 remarkable prominent in the events of that time, as to approach the divine itself.

It is unnecessary for me to dwell on the history of the revolution, as it is familiar to every American citizen—how in 1775 at Lexington in Massachusetts, the first note was struck which was the death knell to British oppression in the American continent, how on the 18th of April 1775 Major Pitcairn, a British officer galloped into the streets of Lexington and exclaiming "Disperse, you villains—throw down your arms and disperse," and how, on the gallant Americans refusing to obey the command, the order of "Fire" was given and eight patriots expired on the altar of civil liberty—How Washington, fired by the love of country, and animated with a determination to resist the encroachments, of the invading foes, became the unanimous choice of the army for its Commander in Chief—how Israel Putnam, when informed by omnipresent messengers that the streets of Lexington and Concord had been drenched with the blood of his countrymen, left his oxen where they stood in the field, and not stopping to say good bye to his wife, leaped on his swiftest horse, and was soon galloping to the scene of action—how gallant Marion, the illustrious Carolinian, with his hardy and intrepid company of Riflemen did valuable service to the American cause in partisan warfare, by cutting off straggling parties of the enemy in the southern Atlantic coast low during severe, long, tedious weary years the sterling patriots of the American Army harassed by the want of sufficient clothing to withstand the rigors of the Northern winters; suffering for necessary provisions to sustain life; often directly assailed and insulted by an impetuous Congress, stood firm amid it all, in the defence of their rights and liberties, presenting a spectacle of devotion to principle, unity of action and integrity of purpose seldom equalled, and never excelled in the annals of revolutions. I say these are incidents and facts connected with the Revolution familiar to every American citizen—and as important and as familiar.

But amid all these stirring scenes of devotion, bravery, and integrity, there stands one figure towering majestically above all others, to whom, individually and alone, this government owes all that it expects to attain in the uncertain future. In order that we may more fully comprehend the sublimity of Washington's character, let us picture in our minds the condition of the Revolutionary army, when in the winter of 1777, after suffering from the fatigue of a long and disastrous campaign, they were compelled to seek winter quarters on the lonely banks of the noble Schuylkill, and here, during the long and severe winter, unprovided for by their country, they anxiously awaited the coming of spring, that they might exchange the gloom and distress of the camp for the comfort of the battle field. If ever, during the progress of the Revolution, the soldiers manifested a spirit of discontent and mutiny, it was during the harrowing scenes of Valley Forge. Valley Forge! How my heart swells with gratitude, pride, love and veneration at the sound of that name! I see the half starved veterans, actuated by no other motive than a defence of their rights, liberties and property, as they stand around their desolate camp fire, leaning bloodily against their rifles, patriotism on every track they make; and do I now enjoy the blessings which resulted from that privation, want and suffering, without giving them more than a passing thought? Heaven grant that it may go forth as an irrevocable decree, that as long as the American people are capable of expressing a sense of gratitude for blessings given, that the steadfastness of the Patriot Soldier may ever be held in grateful and lasting remembrance. During all this season of destitution, Washington remained with his army, and shared their hunger and their grief. If, at this time, he had wavered a moment from his path of duty, or had even given expression to the feelings which filled his breast, no earthly power could have kept the army together. But, with words of cheer and expressions of hope, he buoyed the soldiers up, and emerged from Valley Forge with an army that afterward scourged the entire British army with humiliating defeat. It required a soul elevated and expanded, commensurate with the duty devolving on it, to accomplish this; but, though betrayed by trusted friends, and thwarted in his designs by the incompetency of his subordinate officers, Washington, with a trusting hope, a fervid zeal, and unswerving fortitude that are truly marvellous—leaving no doubt but that he was guided in his actions by an unerring counsel of a higher Power; and until the drama of human affairs shall come to a final termination, he was "first in peace, first in war, and first in the hearts of his countrymen," will emblazon the proudest page of American history.

It was during these momentous events that the Continental Congress, actuated by the noble determination to do as freemen, rather than live as slaves, urged by the ceaseless persuasive appeals of the people, in tones too strong and unmistakable to be unheeded, passed the immortal Declaration of Independence, which was at once inoperative to renewed effort on the part of the Colonists for the achievement of their Independence, and an act of benighted assent to the powers of the Old World, that the feeble Colonies of Great Britain should have the rashness to proclaim it.

Fellow-citizens, we are assembled to-day to celebrate the anniversary of this event, ever to be held in remembrance by the sons of Freedom! It is a no less event than the birth of a Nation, and the deliverance of three millions of people from the thralldom of foreign oppression. Do we commemorate it with that spirit which characterized our early fathers when, with hands uplifted before high Heaven, they declared to the world that these Colonies are, and of right ought to be free and independent States? Do we feel that solemnity which prevailed in Independence Hall when, just ninety-eight years ago to-day, the divine principle was first announced by a human government that all men are created equal, and are endowed by their Creator with inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness? We are to-day enjoying the fruits of that Declaration, as every American citizen enjoys it at all times, in all places.

