor anywhere else. The $200 is the amount it costs Eugene men to pay for a train and other expenses. We simply refer to this as a sample of the unfair methods of some papers during a campaign.

W. O. Trine has a long article in the Oregon Weekly on training of athletes. Among other things he says: "The man who would make a first-class athlete must make up his mind to eschew all forms of dissipation, and to be very regular in his hours of rising and retiring." If this is good for athletes why not for everybody else.

It costs $79,000 a year to run Marion county, and $35,000 to run Linn county. Under the present economical administration the affairs of the county have been kept in splendid condition, the roads and bridges being kept up and general improvements having been made with a special effort in progress for giving the county the best roads in the state.

Governor Geer was asked to ride in a carriage to the Bryan speaking. It gave him an opportunity to answer and he took advantage of it to let the people know that he was just one of the common people and would walk. He will have to get up mighty early to be any more of the common people than Mr. Bryan. Gov. Geer rides whenever it is a big republican blow out, just like the president, Secretary Gage or J. Pierpont Morgan. Circumstances alter cases.

A Lebanon man tells the following for a fact, which may be told now, as the man is dead. One day a Linn county farmer bought a banana at his store, the first one he had ever eaten. After finishing it he threw the peel on the floor. After gazing at it a moment he picked it up and wrapped it in a piece of paper and remarked: "Guess I'll take that home to my wife and let her see what a banana looks like. She never seed one." And the man had an income of several thousand dollars a year.

Mr. Hardman has hold of the lines.

This is going to be a great wheel year, and the rustlers will win.

Times are getting pretty fast when it becomes necessary to arm oneself for protection against music agents as was the case recently in Stayton.

What is the matter. Only one candidate for county judge on the republican ticket. There seems to be a general opinion among the delegates that Mr. Brown is entitled to the nomination.

These are solid times. Linn county republican delegates are solid for Judge Hewitt for congress, Jackson in solid for Speaker Carter, Marion for Claude Gatch, Clackamas for Geo. Brownell, Benton for John D. Daly, and Washington for Tongue.

Mr. Hardman will name the delegation to the state convention, according to the present outlook. This is the street version of the affair, and not the DEMOCRAT's, as it is a spectator. This is the most interesting contest just now in the campaign. It promises to be more interesting after the nominations.

We know of one farmer up in Linn county who has rented his grain land and is devoting his time exclusively to the poultry business, with the aid of incubators and brooders. He expects to make more money on his ten or fifteen acres which he reserves, in the poultry business, than he formerly made on his whole farm, and with less drudgery and worry.—Statesman.

Boers Getting Bold.

LONDON, Mar. 2.—The Boers are having a little good luck and are showing some boldness again, as a raiding party estimated at 400 is believed to have crossed the Kimberly-Bloemfontein wagon road Monday and to have headed off Jacobus Day, with the intention of cutting the railway 10 miles west.

The War.

LONDON, March 27.—Military observers here, and even those in close affiliation with the War office, are considerably confused as to what is being done for the succor of Mafeking. Some 3000 or 6000 men are engaged with Lord Methuen at Warrenton and Fourteen Streams, and another column is about leaving Kimberley, it has not already started for Griquatown, 106 miles westward. Its ostensible purpose is to drive out the Boers.

Can't Harmonize.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The republican members of the senate spent two and a half hours in caucus today in an effort to reach an agreement upon the Puerto Rican legislation now pending in the senate. The caucus was apparently without material result, the only accomplishment being a decision to proceed with the general bill as it now stands.

New York, March 26.—A special to the Journal and advertiser from Washington says: Lord Salisbury has apologized to the United States for the opening by the British censor at Durban of mail addressed to ex-Jonah Charles E. MANILA, March 28.—La Patria and E. Liberal, Spanish organs of the extreme Filipino party, have recently been publishing articles inimical to the military government. General Otis has suppressed the former journal for sedition and imprisoned the editor, at the same time issuing a warning to the members of the extreme party that they should observe greater moderation.

A Pro-Boer Meeting.

BALTIMORE, March 25.—An enthusiastic mass meeting of Boer sympathizers held here today, was addressed by Montagu White and Philip Louter Wessels. Mr. White said in part: "The Dutch simply wanted to be let alone, to live by themselves and remain free and independent, the same as Americans. The war is far from being ended. Events will follow shortly which will stirle the world."

All persons having claims against the estate of said deceased are required to present the same, with proper vouchers, to the undersigned at his residence in Albany, Or., within six months from the date hereof. Dated February 19, 1900. SARAH J. IRVINE, Administratrix of the estate of R. A. Irvine, deceased.

HARDMAN WON.

The republican primaries ended last evening in a victory for Hardman in this city, and there is enough to indicate that he will probably control the county convention on Wednesday. The tickets in West Albany and Albany were compromise ones. In East Albany there was the liveliest primary contest in the history of Albany, for the first time in a primary election caes being used. The regular Hardman state ticket won by a small margin, establishing Hardman's position as party leader. Otherwise the principal contest was on district attorney, A. M. Cannon being Hardman's candidate. Cannon claims a majority of the Albany delegation. On the surface Cannon is in the lead, though this is denied by the opposition. Hardman's county ticket will probably be nominated, to wit: W. M. Brown for judge, J. P. Carter for county clerk, M. D. Phillips for sheriff, Chas. Warner for recorder, and Ned Carlton for superintendent.

Following is the list of delegates so far reported:

East Albany—C. W. Sears, A. M. Holt, Virgil Parker, J. S. Van Winkle, S. A. Dawson, D. F. Hardman, N. D. Conn, W. H. Worrell, Bert Veal, L. E. Moe, John McChesney.

West Albany—W. C. Tweedale, G. L. Rees, N. M. Newport, P. O. Conn, F. M. Redfield, L. O. Coates, O. P. Danahale, W. H. Warner, A. W. Blackburn, W. H. Lee, H. A. Nelson, G. S. Acheson, Wm. Fortmiller, Mark Hulbert.

Albany—M. H. Ellis, W. H. Davis, F. J. Miller, J. R. Whitney, E. D. Cusick, J. R. Wyatt, J. C. Irvine, C. E. Sox, O. K. Front, H. L. Walden, H. A. Leininger, C. B. Winn.

Price—A. B. Bond, F. M. Smith, Grant Propst, F. E. Lines, Henry Haight, M. F. Dawson, C. P. Glover, W. H. Hlat, A. B. Morris, George Froman.

Shed—James C. Gathers, R. A. Jayne, F. L. Bayne, John W. Pugh, F. H. Porter, M. Acheron. Central committee, R. A. Jayne.

South Harrisburg—H. A. Sommerville, R. L. White, C. L. Morris, A. C. Stellmacher, L. H. Laseelle, Marion Cunningham.

North Harrisburg—D. H. Pierce, J. C. Sabin, J. M. Spencer, E. C. Lake, G. W. Lehman.

North Scio—A. J. Johnson, W. F. Gill, Geo. Coffey, Chas. N. Young.

South Scio—M. N. Richardson, J. M. Glass, J. F. Sims, Wm. Brenner.

Seaburn—Griff. Kleg, Will Miller, James Vinters, J. L. Arnold.

South Brownsville—Joseph Hume, W. B. Bailey, Albert Overton, Peter Hume, G. V. Sandrich, H. H. Kirk, A. M. Stafford, W. A. Teasdale, A. M. Teasdale.

North Brownsville—E. A. Evans, F. M. Brown, J. H. Glass, W. O. Sperry, W. B. Glass, C. J. Howe, J. R. Pearl, D. G. McLaren, A. C. Hausman.

North Lebanon—T. A. Swan, H. C. Moran, A. Boaler, C. H. Young, J. Butler.

South Lebanon—T. Peebler, Dr. Booth, T. H. Miranda, F. A. Niekerson, I. A. Crandall, W. B. Donaca, J. A. Lamberson, J. J. Swan, G. Lindley.

Sodaville—R. W. Fisher, A. F. Flory, T. Hansen, L. P. Glass, H. G. Klum.

Syracuse—W. E. Fisher, D. E. Berden and J. A. Diamond.

A correspondent of the Oregonian says:

"We have noticed in your paper several times that there is quite a discussion about the 19th and 20th century. Now, here is a question we would like to ask. In a part of what three centuries has our grand mother lived? Having been born in 1798, she saw a part 1700, all of 1800, and started on 1900. Now, has she seen a part of the 17th, 18th and 19th century, or the 18th, 19th and 20th? She has certainly seen a portion of 1700, 1800 and 1900."

The Oregonian's reply is that she has lived in only two centuries. The DEMOCRAT's is three. Nothing is plainer.

ADMINISTRATRIX NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given to all persons interested that the undersigned has been duly appointed administratrix of the estate of D. E. THE UNDERSIGNED HAS BEEN appointed and confirmed as executor of the last will and testament of Richard Farwell, deceased, by the County Court of Linn county, Oregon, and all persons having claims against the estate of said deceased will present them duly verified to the undersigned at his office in the city of Albany, Linn county, Oregon, within six months from the date hereof. Dated March 2, 1900. L. H. MONTAGNE, Executor of the last will and testament of Richard Farwell.

Entirely Justified.

From the Journal:
G. D. Trotter, a young business man from Stayton, was arrested on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and tried before Justice Johnson, but was dismissed for the want of any evidence, whatever.

It seems that one McGee, a Salem organ agent (musical) bored him so to sell an instrument that he ordered him off the premises. Then he came back and tried to use forcible persuasion, when he armed himself for protection, as he did not wish to be forced to buy an organ. McGee was arrested and fined and out of spite had Trotter trotted down to Salem as county expense. Trotter has lived for six years in Stayton and is generally respected.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the undersigned has been duly appointed by the County Court of Linn County, Oregon, as the executor of the last will and testament of Grace Ann Davis, deceased.