We have a government, fortunately, unlike any other in the world—a government "of the people, by the people, and for the people," a government whose laws are equal, just and wholesome, a government whose protection is extended to the humblest as well as highest citizen, a government that cannot long remain corrupt, while the people discharge the duty which rests upon them, a government which derives its power from the consent of the governed—a government which has proven itself capable of repelling the attack of external foes, and withstanding the effects of internal commotions, a government which gives to every inhabitant, whether citizen or not, the privilege of worshipping his Creator according to his own free will, being free from that ecclesiastical persecution which is the tormenting and baneful feature of all other governments—a government, in short, composed of, yet separate from the several States, in which itself, the States and the people are inseparably intertwined; "distinct as the billows, yet one as the sea."

Ninety-eight years ago to-day! What an impressive lesson we should learn from the thought! Have we attained that standing among nations, or pursued the path of governmental rectitude that formed the unexpressed hopes and predictions that hallowed Independence Hall on that memorable day? Who can doubt that to-day, as the American people are clasping hands from the Potomac to the Rio Grande, from Maine to Oregon, bound together with an electric chain of burning patriotism, the spirits of Washington, and of Madison, and of Jefferson, and of Lincoln, are ever present, breathing sweet prayers of hope that when two short years from to-day, we are called upon to commemorate the Centennial Anniversary of our National Independence, the glorious American Union may not have reached the culmination of its grandeur, nor the beginning of its decay.

Our country, though greater and grander to-day than ever before, has not yet obtained the possibilities of its achievements; and let us to-day renew the solemn vow that we will remain true to our country, and we can do nothing less than to pledge our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honors to the preservation of its honor, the integrity of its promise, and the purity of its administration. Let us indulge the supplication that the prying spirit of the merriment of Divine Providence, may keep far in advance of our country's history, renewing from its pathway every obstacle that threatens the safety of our institutions, or mar the light of their prosperity.

"Great God! we thank thee for this home—this hallowed birthplace of the free: Where wanderers from afar may come, And breathe the air of Liberty! Still may thy flowers, untrampled, spring; Her harvests wait, her cities rise; And yet, 'till Time shall fold his wing, Remain Earth's loveliest Paradise!"

TO THE UNFORTUNATE!

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!
DR. GIBBON'S DISPENSARY,
 623, Kearney St.,
 Corner Commercial Street,
 San Francisco.

Established in 1854, for the treatment of sexual and seminal diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, seminal weakness, impotency, etc. Skin diseases, of years standing, and ulcerated legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals in Europe, and has resumed practice at the Dispensary, 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

HORRIBLE DISEASES!

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering under a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians and friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it is too late. Send them immediately to Dr. Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those afflicted, or those interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, your you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Seminal emission—the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless counteracted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, length of time in the eyes, pains in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like rustling of leaves or rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, pimples and various eruptions about the face, hectic flushes, furrowed tongue, fetid breath, night sweats, melancholia and frequent inability. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails in effecting a quick and radical cure.

CURED AT HOME.

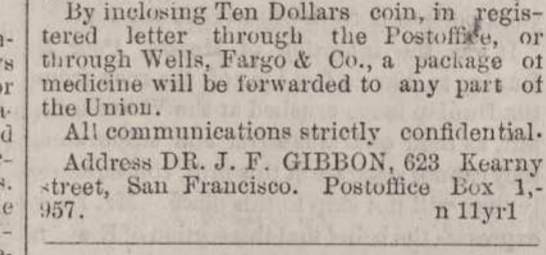

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon stating cases, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicine promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use.

Persons writing to the Doctor will please state the name of the paper they see this advertisement in.

By enclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice, or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping-Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Among the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this effectual remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that CHERRY PECTORAL will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power, and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the fore-runners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attacks of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, CHERRY PECTORAL is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection of their friends. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Influenza and painful Bronchitis, when they know how easily they can be cured.

Originally the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, no cost or toll is spared in making every bottle in the utmost possible perfection. It may be confidently relied upon as possessing all the virtues it has ever exhibited, and capable of producing cures as memorable as the greatest it has ever effected.

HALL'S HAIR RENEWER.

Every year increases the popularity of this valuable Hair Preparation, which is due to merit alone. We can assure our old patrons that it is kept fully up to its high standard; and it is the only reliable and perfected preparation for restoring GRAY OR FADED HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken. The scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. It removes all eruptions and dandruff, and, by its tonic properties, prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimulates and nourishes the hair-glands. By its use, the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth, except in extreme old age. It is the most economical HAIR-DRESSING ever used, as it requires fewer applications, and gives the hair a splendid, glossy appearance. A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes."
